On the occasion of the Nurses' National Vespers service held in the chapel of St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday evening, the Rev. O. Corkery, CSsR, told the well attended gathering that "Christ's work of healing and compassion on the multitude did not cease with His death. It is carried on by the hands and hearts of nurses the world over."

"It is well for those of the nursing profession to call to mind frequently the importance of their vocation and it's dignity" he said. "Your work is not concerned with machines, books or merchandise, you deal with human beings whose bodies enshrine an immortal soul made to the image and likeness of God, bodies which St. Paul tells us are the temples of the Holy Ghost."

Success of nursing, both material and especially the spiritual, will depend on the motive directing the work. The one firm foundation underlying and governing all their actions must be the love of Christ. If they see the person of Christ in each one whom they serve, they will be free from partiality towards one patient or another; they will welcome any task, pleasant or unpleasant, for Christ has identified Himself with the sick, 'I was sick and you cared for me."

Following devotions, refreshments were served by the student nurses in the residence.

Rev. J. E. Harvey Wed In Toronto

In an evening ceremony Monday in Knox Presbyterian Church, Toronto, the marriage took place of the Rev. James Edwin Harvey, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harvey, Peterborough, and Margaret Ann, daughter of Mrs. Moeller and the late Roy L. Moeller of Toronto. The Rev. Robert Barr officiated, assisted by the Rev. Claude Gemmill.

The bride wore a graceful gown of cameo-tinted slipper satin, the net yoke finished with a satin bertha. The full skirt with back fullness formed a chapel train. Her finger-tip veil was banded with rose point and Honiton lace and was worn Spanish mantilla style. She carried pink sweet peas and iris. Mr. Robert Moeller gave his sister in marriage.

Miss Lois Greaves and Miss Marie Dalton, bridesmaids, chose Persian lilac taffeta with Victorian half-bonnets of matching material and carried pink carnations and sweet peas. Barbara Burnaby, flower girl, was frocked in soft green nylon taffeta with poke bonnet and carried a basket of carnations and sweet peas. Groomsman was the Rev. David Thompson and ushers were the Rev. Donald Peel, Mr. David Gordon and Mr. John Barclay.

A reception was held at Prince Arthur House. The couple will live in Toronto after their wedding trip.

SHE'S A VENUS, TOO—Although Ava Gardner plays the title role in "One Touch of Venus," lovely Olga San Juan (above) plays havoc with the heart of Dick Haymes as a sweater-type Venus in the same picture.

Social Situations

SITUATION: While a convention guest in a distant city you are entertained in a private home.

WRONG WAY: Accept the hospitality without making any gesture of appreciation other than thanking your hostess when you leave the party.

RIGHT WAY: When you return home write your hostess a short note, thanking her again for her hospitality.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Mr. J. A. Hill of the teaching staff was guest speaker at the annual meeting of Central Home and School Association Monday evening. He spoke on "Use of Leisure", and gave some pointed examples of profitable and unprofitable uses of spare time. On the active side there are games, hunting, fishing and gathering collections, while on the passive side, reading is one of the best.

"Although taste in reading varies, your own reading will influence what your family reads, and it is found that boys who give the most trouble read the least and come from families where no reading is done." Mr. Hill concluded by emphasizing the importance of developing the proper use of leisure time in children when they are young.

Mrs. R. Vance thanked the speaker. Mrs. W. G. Gunn, vice president, conducted the meeting.

Annual reports were read by Mrs. G. Kiff, secretary, Mrs. C Garside, treasurer, Mrs. L. Raper, home education, Mrs. E. Outram, health, Mrs. G. Armstrong, publications, Mrs. S. Rowe, program, Mrs. F. Pritchard, social, Mrs S. Redout, membership.

Tellers who were appointed to look after election ballots were, Mrs. L. Raper, Mrs. E. Wigg, and Miss P. Bennett.

Mrs. E. Chambers, district chairman of Ontario Federation of Home and School conducted installation ceremony of the following new slate of officers:

President, Mrs. S. Malsch; vice presidents, Mrs. W. R. Philp, Mrs. F. Ross; secretary, Mrs. C. D. Munro; treasurer, Mrs. G. Armstrong; executive, Mrs. F. Earle, Mrs. S. Rowe, Mrs. W. Davidson, Mrs. F. Sargeant, Mrs. R. Vance.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. T. Pritchard and assistants.

Hide Shoulders

BARKING, Essex, England—(CP)—Brides in Essex who may be thinking of choosing wedding dresses which begin below the shoulders have been warned by Rev. W. F. Chadwick, who marries 500 couples a year at St. John's Church. Even when bare bridal shoulders are covered with net the vicar still is not happy about them.

"Low-cut dresses are not suitable for wearing in church," he said.

A fashion expert said the trend towards dual purpose clothes is responsible for low-cut wedding dresses. "Brides who wear them usually plan to turn them into evening dresses," he said.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Husband-Stealing Girls Wasting Their Own Youth

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a philanderer and I wish that there were some way that I could show the girls, who are drunk on love from him what a terrible mistake they are making in having affairs with a married man. I love my husband very dearly and I am not going to break up my nome because of the few stolen hours he spends with other women. Nor has my husband the slightest intention of giving up his home, his children, and his business for any little cutie.

Dorothy Dix

I am not sorry for myself, because my husband gives me the best he has in him. The ones I feel pity for are the young girls who are wasting their precious youh with him when they could be spending their time in making for themselves a home life that they could enjoy as long as they lived.

One of these days, like every other girl who throws away her life on a married man, they will find themselves alone, disillusioned and forsaken, and very bitter. So I beg them to wake up from their romantic dream of getting the Other Woman's husband while they still have the youth and appeal to attract men for themselves. I beg them to be brave enough to find out where they really stand with the men with whom they are in love. Some day they will discover that they have missed the last boat if they dilly-dally with a philanderer who is playing with love.

I wish there were some way of making romantic young girls, who are playing around with their bosses, realize that there is no crime for which a woman pays so dearly as being a love thief.

A WOMAN WHO KNOWS.

ANSWER: Certainly the cruelest of all men are those who play with a young girl's heart. It is as easy as robbing a blind baby of its stick of candy, yet many men who are old and hardened and worldly-wise to have the same taste for it that they have for forbidden fruit.

No Trick

Many men specialize in the baby-face type of girl. She is young and unsophisticated and thinks every man a godling, and is no trick at all to win her affections. Everything is fine until the man who has taught her to love gets tired of her and chucks her into the discard.

Many girls have seen this happen to other girls. The wise ones have been warned in time to save themselves. The ones who believed it couldn't happen to them have given their hearts to a dog to tear.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have a problem child who is six years old and who will never do a thing without a spanking. We have tried to teach him right from wrong, but it doesn't make any difference what we tell him to do, or not to do. He does just what he wants to do. His teacher says that he is unusually brilliant in mind and he does good work at times, but it is seldom that he wants to do what you want him to do.

He is an only child and we love him with all our hearts, but we don't know what to do with him. We have to spank him so much that we are ashamed of ourselves. We also punish him other ways besides spanking, but it still doesn't do any good. Would you please advise us as to how to handle him?

WORRIED PARENTS.

ANSWER: I think you are making a fatal mistake in trying to force an adult code of conduct on a six-year-old child. Why, he is only a baby and you are expecting him to act like a grown-up! At that age no child can reason out a line of behavior. What he needs is to be jollied and petted and made much of, and if you will try that out on him you won't have to do so much spanking.

I think you and your husband are the ones who need spanking, because you are expecting the impossible of a mere babe. Cut out the spanking entirely. Leave him alone for a little while until he forgets the many strictures that were forced upon him and that kept him always in a state of rebellion, then see if you cannot establish a better relationship between you and the infant.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why do so many people consider it their duty to load down everybody with whom they come in contact with advice? More homes have been wrecked, more friendships broken up, more families separated for life, by nosy, meddlesome people, who consider it their business to interfere with other people's affairs, than from any other cause. Why?

SUFFERING SALLY.

ANSWER: I don't know, Sally. It is a mystery. Yet I am one who has always suffered, from my cradle up, by being the victim of advisers. But I do not suffer alone. Everybody I know has to listen to other people tell them how to manage their husbands, what clothes to wear, what diet they should follow, and how to rear their children.

Flowers Keynote The Weather At Maytime Tea

Full bloom roses in the tea table bouquet, when St. John's Cub and Scout Mothers' Auxiliary entertained Tuesday afternoon, were a keynote to the summer temperature of the day. Hardier tulips and daffodils of Maytime completed the charming arrangement set in a low crystal dish in centre of a gold damask cloth. White tapers in silver holders highlighted the effect, which was created by Mrs. H. R. L. Blackwell.

Mrs. T. Franks, president, and Mrs. A. Barber, vice-president, received the guests. Mrs B. Baker presided at the treasurer's table on which was a bouquet of sunny daffodils.

A tea service of solid service graced the table and was used by Mrs. G. Groombridge and Mrs. C. W. Balfour. Mrs. P. A. Martyn, tea convener and Mrs. W. Gedge and Mrs. J. Bertram were hostesses.

A bountiful supply of home cooking was for sale by Mrs. P Howden and Mrs. E. Pinn.

Great British Children's Hospital Has Friends In Commonwealth

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, May 4 — (CP). — Bonds of friendship between doctors and nurses in Britain and Dominion countries have been strengthened during the years by the Great Ormond Street Hospital for Sick Children, which recently celebrated its 97th birthday.

Described as the most famous children's hospital in the British Commonwealth, Great Ormond Street has for years helped to train doctors and nurses from Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, who have later returned to put the knowledge gained into practice.

When the hospital was opened —in an old residential house in 1852—there were only 10 beds, and the library was used as the out-patients' department. To-day on the same site, the hospital has 400 beds and a country branch at Tadworth Court, Surrey, where children convalesce amid verdant trees and lawns and a riot of flowers.

Piecemeal Growth

"The history of the hospital's growth is one of piecemeal additions, conversions and constructions," an official said. "It is also a record of untiring energy and devotion on the part of many men and women."

In 1851, the year when Dr. Charles West and Dr. Bence Jones first suggested a central children's hospital "for the particular care and study and treatment of ailments peculiar to the young," 21,000 children died from various complaints in the London area.

Horrified by the rising child mortality rate, Queen Victoria, herself a young mother, subscribed £100 ($400) and became the first patron. Lord Shaftesbury, whose legislation had already shortened hours of labor for British children, became the first president.

While the huge fund-raising schemes were launched in Britain, subscriptions poured in from all parts of the Commonwealth and the hospital grew almost out of recognition.

Between the two World Wars a total rebuilding program was evolved, and the new building was opened in 1938 by the King and Queen.

The in-patient children's block, containing all the latest types of medical equipment, stands seven storeys high and behind it is a capacious nurses' home. A new out-patients' wing, interrupted by the Second World War, has yet to be completed.

During the war the hospital was hit by three bombs in one night. Hundreds of children were carried to safety by heroic nurses despite fire above and floods below. Most of the damage has since been repaired.

Plan To Expand CP Headquarters

TORONTO, May 4 (CP)—The story of Newfoundland life, now taking its place in Canadian newspapers, is a fascinating and romantic addition to Canadian news, Victor Sifton, President of The Canadian Press, said in his address to the news co-operative's annual meeting today.

Mr. Sifton welcomed to the membership representatives of the St. John's dailies, Hon. J. S. Currie of the Daily News, and Ralph B. Herder of The Evening Telegram. Both papers receive the CP's report of world and Canadian news and co-operate with a CP's staff correspondent in covering the new province for the rest of Canada.

Mr. Sifton, publisher of The Winnipeg Free Press, told the attending publishers and editors of CP's financial position, and said that during the next year plans will be studied for enlarging the new head office building, opened last year, from two to four storeys. He said CP's war-weakened staff had been built back until it is potentially the strongest in the association's history, while the transmission set-up is the finest. He felt that training and building must go on, particularly at Ottawa and on the diplomatic beats.

Gillis Purcell, general manager, said the last year was among the busiest Canadian news periods CP has known. The emphasis was on politics and diplomacy, with five provincial elections and three national political conventions. The coming year would be at least as active, with a Dominion and four provincial elections. He reported on plans for improvement of the CP election service.

Sends SOS For Police Help As Provincial Constable Kidnapped At Asbestos

Strikers Set Up Barricades on Every Road Leading Into Town; 300 Men Armed With Stones At All Barriers

MONTREAL, May 5—(CP)—Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard of the Provincial Police said today one of his men has been kidnapped and 10 more injured by striking Asbestos workers in the town of Asbestos, Que. Calling for all possible reinforcements from Montreal and Quebec, Beauregard said he wanted it to be known "we are going to get that kidnapped officer, held in a church basement."

"We have reached the limit of our patience," he said. "We have been trying to hold back. In view of what has happened today we are going ahead and meet violence with violence."

Boy Injured

ASBESTOS, Que., May 5 (CP)—A 12-year-old boy was reported injured by police tear-gas bombs and several cars were said to have been set on fire today as striking miners and sympathizers cut Asbestos off from traffic and resumed picketing of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company plant.

Rodolph Hamel, president of the striking Asbestos Workers' Federation, said his son Jacques was injured when Provincial police "got excited" and threw tear-gas bombs at a crowd of pickets. He said the boy's hurts were not serious and no one else was injured.

Two cars were reported to have been set afire on the St. George road, one of the highways leading into town where pickets set up blockades to prevent non-strikers from going to their jobs at the Johns-Manville plant.

Meanwhile, Provincial Police were awaiting reinforcements before taking action against the workers who ignored a court injunction to resume picketing of the Johns-Manville plant.

300 At Each Barrier

At some of the road blocks, gravel trucks were left across the highways and 200 to 300 men armed with stones were at each blockade.

"To-day," said Hamel, "the workers have decided to take their problems into their own hands and stop the scabs from taking our jobs."

A small detachment of newly-arrived Provincial Police from Montreal approached one of the road blocks and then turned back.

65,000 Workers Strike At Ford Company

DETROIT, May 5—(CP)—Ford Motor Company today was hit by the second major strike in its history as 65,000 union members walked out at 1 p.m. EDT.

And so, Ford was hit by the first major walkout since the bloody 10-day battle in 1941 when the UAW-CIO first gained recognition.

Within nine days, the company said, the strike would tie up most of the world-wide industrial empire and hit 106,000 production workers.

Final, desperate peace talks, pressed right up to the deadline, failed to settle a dispute over speed of production.

Assembly lines, whose speed had been the subject of wrangling for months, ground to a stop.

Despite the walkout peace talks between top ranking union and company representatives continued beyond the noon strike deadline.

Ford vice-president John S. Bugas reported several minutes after 1 p.m. that there was "no hope of a settlement in sight." A similar report came from a top union negotiator.

President Walter Reuther of the UAW entered negotiations today at 11 a.m. for the first time.

Rev. John Foote On Liquor Board

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—A Presbyterian clergyman has taken on the job of explaining liquor policies of the Ontario Government by Leslie Frost.

Rev. John W. Foote, member for Durham becomes vice-chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

Mr. Frost, who chose G. Arthur Welsh as board chairman to succeed William Griesinger, said Mr. Foote will devote himself to executive work in the Liquor Control Board. At the same time, Mr. Foote, who won the Victoria Cross at Dieppe while serving as an army chaplain, will attempt to keep the public informed about government policies.

The babies were placed in an incubator and were reported "doing well". The babies' father, Charles 29, is a clerk in a brokerage firm.

Big Four Agree To Call Off Blockade May 12

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The Russian blockade of Berlin will be lifted May 12 under a Big-Four agreement announced today.

The Western powers' counter-blockade of the Soviet zone of Germany will be ended at the same time.

The council of foreign ministers will meet in Paris May 23 "to consider questions relating to Germany, and problems arising out of the situation in Berlin, including also the question of currency in Berlin."

The official statement released simultaneously in the United States, Britain, France and Russia marks the beginning of the end of one of the most critical situations in the post-war struggle between Russia and the Western powers.

It will require the full week from now to May 12 to make the complicated arrangements for restoring normal rail, highway and barge traffic between Germany's first city and the Western occupation zones.

A statement issued here and in New York yesterday disclosed that final agreement had been reached among negotiators of the four powers in the United Nations headquarters city.

It remained only for the Moscow, London, Paris and Washington governments to give final approval to the arrangements and agree on the release of today's communique.

BIG FOUR AGREES

Firebugs Burn Six Cottages

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—Six summer cottages were destroyed by fire Wednesday and today at Musselmans Lake, a Peel County resort about 15 miles northeast of Toronto. Fire officials said they believed the fires were "deliberately set." Deputy Fire Chief W. T. Rennie of the nearby Stouffville Volunteer Fire Brigade said five cottages were destroyed early Wednesday and for a time threatened other houses and a large dance hall. He said the fire "must have been started" in one or more of the cottages and spread to the others.

Early today, the fire brigade answered the second call but was unable to save a cottage which had been slightly damaged by the earlier blaze. The fact that today's fire broke out on the side of the house opposite Wednesday's blaze definitely "indicated" arson.

Chief Rennie said the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department would be asked to conduct an investigation.

3 Hamilton Policemen Shot Trying To Nab Thieves

HAMILTON, May 5—(CP)—Three city policemen were shot and wounded early today in a wild gun fight with three young gunmen whom they caught attempting to break into a store near the intersection of Main Street East and Huxley Street. The wounded policemen are Sgt. Arthur Ellis, Constable James Campbell and Constable Herbert Connolly. Connolly was hit by two bullets and hospital authorities reported his condition as serious.

The shooting took place in a laneway shortly before two a.m. when the policemen rushed up in their squad car. The gunmen escaped after exchanging fire but later police picked up a suspect for questioning in an east-end house.

In the gun fight Campbell was hit on the chin, but continued to chase the men after they rushed past the officers to a waiting car a short distance away.

Ellis was shot in the right shoulder and Connolly in the right leg and body.

An extensive search of the East-end was made by police in their hunt for the gunmen. Cars in the downtown section of the city were stopped and their occupants asked for identification.

One Safecracker Nabbed In Flight

WINDSOR, May 5 (CP)—One man was captured and two others escaped after a safe cracking early today at a midtown social club. Approximately $505 was taken and another $187 overlooked. Nearly $60 has been recovered.

Credit for the capture of William Kohanek, 33, went to Sgt. Frank Stanley and Constable Bob Stemmler who entered the premises after hearing the sound of muffled hammering inside.

As they investigated an open window at the rear, three men raced down the front stairs. Two left by the front door and the third, Kohanek, ran past the policemen and down an alley.

Stemmler gave chase and fired several warning shots, catching up with Kohanek after the man stumbled.

The officer returned to the club where they found Arthur Munroe, 67, the caretaker, trussed in a chair with a blanket over his head. Munroe said he was slugged after he went to investigate a report that a downstairs door was open.

Give Converted Garage To Evicted Family

TORONTO, May 5 —(CP)—Charles Hannah and his family who have been living in two small tents across from their former home in nearby Dixie for the past three days, moved into a converted garage offered them by the Salvation Army in Brampton, today.

On Monday, Hannah, his wife and seven children were evicted when their landlord decided to use their rented house to raise tureksy. As a result of this, the whole family was forced to take shelter in two tents across the street. Yesterday four-year-old Brian Hannah came down with influenza and Hannah himself was partially invalided by a leg injury.

CDS Manager Gives Up To Police In New York

BRANTFORD, May 5 (CP)—Lance McKinnon, 37, charged with theft of $3,120 from the Canadian Department Store here, has surrendered to police in New York City, Brantford police said today.

McKinnon, acting office manager for the department store, is scheduled to appear in court in New York today. Police said they expect to bring the accused back here tomorrow.

Brantford police said they had learned that McKinnon, office manager of the store, had $1,900 when he was arrested.

Robert Rowley, a Brantford taxi driver, told police Wednesday night he had driven McKinnon to Dunville, about 40 miles southeast of here. Donald Phillips, 22, of Brantford was with McKinnon when he was arrested in New York. New York police said Phillips would not be held.

Fire Threatens Northern Village

TIMMINS, May 5 (CP)—Fire which early today threatened the business section of Matheson, 50 miles east of Timmins, was brought under control shortly after noon with total damages estimated at $50,000.

A garage and all equipment with the exception of two new cars was completely destroyed. Nearby Hydro poles were also destroyed and the windows of the threatened business block broken from the heat. Gas tanks on which hundreds of gallons of water had been poured were blackened and blistered by the heat as well as the walls of the threatened block.

The blaze started when a spark from an emery whel operated by mechanic Sid Garrison flew into a nearby pan of cleaning fluid.

Hydro employees stationed at the village and every other availabl man was fighting the blaze to prevent its spread to the main downtown business block.

Britain To Continue To Buy Canadian Wheat

LONDON, May 5 — (CP) — Britain will continue to buy Canadian wheat, using earned dollars to finance purchases instead of Marshall-plan funds, food minister John Strachey told a press conference today.

"This means a good deal of administrative difficulty," he said, "but we will continue to purchase wheat under our agreement with Canada."

Strachey was replying to a question on a ruling in Washington that dollars allocated by the economic co-operation administration cannot be used to finance British purchases of food of which there may be a surplus in the United States.

Correspondents Held Try To Run Blockade

BERLIN, May 5 (Reuters)—Two American and one British correspondents today were believed to be held by the Russians after an unsuccessful bid to "run the blockade" out of Berlin.

They were R. S. Weil, and Alan Baum, International News Service and a photographer and William Hamsher of the London Daily Express.

The correspondents left Berlin Wednesday night by car and passed through the British-American check-point on the outskirts of the city.

Early today, two Germans reported to the Berlin office of the International News Service that they had seen the correspondents at the Soviet Kommandatura at Teltow, just outside the United States sector. This could not be confirmed from any other source.

Hot Campaign Being Waged On Manitoulin Liquor Sale

LITTLE CURRENT, May 5.—(CP).— Manitoulin, the world's biggest fresh-water island, will decide 10 days from now whether it wants government sale of liquor, beer and wine — banned sinc 1914 under the Canada Temperance Act.

The issue comes up Monday, May 16, in a plebiscite in which an estimated 5,582 voters from the 6,000-square-mile district of Manitoulin have an opportunity to say whether they favor revocation of the C.T.A., often called the Scott Act.

If the vote votes against the C.T.A., the Liquor Control Act of Ontario comes into force.

If the vote goes for the C.T.A., it will remain in effect. It bans sale of liquor, or keeping for sale. But it places no restriction on consumption.

For years the C.T.A. has not been a serious obstacle to drinking on the island, a notable vacation area. Many residents make their purchases at Espanola on the Northern Ontario mainland some 20 miles north of Little Current, or at Sudbury, 60 miles east. There has been more or less open sale at some hotels.

The forthcoming plebiscite develops from a petition circulated on the island last year. Rev. W. W. Anglin, 80-year-old retired United church minister for Mindemoya, is the returning officer.

An intensive campaign is being waged. George Bishop, Sheguindah cattle breeder and tourist lodge operator, heads a committee of 60 working for repeal. Rev. Gordon Barkwell, Little Current United church minister and secretary of the Manitoulin Temperance Federation, is in charge of the pro-CTA campaign.

Keeping Air-Lift Machine To Be Sure Reds Keep Word

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The air-lift machine—its planes, men and directors—probably will be kept in stand-by condition in Europe until it is reasonably certain Russia has no plans to set up another sudden "road-block to Berlin.

It took the United States and Britain six months to create the intricate system of hundreds of planes and thousands of men to carry supplies in unending stream over the Russian blockade and into the former German capital.

By continuing to exist for a time, it could serve as an inspiration for the Russians to live up to agreements.

Greater Struggle

BERLIN, May 5 (AP)—The Western powers' stand in the cold battle for Berlin, come now to the greater struggle for all of Germany.

Many international observers here believe that a victory for the Westerners in this struggle would shatter the Russians' Iron Curtain.

The next phase will open the forthcoming four-power meeting in Paris, called in connection with the agreement announced in New York yesterday to end the blockade and seek a settlement of the whole German problem.

Many top United States officials in Germany expect the Russians, at the Paris meetings, will shift from a policy of obstruction to one of foxy, limited co-operation, designed to give them the strongest possible voice in a central German government merging the eastern and western zones.

Leslie Frost Pledges To Give Ontario Best Government Possible; Orillia Sends Officials To Extend Greetings

LINDSAY, May 5—"We have dedicated ourselves to the purpose of giving the people of Ontario the best government possible, and we ask the co-operation of all people of goodwill in attaining that end." That was the pledge of Premier Leslie M. Frost in his home-coming to the welcoming thousands of his constituents of Victoria-Haliburton in his first public appearance and address here Wednesday evening after the inauguration of his cabinet at Queen's Park in the afternoon.

The riding that has known Hon. Mr. Frost for the last 28 years, elected him to the Legislature in 1937 and retained him as their representative in the elections since then, gave the new Premier of the province, arriving "with his blushing honors full upon him", an affectionate and demonstrative reception, which, in his own words, "was full of inspiration and encouragement."

Thousands of people from town and country lined the streets and thronged the armouries park. Many of them greeted the Premier and Mrs. Frost when the evening C.N.R. train drew into the station from Toronto. On the route uptown they were accompanied by a long procession punctuated by numerous bands. Mr. and Mrs. Frost were back in the old home town where they appeared to know nearly everybody as indicated by the warmth of continuous and informal greetings along the way.

Mr. Frost set out from the station seated in an open car, but to acknowledge the high spirit of the reception he was standing before he had gone a block, returning friendly and spontaneous salutations and calls of "Hello Les".

Mao Signs Pact With Reds In North Korea

SHANGHAI, May 5 (AP) — The official Central News Agency reported today that Chinese Communists have signed a mutual aid pact with North Korean Reds and pledged joint aid to the Burmese Communists.

The pledge to the Burmese included aid in the "joint struggle against American and British Imperialism," said the news agency's report from Rangoon.

The news agency said the pact with the Russian-supported Koreans was signed in Moscow on March 17 and in Burma on Feb. 25.

If true, the "mutual defence pact" would stretch a 3,500-mile Red arc from the Sea of Japan to the Indian Ocean—an arc encompassing hundreds of millions of people. There was no confirmation of the pact from other sources, however.

Chinese Red armies meanwhile slashed across South Central China, with these developments reported:

1. As government forces prepared to yield Hankow, shaky central China fortress-city, a Red offensive was nearing Nanchang, midway between Shanghai and Canton, and seemed aimed at Changsha as well. Changsha, 175 miles farther inland, is on the rail line 200 miles south from Hankow.

2. Formosa sources reported the return of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek from Red encircled Shanghai to that big island haven.

3. The Shanghai garrison command said Nationalists repulsed two Red columns in "a heavy battle" 37 miles northwest of Shanghai on the highway to Nanking.

4. Fire of unknown origin destroyed 4,000 huts in the poorer section of Shanghai, leaving 20,000 homeless.

Work In Squads To Save Miners

GIRARDVILLE, Pa., May 5—(AP)—Miners working in squads of three began a desperate race today to build an air duct toward four men trapped deep in a burning anthracite mine.

There has been no sign or sound from the men since the blaze was discovered shortly before Tuesday midnight. At that time they were 800 or more feet below the surface. Nevertheless their friends and families above ground clung to the hope the men had sealed off a chamber from the smoke and gas and were out of the reach of water rising after a breakdown of the pumping system.

Volunteers worked atop the mine elevator being slowly lowered into the shaft. Behind them they built a wooden wall-to-wall barricade across the hole.

Report Poet Laureate Growing Still Weaker

OXFORD, Eng., May 5.—(AP).—Poet Laureate John Masefield today was reported "growing weaker," following an attack of influenza.

Masefield's doctor visited him this morning in an Oxford hospital and told reporters:

"Mr. Masefield's condition is again giving rise to some anxiety."

The 70-year-old poet has been ill for two weeks.

Stores To Close Victoria Day

Retail merchants of Peterborough will not follow the lead of a number of larger industries of the city by closing their stores on Monday, May 23, but will observe Victoria Day on its usual date, May 24, it was decided at a meeting of the Business Men's Association held Thursday morning in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce.

The secretary, J. J. Dorris, informed the members that he had canvassed several of the larger stores and learned that they were not at all keen on the idea of closing on May 23. They all indicated to him their intention of remaining open on that date. After some discussion, the Business Men's group decided to take a like stand.

The association, with President E. C. Braund in the chair, also decided on three names as suggested members of the proposed new Peterborough Industrial Commission. They will be submitted to a meeting of the organizing committee of the commission slated to be held on Monday, the day of the next regular City Council meeting. Other names are being suggested by the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Cabinet Changes Announced By New Premier

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Ontario's new government headed by Premier Leslie Frost gives cabinet representation to the province's rich northern mining area.

Mr. Frost, sworn in yesterday to succeed Thomas L. Kennedy as head of the Progressive Conservative administration, turned over the mines portfolio he had held to Welland S. Gemmell of Sudbury.

The decision of Leslie Blackwell, former attorney-general, to return to his Toronto law practice, brought about the only other major change in the reshuffled cabinet.

Mr. Kennedy resigned yesterday along with the 13 members of his cabinet, but he retains the job of agriculture minister which he has held since 1943.

Dana Porter, former provincial secretary and education minister becomes attorney-general and retains the education portfolio on a temporary basis.

Waiting Answer

Mr. Frost said he had chosen a new education minister but the prospective minister had not had time to make up his mind whether to accept. A new minister of reform institutions would also be appointed, he indicated.

George W. Welsh becomes provincial treasurer and chairman of the Liquor Control Board. William Griesinger, former liquor board chairman becomes planning minister to succeed Mr. Welsh.

Mr. Frost remains provincial treasurer.

George H. Dunbar, who held the dual job of municipal affairs and of reform institutions, will shortly surrender the reforms portfolio.

George Doucett will be deputy house leader as well as minister of highways and public works.

Russell T. Kelley, 72-year-old minister of health, is seriously ill with a heart disease and was unable to be present for yesterday's ceremony. He retains his post which is taken over temporarily by William Goodfellow, who also serves as welfare minister. Other posts remain unchanged.

William Harvey, member for Nipissing, assumes the vice-chairmanship of the Ontario Northland Railway Commission previously held by Mr. Welsh and will act as industrial commissioner under the Northland Railway Act. He will not, however, be a cabinet member.

Following is the complete cabinet:

Leslie M. Frost, premier and provincial treasurer; Thomas L. Kennedy, agriculture; George H. Doucett, highways and public works; Dana Porter, attorney-general and temporary minister of education; George H. Challies, minister without portfolio; George H. Dunbar, municipal affairs and temporary minister of reforms institutions; Charles Daley, labor; Russell T. Kelley, health; George A. Welsh, provincial secretary; William Goodfellow, public welfare; William Griesinger, planning and development; Harold R. Scott, lands and forests; Louis P. Cecile, travel and publicity; Welland S. Gemmell, mines.

City Sends

comprised the first group to welcome the Premier to his own constituency and home, and also to the neighboring district which joined in the splendid celebration of acclaim.

First respect was paid to Mrs. Frost in the presentation of an arm bouquet of red roses. Then after meeting the receiving deputations the Premier made a leisurely visit down a long double line of veterans of the two World Wars. The Premier seemed to know every man in the two files, his own comrades of the first war and the younger veterans of the second. He shook hands with each one of them, and quite naturally as is the way with men in the memory of old associations, he paused a little longer here and there in returning the welcome of some who had been closest to him in the fighting along the western front in the first war.

Conspicuous Welcome

Orillia and Peterborough were conspicuously represented in the colorful welcome. Orillia had first claim on the new Premier as his native town. Dr. W. M. Seymour, Mayor, some of the members of the council, and the Orillia Kilties Band were prominent in the parade and in the reception at the park. Peterborough had only the claim of nearest neighbor, and as evidence of their wish to participate in the local tributes to Premier Frost, they sent along Mayor M. J. Swanston, Aldermen Hurrell Dodds and Douglas Miller, City Clerk E. A. Outram, and the Canadian General Electric Company's pipe and drum band under the leadership of Alex Milne. The band was the smartest unit in the parade, and drew frequent bursts of applause along the route.

The quality of small town friendships and wide acquaintance gleamed in the formal address of Mayor Moore at the park reception. His Worship said in part: "Orillia may claim you as a native son, and I am pleased to welcome Mayor Seymour and some of the town council of Orillia, but for many years this has been your home, where you have lived and endeared yourself to every one of us. You and Mrs. Frost are associated intimately with the life of our community, and of this we are very proud.

In the broader field you have brought honor to yourself and your Province which you have served with distinction, and your election as Premier has met with universal approbation. The responsibilities as leader of the government of the province of Ontario are exceedingly heavy and will demand your best. We thank God that you, who throughout your private and public life have been actuated by a desire to serve, are prepared to spend your great abilities and integrity to give leadership in these fateful days of testing for our democratic way of life.

On behalf of every person in the town of Lindsay, I extend sincere congratulations and the earnest prayer that your efforts may be crowned with abundant success."

County Welcome

Warden Dr. F. M. Graham expressed the felicities and good wishes of the rural municipalities of Victoria-Haliburton.

Five members of the new Cabinet made the trip to Lindsay to be with their leader in the hometown celebration. They were: Hon. George H. Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs; Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests; Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare; Hon. Geo. A. Welsh, Provincial Secretary, and Hon. Welland S. Gemmell, the new Minister of Mines.

The Ministers were introduced by Mr. Dunbar. They were followed by Mr. Clayton Hodgson, Member of Parliament for the constituency. Political divisions were forgotten for the evening's accolade of honor to the Premier. Significant of the unity of the people in their testimonial of appreciation was a letter from Wm. Newman of Lorneville, Liberal adversary of Premier Frost in the provincial arena, extending his congratulations and expressing regret that death in his family prevented from attending the celebration.

Another prominent Liberal of the riding, Bruce McNevin of Reaboro, former M. P., paid personal tribute to Mr. Frost and wished him success in his leadership of the government. Other speakers were Mayor Seymour of Orillia, Mayor Swanston of Peterborough and Jasper Forman, president of Lindsay branch of the Canadian Legion.

Mentions Veterans

In reply Premier Frost said: "I would like to thank you all so much for this great welcome here tonight. It would be difficult for me to pick out any of the organizations represented, but I'd like to mention my old veteran friends of the Great War, and the young veterans of the last war."

Mr. Frost said his memories went back to cherished associations in the fighting on the western front in the trying years of 1914 and 1915. He thanked the people of Lindsay and of Victoria and Haliburton for their years of friendship and also for the encouragement they had always given him.

"It is a great inspiration to me to be back here where it is my home town and my home county. It is very refreshing, and I can tell you that I still think this is the finest place in the world to live in, and my home is still going to be at 17 Sussex Street, Lindsay."

Mr. Frost recalled the occasion six years ago when on his return home as Provincial Treasurer he had said that he was back home as himself and without any of the trappings of office. At that time the government had been returned with only 38 seats, fourteen less than the combined opposition.

"With 50 odd against us I thought that my political life was to be very short indeed, that it was of dubious longevity. On this occasion coming home as Premier of Ontario, I wish to say again that I am back among you without any of the trappings of office, but as your friend and neighbor.

You and I have a great and challenging opportunity in the days ahead. We have been living during the last 35 years in times troubled by war and rumors of war. We have been living in a perplexed world as Smutz said "in a dangerous world". Here in Ontario with our population of four and a half million we have an opportunity of giving an example of good government. We have a challenging opportunity of preserving the dignity and the value of the individual citizen and of human personality."

Hopes To Set Example

Mr. Frost concluded with the wish that his desire to set an example of good government would be realized, and that he and his associates would have the co-operation of the people "in helping us to achieve that end. That is the thought which I wish to leave with you.

I wish to thank the Mayor of Lindsay and Warden Graham for their kindly addresses which I shall value all the days of my life."

The following is a glimpse of the units comprising the parade, the marshals of which were Dick Butler, Ken Garbig and Jerry Connolly. In the van was the band of the Salvation Army, followed by the members of the Canadian Legion and the C.G.E. pipers. Behind them was the Premier's automobile, and a string of other cars carrying the municipal representatives; the Orillia Kilties band; Rotary, Kiwanis and Kinsmen Clubs; the boys and girls band of Bobcaygeon; Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, Little Britain band; the Lindsay Cadets and their bugle band and various other sections bringing up the rear of the procession the head of which was turning into Kent St. as the end of it was leaving the station.

Golds, Western Oils Slump On Exchange

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Early firmness in prices faded as trading progressed here today. Industrials managed to hold some fractional advances and base metals were on a firmer trend. Golds and western oils dipped into the minus column.

Volume for the first three hours was 463,000 shares, about 14,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Base metals were in a general upward trend as key issues traded actively for steady gains.

Papers brightened in the industrial groupings and a few steels were firmer. Utilities and foods slipped lower while the remainder of the list was mixed.

Western oils were strong in early dealings, but tended to weaken as the session progressed.

A reporter from the Sherbrooke Record trying to reach the town found every road blocked that he tried.

Strikers said they had brought in from 1,500 to 2,000 strikers and sympathizers from Thetford Mines, where the strike has been in effect also since February 13.

Send In Reinforcements

One reason for the assembly of hundreds of pickets was said to have been a report that the Canadian Johns-Manville Company intended to ship out asbestos by rail today.

Strikers said their reinforcements had been arriving since 4 a.m. today.

Police said there were between 800 and 900 pickets at the plant of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company in Asbestos.

Agents within Asbestos could not get out and those arriving from outside points were stopped at the blockade. The outside group went to Danville, four miles away.

Pickets suddenly showing up at the Canadian Johns-Manville plant ignored a court injunction against picketing which was extended a few days ago until May 31.

13 Girls Killed In Store Fire

GLASGOW, May 5 — (CP). — Thirteen girls were killed and 22 other persons injured Wednesday in a fire that swept through a large Glasgow department store.

All the girls were believed to be employees of the department store, Grafton's Limited.

The four-storey building, which adjoins a movie theatre, was blazing only a few minutes after the fire broke out. Scores of girls are trapped on the upper floors while firemen battled to reach them.

Two girls leaped to death from the top floor. Bodies of several others were found huddled in a group on the upper floors. They apparently suffocated.

Screaming salesgirls rushed to the roof, seeking some way of escape. At one time at least 30 were trapped here. Firemen working from the tops of ladders rescued most of them.

Young People Hold Rally At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 5 — (ENS)—Faith in Christ enables man to overcome the struggles of life," Rev. A. E. Larke, Gore's Landing, told 70 members of the Cobourg Presbytery Young Peoples' Unions at a supper meeting in St. John's United Church Wednesday evening. It was the occasion of the annual Spring convention of the twenty-nine Y.P.U. groups in the Presbytery.

In the early Christian Church, he stated, witnessing and martyrdom were synonymous. Faith shapes character as the sculptor shapes marble, he said. Faith in a dynamic power in our lives if we witness for Christ. Faith keeps us steady through our periods of depression and exaltation. If we have faith low failure can transcend high success.

Rev. W. Fletcher, Wooler, convener of the administrative committee, reported on work camps. He said that Quin-Mo-Lac Camp on Moira Lake consisted of 300 acres and had one mile of lake frontage. It was purchased, he stated, for $3,000, which was a small price for such a valuable site.

Haid, 63-year-old father of 16 children, was injured fatally on Tuesday when he fell down the loft stairs in his barn at nearby Britton, an autopsy report indicated Wednesday. The Curious Composition of The British Commonwealth

We have already commented at length upon the curious alteration in the composition of the British Commonwealth which makes it possible for India to become a republic and yet to remain within that free association of nations. There are one or two other points, however, which demand some consideration, and which we shall mention here, as briefly as we can. The unsettled state of affairs in the Union of South Africa is one of these. Field Marshal Smuts opposed the alteration which gives India a place in the Commonwealth, for he thought that other nations might follow its example. He is right, of course, and South Africa is one of them. But we must recognize that a majority of the people in South Africa do not agree with Smuts' opinions, and we must ask ourselves whether it is better to have South Africa inside the Commonwealth as a republic, or outside it as a possible grave nuisance to the Commonwealth? The oppression of native races and the totalitarian trend of political rule in South Africa at present make it something of a black eye for the more liberal British nations. But those things may change, and the loss of a large and strategically placed piece of territory would be permanent.

* * *

As for India itself we must recognize that that country is politically backward still, for it is not so long ago that it was dominated by native princes, some of whom were tyrants. The enthusiasm of newly emancipated peoples for political freedom, and their hatred of anything that smacks of foreign domination, are both intense emotions. The existence, thousands of miles away, of a benevolent, virtually powerless, and white gentleman whom they must acknowledge as King, is repugnant to them. But dares the Commonwealth lose India on what must appear to some people to be a technical quibble?

* * *

Cold political logic shows us that the existence of the Crown is a foolish fiction. But cold political logic is not a thing which holds millions of people together in their allegiance to a tradition of political and moral conduct. As a source of moral unity the Crown is a very great institution, with roots which go very deep not only into history, but into the psychological subsoil of widely divergent peoples. Though the Divine Right of Kings is an exploded political idea, the Divinity of Kingship is very real, and some of the strangest antics of republics have resulted from their attempts to meet that reality without acknowledging it.

No great institution, spiritual or temporal, has ever existed long on this earth without turning some very sharp corners and making fritters of logic. The Commonwealth has never been an exception to that general rule.

The Touch of Greatness

One of the unsung values of living in Peterborough is the accessibility of Toronto when great occasions in that city beckon. Such an occasion was the Massey Hall appearance of Vladimir Horowitz last Monday. We noticed in the throng at the entrance to the hall numerous Peterborough and district people who, like ourself, had braved the despicable Danforth or the queasy Queen Street to go to Toronto. Incidentally, among Toronto's lack of lures are its eastern road approaches which Peterborough people must use; the dreadful Danforth—a Charlotte Street elongated and horrescent—and quitchy Queen Street, for which there is no Peterborough parallel.

Horowitz played Bach and Scarlatti and moderns like Schumann, Chopin and Moussorgsky (the latter's Pictures at an Exhibition) with infinite grace and clarity. At times his power was symphonic, as in the final episode of the Pictures. He played with the virtuosity of a dedicated genius. Description of his art in mere superlatives is trite and meaningless to the ear which has heard the performance. We can but echo the critic who said, "One should be grateful to live in the same century with Horowitz."

His is the touch of greatness, and under his touch even a single note sings to the heart. It is the wizardry of greatness that its appearance can renew, as for thousands in Massey Hall Monday night, the awareness of greatness. A beneficence of such a great man as Horowitz is that he makes more possible for his hearers what Sir Richard Livingstone considers a first requisite for people who truly live, "the habitual vision of greatness".

Toronto redeems its barrenness through such musical opportunities, and the response of Horowitz' ecstatic audience shows that Toronto has a soul, at least among its musically-minded.

Conscious Canadian Unity

The Canadian nation has been consciously planned, as Prime Minister St. Laurent said in Winnipeg a week or two ago. It is not a spontaneous unity. Of the usual characteristics of a nation—the common homeland of a group of people speaking the same language, having the same culture and traditions and to a certain extent a degree of racial unity—Canada has but one, the common homeland. The nation as we are coming to know it, and as itself is being developed has resulted from a conscious and deliberate policy, the patient building by men of vision and tolerance.

There may be some who believe that a nation so created, whose unity must be planned, is so unnatural and politically unfeasible a thing that it is folly to try to preserve and perpetuate it. If there are such people their pessimism or anarchism or willingness to sell out has no place in present-day Canada. There are, however, many people who do not understand the nature of Canada's development, or who are so parochial as to exalt provincialism. For them Mr. St. Laurent's analysis should be taken as a warning and a guide.

"The great work of continuing statesmanship" cannot be carried on by men whose vision is provincial, whose policies are demagogic or whose political courage is brashly shouted from housetops but is as evanescent and bumptious as the words. Nor should Canada have at its helm men whose creed is to "divide and rule".

On this matter of Canadian unity no voice is more worthy of a hearing than Mr. St. Laurent's, who in the same Winnipeg speech asserted as a faith: "I am convinced that the practice of the qualities of tolerance—without which we cannot have unity and harmony—makes ordinary Canadians a better people than we would be if we did not have to strive to maintain our national structure. I also believe that the destruction of our unity as a nation would do grave injury not only to Canada but to the rest of the civilized world."

Beyond The Human Eye

The 200-inch Hale telescope on Palomar Mountain in California is now in use. We have been reading an article in an American magazine about the Mount Palomar telescope, what it sees and what secrets of the universe it may reveal, and have been almost struck wordless. With the aid of the gigantic telescope pictures have been taken of the oldest and most remote star worlds—others universes—ever photographed by man. The light from these stars 6,000 billion billion miles away, the light that made the images possible on photographic plates, started on its journey from these star worlds when our earth was being formed, when primitive prehuman life was just beginning.

The extent of these universes in time and space is inconceivable. They are of the macrocosm, yet despite their infinity, there exists a preposterous relation between the macrocosm and the microcosm, between vastness and littleness, between the infinitely great and the infinitesimally small. These distant huge universes are so small to human view that they cannot be seen. The atom, the smallest thing popularly imaginable, has been proved in this decade powerful enough to blow our world to bits. More clearly than ever is the truth of the relativity of time and matter being realized by scientists. Poets and philosophers have long sensed it and been able, as was Blake,

To see the world in a grain of sand,
And a heaven in a wild flower;
Hold infinity in the palm of your hand,
And eternity in an hour.

One wonder of the world which the new wonders re-attest is man himself, who is able to look back ten million years with a telescope he has made and to pry into the secrets of an atom which he has postulated. What a piece of work is a man! . . . . how infinite in faculty!

Strange though it may seem, there is not a single M.P. in Canada at this moment.

From The Critic's Notebook

ELEPHANT AND CASTLE by R. C. Hutchinson (Clarke, Irwin). The name of this novel, symbolic of the heart of London, could not have been better chosen. It is like a wonderfully coloured tapestry, crowded with the figures of those who came and went through the heart of that great city in the interim between the two great wars.

The dramatis personae are as varied as the types of English society, but marvellous to relate in this day of classification, they are not types, but characters who live and move and have their being within the framework of the society.

The theme is what one of the dear old persons of the story brutally refers to as "an alliance of the ornamental with the criminal classes". This theme was handled in a superficial manner by Margery Sharpe in "Britannia Mews", as readers of novels will recall. Mr. Hutchinson's is a much better story.

His insight into the feminine mind is uncanny. The two chief women characters, who grow up with the century and show the effects of the feminist movement in England, grow, develop and change with a remarkable life-likeness as do all the main figures as the story progresses.

The dialogue, which seems very natural and in character, carries the plot forward as it would in a well-written play. The talk of the polite people is urbane, stupid and wise; that of the uneducated, vigorous, rambling or broadly humorous, and through most of the book always right.

The main character is a woman whose rationalizing philosophy rules out the instincts of her heart, and by treating those she loves with cold objectivity, brings tragedy to all about her. Through the various stages of her development she goes her cool, blind way, never admitting as valid any viewpoint but her own.

Elizabeth, whose story is the main counterplot, grows wise through her errors. The women who fare well in this novel, at least spiritually, are those like Elizabeth who allow their men to snow them the way. Armorel, the quietly dominating one, is a destructive force.

The author puts into the mouth of one of his wiser characters the belief that as far as people are concerned "Facts are never anything to go on; there's nothing less important than facts. I mean, facts as one generally knows them".

In a book overflowing with good scenes, one of the best is the birthday where the high born relatives with their children meet the slum neighbours and theirs.

"Elephant and Castle" is a novel on large and traditional lines. The characters have names that are subtly symbolic, there is much interweaving of elements and a Dickensian cast to the humour. Nevertheless, it is written with a very intelligent understanding of the effect of this century's trends upon the English people.

Unfortunately, the plot falls off badly and the drama is finally underminded by tediously drawn out melodrama. In spite of this, there is so much else to recommend it that the reader will not be too disappointed.

HERSELF SURPRISED by Joyce Carey (Harper). This is as good a novel as you are likely to meet with in a long time.. It was published in England in 1941 and was brought out in an American edition last year. It is, briefly, the story of Sara Monday, an English country girl who goes into domestic service and rises to be a cook; she marries her mistress' son, and becomes a lady; falls in love with an artist, becomes a cook again, and at last the mistress of her employer; she ends in jail because she has stolen from him. But through all these vicissitudes Sara remains delightful—a country Venus, fully conscious of her charms but without coquetry. She understands men, particularly weak men, and she understands "nature"—her own and other people's.

To say that this book is brilliantly written is to misrepresent it, for the adjective implies a glitter, and a conscious effort which are foreign to it. As one reads one marvels that a male author should have penetrated so far and so understandingly into a female mind. We have met Mrs. Monday before, in the same author's "The Horse's Mouth" in which the adventures of her artist lover, Gully Jimpson, are described in his own words. These books are the work of a master novelist; if Joyce Carey is not recognized as the master he is during his lifetime (and he is now well advanced in middle life) posterity will repair that omission. But the time for discerning readers to get hold of his books and read them is not tomorrow or next week, but today.

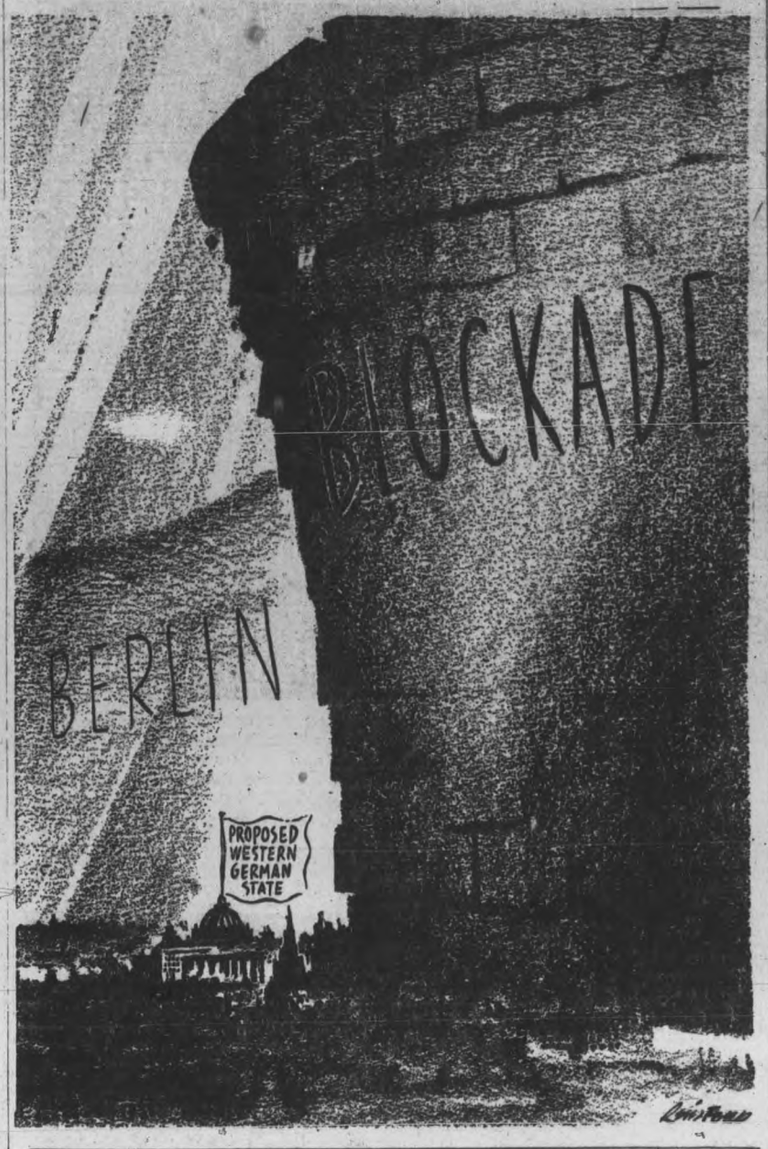
London Nights

It was delightful on Saturday night, even in the heavy rain, to walk with the crowds and rejoice at the lights. The centre of attraction was Piccadilly Circus, and people began to gather around Eros long before dark. When the lights came on they were mostly content to stand and stare, to feast as it were on the rich colour of the large flashing signs. Earlier an actress had sung a war-time song from the balcony of the Criterion: "I'm going to get lit when up when the lights go on in London," which at the time of its popularity was deplored by a humourless prophet as a lamentable way to meet the problems of the post-war world.

But the most pleasing of all the sights was not the theatres or the cinemas—not even the Hollywood resplendence of Leicester Square—but the shops and some of the cafes of Oxford Street and Regent Street. Here good taste was combined with brilliance, and if there were a concours d'elegance the prize must be given to the Marble Arch Corner House. But only a minority of shops was lighted. The great disappointment was Trafalgar Square. The fountains were not illuminated in colour—a permanent lighting set which is being installed was not yet ready. But is it not time to floodlight some of our public buildings—for example, the National Gallery, the Admiralty Arch, Buckingham Palace?—Manchester Guardian.

DELICATE DEMOLITION JOB



An Eccentric Canadian Parson

(BROCKVILLE RECORDER AND TIMES)

EASTERN Ontarians of all communions should be interested in the opening of a fund with which to place an electric organ in the church at Bath as a memorial to the Rev. John Langhorn, for that decidedly eccentric individual was one of the pioneer missionaries of this part of the province and served the Bath district and its Loyalist and other inhabitants from as early as the year 1787 to the year 1813.

Mr. Langhorn, of course, knew nothing of electricity and very little, if anything at all, of organs in his far-flung Canadian mission. As a matter of fact, most of his "churches" (and he founded several of them out of his own pocket) were little more than log shacks even if he did give them high-sounding names. And the crusty old bachelor contented himself with lodgings in the leanto of a farm house from which all were excluded, with the bed, we are told, bearing a closer resemblance to an oriole's nest than to the orthodox piece of furniture. Nor would he suffer anyone but himself to make it.

This Welshman, who complained bitterly about many things but rarely about his own deprivations during his stay in Canada, was remembered for many years for his eccentricities. One of these consisted of bathing in Lake Ontario every morning regardless of the season or the ice that covered it. Even when he could only get his morning dip by diving into holes that had been cut in the ice to water cattle, he continued this daily practice to maintain his health, so he said, and to brace his nerves.

Although decidedly portly, he travelled everywhere on foot and such was his aversion to ministers of other faiths that, on the hottest of days, he was known to decline a lift offered him in all kindness by the Presbyterian pastor. As a matter of fact, he apparently regarded anyone but a member of the Church of England with extreme distaste although he did commend the few "Papists" in his territory for their regularity in attending divine service.

Nowadays Mr. Langhorn would be regarded as a bit of a nuisance, which, as a matter of fact, he became to his ecclesiastical superiors. But no one questioned his zeal or his self-sacrifice in his effort to plant the church all the way from Kingston to the neighborhood of Picton nor was his conscientiousness questioned. His letters, edited some years ago by the late Professor A. H. Young, make most interesting reading.

His health broken as a result of his experiences in what was in very truth the Canadian wilderness, this pioneer missionary resigned in 1813 and returned to England. He survived for only four years and was buried in Heversham churchyard, Westmoreland, where a tall monument stands to his memory. It is quite fitting that there should also be a memorial of him on this side of the water.

Mining In Newfoundland

Mining is Newfoundland's third industry but with a record production of $21 millions last year it is not so far behind the $29 millions of fishery products or the $26 millions produced by the newsprint and paper mills.

Aided, of course, by record metal prices, base metal output last year climbed to new heights and the value of iron ore produced jumped to a new top. Mine employment was at a high level and now, backed by a strong and thriving Canadian industry, it is to be hoped that Newfoundland mining will continue its upward course.

Within the limits of its meagre appropriation the Newfoundland Geological Survey has done excellent work. Important parts of the island have been mapped geologically and a high standard has been set. The Dominion Geological Survey has no immediate plans for Newfoundland, it is undertood, other than to continue the projects that have already been put in hand. Later on, it is likely more ambitious programs will be undertaken.

Newfoundland mining, too, will now have the benefit of the ore dressing and other laboratory service supplied by the Bureau of Mines.—Northern Miner.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou? And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself. And he said, Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat? And the man said, The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat....

And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life....In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return....

And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: and now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever; therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken.

So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life. (Gen. 3: 9-12, 17, 19, 22-24.)

I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings. (Jer. 17: 10.)

Junior: "Yes, Dad. But not with such a straight face."

Disgusted Professor: "What did you come to college for, anyway? You are not studying."

Bobby Rahrah: "Well, mother says it's to fit me for the presidency; Uncle Jim, to sow my wild oats; sister Helen, to get a chum for her to marry, and dad, to bankrupt the family."

The witness was obviously a rustic and quite new to the ways of a courtroom, So, the judge directed him:

"Speak to the jury, sir—the men sitting behind you on the benches."

The witness turned, bowed clumsily and said:

"Good-morning, gentlemen."

THE DRIVE IS ON—The spring log drive to move pulp cut in Canada's forests during the winter to the mills is one of the characteristics of Canadian life. This drive is now in full swing with the rivers and streams carrying their cargoes as they have since the 17th century. Eighty per cent of the annual harvest is moved this way. This photo by Malak of Ottawa shows the rushing torrent carrying the logs to the mills from the Gatineau district, with the lumberjacks guiding the drive.

Strawberry Infection

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP). — A Federal horticulturist said on Wednesday night that commercial strawberry growers in Canada were faced with serious virus infections that stunts the plants and decreases yields. A. W. S. Hunter, of the Department of Agriculture's Central Experimental Farm, said the disease was spread by insects and advised commercial growers to take more care in the selection of strawberry plants and remove any plants suspected of infection.

Raps Complaints On RCMP Tactics

OTTAWA, May 5 (CP) — George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Trade and Commerce, said yesterday the RCMP discovered Communists in the civil service during its 1946 investigations of Russian espionage but there was no reason for ordinary civil servants to be alarmed by the investigations.

He made the statements when interviewed regarding anonymous complaints from civil servants about "inquisatorial tactics" by RCMP officers.

(The Royal Commission on espionage named 20 Canadians, most of them civil servants or members of the armed forces, in its 1946 report.

(The Canadian Press, reporting Mr. McIlraith's interview yesterday, erroneously indicated that he referred to new disclosures by the RCMP. Actually, he referred to the disclosures made during the 1946 probe.)

Mr. McIlraith said he could see no reason for complaints about RCMP tactics.

Marvel Gets Deciding Fall When Villmer Is Injured

Lew Reynheer, the Marvel without his mask, defeated Ray Villmer in the deciding fall of the main bat bout at the Brock Arena last night. It was a lucky fall for him as he was taking a beating when Villmer twisted his neck and Referee Cliff Fox halted the scrap. Ray had him going with drop kicks when Lew side-stepped one and Villmer hit the ropes, twisting his neck as he fell. He had to be helped afterward. The fans' ire was raised when Reynheer kept kicking Ray as he writhed on the floor. The fall came in 3½ minutes.

The second, and equalizing fall, came in 1 minutes with Lew winning on a slam after twice throwing Ray into the turn-buckles and in general softening him up in brutal fashion. Lew went 250 pounds to 224 for Ray, but the latter had speed and color to draw the fan's support and give the Marvel a rough time of it. Often, Fox had to start a disqualification count to make Reynheer break illegal grips as he choked, pulled hair, rasped eyes and used fises. Ray had him in trouble for a space with flying tackles and a hammerlock after pushing him once out of the ring. It was a lively round and kept the customers noisy.

Ray Won First

Ray won the first fall in 22 minutes with a terrific airplane spin following a pile-driver and a slugfest. They each in turn used fists and elbows in lively style with a speedy Ray having an edge. He turned in a whale of a driving effort, and used a punishing hammerlock time and again, but the powerful Marvel was his usual rough and experienced self to get away with plenty, despite official warnings. The action was hot all the way and the fans liked the fall.

The Cardiff Giant, bumping the beam at 330 hair pounds, took the semi-final over 226-pound Bill Stack. The latter filled in for another grappler, who missed train connections out of Buffalo, and Bill was popular. Indeed, for a time in the early part of it, Stack hammered his giant opponent around as he used his speed to advantage and threw in some fast punches. But the weight and ring experience of the rough and ponderous Giant paid off finally. He threw Bill out of the ring and kept him out a space, finally yanking him back over the ropes and applying a strong bear-hug which forced Stack to concede in 18 minutes.

Rough Stuff

Ivan Rasputin, 238 pounds, took the opener in 21 minutes, also with a bear-hug, over popular Art Brady, scaling 220. The bewhiskered Ivan showed no effects of a broken back which had him hospitalized for three years, as he played it rough all the way. He pulled hair and got away with it and used many of his vast bag of illegal mat tricks to keep the crowd hostile. Brady came back hard once, after they had battled outside the ring, to treat his supporters to a grand display of flying tackles and drop kicks as it really opened up, but just after that the Ivan got in his deadly grip to wind it up. They mixed briefly after the final gong sounded, too.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Jumping the gun on the official openings, a lot of chaps—and some ladies, too — have been out with the irons and the woods on links of the Peterborough and Kawartha Golf Clubs in recent weeks. The pro at Peterborough Club, Gord Harrison, tells us last Saturday saw 70 teeing off, with another 40 the following day. Official opening for the club is May 14, a week from this Saturday, when the President vs. Vice-President match is slated to start the season off formally. Dinner and so forth. Cliff has the greens in good shape and the course should be about perfect by opening day. Prexy Milf Hardill looks for the largest membership yet. Ladies of this club pry off the lid on May 31.

* * * * * *

Lex Robson of Kawartha advises us that the ladies will open there on May 19, followed two days later by the male members. A medal round and ball sweep, followed by dinner, et al. Bill McIntosh has the course in better shape than it was this time a year ago. Traffic on nine holes has been heavy up to date and this week-end should see plenty out, weather being okay. Many new members this spring, including a lot of young golfers, so everything seems set for a big season. CGE Shop Loop opens on Monday. Lex has a good supply of equipment on hand, having ordered it last fall. New orders are still slow coming through, it appears. Lex expects to take a whack at the Open in June.

Looking Over Riverside

Took a meander around Riverside Park the other day and glad to see how the grass is sprouting. Also the new high fence along the river. Both stands, of course, are down, and the civic bleachers will have to suffice this year. Still, softball, lacrosse and football fans here sit in the open all the time. Home plate will be moved over about halfway between its present site and the east fence, thus putting centre field this year where right field was last summer. There might be the odd homer over the shorter right field fence now. Not so many balls lost in the drink in future. Ground needs more levelling and some work to be done on dugouts, etc., but it'll be ready in time.

* * * * * *

Armar Butcher and his men have been fixing up the Bowl in East City, too, and it ought to be in fine shape for the softball opening next week. Infield now isn't too bad, but a new home plate will be installed, possibly a better back screen, and a P.A. system back of home plate. Some lights to be fixed, too, but no big job lying ahead on this diamond. Shorty Barrett is working on it. The Ashburnham Bowl is a beauty spot in the city and one well used by men, women and children nightly during the hot weather. Immediately north of it is another swell layout, the Quaker Field.

Ray Gets Pain In Neck

A missed drop kick lost Ray Villmer his chance to beat the unmasked Marvel, Lew Reynheer, in the main mat bout along the Rue Brock last warm e'en. The colorful and popular Ray won the first fall, lost the second and seemed headed for a win till his flying feet missed Lew but hit hemp, throwing him so he twisted his neck. That did it, belated kicks by rough Lew not helping any, either. It'll take a big, tough grappler to give the Marvel a man-sized pasting. The Cardiff Giant was too big for Bill Stack—who is only 226 pounds—in the semi-final, while Ivan Rasputin won the prelim over Art Brady. The bearded Ivan has been back in the mat game nearly a year now after spending three years in bed with a broken back. And he's as rough as ever.

An ideal day yester aft at the Ex. for the combined field day of St. Peter's High and the city separate schools. Jim McDonald took the championship of senior high school boys, Ann Colins was the senior girl winner, Bob Fitzgerald won out in junior high competition, and Rose Mary McMurray took honors for junior girls. Lionel Bloom of Sacred Heart was champ of separate school boys and Joan Begley of St. Mary's led the lasses. St. Mary's topped the separate schools, ahead of St. Peter's, St. John's, Sacred Heart and Immaculate Conception. The Bishop officially opened the meet, with a number of priests and other men acting as officials. Minor grades held their competitions in the school yards.

COF Takes Tussle

COF captured a 12-8 victory over Post Office at King Edward Park last evening in a scheduled Foresters Softball League tussle. Phillips went the distance effectively for the victors while Wallwork replaced Coombes on the other slab in the fifth. Post Office errors proved costly, though the team showed promise, and both clubs will play better ball with more practise. The COF catcher was injured in the first.

COF plays A & P tonight, while Monday has A & P meeting Post Office. On Wednesday, Post Office takes on the Canoe Co., and the latter is home team next Thursday against COF. All games are at 6:30 p.m. in King Edward Park.

King Edward Victors

King Edward yanked out a 10-8 School Softball League victory over King George in a keen contest yesterday. They tallied two runs in the first and fourth innings, one apiece in the second and third, and finished up with a four-run drive to gain the verdict in the last of the fifth. King George got three in the first, one more in the fourth and four in the fifth. The teams:

King George: Barker, Hutton, Withers, Sharpe, Starr, Harding, Barclay, Roote, Fell, Williams, Crowder, Taylor, Thompson.

King Edward: Ball, Frizzelle, Whatley, Hunt, Peters, Crowe, Chalmers, Hobart, Murduff, Harrison.

Old Rockport Predicted Due To Beat Olympia

LOUISVILLE, May 5 (AP) — A lot of the "smart guys" were insisting today that old Rockport is the only horse with a chance to beat Olympia Saturday in the Kentucky Derby. They could be so right—and, for that matter, so wrong.

Old Rockport is the one horse other than Ocean Drive—a stablemate of Red W. Hooper's Derby favorite—to hang it on Olympia this year. "Rocky" did it in the Santa Anita Derby Feb. 19, collaring the front-running Olympia about 50 yards from the finish to win by a length and a half. Ocean Drive beat Olympia in the Hibiscus stakes at Hialeah a month earlier.

Sharing the opinion of several Derby veterans that if he did it once, Old Rockport could pour it on again was plain Ben Jones, the Calumet farm trainer.

"I still believe Olympia is going to win," said Ben, "but Old Rockport appears to be the only horse with a chance to beat him. If we can take third (with ponder) I'll be tickled to death."

John Gaver, trainer of the Greentree stable entry of Capot and Wine List, wouldn't come right out for Old Rockport, his own pair or any other horse, including Olympia.

"He has been beaten, you know" the Princeton grad declared.

Clifford Mooers is high on his Old Rockport. But he refused to predict a Derby triumph.

Phillies Win 5 Straight Crush St. Louis 7-5

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Philadelphia Phillies win five straight from Dodgers and Cardinals.

Hardly a man is still alive who remembers any such antics by the Phils. For years they were the doormats of the National League.

Manager Eddie Sawyer, who led Toronto Maple Leafs for the first part of last season, has uncovered a one-man staff in Ken Heintzelman.

The 33-year-oldster has "arrived" with two victories over Brooklyn, one over Boston and a decision over the St. Louis Cards for a 4-0 record.

Ken needed help Wednesday night to get past St. Louis when two walks, an error and a double by Marty Marion put him in a hole in the ninth. Ken Trinkle finally put out the uprising after three runs scored, leaving the Phils with a 7-5 edge.

As a result of the second straight win over the Cards, the Phils have moved from the cellar to a fourth-place tie, only two games off the pace.

Stan Hollmig was the big gun in the Phils' latest success. Breaking into the lineup in right field in place of the slumping Bill Nicholson, Hollmig drove in three runs with a pair of singles.

Johnny Sain came through with another complete winning game to make Boston Braves look more like the club that won the 1948 pennant.

The Braves' ace retired 18 men in a row Wednesday night after leadoff man Harry Walker singled. Chicago scored two runs and another in the eighth but the Braves' four-run first inning attack on Dutch Leonard stood up for a final 4-3 edge.

Leo Durocher returned from his five-day suspension by Commissioner A. B. Chandler and saw Johnny Mize, Sid Gordon and Bobby Thomson hit home runs as his New York Giants walloped Pittsburgh, 11-4.

Larry Jansen, an 18-game winner in '48, finally copped No. 1 although nicked for 15 hits.

Brooklyn belted over its "cousins" from Cincinnati, 5-1, with Joe Hatten doing the honors. Catcher Roy Campanella chipped in with two hits. He has hit safely in the last 10 Dodges games.

American League hitters gave the fences another workout, smashing 13 homers in four games.

Washington hitters hammered three homers to nip Chicago White Sox, 8-7 at Chicago. But not until Floyd Baker, the Sox third baseman, hit the first home run of his seven-year major league career.

It was 7-5 Chicago going to the ninth. Reliefer Ernie Groth fed a home run ball to Ed Stewart and it was 7-6. Eddie Robinson was hit by a pitched ball and then Mark Christman swatted his third homer in three games to give Walt Masterson his first '49 decision.

Joe Gordon hit two into the stands and Dale Mitchell and Mickey Vernon each banged one to account for all the runs of Cleveland's 4-3 nod over Philadelphia. Gene Bearden, with bullpen help from Al Benton, hung up his third straight win at the expense of Toronto Dick Fowler.

Vic Raschi and Virgil Trucks earned their fourth straight games for New York and Detroit, respectively. Raschi breezed past St. Louis, 10-5, on a 15-hit Yankee attack led by Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Coleman. Trucks turned back Boston with three hits as Detroit clubbed Mickey Harris for a 5-1 edge.

Maple Leafs Edge Bears In 4-3 Victory

By The Canadian Press

The second openers of the International League were a whopping success with a total of 73,492 fans attending the curtain-raisers at the four northern city parks.

Toronto drew the largest, with a record crowd of 22,206 watching the Maple Leafs eke out a 4-3 victory over Newark Bears. Buddy Hassett's Bears came back with three in the ninth inning to knock out Oscar Judd, who allowed only three hits in eight shut-out frames.

Rochester, playing before 18,401 customers, knocked off Jersey City to tie the Little Giants for the league lead. Dick Bokelman, in trouble throughout the game, went the route for a 5-2 triumph, his first of the season.

A double by Ed Kierkowicz following a walk, and Steve Bilko's 430-foot homer sewed up the game for the Red Wings.

Buffalo packed in 16,897 to see the Bisons topple Syracuse Chiefs, 6-4. Jack Hussey, rookie first baseman, put on a one-man show. He drove in five runs with a triple and homer.

Omar (Turk) Lown pitched Montreal Royals to a 13-1 romp over Baltimore before 16,653 fans. Lown allowed only six hits although he trailed 1-0 until the fourth as the result of a double by Red McQuillen and a triple by Don Richmond.

Bob Morgan, Sam Jethroe, Lee Fondy and George Schmees hit home runs for the Brooklyn farmhands.

One-time all-star first baseman, Grimm had spent 13 years with the Cubs as player and manager before going to Milwaukee.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH the alkaline (no-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

TORONTO'S GREATEST BASEBALL Opening Day was held Wednesday with 22,206 fans filling Maple Leaf Stadium, to see Leafs whip Newark 4-3. Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson winds up to throw out the first pitch of the new season to get the game under way. Mrs. Lawson smiles approval (left). At right is Mayor Hiram McCallum.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Rocky Graziano, Brooklyn's bad boy of boxing, at Chicago Wednesday made an impassioned plea for reinstatement before the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

The Commission will announce its decision later.

Graziano, who won the world's middleweight championship from Tony Zale, and then lost it back to the Gary, Ind., rusting man of steel, has been barred in Illinois since eight months after he knocked out Zale in July, 1947.

Frank J. McAdams, Graziano's Chicago lawyer, attacked the legality of the rule barring Graziano. The rule, which McAdams said was aimed at Graziano, refuses licences to boxers who had been given dishonorable discharge from the armed forces. The previous commission, headed by Sheldon Clark, barred Graziano without a hearing.

At New York, the three-judge United States court of appeals reserved decision Wednesday on the request of two former major league pitchers that they be permitted to return to organized baseball at once. The two former pitchers are Fred Martin and Max Lanier of St. Louis Cardinals. They were suspended for five years in 1946 for jumping their contracts and joining the Mexican League. Technically, their request today sought the reversals of a ruling last month which denied them from re-joining organized ball, pending hearing of their $2,500,000 damage suit.

At Southern Pines, NC, Johnny Palmer of Badin racked up a pair of 69s Wednesday to win the Carolinas Open Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 277, four strokes better than runner-up Bobby Locke. Locke had a morning 70 and matched Palmer's closing 69 for 281 to nose out Dick Chapman by a single stroke. Chapman, opening day leader, had 72-69 Wednesday for 282 and third place.

Coach Otis Douglas of the Philadelphia Eagles professional football team arrived in Montreal Wednesday to head McGill University's annual spring football clinic.

The clinic, started by Boach Vic Obeck of the McGill grid squad three years ago, will open tonight and continue until Saturday night. Obeck said he expected to see about 200 coaches and players attend the clinic from Dalhousie University, Halifax and Queen's University and Royal Military College.

Bob Shanz, southpaw pitcher optioned Monday by the Philadelphia Athletics to Buffalo Bisons of the International League, was recalled Wednesday by the American League club. Paul Richards, Bison general manager, said at Buffalo he was told by Connie Mack, pilot of the A's, that injuries to Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., and Dick Fowler, native of Toronto made Shantz' return necessary.

At Sandown Park, England, Royal Forest, 7-to-1 favorite in the Derby, won a 1¼-mile tuneup race Wednesday worth £1,169 ($4,676). The three-year-old, ridden by champion jockey Gordon Richards, coasted home in the Sandown Park Trial Stakes four lengths ahead of Bobo with Transatlantic half-a-length farther back in third place. Royal Forest's price was 8-to-15. The winner's time was 2:18.8.

The victors got seven runs in the first frame, three in the second and fourth, with 10 in a big third. Queen Alex scored two each in the second and third, three next time up, and six in the fifth. The teams:

Regina Caps Spring Surprise Upset Senators In 6-3 Win

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—Unless Regina Capitals and Ottawa Senators get together on the venue of the next game of their Allan Cup series—and they're as far apart as Toronto now—the cup final may be decided by default for the first time in modern hockey history. The Western Canada Senior Champions sprang an upset 6-3 victory over the Senators at Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night and stirred arguments anew on where the fifth game of the best-of-seven final will be played. A capsule version of the various viewpoints looks like this:

1. It will be played Saturday night in Ottawa, (says Ottawa).
2. It will be played Saturday night in Toronto, (says Regina).
3. It will be played where we say or not at all—(dire mutterings from both sides).

An alternate suggestion, prompted solely by Toronto's heat wave, is that the teams take their series up to Aklavik and sides tried hard in the sticky finish it in the Arctic cold. Both weather that followed yesterday's 89-degree temperatures—highest ever recorded in Toronto for May 4.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, pointed out Wednesday night that the entire series originally was billed for Ottawa.

The fourth game was moved to Toronto, he said, after Tommy Gorman, Senators "communicated with me Sunday and offered to play it in Toronto."

Decided By Vote

Dudley added that " if Regina files a formal request for the next game to be played in Toronto, the decision would have to be made by a vote of the CAHA executive."

Dudley also quoted Cliff Ehrle, Capitals manager, as saying that Regina would default the series rather than play back in Ottawa Saturday night.

Ehrle declined comment on this but you can't blame Regina for wanting to play somewhere else but Ottawa. They lost the first three games by scores of 6-4, 3-1 and 7-0 on the oval-shaped ice surface in Ottawa, then looked like a different team Wednesday night on the Gardens' larger ice rectangle.

The Caps held the Eastern Canada champions to a 1-1 tie in the first period, led 3-2 after the second and raced away in the third. Their trigger-men were Red Tilson and Ab McDougall, who each fired two goals, and Mel Hill and Bill Kyle. Ottawa scorers were Eddie Emberg, Emile Dagenais and Stu Smith.

Ehrle said after the game he thought it "only fair that the next game be played in Toronto on neutral ice—we've played three games on Ottawa's home ice and I feel that we are entitled to have two games of the series played in Toronto."

But Gorman countered by saying flatly that "the next game and any remaining games of the series are set for Ottawa. . . That's where they will be played."

The crowd for last night's game was 5,886.

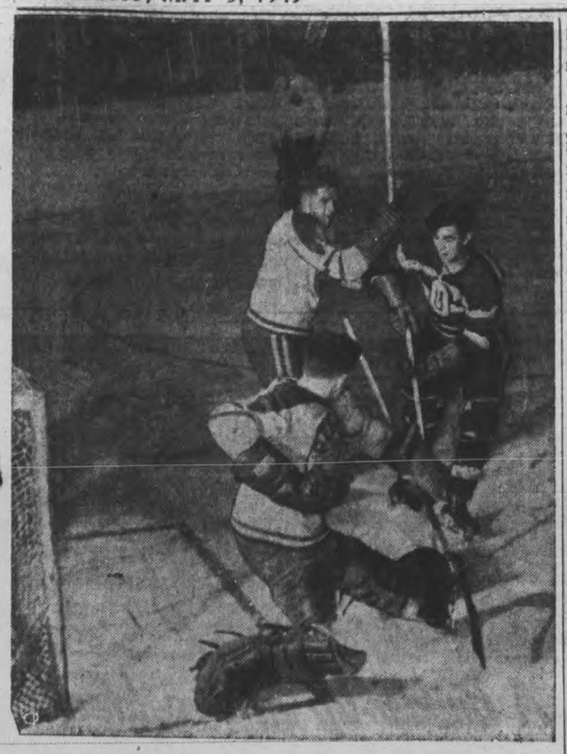
BOORMAN'S BEVERAGES



HARD THRUST—Ottawa Senators' Emile Dagenais, right, grimaces as he tries to drive the puck into the Regina Caps net. Goalie Bev Bentley makes a neat save as Jack Wilkie swings in to help push the enemy back. It didn't help much for the Senators took a 7-0 victory to chalk up their third straight game in the best-of-seven series for the Allan Cup in Ottawa. The fourth game Regina won 6-3.

St. Mary's School Victors In Combined Field Meet

St. Mary's School won the separate school championship yesterday of the annual field meet held by St. Peter's High and the separate schools of the city in Morrow Park. Grade 11B won the form honors of the high school. Ann Collins and Jim McDonald were respective champions of the senior high school girls and boys, with Rosemary McMurray and Bob Fitzgerald junior high winners. Joan Begley of St. Mary's took top honors for girls of separate schools, and Lionel Bloom of Sacred Heart was the boys' victor.

Ideal weather prevailed as the hundreds of competitors took part in the various track and field events. The track was fast but a bit rough, and only fair times were marked up. In separate school events, Sacred Heart won the senior boys' relay and St. Peter's took that for juniors. St. John's came first for senior girls, and St. Mary's for junior. Following St. Mary's with 74 points in the standing were St. Peter's with 54, St. John's 18, Sacred Heart 10, and Immaculate Conception 7.

Bishop Present

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough, officially opened the combined meet with a prayer. He spoke briefly on the value of physical education in the development of the child. A number of the priests conducted the meet in various capacities, and J. McGillis was starter, with D. Fitzgerald, J. Byrne, H. Crowley and P. Dominik the judges. Following are the results:

Hillbilly Tunes Well Received

By ALBERT HUNTER

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—The hillbilly songs of the west and the gay French-Canadian tunes of Quebec give Canada her "distinctive musical trademark." In the field of contemporary music, Canadian composers have a "promising" future, but the situation is "hopeless" as far as popular music is concerned.

That's the way William St. Clair Low sums up the present rating of Canadian composers. Mr. Low is general manager of Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada Ltd., and founder of Canadian Music Sales Corporation, a publishing firm.

The hillbilly melodies of Wilf Carter of Calgary and Hank Snow of Moncton, N.B., "are in great demand throughout most of the British Commonwealth are well received in the United States," said Mr. Low, whose business it is to know composers and their works.

"The peppy, fast-moving tunes in the French idiom by such composers as Leo Le Sieur and Jacques Lebrecque are also distinctly Canadian . . . they typify the vivacity and spirit of French Canada."

Enthusiastic Rose Grower Solved Indian Problem

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 5 — (CP) — A small gentle-mannered man who grows the finest orange roses in New Delhi, is on his way home to-day, a secret smile of triumph on his lips.

For Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, head of India's External Affairs Department and a shadowy figure at a dozen international conferences, has helped to fashion another political master-stroke.

Sir Girja, it is believed, did more than any other single source to shape the new Commonwealth Declaration of Status announced in London last week. Under it, India affirms her intention of becoming a sovereign independent republic but accepts the King as the symbol of Commonwealth relationship.

Sir Girja is believed to have had the basis of agreement "in his pocket" when he came here for the eight-power talks.

Before the conference opened Canadian sources described Sir Girja as "an ingenious fellow" who would find a solution if one existed.

Missed Earlier Talks

He missed the Commonwealth taks last October, but even then he was doing some hard thinking about how a republican India could remain within the Commonwealth. A "sub-conscious recollection" of previous conferences guided his thinking in India's case.

His contribution is somewhat ironic. During the Second World War he was sent to Washington by the British Government. One of his duties there was to act as counterpoise to speeches seeking Indian independence made by Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, sister of Prime Minister Pandit Nehru.

When India attained independence in August, 1947, Sir Girja was not exactly a popular hero. But the new leaders could not do without him. Now Sir Girja, once the servant of the British Government, and Nehru, who spent 13 years in British jails on behalf of India independence, have jointly accepted the agreement under which India remains in the Commonwealth.

North Hastings Tourism Planned

About 100 resort owners and people interested in the tourist trade met in Bancroft on Tuesday night to discuss formation of a tourist association. As guest speakers they had the Hon. Louis P. Cecile, Minister of Travel and Publicity, and Deputy Minister Tom McCall.

The organization is tentatively known as the North Hastings Tourist Association and will embrace those areas lying within a 50-mile radius of Bancroft. Sponsor of the meeting was the Belleville Chamber of Commerce which is pushing the idea of a more efficiently-operated tourist industry.

A temporary executive committee was chosen with Art Tompsett of White Pine Lodge as president. The area is to be zoned and the executive will include a representative from each of these zones.

Area Zoned

Present plans call for a separate committee to be set up in each of the zones and each will deal with problems peculiar to it. A delegate will from time to time attend the meeting of the central executive committee, of which he will be a member.

The first official meeting will be at 2.30 p.m. on May 18 in the Bancroft Hotel, according to Mr. Tompsett. Those attending are asked to bring a detailed plan of their particular zone, with a list of lakes, lodges, resorts and other pertinent information.

Stocking of lakes, open seasons, and fish and game problems generally will be dealt with by the association. It will also endeavor to see that tourists get the best available accommodation at reasonable rates.

"I'm Getting The 'Extras' On My Cream"

Our farmer-friend above is delighted to receive his cheque for savings made on cream he marketed co-operatively.

During March, United Co-operatives of Ontario paid $52,000 in patronage dividends for cream marketed from October 1, 1947, to September 30, 1948.

You can share in the "extras" on your cream! U.C.O. pays full market price for cream when it is received, and a patronage dividend when it is earned.

Cream cans are loaned free for shipping.

43 Engineers Attend Reunion Dinner

Forty-three engineers from the Third Field Park Co., (RCE) on Wednesday night held a successful reunion at the Koffee Pot and elected an executive to arrange two annual meetings for the Company.

Ex-sergeant Malcolm MacPherson was elected president, and the first task of the executive under his leadership will be to arrange an open meeting sometime this Fall, for all ex-Third Field Park Co. personnel able to attend.

By unanimous vote those present gave their enthusiastic assent to holding two meetings every year: one for the Company members from Peterborough and district, and the other an open meeting to be attended by ex-members and their friends from anywhere in Canada.

Following is a list of the complete executive: Malcolm MacPherson, president; Jack Davies, secretary treasurer; and a committee of five—Les Pryde, Pete Vitarelli, Babe Fontaine, of Peterborough and Harry Blewett and Jack Johnston of Lakefield.

Before the banquet commenced a minute of silence was called to commemorate Fallen Comrades.

The only item of business was the electing of the executive to look after future reunions, and the remainder of the evening was given over to entertainment.

Entertain Company

Herb Mullins and Leo DeLaire (an ex-engineer) provided musical accompaniment during the meal, entertained with a few numbers, and led the sing-song.

Special guest of the evening was ex-Sergeant Charles Nancarle of Montreal, a member of the 16th Field Co. recruited in Montreal that was part of the Third Division Engineers, similar to the Peterborough-recruited unit.

Those attending the reunion who reside outside the immediate area of Peterborough were: Dave King, Warkworth; Larry Sheridan, Lindsay; George Waller, Cobourg; Fred Yardy, Trenton; William Benson, Bewdley; and Walter Agnew, Millbrook.

Arrangements for the Engineers' reunion were made by Pete Vitarelli, Jack Davies, Babe Fontaine, Les Pryde, Kenn Mann, and President Malcolm MacPherson.

LEND WELCOME HELP

Local firemen wasted no time in lending assistance when fire broke out Wednesday at Warkworth. The call was received at 11.18 a.m. A pumper left the station eight minutes later, after permission had been obtained from the city. The 34 miles road distance was covered by Assistant Chief Stew Foster and his five-man crew at a rapid clip; and at 12.19 water was being pumped on the fire by the Peterborough unit.

Pyramider Finds Barnum Was Right

By PETE BOROUGH

My mother told me there'd be nights like this!

I waited last night for those phone calls and got nary a one. "They" all told me the pyramid would collapse before I got to it—and I didn't believe them. I thought I really didn't care, because it would be such a lot of fun.

Well, as "they" had said, I got a dollar's worth of fun and $20 worth of work out of my pyramid. Our phone was busy from morning to night last week, when I was new on the pyramid. Even my best friends avoided me on the street. They had that haunted look about them. I was obviously on the hunt for recruits to pay a dollar, so that those above me on the pyramid list would collect.

The strange thing was that last night when I wanted the phone to ring, it didn't. My name was at the top of the list, but nobody had pyramid parties for me.

Needless to say, I put up a marvellous defence against the barrage of amused criticism which followed my announcement that I had joined a club. Let them laugh, thought I. Next Tuesday they'll swallow it all.

My parents were afraid for me. They said they were beginning to see pyramids in my eyes. One of my more conservative friends dropped up to The Journal to chastise me gently. He thought I was interested in the more serious things of life. I am—now.

I had the loot all spent. A trip to England. A new Fall coat. I'd even pay my bills.

I remember making out my pyramid charts with great care. Then some one came along and spilled water on the wet ink. I kept pulling people out of hats to fill in the breaches in our pyramid. Girls I hadn't seen since Separate School days became my best friends. My dressmaker said she'd join the club if I'd wait two weeks for my dresses. It didn't matter then, but I'm still waiting for the dresses.

There's just one consolation. If all those persons who said grandly that pyramids couldn't work, had joined my club, my 'phone would have been ringing merrily last night.

But, it seems they'd heard that remark of Barnum's, "There's one born every minute". This one came into the world in 1924.

Boys Take Swim In Trent Canal

Rain which started to fall shortly before noon today came as a welcome relief to Peterborough citizens, who, together with other residents in Southern Ontario, have been sweltering in an unseasonal heat wave.

People who but a short two months ago were complaining of the cold were on Wednesday fanning themselves and protesting against the weatherman's quirk.

A cool air mass from the Prairies is moving southeastward into Ontario and by Friday a more seasonable temperature should be restored.

On Wednesday, a half holiday for local retailers, many ardent fishermen took advantage of the bright, sunny day to try their hand at trout fishing. Those who had to hike through the bush to reach their favorite trout stream declared the humidity and heat reached its peak among the fast-growing greenery of the woods.

Three young lads decided to beat the gun on the traditional May 24th opening of the outdoor swim season. While less hardy souls looked on they took a leisurely swim in the canal, near McFarlane St.

At the YMCA showers were in great demand and the swimming pool proved particularly popular. A large number of children and adults went to the parks and sprawled on the grass for comfort.

And the hottest place in town? It was in Burtol Cleaners where the thermometer hit the tropical high of 117 degrees at 2 p.m.

Argues Half-Holiday Parking Is Free

E. F. Sheehy, Peterborough lawyer, is asking Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, for a court ruling to the effect that there is no need to put coins in parking meters on the city streets Wednesday afternoons. Mr. Sheehy is contesting a summons which he received after a parking ticket was placed on his car on Simcoe St. on a Wednesday afternoon.

Notices on parking meters state that on holidays motorists are not required to place coins in the meters when parking their cars. A motorist is not, therefore, guilty of an offence if he parks his car on Wednesday afternoon without inserting a coin in the meter, Mr. Sheehy argued at city police court today.

Wednesday was a half holiday in the city, when all the shops except drugs stores and a few smaller one were closed.

After making this preliminary argument Mr. Sheehy agreed to present a written argument for the magistrate's consideration.

Standing at the lawyer's table, with what appeared to be a handful of parking tickets, Mr. Sheehy aroused interest as he argued a point of law on which scores of motorists are fined every month.

Basketball Teams To Be Given Dinner

Five basketball teams of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School will be banqueted Friday night at the school by the Home and School Association. At the banquet will be the senior and junior girls' teams, the senior boys' team and the bantam boys' team.

All won a group, Ontario, COSSA or Canadian championship. The senior girls' won their Lakeshore group title, losing in the semi-finals of the COSSA play. The junior girls' team did the game.

The senior boys' won the Lakeshore group, defeated Niagara Falls collegiate for the COSSA and won the Queen's University tournament. The juvenile champions, boys of the junior and senior and senior teams, defeated Bracebridge, St. Catharines, Sudbury and Montreal to win the Ontario juvenile championship and the Eastern Canada juvenile championship. They automatically won the Dominion title when there was no Western challenger. The bantam boys' won their Lakeshore grouping.

Presentations will be made to the senior team for winning the Queen's tournament and the Canadian champions.

2,000 Homes Built In 7-Year Period

Of the 2,000 houses erected in Peterborough during the seven years from 1942-1948, inclusive, probably three-quarters of them were built with financial help from the Dominion government.

This was City Clerk Outram's estimate as witness Wednesday in the hearing by Judge Smoke as arbitrator of the J. T. O'Connell property that was expropriated by the city for the present housing development. The examination of Mr. Outram by T. J. Carley, K. C., emphasized the pressure of housing demand through the war period and since then.

W. H. Bosley of Toronto, was the concluding witness for the city and it was expected this morning that the hearing of evidence relating to property values in the area south of Lansdowne St. would end today.

Action Deferred On Request To Repair Hall

Expenditure of $400 on Ashburnham Town Hall, requested by the Recreation Commission for boxing purposes, was deferred by the council Monday on the acceptance of the property committee report read by Ald. Grant Miller, chairman.

"This committee is in sympathy with the request, but desires to study the matter more fully, particularly since boxing will not be active in the premises during the summer."

"That John Hodgson, 130 Perry St., be informed that the city is prepared to sell him building lots on Braidwood Ave., described as lots 37, 38 and 39, and west half of lot 44, and all of lot 43, Plan 56Q, for $350 a lot, if bought singly, or for $900 if all three lots are purchased together, it being understood that he will build houses soon on the lots."

Allotment of Parks

The report of the parks committee by Ald. Herbert Young, chairman, was adopted including the following provisions: "That for the use of Ashburnham Bowl for the summer playing season, the Men's Softball League reimburse the city council $450, and the Ladies' Softball League pay $300, and each league have the use of the Bowl for three evenings each week, the same arrangement as last year."

Peterborough and District Football Association was granted use of the west pitch of King Edward Park. "That permission be granted the Optimist Club to erect a canteen at Trafalgar House (Nicholls Oval) by building in a section of the verandah, the work to be done under the supervision of the City Engineer."

"That the property owned by the city at the southwest corner of Aylmer and Wolsley Streets be sold by the property committee for home building purposes."

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, was authorized to buy a cultivator for the parks department.

"That the City Clerk write Messrs. Elliott and Browne, service station, 512 George St., south, advising them that there must be no further parking of cars and trucks on the south side of Lansdowne St. opposite their station."

"That the Fargo truck which the board of works is replacing be turned over to the parks department for their use as soon as possible."

More Sewers

City Solicitor Huycke was instructed to prepare bylaws for the following sewers on the basis of the recent report from City Engineer Chalmers:

12-in. sewer on Hawley St., westerly from Monaghan Road 1033 ft.

12-inch on Little St., from the east end of the street westerly 800 ft.

15-inch sewer on McKellar St. from the sewer on Monaghan Road, westerly 1632 ft.

12-inch on Swanston Ave. from Curtis Road to Snelgrove Road.

12-inch on Snelgrove Road from Swanston Ave. northerly to a point 295 ft. from Swanston Ave.; and a 9-inch sewer from that point northerly to the centre of lot 24.

The board's report by Ald. H Dodds, chairman, directed City Clerk Outram to enquire from the Utilities Commission as to progress being made with the proposed water main on Lansdowne St. to Downers Corners. City Engineer Chalmers was authorized to hire necessary temporary help for the paving program.

Pipe Band Leader Introduced To Premier

Premier Leslie M. Frost is the observant type of public man who doesn't miss or overlook many of the little incidents going on around him. In the park at Lindsay last night he noticed the visiting C.G.E. Kilties, and in all the excitement of friends bustling about him he asked to be introduced to the band leader. The parade order had dissolved into the crowd about the band stand. To Alex Milne, head of the C.G.E. Band, Mr. Frost said, "I'm very happy to see your band here tonight", shaking his hand. "I'm proud to know you, sir," Mr. Milne replied. The human touch that is so appealing in the Frost personality explains a great deal of the new Premier's success in attaining the leadership of the government of Ontario.

Wednesday Hottest May 4 On Record At 84 Degrees

Those residents of Peterborough whose places of business close on Wednesday afternoons were the lucky ones yesterday as far as the weather was concerned, as they were able to take it easier than others on the hottest May 4 on record locally. While the highest temperature for the day, 84, did not break any records, it at least equalled the previous high which occurred back in 1934.

The city sweltered all day as one of the earliest heat waves in many years held the province in its grip. Peterboroughites were better off than Torontonions, however, as the latter had to endure a high of 89. Vendors of soft drinks (cold, please) and ice cream saw their sales zoom upwards and many dealers had to put in orders for additional supplies of these refreshing items.

34 Degrees Year Ago

Any doubts there might have been on the subject were quickly removed when Examiner readers learned that last year's May 4 high was only 66. Further proof that it was really warm is contained in the fact the night's lowest temperature was 55 degrees, compared to 34 on the same day last year. Temperature readings were expected to be somewhat cooler today, as the weatherman had promised scattered thunder showers.

Warm, humid air flowing northward from the eastern and central sections of the United States sent temperatures to about 25 degrees above normal in southern and central Ontario. Several high school cadets collapsed from the heat yesterday during an outdoor inspection in Orillia.

Seeding Well Advanced

Thanks to the early, warm spring weather, farm seeding is considerably ahead of other years, officials of the Department of Agriculture said. Yesterday's hot weather did not slow it up appreciably because most farms in this area are now mechanized, there being few cases left where spring seeding is done entirely with the aid of horses.

Oats are already showing above the ground to a height of an inch or more in many places, while in other districts seeding is still going on. In western Ontario grain is up to 4 inches already on some farms. Grass and clover are also well advanced and many cattle are being pastured earlier than is usually the case. Crop conditions on the whole were said to be very favourable, with just about the right amount of moisture and a rapid growth.

John Diefenbaker Visits Alderville

John G. Diefenbaker, K.C., member for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, in the last parliament, paid a surprise visit to the Village of Alderville Monday morning. Accompanied by Major R. E. Drope, he called first at the home of Chief and Mrs. Norman Marsden. Afterwards the Chief escorted the two visitors to see the new School and teacher's residence.

On their arrival the school was in session and after being introduced to the teacher Mr. John Loucks, Mr. Diefenbaker spoke to the children congratulating them and the reserve on such fine buildings.

April Cooler Than Year Ago

April, 1949, was cooler than April, 1948, according to figures released today by James Harrison, of the Filtration Plant, Peterborough's weatherman. The average mean temperature last month was 43.4 degrees, whereas last year in the month of April it was 52.75.

Proof that this year's April was more wintry than last year's is also contained in the fact that ¼ inches of snow fell during the month, while last year only rain fell, 3.07 inches of it. Rainfall in April this year was 2.45 inches.

The following are maximum and minimum temperatures for the month: 1949, 76 and 24; 1948, 75 and 33.

HISTORIC WEEK RECALLED

This week is the fourth anniversary of the final collapse of Hitler's Germany. Great armies were surrendering in the western area of Germany from May 2 until the ultimate capitulation May 7-8. It was one of the most fateful and dramatic weeks in history.

LET DOGS RUN LOOSE

The first fines of the season for letting dogs run loose without a leash were imposed at city police court today when James Carver, 28 Lafayette Ave. and Frank Rome, 475 Sherbrooke St. were each fined $3 after submitting written pleas of guilty to Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C.

NAME SPELT WRONGLY

According to Ross L. Dobbin, Utilities manager, Chamberlen is the correct spelling of the street in the south end of the city, spurring from Park St. that is written "Chamberlain" in street and telephone directories, and on the street sign and generally in civic records. It commemorates the family name of Edmund Chamberlen who came to Peterborough about 1832, and was for many years a leading citizen in the town.

Ellis Death Said Due To Drowning

Nearly seven months after Arthur Ellis, who lived at 88 McDonnel St. was found dead in the Trent canal, an inquest was held Wednesday at city police court. A five-man jury returned a verdict of death by drowning.

Mr. Ellis disappeared from his home on October 6 and his body was found a week later by police constables Harold Mesley and Claire McGillen as they were fishing in Golf Links Bay, a mile north of the city.

Although a verdict of death by drowning was returned, mystery still surrounds the circumstances which led to Mr. Ellis's death. Mrs. Ellis last saw him as he left the house after lunch on a Wednesday afternoon. He returned to the dairy, where he handed in the money he had collected on his milk route and was seen later in the afternoon by Victor Harrington of Hooper's Bakery walking on McDonnel St. towards George St. He did not return home that night and was not seen again until his body was found by the two constables.

The inquest was delayed owing to the illness of Dr. C. B. Waite, the pathologist who carried out a post mortem.

Twelve witnesses, including Mrs. Ellis and her seven-year-old daughter Sandy, gave evidence. All the witnesses who knew Mr. Ellis personally said he had never given any reason for them to believe that he would take his own life and William Ovens, manager of Campbell's Dairy, where Mr. Ellis had been employed as a driver, said he was popular among his fellow workers.

Mrs. Ellis and other witnesses said that Mr. Ellis had suffered from severe headaches.

Dr. Waite said he had found no evidence of injury to the body. The organs were healthy except for a little congestion of the lungs and bright's disease. He said the man could have lived for years with this disease which had not been advanced enough to be the cause of death.

At first Dr. Waite had thought there was no evidence of drowning and he sent some of the organs to a Toronto pathologist. There had been no evidence of poisoning and he concluded that after receiving the report from Toronto, he was of the opinion that drowning had been the cause of death.

Dr. H. G. Carleton was the coronor and members of the jury were William Tinker, Fred Patterson, John Baird, J. E. Collins and Fred McFadden.

Injured In Fall From Bicycle

HAVELOCK, May 5 (ENS) — Vernon Chiles, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Chiles of Peterborough, suffered a bad fall on Saturday on Cordova road about two miles east of here, when his bicycle struck a stone or soft spot in the road. The handle bars struck him on the left side of the abdomen causing internal injuries. He was taken to Peterborough on Sunday. Reports received on Wednesday stated that his condition is much improved.

Vernon came here to spend the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hill, for the opening of the trout season.

LOG JAM—This graphic photo by Malak of Ottawa illustrates one of the major problems lumbermen face in moving the logs from where they are cut to the big pulp and paper mills. Rushing through a narrow channel on the Tamacine River, these logs have started to pile up and are starting to jam the river. The logs continue to rush into the jam and the river showers them with spray. Canada's forests bring wealth to Canada more than $1,900,000 a year, half of which comes from pulp and paper operations.

New Whitehall Proposals Social History Landmark

By ALAN HAVEY

LONDON, May 5 —(CP)— A bulky, soberly-worded document which some Whitehall officials regard as a landmark in British Social history now is under government consideration.

These are among its recommendations:

1. Housewives who employ domestic servants should observe a special code of conduct.

2. A maximum work week of 45 hours for all boys and girls 18, and a maximum work-day of nine hours, with limited overtime, no night work, one half-holiday and one rest-day a week.

3. A statutory code for stores and offices regarding working space, ventilation, temperature, lighting, underground rooms, washing facilities, first-aid equipment, meal facilities and fire escapes.

Generally, the report suggests that the provisions of the factories act, 1937, which governs conditions in factories, should be adopted for stores and offices. Some schould be applied also to hotels, restaurants, theatres, railways stations and other public buildings.

The recommendations were submitted by a committee under Sir Ernest Gowers, Senior Civil Servant. Its proposals are designed to end possible slum conditions in places the law does not reach —in the home, in offices and railway sheds, and backstage at the theatre.

Covers Several Angles

Regarding domestic servants, the committee urges a code to include rates of pay, holidays and hours of work.

The code, it says, should include references to suitable bed and sitting-room accommodation, bathing and washing facilities and breaks for refreshments. Maximum weights to be lifted by women should be set and women should not be allowed to work within seven weeks of childbirth.

These "minimum obligations" of a good employer would not be enforced by law because of the private houses.

Working hours for 1,600,000 juveniles come under statutory protection. Young workers in agriculture, forestry, fishing, shipping and private domestic service would not be affected.

Home secretary Chuter Ede has promised early consideration of the recommendations.

There were 11 who enjoyed a feast of good things provided by the mothers of the boys. It was also a get together of boys who had played in the juvenile and pee-wee hockey league and included St. John's, Hiawatha and Keene teams and fathers.

After the banquet a program was presided over by Glen McNevan which included chairman's address and a community singing, presentation by St. John's to Doug Whalen and awards to Trail Rangers and Explorers, a toast to the King and a short [illegible] George Murdoch.

A toast to fathers was given by Jim Drummond and responded to by Arthur Elmhirst. The success of banquet and boy's work was attributed to Tom Gall and a fitting tribute to this was given by Mr. David McIntyre, one of the fathers, Tom replied with a message on the value of boy's work.

Parkhill Group Holds Tea

A pleasingly successful spring tea was held by Parkhill Home and School Association Wednesday afternoon at the Dixon House. Mrs. A. Mills was in charge of the tea room where a charmingly arranged table in central position was the highlight. A bouquet of yellow daffodils was in a crystal dish and the color repeated in the candles in fancy holders. A lovely lace cloth was on the table.

Mrs. J. Weir and Mrs. M. Thompson poured the tea. Lady teachers assisting to serve were Miss M. Pound and Miss B. Squire. Association members serving were Mrs. L. Parnall, Mrs. A. Seppala, Mrs. F. Frost, Mrs. A. Whetung, Mrs. L. White, Mrs. P. Hillier and Mrs. H. Reynolds. Plates were replenished by Mrs. D. Carter and Mrs. J. Essex.

Mrs. F. Elcombe, president, was inviting guests into the tea room and to visit the home cooking table, and Mrs. M. Bullied, vice-president, assisted. Mrs. R. Cookman and Mrs. Wm. Anderson were at the treasurer's table.

The bake table was filled for the opening but the supply was quickly exhausted. Mrs. T. Sturgeon and Mrs. B. Lincoln made the sales.

During the tea a number of selections on the piano were played by Mrs. B. Holloway and Mrs. C. Osborne

St. Joseph's Class Entertained By Alumnae

Members of St. Joseph's Hospital Alumnae Association enjoyed a reunion Wednesday evening when they met for dinner in the Empress Hotel. They also entertained the 1949 graduating class of St. Joseph's School of Nursing and extended an offer of membership.

President Miss Veronica O'Leary welcomed the 48 nurses. She extended congratulations to the class and addressed the group specially. "As you look at the sign post with its avenues to teaching, supervision, private duty, general nursing and public health, may you choose the one in which you can best serve the interests of your profession and your community," she said. "Nursing education teaches development of the finest qualities of Christian character as well as scientific knowledge, and since the nurse lives in a world no larger than her interests, your work will always cast a reflection on the school that trained you. This is a splendid service because it does so many worthwhile things and you must often sacrifice your own interests for others with willing hands and a smile."

She then introduced Misses Adeline E. Bradamore, Ethel Cavanagh, Mary E. Cummings, Irene E. Dickie. Audrey S. Doherty, Josephine C. Duggan, M. Theresa Lucas, Inez M. Morrissey, Mary T. O'Brien, Mary A. O'Toole, Corinne Pearson, Aileen J. Potter and Hope A. Sawadski.

Mrs. M. V. Gallivan, president of St. Joseph's Hospital Women's Auxiliary, and member of the Alumnae, also spoke to the class members urging them to enjoy the advantages of membership and to keep up contact wtih the Association wherever they might be.

Response was made by Miss Mary O'Brien.

Spring flowers were lovely on the dinner tables. An enjoyable program opened with a sing song, Miss Bernice Greenan at the piano.

The graduating class gave their own song which has original humorous wording about life in the wards of St. Joseph's Hospital.

A skit entitled "The Census Taker" was presented by Teresa Walsh, portraying an illiterate and evasive subject, and Gerry Courneyea as the fact-finder, trying hard to be patient.

Mrs. Alice Collins DeWolfe, an Alumnist gave a comic reading, called "The rest cure."

Miss Evelyn Barnett expressed thanks for the delightful evening.

Any woman may keep her radiance and charm for many years simply by obeying the laws of health; good food and a proper diet, plenty of sleep and sufficient exercise. A pleasant dose of effervescing ENO's "FRUIT SALT" in the morning when needed may help combat that occasional day when acid indigestion with sick headache, or constipation gets you down.

ENO is non-habit forming. When you want a really mild antacid and gentle laxative, do as thousands do every day — ask for ENO's "FRUIT SALT."

Start the Day Right
ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

WHY ENO IS SO POPULAR

ENO's "FRUIT SALT" contains no harsh purgatives—no sugar—nothing that can irritate or harm. Every particle is pure and beneficial. It acts gently but effectively, and is non-habit forming. Millions of men, women and children the world over take pleasant-tasting ENO's "FRUIT SALT" first thing in the morning when required. Insist on ENO's "FRUIT SALT"—a household word for more than seventy-five years.

Garden Lane And Blossoms Pretty Scene At Trinity Tea

Stepping into the tea room of Trinity Church Wednesday afternoon, one forgot it was the hottest May 4th in 36 years as they realized the beauty of the scene before them. A frosty white pump looked cooling, but there was no water in it. Name on the mail box read "Spring Lane", so why not wander on?

Just then Mrs. W. R. Philp extended a hand of welcome to Trinity Baby Band Mother's tea, and Mrs. D. B. Gordon repeated the greeting. Mrs. Wm. Taylor collected an entry ticket, (there were more than 500 of them sold in the city), and the way was clear.

But first some silver coin must be exchanged for canries on the trays carried by two little girls from Ann Greenaway's picture book. Actually they were Marilyn Clark and Linda McIntyre wearing pantaloons, dresses and bonnets of pink crepe paper trimmed with frills of pale green.

On Melody Lane

Down his lane there were booths, like a the fair, and each had a pink canopy. On the first was printed "The Work Basket", and truly the work basket of Auxiliary members had yielded some very desirable articles. There were beautifully handsmocked girls' dresses, sunsuits and pretty aprons, as well as attractive novelties for the house.

A little further on "The Cake Shop" displayed some home cooking to tempt any palate, but it closed early with the shelf completely bare. "The Candy Kitchen" gave attractively decorated baskets and boxes in which to carry the goodies purchased there. And right at the end of the lane was a booth where greeting cards and notepaper could be bought—nothing better than a garden full of blossoms to remind one of their friends.

Under the May-Pole

Every stroller on this avenue of brown tree trunks and overhead branches pink with apple blossoms was given refreshment. Gracious hostesses invited them to small tables where they could sit and watch birds on the trellises that were twined with flowers.

Nearby they could see the silvery top of a May-pole, with pink satin ribbons held by dainty dolls in pastel summer frocks that centred the tea table. The pole itself was buried in an exquisite arrangement of flowers that was rich with color. There were deep purple iris, mauve sweet peas, varying shades of pink snapdragon and some white and blue stocks, and they almost hid the wide dish they were in. Silver tea things at each end on the embroidered white cloth with lace edge reflected the flame of pink candles in silver candlebra.

Those Who Did It

Mrs. G. Harrison, general convener, originated many of the charming ideas used. Mrs. R. G. Kemp and Mrs. W. S. Johnson transformed the room into a beautiful garden with their decorations. Mrs. H. K. Fallis arranged for the supply of sandwiches and pastries and all of these were home-made too.

Hostesses were Mrs. Morton Knox and Mrs. A. L. Thompson. The servers Mrs. Jack Davern, Mrs. J. Delaney, Mrs. C. Huffman, Mrs. N. Andrew, Mrs. G. C. Porter, Mrs. Roy Bogle, Mrs. J. S. Munro, Mrs. E. Wellman, Mrs. B. G. Till, Mrs. Wm. Cuppy, Mrs. Jack Allan, Mrs. R. Allen, Mrs. N. Nesbitt, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. C. Northey, Mrs. W. A. Davidson, Mrs. Hurst, Mrs. R. McElroy, Mrs. C. L. McIntyre. Replenishing plates. Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. F. Stenson, Mrs. K. R. Kemp, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. R. Springham.

Pouring tea were Mrs. S. Rowe, Mrs. W. King, Mrs. W. H. Parnall, presidents of sister organizations in the city, and Mrs. A. Legon.

Conveners of the sewing were Mrs. J. Nichols and Mrs. K. McVeety, assisted in selling by Mrs. L. W. Thompson, Mrs. J. Howes, Mrs. J. Hamer and Mrs. G. Miller. Mrs. N. Elliott, home cooking convener, was assisted by Mrs. A. LeClair, Mrs. K. Barltrop, Mrs. R. D. Huffman, Mrs. W. Maynard, Mrs. T. W. Stanley, Mrs. D. R. McGregor and Mrs. W. R. Knight. Candy was convened by Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Mrs. C. Kernahan and Mrs. LeBrash, the cards and notes by Mrs. J. E. Wilson.

Mrs. E. Williams played recorded music for the guests' enjoyment. Mothers left their children in the nursery in care of Mrs. Richey and Mrs. R. Clayton.

CAC Resolutions Urge Values Standard

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Consumer goods got quite a going-over during an open forum on "what's your beef" at a meeting of the Toronto section of the Canadian Association of Consumers here yesterday.

Included in several resolutions passed was that urging the adding of vitamins to white bread and labelling of merchandise as to wearability and shrinking.

Members also requested a national standard of values in consumer goods "which will indicate by label that the article complies with standards set up by the Canadian Bureau of Statistics.

National president Mrs F. E. Wright said provincial bodies of the CAC has asked for legislation to ensure that consumer credit doesn't get out of hand.

She said that some 80 per cent of persons who make complaints to the Better Business Bureau hadn't taken the trouble to decide whether the source was reliable.

MISS ELAINE MORTON wears the crown and robe which made her May Queen of 1949 at Club 72's third annual May Day Ball held Wednesday evening in Club Aragon. She was first runner-up for the title last year, and the selection was unanimously approved by the crowd. Until recently she was in the Industrial Control Department CGE where all members of Club 72 are employed, and is now a payroll clerk at Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co.

Elaine Morton Is May Queen Of Club 72's Third Ball

Miss Elaine Morton is May Queen of '49. The honor comes to her through Club 72 which staged the third grand May Day Ball on Wednesday evening at Club Aragon. She was crowned by the winner of last year's contest in which she was a very close contender and first runner-up to Miss Margaret Breckenridge.

President Don Corrin presented $50 in cash, the club's gift to their queen, and a lovely bouquet of roses. Other gifts Miss Morton will have are a radio, half the cost of which was donated and half paid by the club, a shortie coat, nylons, gloves and numerous merchandise certificates, good in local shops, and admission tickets for dancing and a steak dinner at the Aragon.

The line-up of beautiful girls before the judges was narrowed to three before they chose petite Miss Morton who was lovely in a white strapless evening gown and wearing her dark hair in a becoming up-do. Second prize gifts were awarded to Mrs. W. W. Wilkie who arrived here one week ago from Scotland, and the third prize went to Mrs. Grant Earl.

Judges were Mrs. Lyda Telford, Mrs. Morris Duke, Alderman A. B. Burrows, Mr. H. Jamison and Mr. Bob Kinsman. The parade was started with 24 girls selected from the crowd by Club members, and Al Brooks assisted at the microphone.

Baskets of beautiful flowers on the stage were presented for the occasion. A canopy of streamers and glittering letters announcing "Club 72 May Day Ball" were put up by the committee of Misses Ermine Gurney, Marie Drumm, Rachel Ducharme and Jack Pulcine, Ab Porter, Geo. Quinlan, and Fred White.

In the receiving line were Alderman P. J. Anglesey, and Mrs. Anglesey, Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malby, Mr. and Mrs. P. Killingbeck with president Mr. Don Corrin and Mrs. Corrin.

A permanent registry of the guests was taken by Miss Millie Guerin and Mrs. Helen Dugan. The '49 book with inscribed blue cover has sheets in three colors, one each for girls, escorts and couples. The names within are:

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Sharing Parents' Home Requires Special Care

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is at present enrolled in a university where he is taking a special course in dentistry. This reduces our income so much that we have to move in with my family to conserve expenses. I quite realize that you do not advise five generations to live together but in a case of necessity it has to be done.

Dorothy Dix

Can you give me ten commandments that will help me to get along amicably with my people?

MARGE.

ANSWER: No one in the world is clever enough to devise a formula that will enable a mixed assortment of grandparents and husbands and wives and teenagers and babies to get along together in peace and harmony. Having different tastes, habits and temperaments, they are bound to get in each other's hair if they are penned up together.

However, needs must be when the devil drives, as the old proverb has it, and if circumstances are such that you have to go to live with your family, here are a few suggestions that may make your road easier to travel.

1. Before you wish yourself on your family, make up your mind to meet the situation with courage. Don't whine. Don't complain. Make yourself so pleasant and agreeable that you will be regarded as an acquisition instead of a pest.

2. Wear a hopeful look, no matter how dreary the prospect is. It will keep the neighbors from discussing your affairs.

Get a Job

3. Get a job if you can. There is nothing that cheers a woman up so much as finding out that she can make a little money.

4. If you go back home to live with Mom and Pop, lavish love and helpfulness upon them. Gratitude is always legal tender with parents.

5. Don't turn mother and father into baby-sitters while you are off gadding.

6. Don't bemoan having to put up with the whims of old people. We will all be that way before we know it.

7. Don't let your children grow up to be little hoodlums because you are so sorry for them they can't have every luxury that you can't bear to make them behave.

8. Don't criticize your husband or bewail his not being a go-getter That takes the last ounce of ambition out of him.

9. Don't ever tell your troubles to your friends. Your disappointments and sorrows are your own affair.

10. Never lose your grip on your courage. You will never be beaten as long as you can laugh over the misadventures of life.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: The trouble with modern girls is that they can't get up enough English courage and nerve to walk up to young men whom they know to be nice, and say: "Boys we are having a card party at my house such and such a night. Please join us. There will be refreshments." The old saying that you can win a man's heart by feeding him is good, but the best way to catch your man is to pick out the one you want and go after him by being so darn nice and friendly that he can't avoid falling in love with you.

Properly used, this method will turn old maids into good housewives.

SERVICE MAN.

ANSWER: The advice tendered by these young men to girls on how to catch a husband should have authority. It would seem that they know what technique in husband-hunting was the most successful, but this does not appear to be the case. For instance, it is a popular belief that the best way for a girl to catch a husband is by chasing him down, but, in reality, nothing scares a man off from a girl so much as for him to suspect that she is on his trail.

In olden times, when girls found it much easier to get husbands than they do now, the coy, timid this is so sudden, I never dreamed you thought of me like that attitude was the one that led to the altar and it is my guess that it still works.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am the mother of a 13 year old girl who is pretty, attractive, whom we dress beautifully, and to whom we have given every advantage she could ask. But she is practically impossible to live with She is rebellious, unruly, high-tempered, has even struck me, and says the most terrible things to her father. We have tried everything we can think of in the way of persuasion, indulgences and denying her things she wants but nothing does any good. She defies us. What can we do?

TROUBLED MOTHER.

ANSWER: You are just 13 years too late in asking that question You have evidently spoiled the girl rotten and now you are reaping what you have sown.

The best thing you can do now for her is to send her off to a boarding school. She will be ashamed to act among strangers as she does at home, and when she is away from you perhaps she will begin to appreciate your love and kindness for her.

Havelock Woman Celebrates 81st Birthday Today

HAVELOCK, May 5 (ENS)—Mrs. Mary King will celebrate her 81st birthday on Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McAdam where she has resided since giving up farm activities about thirteen years ago.

The event will take the form of a dinner party and her son and daughter, William King of Blairton and Miss Annie King of Havelock, will be present.

Although Mrs. King's health is only fair, she is still able to be about the house. Owing to failing eyesight, her reading has had to be curtailed until now she is limited to reading the Peterborough Examiner, from which she derives great pleasure.

A native of Methuen township, she is a daughter of the late Thomas Althouse and Annie Green.

Married in 1886

She was married on November 3, 1886, to Eli King in Norwood. The witnesses were Lydia Althouse and Amos Althouse.

Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. King settled on a farm west of Havelock in Belmont township. Her husband died in 1922.

Mrs. King has two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

PINK SWIRL CAKE

Mixing time: 4 minutes

MARTHA LOGAN'S "HELPING HAND" RECIPE POINTS THE WAY TO SUCCESS

So, you've never made a cake? Don't worry—with Swift'ning and this beginner-tested recipe, you'll make a light, tender, beautiful cake! Just watch for the little hands—they warn where there's a chance of error.

Preparation: ☛ Have all ingredients at room temperature. Pre-heat oven at 375°F. Line bottoms of two 9-inch, or three 8-inch round layer pans with heavy waxed paper.

Ingredients: (Use standard, level measure)

2 squares chocolate
½ cup Swift'ning
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
☛ Be sure to sift flour before measuring. Spoon lightly into cup.
1¼ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sour milk (or 1½ c. sweet milk +1½ tbsp. vinegar)
2 eggs

Step 1: Melt chocolate over hot, not boiling water. Place Swift'ning in bowl. Sift together flour, sugar, soda and salt into bowl. Add vanilla and 1 cup of the sour milk. Beat 2 minutes—by hand, using about 150 strokes per minute; or at medium speed of electric mixer. ☛ Keep scraping batter off sides and bottom of mixer bowl with rubber scraper. After 2 minutes, scrape beaters or spoon and bowl thoroughly.

Step 2: Add the unbeaten eggs, melted chocolate and remaining milk (½ cup). Beat 1 minute. Scrape beaters and bowl thoroughly. Continue beating 1 minute. Pour equal amounts of batter into prepared cake pans. Bake about 30 minutes.

☛ When done, cake will spring back quickly when pressed with finger. Cool on cake rack 5 minutes; loosen sides carefully with spatula, invert on rack; remove pans. Cool thoroughly before frosting.

Pink Mint Frosting: In top of double boiler, mix thoroughly 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, 5 tbsps. water, and 1½ tsp. white corn syrup. Beat constantly over rapidly boiling water with hand or electric beater until frosting stands in a peak (about 5 to 7 min.). Remove from water, add ½ tsp. mint flavouring and small amount of red colouring. Beat until thick enough to spread. Tint 3 tbsps. of frosting a deeper pink. Fill and frost cake, making swirls with back of spoon. Fill center of swirls with deeper shade.

You'll wonder how you ever got along without Swiftning YOU'LL be delighted to find how much easier and quicker it is to bake light, fine-flavoured, fresh-keeping cakes with new Swift'ning, and you just won't believe you can make such tender fluffy crusts till you try this new kind of shortening. Denies Knowing Beer In Car

How did the liquor get into the car without the knowledge of the driver? That was the question which Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, was asked to settle today at city police court when Carl Johnson, 627½ Oxford St., pleaded not guilty to having liquor in a place other than his home.

It was not until Constables Sherman Keliele, Victor McConnell and Detective William Clarke crossed the road to speak to Johnson who was sitting in his car on George St. Sunday afternoon that the bottles were discovered. This was the evidence of the accused after Constable Keliele had described the discovery of the liquor during a routine check on cars.

Johnson said that he was surprised to see the bottles in the car and could only tell the constables that he had not known that they were there nor how they had found their way into the car.

Johnson thought a feasible explanation might be that three boy friends who had been sitting in the car earlier in the afternoon may have put the bottles there. If they did, he had not been aware of it.

His girl friend, who had been with him when the police found the bottles, said she had not known they were there, nor had another girl who was in the car.

Neither Crown Attorney John Bradshaw nor the magistrate were able to credit that three people would drink beer in a car without the other party knowing. Mr. Philp fined Johnson $10 with $2.50 costs.

Failed To File Income Tax returns

George Kelly of Kelly's Wood and Lumber Company, Haultain, pleaded guilty today at city police court to failing to file returns to the income tax authorities in respect of tax deducctions from his employees' wages. He said a firm of accountants was now making out returns.

W. B. Gordon, prosecuting, asked for only a small fine to be imposed. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, fined Kelly $10 with $4.50 costs.

Weightlifters At YMCA Show Prowess

The YMCA Body Builders and Weightlifters recently held their annual Gym Night in the YMCA gym. One feature of the night was a volleyball game between Cliff Cadd's squad and a team led by Errol Hanbidge. The teams were made up of the most outstanding volleyball players of Peterborough and competition was close all through the game. The game had to be extended to declare a winner, the score being 14-all. After a series of hard hitting and quick recoveries the Cliff Cadd squad emerged victorious 23-21.

Cliff McInroy and his daughters, Rosalie and Marilyn entertained the crowd with a display of acrobatics. The YMCA Junior Leader Corps, Boys' Department, put on a tumbling act featuring rolls, handsprings and long diving.

Members of the Body Builders and Weightlifters' Club led by Stan McBride gave a demonstration of body building, using the practice exercises. Stan McBride described the particular muscles being developed. Ab Blondin, Don Campbell, Sam Freeman and Harry O'Rourke displayed gym work on the parallel bars. The Westclox Trophy for the greatest improvement for body building since the course started was won this year by Donald Collins.

17-Seat Expansion In Commons Since Newfoundland Joins Canada

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP) — Newfoundland's entry into Confederation and the Redistribution Act of 1947 means a 17-seat expansion in the House of Commons in the June 27 federal election and boosts Senate representation by six.

Newfoundland is entitled to seven Commons seats. The Redistribution Act adds 10 others, raising membership from 245 to 262. Newfoundland is entitled to six Senate seats, raising membership there from 96 to 102.

Here, in brief, is how the new Commons will compare with the old:

Province	1945	1949
Ontario	82	83
Quebec	65	73
Nova Scotia	12	13
New Brunswick	10	10
Prince Edward Island	4	4
Manitoba	17	16
British Columbia	16	18
Saskatchewan	21	20
Alberta	17	17
Yukon	1	1
Newfoundland	nil	7
Total	245	262

Change System

Prior to the 1947 Act, Quebec was used as the basis for fixing representation in the Commons. The quotient was reached by dividing Quebec's 65 seats into the province's population.

Under the 1947 Act the quotient was arrived at by dividing 250 into the country's 1945 population of 11,391,599. The 250 figure represented the number of seats in all areas except, Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and the Yukon.

The quotient arrived at by dividing 250 into 11,391,599 is 45,566. Divided into Ontario's population of 3,787,655 it shows that province is entitled to 83 members, one more than it has at present. Quebec is entitled to an additional seat.

British Columbia gets two more seats and Nova Scotia one. Saskatchewan and Manitoba each lose a seat. The other provinces remained unchanged.

Redistribution of Commons seats is supposed to take place every 10 years following the decennial census.

The new redistribution will be due in 1952, based on the census taken in 1951.

Synod Approves Civil Marriage

HAMILTON, May 5—(CP)—The Synod of the Church of England Diocese of Niagara today voted overwhelming approval of a resolution favoring the institution of Civil Marriage in the Province of Ontario. The resolution was presented by the Rev. W. A. Brown during the course of his report of the Diocesan Council for Social Service to the 75th Synod, meeting in the parish hall of Christ's Church Cathedral.

A resolution presented by the Council drawing attention to "the grave moral and social evils that have arisen in many lands through the prevalence of gambling on a vast scale" was approved and concurred in the resoluded by the Synod, which affirmtion to this effect passed by the Lambeth Conference.

A highlight of the day was the outspoken attack by the Rev. Canon R. C. Blagrave on Communism and the attitude taken by the Church towards it.

"I am very disturbed at the attitude taken by the Church towards Communism, it is always vacillating, never forthright. No one can ever say anything about Communism without a back-hand slap at our own Democracy," he declared.

PEPPER PAYMENT

When the Goths conquered Rome the city ransomed itself from the invaders with 4,000 pounds of pepper; spice then was more precious than gold.

Loblaw Firm Objects To Paying Land Taxes And Lease Rent To City

Loblaw Groceterias Company negotiations with the city council for the purchase of a large block of the market property had receded this week close to the point of termination in the records of the council.

Ald. Grant Miller read Monday the following recommendation of his property committee: "That the city clerk be authorized to write Mr. W. H. Bosley directing him to inform Loblaw Groceterias Company that unless the company is prepared to accept the proposals submitted to them previously on behalf of the city by Mr. Bosley, in amendment to the terms suggested by the company, there is no purpose to be served in carrying on negotiations for the lease to the company of a part of the market square property."

The property report was adopted with its gesture of dismissal of a proposal which had appeared close to argeement and settlement at one stage of the winter discussions.

A recent rumor intimated that est back to the George St. block north of the Ackerman factory.

Biding For Large Block

The grocery company was bidding for a substantial block of the market square facing on both Water and Charlotte Sts. They were planning to build a two storey retail and office structure, with big show windows on both streets. Alternative proposals were mentioned in the discussions. The last one was based on a long term lease of 21 years with option of renewal for a further 21 years, or purchase. One night during the late winter it seemed that nothing remained but to put signatures to the deal. But it became known during that week that the company was objecting to a provision requiring them to pay land tax as well as lease rent.

Make No Exception

As owners of the George-Simcoe-Water block, the city has main street property tenants who pay both taxes and rent, and it was said at the city hall that no exception could be made with the Loblaw Company. Comments from the committee were that the proposals for the disposal of most of the market were altogether satisfactory in their last stage of consideration by the Grant Miller committee. Members of the council said they were prepared to approve the sale or long lease of the property, but they could not assent to any tinkering with the land tax.

The general attitude of the property committee was to the effect that the members were prepared to accept the terms that had been drafted, but if the company was asking for any concession in land tax, the deal was out. Accommodation for the Loblaw Company would have forced the council to settle at once the question of a new market, and also of new public lavatories, unprofitable expenditures that would have to be entered in the market sale account.

Beverage Room Clean-up Predicted Soon Under Frost Premiership

Hint Attorney-General To Lose Jurisdiction Of Licensing Board, Will Be Controlled By Provincial Secretary

TORONTO, May 6—(CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a front page story that "a general clean-up of the unsatisfactory conditions that exist in some beverage rooms in the province" is expected to be one of the first actions by the new Ontario government of Premier Frost. The paper says there have been indications of growing dissatisfaction in government circles with the way a number of hotelkeepers have been concentrating on the sale of beer to the detriment of other services they would ordinarily be expected to provide. It quotes an official close to the government as saying:

"Owners of these licensed establishments, particularly those in the Public House category, are going to be told to 'keep hotel' in the best traditions of their trade—or else."

The paper's story continues:

"Much of the criticism stems from the drunkenness, overcrowding and general uncleanliness seen in certain beverage rooms. Another cause of complaint is the laxity on the part of certain proprietors in not checking on minors who enter their premises.

"The course of reform has not been definitely established. It is expected, however, that there will be a reorganization which will remove the licensing board from the Attorney-General's jurisdiction and place it under Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh, who also is chairman of the Liquor Control Board."

Fear Red Push For Shanghai Now Under Way

SHANGHAI, May 6 — (AP) — The big Chinese Communist push for Shanghai may be on.

The Nationalist garrison here said today that strong Communist attacks rolled up on the southwest and northwest.

The Reds knifed deeper into Central and Southeast China meanwhile. There was little indication of fighting on either of these two fronts.

This appeared to be a hint that the two lanching operations into Nationalist China's vitals were virtually unopposed.

The garrison communique said several thousand Communist troops were attacking Kashing, 50 miles southwest on the railway to Hangchow.

The communique said that simultaneously 5,000 Communist troops struck at Taichang, 37 miles northwest of Shanghai. It asserted that the attackers withdrew after a two-hour fight, leaving 200 dead and wounded.

Meanwhile the newspaper Sin Wan Pao said Fukien province officials were worried as Communist vanguards moved into the mountains about 20 miles from the northern border of that southeast province.

Fukien province is opposite Formosa, island province converted into a Nationalist fortress.

A hundred miles or less to the west, other Communist troops cut the railway from Hangchow to Nanchang at a number of places, according to reports in Shanghai.

These troops last were reported about 60 miles east of Nanchang.

Nanchang guards the southeast flank of Hankow, bastion of central China. It also is about half way between Shanghai and Canton, provisional capital in South China.

Goes To Court As Fugitive

NEW YORK, May 6 — (AP) — Lancelot H. McKinnon appeared in felony court Thursday charged with being a fugitive from Canada. He was held in $5,000 bail for an appearance today.

McKinnon is charged with theft of $3,120 from the Brantford branch of the T. Eaton Company.

He surrendered Wednesday night to Detective George Merz of the Long Island city detective squad after police received a telephone call reporting a man with a large amount of Canadian money.

Information Charges Dropped By Police

ST. CATHARINES, May 6 (CP) —Charges of giving false information to police were dropped yesterday against William Hendry, 23, when no evidence was offered against him.

Hendry was taken into custody last Saturday during police investigations into the disappearance of Joyce Patterson, 20, whose body was found Sunday in the Welland Canal.

Police said throughout the time Hendry was held that he was not considered a suspect in the girl's disappearance but that they considered he had given a conflicting story of his actions on the night of the girl's disappearance.

Investigation is continuing into Miss Patterson's death.

Use Gunfire Keep Blockade

BERLIN, May 6 — (AP). — German police to-day enforced the Russian blockade inside Berlin with gunfire—six days before the barriers are due to be lifted.

A wild fusillade from German guards on the boundary of East Berlin failed to halt an automobile racing into the American sector under cover of darkness.

German police in the American sector meanwhile raided a secret "illegal" meeting of the Socialist Unity (Communist) Party. They arrested 20 persons, seven of them women, and seized a large quantity of Communist literature.

Launch Investigation Into $100,000 Blaze

MONTREAL, May 6 (CP) — Police of suburban Verdun today launched an investigation into a $100,000 fire which gutted the Felson Limited Furniture plant on Hickson avenue during the night.

[illegible] enveloped the building. Two officers who passed the plant and found nothing amiss returned a few minutes later to find it in flames from end to end.

Sgt. Detective J. Martin said a night watchman was questioned for five hours and will be examined later along with other witnesses.

Coronation Inn In Lakefield Gutted By Fire

LAKEFIELD, May 6 (ENS) — Misfortune struck the family of the late Fred Wannamaker for the second time in a week at 9.45 a.m. today. The new concrete block building completed in February by Mr. Wannamaker was completely gutted in a flash fire which caused damage of around $30,000. Mr. Wannamaker died suddenly of a heart attack last week. The building contained a modern, new restaurant on the first floor and two apartments on the second floor, the occupants of which, Mr and Mrs. William Ackison and Mrs. Clara Webster, lost everything they possessed.

The fire broke out when a gasoline stove in the kitchen of the restaurant exploded. Mrs. Helen Oliver, who was on duty had lighted two burners and was pumping more air into the gasoline tank when the stove blew up. She fought the flames with a fire extinguisher before making a hasty retreat.

Four In Restaurant

There were four patrons in the front part of the restaurant at the time Robert Lennox, Mrs. Phyllis Chittick, Esther and Doris Phillips. Mrs. Chittick rushed to the kitchen and seeing Mrs. Oliver fighting the fire grabbed her by the arm and dragged her to the street. They barely got out in time, as on reaching the street the flames and smoke were billowing through the whole restaurant.

Mrs. Ackison, tenant of one of the apartments, had the nerve-wracking experience of handling a telephone call through the local exchange which told of her own home being on fire. She is supervisor for the Bell Telephone Company. Her husband was in Peterborough at the time, where he is an electrician.

Collapsed in Office

Harry Wannamaker, brother of the late Fred Wannamaker, and co-owner of the building, collapsed in his office at the Lakefield Creamery after surveying the fire damage and had to be taken to his home. Local firemen were quickly on the scene and soon

Gunmen Kidnap Car Driver, Hold Up Service Station

TORONTO, May 6 (CP) — Ray Paquette, service station operator on the Queen Elizabeth Highway, today told police of a furious fight between himself, two gunmen and Robert Robinson of Toronto, whom the bandits allegedly kidnapped in the downtown district. A 22-year-old suspect is being held at Etobicoke for investigation.

Robinson said a man followed him from a downtown hotel, and as he stepped into his car the gunman forced him to sit in the front seat while another man drove. He said they drove around Toronto for three hours looking for a place to rob.

When the gasoline in the car ran low, they drove to Paquette's station and rifled the cash register. In the ensuing fight between the four men, Paquette was hit on the head with a gun and was fired at several times, but all the shots missed.

The gunmen then fled in the car. A police alarm was raised throughout Southern Ontario and two provincial police officers spotted the car. After an 80-mile-an-hour chase, the two gunmen abandoned the car in Oakville and ran into a ravine on a farm area.

One of the men was captured but the other escaped.

Paquette, 26, was taken to hospital with several fractured ribs and head injuries but his condition is not serious. The 23-year-old kidnap victim suffered head cuts in the fight with the two bandits but did not require hospital treatment.

Ask Liquor Board To Crack Down

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—The Ontario Liquor Licence Board has before it a request to "get tough" with persons selling liquor to minors.

A brief presented yesterday to Judge W. T. Robb, Board chairman, by a deputation of clergymen and church members urged the board to cancel licences of liquor outlets where there is any sale of liquor to minors.

The brief gave two examples of court cases in which minors charged with offences claimed that they had been drinking. It said that in each case the courts "gave favorable verdicts to the liquor interests" and it added:

"Such privileged circumvention of proven facts must inevitably encourage irresponsibility on the part of the management of liquor outlets and discourage the efforts of the inspectors of the Liquor Licence Board, the provincial and municipal police and even the Crown Attorneys."

Daley Calls Parley To Settle Strike

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—Labor Minister Daley of Toronto said today he has called a conference for Monday to try to bring about an early settlement of the builders' strike which has tied up more than $60,000,000 in Toronto construction projects.

Thomas Beattie, chairman of the Labor Relations Committee of the Builders' Exchange, previously said he refused to meet the unions until the more than 4,000 laborers returned to work. Exchange officials say the union has not proven it represents the majority of laborers involved.

Russians Expected To Ask Withdrawal of All Troops

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—Russia's expected proposal to withdraw all occupation troops from Germany is regarded here as one of the most difficult issues which the western powers will have to face at the conference of Foreign Ministers of the Big Four meeting in Paris late this month. Indications are that Britain, the United States and France have yet to decide exactly how they will deal with the proposition if the Russians put it forward.

President Truman summed up the general state of affairs to a press conference yesterday in commenting on the new agreement for ending the Berlin blockade.

Plans already are under way for creation of a western German Government, thus far developed against Russian opposition. Those plans will form the basis of western proposals for a government for all Germans.

Economic and political unification of the Russian and Western zones is another objective of the western powers.

The western powers also are determined that the unification of all Germany must permit the personal freedom and democratic political institutions for the entire country.

The occupation-troop issue is considered explosive for several reasons. If the Russians propose withdrawal and the west rejects it outright; German Communists would charge that the west wants to keep the German people subject to their conquerors while Russia desires to restore their freedom.

If on the other hand, the west should accept such a proposal, military and strategic strategists here believe it would upset the balance of power in Europe at a critical point in Western European recovery.

Playwright Dies

NICE, France, May 6 (CP) — Count Maurice Maeterlinck, world famed playwright sometimes known as "the Belgian Shakespeare," died in his villa here today. He was 88.

He was a Nobel prize winner for literature.

His death followed a heart attack which lasted for three hours. His wife, a former actress, was at his bedside when he died.

Count Maeterlinck recovered from a fractured ankle two months ago and had been in good health recently. He spent yesterday afternoon gardening.

The funeral is tomorrow.

Rush Work On Constitution For Big Four Conference

BONN, Germany, May 6 (AP) —Delegates writing a constitution for West Germany today rushed to complete their work before the Big-Four Foreign Ministers' Conference in Paris May 23. By working through the night they expect to approve their draft by tomorrow morning.

It is no secret that the Western Allies would like the Bonn constitution to form the basis of a central government of all Germany—including the Soviet zone.

Outstanding problems were ironed out in a 15-minute session of the assembly's steering committee early today. The committee meeting probably was the fastest in eight month of negotiations here.

A full session of the 65-man assembly was called for later today and was prepared to meet through the night.

After approval by the assembly, the draft then must be approved by the legislatures of 11 West German states before it becomes the law for 45,000,000 Germans in the West.

Target date for formation of the new republic, sponsored by the United States, Great Britain and France, is July 1.

Police Patrols Raid Homes and Church Picking Up Strikers; Riot Act Read, No Warrants Needed

By ALAN RANDAL

ASBESTOS, Que., May 6—(CP)—Flying squads of Provincial Police rushed about this strike-bound industrial town picking up miners believed involved in yesterday's violence and Inspector-General Norbert Labbe said "the total of those now under arrest is near 100." Labbe, in charge of the 200-odd Provincial Police reinforcements who arrived here at 2 a.m. following clashes with police and miners at barricades, said the arrests have been going on ever since the reading of the riot act early today.

Until the act was read police were unable to arrest anyone without warrants.

Immediately afterwards the flying squads went out to the homes of miners wha have been on strike for nine weeks.

The men were brought into police headquarters where they were identified by policemen injured in the clashes when miners set up road blockades to keep strike-breakers out of town.

As the strikers were identified they were taken off in groups of 25 or 50 in police patrols to jail in Sherbrooke, 40 miles away.

Among those arrested were seven youths found hiding in a parish hall Newspaper men who were present said police officers waded in with their fists before the youths were taken into custody and carried away in police cars.

Another group of 50-odd were found in the basement of Ste. Aime's Church. When police arrested them they confiscated a hoard of home-made blackjacks, clubs, crowbars, and stones.

In Montreal Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard of the Provincial Police said one or two of the men resisted arrest "but they were arrested just the same."

He said the situation in the whole strike area was reported under control and there appeared no possibility of the necessity for martial law.

Charges against all those arrested will cover such offences as assault occasioning bodily harm, obstructing police, possession of offensive weapons, and resisting arrest.

The Riot Act, which provides a maximum of life imprisonment for violators, is expected to remain in force until the turbulent spirit which brought about yesterday's clashes quiets down.

3 Police Inspectors Killed By Pirates

HONG KONG, May 6 (Reuters) —Two British police inspectors and a Chinese detective were shot dead early today by pirates while they lay asleep in a police launch anchored in Mirs Bay, 25 miles northeast of here.

An official government announcement said the killers compelled the wounded coxswain of the launch to steer the vessel to Chinese territory where the launch was stripped of its armament.

Rescue Squad Finds 4 Men Dead In Mine

GIRARDVILLE, Pa., May 6—(AP)—Four miners trapped in a burning anthracite mine since last Tuesday were found dead early today by a rescue squad which had waged a frantic, two-day battle to save them.

Elmer Christ, general manager of the Gilbertson Coal Company, said rescue workers found the four bodies close together on the second level of the Company's No. 5 Colliery, 600 feet below the surface. Previously it had been thought that the men were on the third level, 200 feet further down.

The discovery of the dobies climaxed a 48-hour battle by rescuers to rid the shaft of smoke and fumes from the fire on the second level. The blaze was still in progress when rescuers reached the bodies, but huge fans kept air in the shaft clear.

The victims—William Kelly, 49; Joseph Wowak, 34; Raymond Eye, 35; and William O'Brien, 53—apparently died shortly after the fire broke out Tuesday night in the colliery.

Joseph Kupulis, who led the five-man rescue crew which found the bodies, said there were indications the four men had walked up a sloping tunnel from the mine's 800-foot level and then collapsed.

The bodies were some distance from the nearest compressed-air line, Kupulis said.

All four bodies were brought to the surface within two hours after their discovery after rescuers rached the second level at 2 a.m.

See Heat Wave One More Day

TORONTO, May 6 (CP) — Torontonians will have to wait until the week-end to get respite from their two-day record-breaking heat wave, the weatherman said today. Then they will get it only if the thunder storms predicted reach here tonight.

Record-breaking heat wave reaching as high as 87 were forecast again for today. Wednesday's 89 was the highest ever recorded for early May.

Thunderstorms expected Thursday night to break the Toronto wave have fallen short of the Queen City but brought relief to Oshawa, Trenton, North Bay and Sudbury, all suffering under the same spring assault.

Child Fatally Hurt By Truck

OMEMEE, May 6— (ENS). — Margaret Hoskins, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hoskins, was instantly killed at noon to-day when she was run over by a bread truck.

There were several cars in the yard of the Hoskins farm, which is on the Third Concession of Emily, at the time, and Mr. Hoskins had been talking to the baker. He had notiged the little girl in the yard and had told her to go to the verandah, She is believed to have returned to the verandah, and as the truck was leaving ran out between two of the cars.

She is survived by her parents and six brothers and sisters.

Steelworkers Demand Pension Plan

PITTSBURGH, May 6 (CP) — The United Steelworkers (CIO) yesterday took the lead in demanding a fourth-round pay increase, and indications were today that several other big CIO unions would follow the leader.

Thus workers in the "Big Four" of American industry—steel, coal, automobiles and electrical appliances—want more money now and a guarantee of security in the future.

The coal miners, members of John L. Lewis' unaffiliated United Mine Workers, will concentrate on benefits.

The steelworkers' wage policy committee yesterday ended a three-day meeting of top strategists by asking not only for an unspecified wage increase but a pension program and health and welfare benefits for 1,116,000 members.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers has become more insistent on pensions since Lewis obtained them for his UMW members.

The UMW finances its $100-a-month pensions out of a health and welfare fund financed entirely by 20-cents-a-ton royalty payments by coal operators. There's every indication Lewis will ask the operators to up the royalty payments in the contract expiring June 30.

The United Automobile Workers, for example, has declared pensions the No. 1 objective in forthcoming wage talks.

The electrical industry completes the "big four." This industry, too, has a CIO union — the United Eelectrical, Radio and Machine Workers. Union executives have prepared a program for a $500 annual "package" boost. The "package" would include an unspecified wage increase, improvements in pension and health plans and a shorter work week.

miles away as early as 7 a.m. to start the 8 a.m. shift.

The end of 20 hours crammed with violence, tension and uncertainty came to a peaceful end early today at the strike-bound town.

At 2:35 a.m. a 50-car motorcade with nearly 200 heavily-armed Provincial Police reinforcements rolled unmolested into town.

They came quietly by an unblocked back road, unaware that only a short time before main-road blockades had been abandoned by strikers who yesterday fought off police and isolated the town.

Under the early-morning urgings of Father Rodolphe Camirand Padre of the Asbestos Workers' Federation the strikers did a complete about-face.

For one hour around midnight the road blocks of gravel trucks and cars were left unmanned while 1,500 blockade pickets went to mass and then attended a meeting called to "instruct and reorganize them."

At the meeting they were told to "hold fast, don't let the police in."

They marched gaily back to the blockades.

Abandon Roadblocks

Less than two hours later the road blocks were again abandoned.

Father Camirand told the men: "Go home and stay home until further notice. It is useless to offer physical resistance in the face of so much police strength..."

The men dispersed quietly. By the time the first police cars moved into Asbestos the dark streets were quiet and deserted.

Yesterday's outbreaks of violence—most serious since the strike of 5,000 workers began Feb. 13—brought the police reinforcements here armed with tear gas bombs, Sten guns and the usual service revolvers.

Twelve of Asbestos' detachment of 60 Provincial police and 14 of the strikers were reported injured. Two policemen were reported captured by the strikers and held for some time.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard is understood to have talked by telephone with Father Camirand late Thursday night, telling him of orders to read the riot act.

Feared Jobs Lost

Rodolphe Hamel, president of the Asbestos Workers' Federation said one reason for setting up the road blocks and for yesterday's unexpected resumption of picketing was the strikers' fear that they would lose their jobs by influx of outsiders.

During the day 800 to 900 pickets threw their lines around the huge Canadian Johns-Manville plant, which normally produces more than 50 per cent of the asbestos mined in the Eastern Townships "serpentine belt."

Resumption of picketing was in direct defiance of a court injunction extended to May 31.

Until late in the night it was almost impossible for anyone, except strikers, to get into or out of Asbestos.

This correspondent successfully made the trip into the town from Danville, three miles away, on the third attempt. Grim-faced pickets at the blockades turned back the car on both early tries as they did with other newspaper men.

Say Immigration Jumps 58% In Last Year

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—Canada still gets more immigrants from the United Kingdom than from any place else, the Resources Department said in a statistical breakdown of immigration during the last fiscal year.

Britain sent Canada 40,015 new residents during the 12 months ending March 31.

During the year, Canada got an over-all total of 128,603 immigrants, an increase of 58.6 per cent over the 79,194 immigrants in 1947-48.

Immigration from France, Germany, with low countries and Scandinavia was 18,450 compared with 7,340 the year before. From the United States it was 7,306, a drop of 19.1 per cent.

People from iron-curtain countries, many of them political refugees, swelled the total. There were 15,420 Poles, compared with 4,269; 1,457 Russians, compared with 389; 1,144 Czechs, compared with 285; 10,498 Ruthenians, compared with 3,386.

Most of them—52,953—were men. There were also 44,821 women, and 27,289 children under 16.

Nearly 25,000 skilled workers were included.

Ontario got the biggest share—62,539—followed by Quebec with 23,745.

Quotas for other provinces: Prince Edward Island 282; Nova Scotia 2,773; New Brunswick 1,362; Manitoba 7,921; Saskatchewan 5,372; Alberta 10,519; British Columbia 11,016; Yukon Territory 62 and Northwest Territories 12.

AS AN AIRLIFT PLANE WINGS OVERHEAD, two bulldozers chug along beginning construction on a new runway at Gatow Airfield in the British sector of Berlin. With plans completed to lift the Russian blockade on May 12 occupation officials hope the urgency for more landing strips will disappear, but they're taking no chances.

Labor Council Approves Strike

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—The Toronto District Labor Council (AFL) Thursday night indirectly gave its support to the striking Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) by criticizing the Federal Government's handling of the deep-sea shipping dispute.

It approved sending of a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent in which it said that "serious faults in the labor code are becoming more and more apparent with each passing day." It added:

"There is obviously a need for legislation to provide penalties to prevent a company or corporation, having signed agreements with a trade union, from signing with any other organization, except where it is proved by the process of certification or ballot. . . That employees concerned desire to change their affiliation."

Ford Strike Hits Windsor

WINDSOR, May 6 (CP) — A large portion of Windsor industry is expected to be idle in the next few days as a result of the strike now tying up the River Rouge and Lincoln plants of the Ford Motor Company in Detroit.

Approximately 10,000 workers will be idled in the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., should the strike continue. Countless others in feeder plants which supply parts and materials to Windsor's largest automotive plant would also be affected.

Meanwhile 2,000 workers on the assembly line at Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., plant No. 3 here were laid off Thursday after refusal of 20 jitney drivers to work forced the company to suspend operations in this passenger car division. A grievance over classification of work was given as the reason for refusal to work.

Find Industrial Issues Fractionally Lower

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—Increasing selling pressure pushed industrial issues fractionally lower on the Toronto stock exchange today. Activity was moderate as western oils backed down under profit-taking. Golds were up in early dealings but began to weaken in mid-session. Base metals were about balanced.

Volume for the first three hours was 513,000 shares, about 50,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Most changes were held to fractions in the industrial list but key issues showed the widest movements. Utilities, refining oils, steels and liquors were losing groups. Papers were quit and mixed.

Western oils showed the largest declines early in the session and began a slow recovery movement at the half-way mark.

Coronation Inn

had two lines of hose playing on the building, with water being pumped from the river. They were successful in confining the flames to the building. It was fortunate that the building was made of concrete and that there was no wind, as there are wooden buildings on either side. If they had caught, the fire might have spread rapidly along the main street in both directions.

The restaurant was operated under the name of "The Coronation Inn" and its brand new furniture and equipment were a complete loss.

None of the occupants of the apartments were at home at the time. Mrs. Webster was in her furniture store next door when the fire broke out. Mr. and Mrs. Ackison have been married just a little over a year and their furniture was also newly purchased.

The flames caused by the stove explosion were added to a few minutes later when they reached a large pot of grease used in making potato chips, causing another explosion.

The alarm was telephoned in by Mr. Lennox. For the first half hour the firemen were in charge of Assistant Chief Gordon Scriver. However, the chief, Allan [illegible] borough, soon arrived and took over direction of operations. The firemen were able to subdue the flames without having to call for outside help.

Buildings on either side of the burned building were occupied by the Green Lantern Gift Shop, operated by Miss Molly Thompson; and the insurance agency of Frank Payne. Neither building suffered damage of any kind.

The gutted building was covered by insurance. It was not a total loss, but it will require almost complete rebuilding inside. The front was also badly blackened by smoke.

$5,000,000 Fire At Race Track

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 6 — (AP)—Hollywood Park, one of North America's most lavish race tracks, was razed by a $5,000,000 fire early today. One fireman was severely injured.

The flames broke out in the clubhouse sector of the multi-million-dollar plant and quickly leaped through the grandstand and Turf Club.

Two hours after the blaze was first reported, the stands appeared to be a total loss.

Nearly 600 thoroughbred horses in the stable area were believed safe from the flying sparks.

The disastrous fire dealt a death blow to Hollywood Park's meeting, scheduled to start May 17. Santa Anita Park quickly offered its facilities for the season.

Pearson Lauds People

But that some share of the credit should also go to the international policies of the Liberal party, he said. —Due to the postwar War Veteran enrolment, this year will see the largest university graduating classes in the history of Canada.

This means more keen young men and women, with their eyes on real careers, will be available for staff building during the next few weeks than ever before.

As in the past three years, thousands of undergraduates from all parts of Canada are now studying the lists of summer jobs you have registered with the Employment Service. STILL MORE summer job openings are needed, however.

Work On Farms Well Advanced

Farmers who have the bulk of their spring seeding done were all set to welcome Thursday's rain. Some of the work is not yet finished, but on many farms where prompt advantage was taken of every favorable turn of the weather the first stage of the season's program is passed. Growth has been splendid under the recent warm weather. Younger dairy cattle are in pasture around Peterborough, and general reports say "the situation is well in hand".

At the beginning of this week spring seeding in Northumberland varied from "just starting to all finished," as reported by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Two-thirds of the work is done in Ontario. Hastings finds a strong demand for heifer calves, and in Prince Edward there is still keen demand for export cattle. Growth of fall wheat and pastures has been favorable throughout the central Ontario district.

Cobourg Now Has Building Code

COBOURG, May 6 (ENS) — Many pages thick, and the outcome of several months of preparation, Cobourg's new building code is now on the town books and all future building will have to be in accordance with its terms. At one time the town had a makeshift building by-law, partly framed to comply with fire regulations, but difficulty in enforcing it of little use in controlling building.

Several buildings have gone up in recent years which are of a type of construction that has irked successive town councils, but due to lack of a building code, council had to sit back and watch helplessly. However, the new by-law covers all kinds of buildings in all kinds of places and, furthermore, has teeth in it. All building permits, which will be issued by the town engineer, will be based on the new by-law.

Farmer's Dramatic Arrest Six Policemen Give Chase!

CAMPBELLFORD, May 6—(ENS)—It was like the days of the wild west on Thursday when police apprehended Harry Ketchum, a Warkworth farmer who resisted arrest last Saturday by striking a policeman and making a getaway.

The farmer was apprehended Thursday by Provincial officer Constable Corporal McClure of Peterborough; Chief Constables George H. Hardy, Campbellford, and Bob Kemp, Hastings; Provincial officers Coffee, Peterborough, Arthur Kellogg, Hastings, and Coffee, Pembroke.

Early Thursday morning the police, in two plain cars converged on Ketchem's farm and kept a close surveillance on all movements until about noon, Learning that he was employed with Tom Duff, who lives about four miles north-east of Warkworth, the police went to Duff's farm and started a seige of vigilance.

Shortly they noticed Ketchem unhooking a team of horses from the cultivator. The officers fanned out and surrounded him but he broke through the drag net and heeled for the bush. Overtaken, he was later placed in the Peterborough county jail.

Calf And Pig Officers Chosen

CAMPBELLFORD, May 6 — (ENS)—Organization meetings of the Campbellford Calf and Pig Clubs were held in the Co-operative rooms on Thursday. Ralph C. Banbury, Agricultural Representative for Northumberland County, discussed problems of feed and care for calves.

Members enrolled were: Archie McCook, Delbert and Mel. Mererick, Clair Irwin, Joe and Jim rill, Ken. Matthews, Billy Peth-Forestell, Bob and Milton Hennessy, Bob and Claire Lisle, Jean Rannie, Harriet and Gerald Fry and Ruth Milne.

He pointed out that the pigs should be uniform and that special care should be exercised in feeding them. Mr. Rutherford advocated a competitory display of commercial farm produce each year between the farm boys of Seymour East and Seymour West. "Everything should be done," he stated, "to make farming an interesting vocation."

An outline of the trip to Montreal sponsored by Modern Packers, Fred Rutherford and R. J. Cranston, was given by Vince Forestell. He said that 17 boys had been both interesting and educational. They were shown through Modern Packers and saw the goat that led the lambs up the ramp to the slaughtering pens. They had visited a large curing plant, the parliament buildings at Ottawa and the Cockshutt plant at Smiths Falls, he said.

The following officers were chosen by the Pig Club: President, John O'Rourke; vice-president, Archie McCook, and secretary, Vince Forrestel.

Blockade Bubble Burst

With a sigh of relief we hail the end of the Berlin blockade, now due on May 12th. The situation in Berlin this last year has been so fantastic as to be idiotic, and idiocy should have no place in international affairs even though the story of nations in this century is like a tale told by an idiot, and certainly full of sound and fury.

• • •

Whether the western nations should have been occupying Thuringia rather than Berlin, or whether the western Allies should have taken Berlin in 1945 and kept out the Russians, are now idle questions. The fact is that Britain, the U.S. and France are in Berlin and in Berlin they are going to stay. During the last year the Berlin air lift demonstrated that they could stay, short of a new war. The ending of the blockade may not be a victory for the western nations in the Cold War. It is certainly not a victory for the Soviet Union. Now the senseless thing will end, the abnormal and monstrously expensive support of Berlin by air will come to an end, the fliers can go home and we shall, we hope, hear no more political prating about the ignominy of Canada's not sending aeroplanes and fliers over to assist in a job which should never have been necessary and in which this country had not a particle of duty or even right to interfere. Canada is throwing its weight around enough without throwing it over Berlin.

Dollars For Ottawa Driveways

Last January we chided Ottawa for being faint-hearted about Federal Ottawa. The citizens and their Council showed, we thought, an unworthy reluctance to dip into their pockets to support in adequate measure the improvement and beautification of the capital city, of which improvements they would be the daily beneficiaries. Putting it another way, we thought that the citizens and civic officials exhibited a cloying eagerness to have Federal Ottawa, that is, all the people of Canada, foot all, or nearly all, the bills. Our friendly contemporary the Ottawa Journal gently chided us for what it believed to be our mistaken thoughts and misleading statements. We have ruminated about the matter for three months, chewed over facts put forward by the Journal and the Federal District Commission, and up to the hour of going to press, see no reason to change our opinion.

• • •

Since 1899 when the Ottawa Improvement Commission was formed—it was superseded in 1927 by the Federal District Commission—$13,916,480 of Federal money has been spent on constructing and maintaining driveways and parks in and around Ottawa (seventy per cent. of them in the city itself), on care of grounds (like Parliament Hill) and on landscaping and the like. The Government put three million dollars into the creation of Confederation Square and widening of Elgin Street in 1939, the City of Ottawa only one million dollars.

• • •

Ottawa folk and the Journal point to the proposed new bridge over the Rideau canal as a possible large civic expenditure. But other cities, Peterborough included, build their own bridges at their own expense. As for the Rideau Canal bridge, there is a strong likelihood that Federal money (out of a new grant of $2,500,000) will be poured into it, and that the Federal District Commission will also pay heavily for the approaches. It is presumed that the City will pay for the regrading, widening and the expropriation of the approach streets. We believe that the City Council is still considering the matter and that costs will not be known until a public announcement of the Council's decision is made.

• • •

The City has spent money, and has large expenses because of the location of government buildings in it, but has, we think, been treated most favourably. The City's indirect contribution through the loss of property taxes is very great. Of the total civic assessment (1947) of $177,811,000 the Federally-owned property included in this amount was $70,827,393. The Government recognizes this loss by giving the city an annual grant of $300,000.

• • •

We have no desire to argue that the citizens of Ottawa should pay for the improvement of Ottawa, or pay even a large share of it. We continue to believe, however, that the boulevards, the driveways, the parks, the street widening, and even the proposed Rideau Canal bridge, are as much their concern as the Government's and that they should be prepared to pay a fair proportion of the costs. As we said last January, the Federal Government should bear the whole cost of the Federal Plan only if Ottawa and its environs became a Federal District like the District of Columbia, if the city itself were administered by the Government, and its citizens were disfranchised.

Are Canadian Women Like Corned Beef?

Women are convinced that they know all that there is to know about feminine dress, and he is a bold man indeed who disputes their claim. But there are always a few bold men, here and there throughout the world, and one of them wrote a letter which appeared in the Montreal Star last Saturday, which we reprint as follows:

Sir,—In these serious times I hope that it will not be considered levity to discuss a lighter and domestic problem. With the impending threat of a war of extinction hanging over our heads, I think that our potentially short lives could be brightened considerably if our Canadian women were to pay more attention to the way they dress.

I am not going to detract one whit from the goodness and purity of our Canadian womanhood, but rather deplore the manner in which they characteristically imitate a poorly harnessed farm horse. Those of us who in the last war had the opportunity of visiting the European Continent were pleasantly astonished at the manner in which the European women dressed.

It was not so much the cost of their apparel but rather the attention that they paid to its style and presentation. These women had made a sudy of wearing their clothes, and can do more with a few yards of colored rayon than most Canadian women could do with an unlimited charge account.

No one is denying the wholesomeness of our Canadian women. It is just a case of whether one prefers a hearty corned beef dish or a dessert of crepe suzettes. Corned beef gets awfully monotonous day in and day out.

W. Smith.

We do not intend to comment on this letter; we are not looking for an ugly controversy in which we are likely to be stabbed with hatpins or kicked in a vital spot with a high-heeled shoe. We may say, however, that we have heard it hinted in exclusively male gatherings that Canadian women are somewhat neglectful of the refinements of dress; we have heard men (old men, whose sight was failing) commend Canadian women highly for their good sense in preferring comfort to an appearance of chic. But we would not dream of taking sides in such a controversy.

We only say that Mr. Smith is a brave man to raise this subject just when the season of the crumpled cotton frock and the too-tight slacks approaches.

Play Ball And Let The World's Work Wait!

Bears pawed Leafs on Thursday afternoon, baseball had its razzle-dazzle inauguration for the season in Toronto, and the Leafs won by squeezing through a tight spot in the ninth (so we read). We were not among the 22,206 fans at the afternoon ball game. We had no grandmother to bury and did have a desk piled high with work-a-day work. Nevertheless, even though we and quite a few other Peterburians had to labour while 22,206 Torontonians sported at a ball park and munched hot dogs, we commend the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball club on attaining the age of sixty, and congratulate the team on its good first victory of this anniversary season.

We cannot wholeheartedly commend the game played on a mid-week afternoon. All fun and no play make Jack a dull boy and Jill a dim pill, but it is an old Canadian custom to work on a midweek afternoon and to take playing-time in the evenings or on Saturday. Zealous champion of freedom and individual liberty as we are, we are dourly inclined to urge that Parliament pass an Act making big ball games illegal before six o'clock on week-days and before noon on Saturdays. Sour grapes? No, but perhaps a touch of spring fever, virtuously controlled.

An English clergyman who was ringing his bell for Evensong recently became tangled in the rope and was dragged 20 feet into the air, before he fell on the stone floor below. He broke several ribs, and we could refer to his injuries as "the toll of the bell", but we won't.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: What is the meaning of local Indian names? Where could one find a dictionary on such? And why don't our dictionaries have definitions of Indian words as well as French, Scotch, etc.?

ANSWER: Your last question is the easiest to answer. Our dictionaries do not have definitions of Indian words because (a) we do not use Indian words in our conversation, or find them commonly in our reading, except as place-names. Therefore an Indian-English dictionary is as specialized as, say, a Japanese-English dictionary. Further, dictionaries in Canada are either American or English, and do not deal with special Canadian terms. To my knowledge there is but one dictionary which could be called Canadian, and that is a special Canadian adaptation of an English school dictionary, by Professor H. Alexander of Queen's University.

There are some Indian dictionaries, but since "Indian" is not one language but many, you would have to hunt for the one you want —Huron, Cree, Algonquin, etc.

Here in this district lamentably little is known about the local Indians. Dr. Poole stated in his History that the Indian reserves in the County of Peterborough are in the hands of the Missasauga tribe. Dr. C. P. Mulvany, writing later (1884) about the Chemong Lake Indians, says that "Mr. Hirschfelder of Toronto, who is admitted to be our best authority on all matters connected with the Indian race, states positively that this is a mistake. The Indian reserves in Peterborough county belong to no one race, but are made up of scattered tribes and broken bands, many no doubt being of Missasauga origin, many of the Ottawa Algonquins and the ruined remains of the great Chippewa race."

LESS is known about the tribes named above because they were less organized or did not live in fortified towns, as did the historic tribes like the Iroquois, the Hurons, the Erie race. Since they were nomadic, assorted, uncoordinated, they had less, and no continuous contact with the French and the missionaries in the early days.

I write as a tyro on such matters. There must be some people in the district who have made a study of local Indian names and customs. I should be most pleased—as would my questioner and others interested in local Indian history — to hear from any readers who can throw light on these matters.

The following books, to be had from the Public Library, may be informative—I have had time only to look at their covers. "Origin and Meaning of Place Names in Canada", by Armstrong; "Handbook of Indians in Canada", published as an appendix to the Tenth Report of the Geographical Board of Canada, under the direction of James White, F.R.G.S., Secretary of the Commission of Conservation, 1913; and "The Indians of Canada" (Jenness), published in 1932 by authority of the Department of Mines.

ALPHA: Do all birds build nests?

ANSWER: No, although I say it diffidently because my knowledge of ornithology is practically limited to a knowledge of the word (ornis—a bird; logos—word, discourse; both Greek). I think the nighthawk scorns nests. The cuckoo uses other birds'. And could a sandpiper's hutch be called a nest?

The laziest feathered creature is said to be the female cowbird which never builds a nest, never feathers her nest, never hatches an egg, never cares for her young. Yet the breed survives, the reason being that the cowbird is a sponger. She deposits an egg in another bird's nest (a large egg compared with the ones among which she lays it), and the other bird hatches the chick and feeds and fosters it. Usually the young cowbird does pretty well because it is bigger than the other chicks in the nest, grabs the fat share of the food, and even pushes the legitimate chicks out of their rightful nest. Robins and wrens are able to recognize the foreign egg, and have learned to throw it out of their nests.

Among the panhandling characteristics of the young cowbird is its plaintive call which appeals to the sympathy of passing birds if the foster parent is an unwilling provider, and other birds will feed it.

It is remarkable that such a superlatively good sponger as the cowbird should have such an unalluring name.

SIR: You have written about many of the old buildings in Peterborough. Don't you think it's time you stopped beating about the bush and told us which is the oldest?

ANSWER: You seem to think so. I rather thought I was beating around town, now far removed from the bush. I have heard it said that the oldest building is the stone structure behind Water Street on the west side, between Simcoe and Hunter. It can be seen if you look through (and reached if you go through) the alley between the Bank of Montreal and the law offices of Mr. Currelly. Any information on this indubitably storied building would be appreciated by yours truly, Alpha.

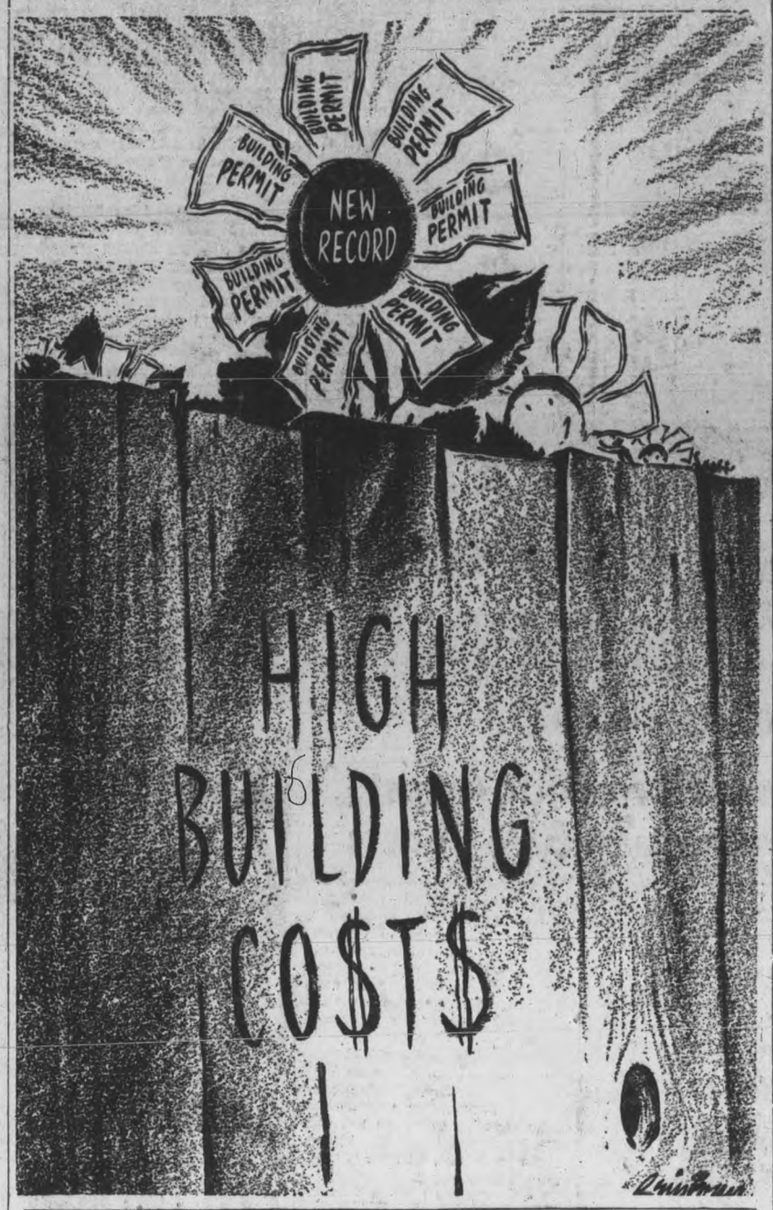
DEAR ALPHA: Are the Dionne quintuplets still wards of the King?

ANSWER: Technically, yes. But by Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, effective July 1st, 1944, the father, Mr. Dionne, became the sole Guardian of the Quintuplets.

The first "Daughters of the King" in Canada were the 1,000 unmarried girls who were transported from France to Canada by the year 1672, for the Quebec marriage mart. Louis XIV officially designated them by that epithet. It was one of the schemes by which the Intendant Jean Talon hoped to and did aid settlement in Canada. The young French ladies were carefully selected by parish priests in France and sent out as wives for the unmarried settlers. In those days in Canada fathers who did not have their sons married off before they were twenty and their daughters before they were sixteen were punished. The government offered dowries to maids who would marry and forbade bachelors going to the woods to hunt, in other words, made it almost impossible for a bachelor who was not a priest to survive in Canada.

FOR THE RECORD: Spring is sprung.

IRREPRESSIBLE SPRING



The Death Penalty

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

WHEN Mr. Ede announced in November that the Government would appoint a Royal Commission to examine means of limiting the death penalty he spoke none too soon. The House of Commons, after all, had voted in April to abolish the death penalty altogether, for a five years' experimental period; in July its decision was reversed after some unedifying negotiations, but it was generally understood that the Home Secretary did not mean to shelve the matter.

What has happened since November 18? In the third week of January the Prime Minister announced that Sir Ernest Gowers would be the Commission's chairman, and that the other names would follow shortly. Over five months have now been wasted since Mr. Ede's first announcement, and we are not one step farther forward. Someone is being very slow, and the House of Commons is entitled to know the reason. The Government has so far cut a poor figure in its handling of the capital-punishment question; it is now sorely trying the patience of its friends.

That might not greatly matter if the monthly toll of murders, sentences, and executions were also in abeyance. Between April and November Mr. Ede gave the hangman a holiday. In November executions were resumed; the total of murders committed in the following month was twenty-five, not quite twice as many as in the worst month of the period when hanging was suspended. So much for the power of the rope as a deterrent.

Since November everyone has been trying to see how far, if at all, the Home Secretary has been influenced by last summer's debates in the matter of recommending reprieves. On Saturday, at the Howard League conference, Lord Templewood suggested that the House of Commons free vote on April 14 might well have been interpreted by Mr. Ede as an invitation to greater clemency. That is open to question. Mr. Ede is surely there to fulfil the law, not what almost became the law. But few will dispute Lord Templewood's remarks about the queer way in which reprieves seem, to the outsider, to have been granted or withheld recently.

Margaret Allen and Griffiths, the Blackburn murderer, were hanged; people boast that the mentally unstable are always spared. (Where, to the layman, lay the difference between Margaret Allen of Rawtenstall (hanged) and Hilda Green of Scunthorpe (reprieved)?) Others pretend that an unpremeditated murder is not in practice paid for on the gallows; what of Clark of Yarmouth, who gave himself up to the police, refused to plead not guilty, and was hanged in spite of the Leeds jury's strong recommendation to mercy? All this is disquieting.

It shows that the existing system of punishments, even in the hands of a Home Secretary as enlightened as Mr. Ede, works clumsily—and not only when it is harsh. A young soldier found guilty of murdering a German caretaker at Bielefeld was snatched to safety this month by the royal perogative and sent freely home—although the Commander-in-Chief had confirmed sentence of death. That was under military law, of course. But Mills, who was due to be hanged by the neck last Wednesday, week in this country for a dreadful crime, was reprieved "for humanitarian reasons" because he had only one leg. There is surely pressing need for a Royal Commission to get busy with its examination of capital punishment.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous. Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound: that as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord. (Rom. 5: 19-21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat: but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou are converted, strengthen thy brethren. (Luke 22: 31, 32.)

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. (Gal. 5: 1.)

Planning With Canada

Under some circumstances things of vast importance can be done with a minimum of fanfare. Typical is the creation this week through an exchange of notes with the Government of Canada of the Joint Industrial Mobilization Committee. This carries a step further the process of real integration that was initiated in 1940 with the creation of the Permanent Joint Board on Defense. It will make possible long-range co-operative planning for the benefit of both Canada and the United States.

The quiet, almost casual, way in which an enormous enterprise and commitment such as this has been undertaken bears eloquent testimony to the mutuality of good faith and good-will that marks our relation to our northern neighbour. The "logical compulsion of facts" has been so well recognized as to become an almost unconscious part of our thinking. We assume, automatically, that in any time of crisis the best interests of Canada would be also the best interests of the United States, and vice versa.

That assumption is founded on more than the compulsion of geography. It is founded on the solid fact of personal and national confidence. Any attitude of mistrust in our dealing with Canada would be abhorrent to us. We take not only the friendliness but also the soundness, stability, integrity and essential "rightness" of Canada for granted. It is hard to realize what our lives would be like if we did not. We are all preoccupied at the moment with defence and its cost. Can we possibly imagine what its ramifications would have been throughout the last century (and what our tax bill would have been) if the Canadian national anthem were "Die Wacht am Windsor Canal"?

In embarking, with Canada, on the North Atlantic Pact, we are trying to carry over into a wider field some of that same mutual understanding and confidence. Naturally, it will be more difficult because of the lack of that sense of continuing propinquity that is felt in the case of Canada. But the principle of community of interest is there and is being spoken of, consciously, just as our community with Canada is accepted unconsciously.

In that way the establishment of machinery for further consultation in the field of industrial mobilization serves the interests not only of Canada and ourselves but of the whole North Atlantic community. When Canada and the United States plan together, they are in a very real way planning for the welfare of the whole community of the free.

LIVING COSTS CLIMB—Canada's cost-of-living index climbed one-tenth of a point during March to 159.3, according to the official report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This increase compares with a decrease of three-tenths of a point in February. The increase was attributed to price gains in clothing, home furnishings and services, rentals and miscellaneous items.

Montreal Blanks Brandon, Holding One-Game Lead

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG, May 6—(CP)—Thanks to Bob Frampton and goalkeeper Bobby Bleau, Montreal Royals today hold a one-game lead in their best-of-seven Memorial Cup hockey final against Brandon Wheat Kings after four games. Brampton Thursday night scored his team's only goal in the second period while Bleau was blanking the Wheat Kings to give Royals a 1-0 win and their second triumph of the series. Brandon has won one game, and a third contest was tied 3-3.

The closely-matched final now moves to Brandon for the remainder of the series. Next game is scheduled for tomorrow night.

Closeness of the four games so far is revealed in the statistics, which show Royals have scored only one goal more than their opponents, with the first two games split on identical 3-2 scores.

As in the previous game, play before Thursday night's crowd of more than 5,000 was fast and rugged. Brandon outshot their opponents 32-25, but erratic shooting or smart stops by young Bleau kept them off the score sheet.

Sensational Work

At the other end, Ray Frederick, who has starred in each game, again turned in a sensational performance and Brandon were fortunate to gain a scoreless first period.

After being outplayed in the first period, Brandon came back strongly in the second but found themselves on the short end of a 1-0 score.

On a smart passing play which started at the Royals' defence, team captain Frampton completed a double-passing play with linemates Bert Herschfeld and Neal Langill to beat Frederick. Frampton took the pass right in front of the Brandon goal and made no mistake with his drive to the lower corner.

Led by Angus Juckes, Red Abbott—back in the line-up for the first time since suffering a knee injury in the opening game—and Brian Roche Wheat Kings swarmed all over the Royals through most of the last period but could not get the puck into the net.

REGINA WINS—Playing the first game of the Allan Cup series on neutral ice resulted in the first win of the series for Regina Capitals over Ottawa Senators in Toronto Wednesday night. With a last-period rally, Regina won the game 6-3 but still has to take the next three games to get the cup. McCullough (12) and Sweeney Schriner (11), both of Regina look behind Hellyer and Legs Fraser of Ottawa to see the puck in the net.

LAWN BOWLING

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Central YMCA took a hard-fought 43-41 decision over Winnipeg Light Infantry Thursday night in the first game of their best-of-three series for the Canadian Junior Basketball championship at Toronto.

The Toronto quintet led most of the way but the fast, hard-hitting Winnipeg team overcame a seven-point deficit in the final quarter to tie the game with three minutes to go. The score was 41-41 with a minute left in the game, when Ron Ridding sank both shots of a double foul to give Central Y the victory.

The second game will be played tonight.

Charlie Gehringer, one of the great second basemen of all time, gained baseball immortality Thursday at New York when he was voted into the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Gehringer, who spent 18 active seasons with Detroit Tigers and closed out his career by coaching the Bengals for one year, received 159 of 187 votes to become the 56th baseball man to gain a niche in the shrine at Cooperstown.

Ray Hannigan and Bobby Robertson, who played last season with Toronto Marlboros in the Senior OHA, have signed contracts with the parent Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League, it was announced Thursday at Toronto.

Hannigan had a three-game tria with the Leafs during the season just ended and the Schumacher right-winger looked good beside Harry Watson and Cal Gardner. Robertson played with Galt Red Wings, Stratford Kroehlers and St. Catharines Teepees before joining Marlboros.

Jockey Robert W. Keane, was barred Thursday from riding at Ontario racing meets. A meeting of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association at Toronto turned down his request for a licence. No reason for the decision was announced. Keans was barred several years ago from Florida tracks and then rode in Quebec, where he was ruled off but later reinstated. Douglas Ness was granted a probationary training licence and his son, Kenneth, was granted a temporary one.

Mel Patton's 9.3 seconds for 100 yards was approved Thursday at London by the International Amateur Athletic Federation as the official world sprint record. The University of Southern California star turned in his performance a year ago in a meet at Fresno, Calif. Patton shared the old record of 9.4 seconds with Frank Wykoff, Jesse Owens and Clyde Jeffrey, all of the United States, and D. J. Jourbert of South Africa.

From London comes word that the British government ban on mid-week soccer, imposed as an emergency measure to prevent absenteeism of workers during the industrial recovery drive, will be lifted next season. Lifting of the restriction means that next winter's cup competition will revert to normal. Extra time will not be necessary in the first matches when scores are even at the end of 90 minutes, and the majority of the replays will probably take place in mid-week.

Mark (Tiny) Thompson, noted Canadian sculler, has been appointed chief coach of the Don River Rowing Club in Toronto. Thompson won the Canadian junior doubles in 1935 with the Toronto Argonaut Club and has also rowed with the Ottawa Rowing Club and the Hamilton Leander Club.

Don Loney, all-star snap, and Brian Lynch, star outside wing have signed with Ottawa Rough-Riders for the 1949 big four football season, manager Jimmy McCaffrey announced Thursday night at Ottawa. It had been reported that the newly-formed Edmonton team was after Loney for next season.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Only the game fish swim upstream. There used to be a poem kicking around with that punch line, and it seems to us that it applies to sports. Just the other night, Phil Lawson was telling us of a 165-pound wrestler who used to workout in the gym with the big fellows. And they all admitted they couldn't make him say "uncle". Beat him, sure, but one would have to break a limb before he'd ever concede a hold. Dempsey showed the same raw courage coming back into the ring in a daze to knock out Firpo. Legionnaires had it in Sarnia when down 3-0 to come on and win. You see it in all champions, they don't know how to quit. Yes, only the game fish swim upstream.

Lot of lacrosse fans are taking in the nightly workouts of the senior "A" Petes. Some work is being done at the box now but no extra seating will be added for a few weeks until officials can gauge future crowds. If required, bleachers will be erected then on the south side. Jack Foot, Curly Maeson, Lloyd Burnie and Jack Westonfeldt are some of the new players expected early next week, along with some here now and possibly a few more shortly. Most of last year's roster are sweating themselves into shape as workouts warm up under Coach Red Creighton. Team captain will be picked at an early date by the players, and the OLA senior schedule should be released ere long.

Girls Getting Ready

Various teams in the Girls' Softball League are hard at it now in practices and it won't be long before definite lineups are chosen. Loop opens May 25 at the Bowl with Westclox playing Marines at seven, followed by Lindsay against CGE under the lights. Other teams in are Lock Co., Woollens and Ashby's, and President Bill Bennett looks for faster softball and keener competition with fewer clubs aboard. As soon as the managers have a fair idea of their 1949 squads we'd like to get lists of players to publish as the fans are interested at this time in what lies in store for them on the diamond. Winners will go into PWSU playdowns in the late summer.

Johnny Russelle says the Knights will come up with a battling softball club this season again. They have open workouts tonight and tomorrow at 6.30 on the Orphanage diamond. Johnny has signed up some so far and has others working out with the team, but there's room for several more good prospects. Among those he has signed or expects to are: Don Hyde, a senior "B" Toronto twirler, Hinton, Ed Starr, Reg Leether, Les Burton, Don and Vic Griffin, Skeeter O'Heron, Roy Armstrong, Bill Thompson, Tony Giardino, Joe Blewett, Holly Mowry, Johnny Godfrey and a few others. The K. of C.-ers won't be any setup this semester.

Players To Register

Things should hum now in the City Baseball League with a strong slate of officers in charge. A good annual meeting last eve with the Mayor in the chair, Ald. Dodds and other prominent sportsmen on hand, and quite a bit accomplished in short order. Officers and various chairmen are listed elsewhere, but the main thing for the prospective players now is to come out Monday at 6.30 p.m. and register at Riverside, the Oval, Prince of Wales or the Ex., depending on what zones the boys live in. Peewees up, though the junior setup is obscure at the moment—except that the Petes plan to sponsor one junior club. Also, players or others having equipment are to turn it in at Civic Arena from 6.30 to 8.00 Monday night. An executive meeting called for next Thursday.

This para concerns several chaps we feel we should mention. Ron Akers concludes a lengthy and successful slab career in softball to go into the City Softball League this season as an umpire—having umpired last summer in the lasses' loop. A fine twirler as well as a good golfer. Wimp Borland is giving up softball at an early age to ump in the same loop, having been an arbiter before in minor baseball. Same with the veteran Jack Billingsley, who will call 'em in the men's circuit this semester. Jack Westonfeldt comes back here to play lacrosse after quite an absence. A good, aggressive player, who did his stuff on our pitch before the war. Jim Conlin, we're told, is laid up and will be out of sports for some time. This fine young all-around athlete thus misses a grid chance in Hamilton this year — a real tough break.

Little Giants Down Rochester

By the Associated Press.

A young band of opportunists from Jersey City was perched alone atop the International League standings today.

The Little Giants pulled a full game ahead of their nearest pursuers by whipping Rochester 9-3 in one of two games played Thursday.

Montreal defeated Baltimore 4-2 in the other contest. The remaining four clubs were not scheduled.

Wes Westrum hit a home run with the bases empty in the second inning for Jersey City's first run. Steve Bilko connected with one aboard in the home half of the same frame to give Rochester a temporary lead and Hank Thompson hit for the circuit with one on during a five-run Jersey City uprising in the ninth.

Montreal's victory came on a double by heavy-hitting Bob Morgan with two men on base in the eighth inning. The drive brought home two runs to break a 2-2 tie.

Clyde King, the tricky right-hander who pitched only one complete game last year, went all the way for the Royals to post his first victory.

Homer In Seventh Gives P of W Win

Prince of Wales pulled out an 11-9 School Softball League victory over Confederation yesterday on the former's grounds when Bob Faiers hit a homer with two on and two out in the last half of the seventh inning. It was a keen contest all the way, with Prince of Wales getting a run each in the first, second and fifth innings, two in the sixth, with three apiece in the fourth and seventh. The losers got singles in the first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth, with four in a seventh-inning drive. The teams:

Confederation: Holden, Bryan, Daniels, Outwater, Crouter, Simmons, Brooks, Holland, Martin, Tyndall, Dunstan.

Prince of Wales: Armstrong, Holbrook, Downer, Buott, Lockie, Deck, Smith, Evans, Mongraw, Faiers, Williams.

Umpires—J. Barnard and D. Crawford.

Hurrell Dodds, George Clarke, Harold Dormer, Eddie Murphy and Cec. Perdue.

Name Chairmen

Albert Watkins was named chairman of the schedule committee, Vern Dawson heads the finance, Ed. Murphy is in charge of the coaching committee, Percy Killingbeck looks after the equipment, Armar Butcher chairmans the parks, and Pat Calladine is in charge of umpires. These chairmen appoint their own committees, while the executive officers and two committee members—to be appointed by the president—will draw up a league constitution.

Same System

The same zoning system as last year will be in effect for the peewee, bantam, midget and juveniles teams of the circuit. Equipment out now is to be handed in to Percy Killingbeck next Monday night between 6.30 and 8.00 at Civic Arena, and held certificates of players may be secured then.

Registration of players will be held on Monday evening at 6.30 in the following parks: East City, at Riverside; north end, at the Oval; central zone, at Prince of Wales School; and south end, at Morrow Park. Officials were named to take names and ages of prospective players. These lists, as well as reports from committee chairmen, will be presented at a league executive meeting next Thursday night at seven in the YMCA.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

A Canadian team won a world baseball championship? You'll have to be more than three-score-and-ten if you do—it happened in the 1860s. The victors were the Guelph (Ont.) Maple Leafs and the event was recalled nine years ago today on the death in Winnipeg of Harry Steele, 91, who was a member of that championship team.

Mike Jacobs Retires, Joe Louis In

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Mike Jacobs is out and Joe Louis, the man he made champion, is the new heir to the boxing promoter's throne.

Mike's retirement Thursday, after 12 years as boxing boss, clears the way for a new combination, including Louis' International Boxing Club of Ch[illegible] to dominate the sport in th[illegible] States.

Radio cash is said to be involved in the deal by which Jacobs sold his 20th Century Sporting Club's promotional rights to a new, unnamed corporation.

It is understood that the National Broadcasting Company, moving to combat part-ownership by the Columbia Broadcasting System of the rival tournament of champions, soon will announce a tie-up with the new corporation.

This new corporation will control boxing in Madison Square Garden, where Jacobs has held forth for years. Harry Markson, managing director of the 20th, probably will continue as boxing director.

Close Alliance

The extent of the alliance between this New York corporation and the Louis group is still vague. John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden president, said it will b[illegible] "very close."

It is the impression here tha[illegible] the New York group will run th[illegible] customary "routine" Garde[illegible] shows, while acting as co-promoters with the IBC on major pro[illegible] motions, such as title bouts. Ther[illegible] probably will be some sort [illegible] a lend-lease arrangement be[illegible] tween the two on fighters' contracts.

Control of the boxing industry normally belongs to the man who controls the heavyweight champion. Jacobs had that in his pocket since 1937 as the result of his exclusive contracts with Louis.

When Louis retired in March, Jacobs lost his ace. Louis, now associated with James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, two wealthy sportsmen who control a number of arenas, seized at least partial control of the heavyweight crown.

Yankees Whip Chicago 7-5 Indians Slug Boston 7-3

By BEN PHELGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only a couple of weeks ago almost anybody could have given you half a dozen gilt-edged reasons why New York Yankees would be lucky to finish in first division of the American Yeague.

Even today most of the reasons would look legitimate: Joe DiMaggio out indefinitely; Charlie Keller sidelined; Bob Porterfield hurt; a patched-up infield; a shortage of good rookies.

So what happened?

The Yanks jumped away to their fastest start in ages. They have won 13 of their first 16 games. That gives them a three-game edge over Cleveland and a six-game edge over Boston. And those are the clubs that are supposed to fight it out for the pennant.

At Chicago Thursday the White Sox took down their portable home-run fence but the Yanks got a legitimate circuit clout off reliably Tommy Henrich and whipped the Sox 7-5.

The fence, a five-foot-high wire affair that shortened the spacious measurements of Comiskey Park, had resulted in 11 home runs this year.

Allie Reynolds wobbled to his second victory although he was lifted in favor of Joe Page at the start of the seventh inning.

Wins First Game

In other action in the American League Thursday, Cleveland whipped Boston 7-3, as Bobby Feller won his first game; Detroit edged Philadelphia A's 6-5; and Washington handed St. Louis Browns their sixth straight loss, 5-3, in a night game.

Feller gave up six hits including homers by Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr, but he said the shoulder pain that sidelined him after two innings on opening day was gone.

A two-run homer by catcher Aaron Robinson produced the runs Detroit needed to down the Athletics. Ted Gray, who was relieved by Dizzy Trout during a Philadelphia uprising in the seventh, was the winner, his first success of the year. Joe Coleman went all the way for the A's for his third loss against two victories.

Three singles and a couple of Brownie errors enabled Washington to come from behind in the eighth inning to nip St. Louis. It was Mickey Haefner's first triumph of the year.

Home-Runs

Home-runs decided all three of the contests in the National League. New York Giants edged Pittsburgh 3-2, in 10 innings; St. Louis bested Philadelphia 3-2; and Brooklyn squeezed by Cincinnati 7-5.

Johnny Mize parked one of Murray Dickson's slants into the upper right-field stands at the Polo Grounds for the 300th home run of his major-league career to win the Giants' game. Mize has hit more homers than any other active player in the National League. Only Joe DiMaggio, with 303, has hit more in the American.

Ron Northey picked the ninth inning of a 2-2 game at Philadelphia to hit his first home run of the year for the Cardinals. The poke broke the Phillies' five-game winning streak.

Four of the 16 hits in the Cincinnati-Brooklyn home-run derby went all the way but the one that made the final difference was poled by the Dodgers' Billy Cox with two on in the eighth inning.

Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves were not scheduled in the National.

Next Cup Game To Be In Ottawa

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—The next Allan Cup game is going to be played in Ottawa.

Officially, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association still is considering the question and its decision will be made public today. But it can't be anywhere else.

There may be some more squabbling about the sixth and seventh games—if they're needed. But just about everybody is agreed that the fifth game will be here Saturday.

That's where Al Pickard, the C.A.H.A. president, wants it. Ottawa Senators—who have a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian amateur hockey championship — say they won't play anywhere else. The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association says it won't let Senators play anywhere else.

Regina Capitals say they'll play in Ottawa — if the rest of the games are in Montreal.

Pickard has asked the C.A.H.A. executive to rule on his recommendation that the fifth game be in Ottawa and any more games in Montreal.

Sails For Africa

MONTREAL, May 6 (CP)—The Canadian freighter Hants County, whose Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) crew joined the general CSU strike, sailed for Africa from Montreal Thursday with a substitute crew from the rival Seafarers' International Union (AFL). She was the sixth ship to sail from here with an SIU crew since the CSU strike began March 3.

Cary Grant Back At Work, Ordered To Watch Diet

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 6 (AP)—It will be sodas but no Scotch for Cary Grant for the next three to five years.

The star is back at work following his serious attack of jaundice while picture-acting in Britain. His doctor has ordered a diet without alcohol, eggs or fried food for a long time to come.

He said he's feeling fine, and he looks it. He has gained back the 30 pounds he lost. He had different testimony from his co-star, Ann Sheridan, who has opined that film making abroad is strictly for the birds.

"Just one thing I regret," said Grant. "The English say their winters are too hard for Americans. Why, the weather was wonderful. It was just this epidemic that took us.

"Except for the illnesses, we had a wonderful time over there.

"And I couldn't have been more pleased with the trip back if they had delivered me to my door. The doctor said I couldn't fly; and the Queen Mary has too many people. So I took a Dutch boat the long way home through the canal. I soaked up the sun on the top deck for a month. It was wonderful."

Grant has four or five more weeks of shooting on "I Was a Male War Bride," which was to have been filmed entirely in Europe. He won't make another film until December. His medic has advised him to take things easy.

Makes No Difference

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—Viscount Jowitt, the Lord Chancellor, Thursday warned would-be murderers that having only one leg is no insurance against hanging. Lord Jowitt was commenting on a reprieve from the gallows granted John F. Mills by the Home Office last month. Mills was hit by an automobile while fleeing from a house where he had killed his landlady. One of his legs had to be amputated.

OFFICIAL GO-AHEAD—That sheet of paper, held by Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, is an election writ authorizing returning officers in the Federal constituencies to get ready for the June 27 election. Mrs. Francine Gahm, Mr. Castonguay's office assistant, examines it with him. The writ orders returning officers to receive nominations on June 12 and supervises polling two weeks later.

Defeat Communistic Influences Governor Urges Kiwanis Club

Now that the Federal election is less than two months away Kiwanians should use their influence to defeat Communistic influences, Albert Hinton, Lieutenant Governor of the District on Thursday told a luncheon meeting of Kiwanians.

"Rest assured that the forces of Communism are at work at this very moment trying if possible to elect one of their own, but working much more seriously with another weapon—confusion," Mr. Hinton said.

As the basis for this anti- communist campaign he quoted from the fourth principle of the Kiwanis International Objectives for 1949: "Combat Communism and all other ideologies which tend to destroy the spiritual, economic, and political freedom of the individual."

"Now that the election is coming on there is a splendid opportunity to put into practice objective number four," he said.

Many people in this country are confused, he stated, "because they do not think Communism is as crude and rotten as it is depicted."

Communism will be wiped out completely, stated the speaker, just as soon as fear gives way to faith.

He described Kiwanis as "a good system for doing something for humanity." In the International he estimated there were 70,000 business and professional men working to further the organization's aims.

Mr. Hinton then referred to a recent article that recalled how a group of successful American financiers met in 1923. These men were eulogized in newspapers and magazines as examples for aspiring young Americans, he said.

Among that group 26 years later, here was the record: Charles Schwab, president of the largest steel corporation, died impecunious while living on borrowed money; Arthur Cutter, world's greatest wheat speculator, died insolvent; Richard Whitney, former president of the N.Y. Stock Exchange, recently released from Sing Sing; Albert Fall, former member of the President's cabinet, released from prison so he could die at home; Leon Fraser, formerly of the Bank of International Settlement, a suicide; Jessie Livermore, the greatest "Bear" on Wall St., also a suicide; and Ivor Kreuger, monopolist, a suicide.

"They learned how to make money but not a single one of them learned how to live," said Mr. Hinton. "Not a single one of them ever learned the meaning of stewardship."

Theirs was a wasted time on earth, he contended.

In contrast, Kiwanis are taught to be useful to the community," said the Lieutenant Governor.

"Doing something for others is the greatest happiness," he stated.

"Time wasted is existance; time used is life itself."

The speaker was introduced by Dennis Fitzgerald and thanked by Thomas Rodger. President Vince McCabe was in the chair.

Junior Officers Get New Course

OTTAWA, May 6 — (CP). — An Army major from Montreal will be given the task of teaching Canada's junior Army officers of the future something about everything.

He is Maj. C. A. Greenleaf, a Military Cross winner of the Second World War, presently in the directorate of military training at Army headquarters.

Assisted by a staff of four majors and a captain, he will start this summer giving all newly-appointed lieutenants to the Active Army a seven-week common-to-all-arms course.

That means they will get to know something about tanks, artillery, small arms, and other weapons and equipment.

Maj. Greenleaf, former Commanding Officer of the 22nd Armored Regiment, will have to touch on all phases of Army activity, Army Headquarters said in announcing the course. To start June 13, it is designed "to broaden the knowledge of newly qualified junior officers and familiarize them with the problems and working machinery of corps other than their own."

The course will be held annually and the present plan is to send all lieutenants to it just as soon as possible after they are accepted for active commissions.

It is understood Canadian Seamen's Union strikers from Hull and Bristol were present in Newport. The Montreal City docked Wednesday.

Several ships are tied up in Britain as a result of the CSU strike, called because Canadian shipping companies signed contracts with the rival SIU.

A PETERBOROUGH-BUILT CANOE paddled by Ned Brandt and partner won the world's longest and toughest canoe marathon, 450 miles down the Mississippi River, in 1948. This year's race will mark a decade in the event run from Bimidji to Minneapolis with a top prize of $1,000. As canoe-building centre of Canada, Peterborough should stage a similar event, somewhere on the Kawarthas.

CADENCE OF THE KAWARTHAS

Being an unmusical person I looked up the word "cadence" in the dictionary the other day. It means a measured movement of sound, not necessarily connected with music. A few years ago I spent the night at Ombabika Bay, at the north end of the Lake Nipigon. On a far shore, an Ojibway medicine man was drumming out a song of spring, all through the night. The "cadence" was annoying to listen to, at first, but finally the insistent sound became fascinating. It was beating out a message that only Red Men understood. There has been a cadence drumming in Peterborough for the past century but citizens have turned a deaf ear to it.

The steady rhythm of boatbuilders' hammers is an insistant reminder that Peterborough is the canoe-building centre of Canada. The sound tells not only of curves on production charts but of the thump of paddles on the gunwales of birch bark canoes long ago when the Trent River was one of the great Indian Highways on the continent. You can be sure Champlain was intrigued by the sound as he lay back in his canoe and dreamed of a new French empire in the wilderness. And yet, we in the country's canoe centre have turned a deaf ear to the cadence of the Kawarthas.

This is not so in other cities. Men of Minneapolis, for example have sponsored a 450-mile canoe marathon for the past decade. To be staged this year for a week starting July 15, and offering a top prize of $2000, its brochure invites Indian guides, youthful adventurers and CANADIAN paddling experts to compete. And last year it was won by Ned Brandt and partner in a PETERBOROUGH CANOE, standard model no. 1430.

Newspaperman Don Wilson of Shawinigan Falls, P. Q., wrote the other day telling me of their annual 75-mile event on the St. Maurice River. Their 1948, $1000 purse was won by Jean Lemay and Robert Lemarier. Gerard Dufour, who placed second with his partner, is teaming up with Lemarier to participate in the Minneapolis Aquatennial this summer. They are being sponsored by the Tourist Bureau of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Shawinigan Falls.

But of crack paddlers in Peterborough participating in like events, we hear nary a word. There is still a chance for us to save face. City fathers are talking of a Centennial celebration. How about a canoe marathon from Bobcaygeon to Lakefield? It is only 40 miles with three lock hazards at Buckhorn, Burleigh and Young's Point and could be done in one day and open to all comers. Let the cadence of the Kawarthas mean something before it is too late.

Trout opening day last Saturday was a complete flop to most fishermen and although they went out in hordes with the best equipment and intentions, the weather played them wrong. The day itself was fine enough but cool weather preceeding it failed to hatch out natural flies, and speckles were not having any truck with man-made lures. Nearly all fishermen resorted to worms and their creels were poorly filled, with small ones. By Monday morning, I thought at least a few of the boys would be bringing strings into the newsrooms to be photographed. There was no evidence along these lines a telephone survey brought nothing but tales of woe.

May 14 will start off the PICKEREL fishing and perhaps we shall see more proof of good catches than TROUT Day produced. On Wednesday of this week 60 per cent of the 63 million pickerel eggs collected at the Glenora, Prince Edward County hatchery, will be distributed in the Bay of Quinte waters. At the Department's Waring Creek rearing station the transfer of speckled and lake trout fry from Glenora is now under way.

Up near Harcourt recently, Alex Bowers was attacked by a wolf. He wounded the animal in the hip and preparing for the final shot his gun jammed. The animal tore his clothing and Bowers quickly managed to kill it with a convenient club.

Confiscated fishing tackle was offered for inspection and sale early this week in the Department of Game and Fisheries vault, Queen's Park. Judging from the number of arrests over the past 12 months, we assume the display was quite staggering.

Last weekend Honkers flew up the Otonabee valley in hundreds and people were heavy sleepers indeed who were not roused by a huge flock of these magnificent birds flying over Lakefield Park about 7:30 a.m. Sunday, at almost tree-top level. Down on Muscote Bay, near Belleville, William Aliphant made a long study of a wild white swan that came to rest overnight en route to northern breeding ground.

Wildflowers are making a great show in woods all over the country while foliage is still in bud. Colonies of bloodroots have just about shed their white waxy blossoms. Swamp are full of marsh marigolds, enough to give true color to all the margarine in Ontario. Hepaticas carpet the forest floors in pastel shades and trilliums, both red and white are in bloom. The white variety, Ontario's emblematic flower, is protected in the Niagara area. We hear it is unlawful to pick them.

Harry Hayward, Jack Castleton and James Gordon have been elected directors to the Northumberland Fish and Game Club. They replace three who were inactive during the first part of the 1949-50 season.

John Rutledge, publicity man for the Queen City Yacht Club, was in town last week for the first time. He visualized Little Lake filled with sailing Sabot Prams. They are small craft of child-size proportions that adults are using on Lake Ontario. John explained all about them to Jack Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company so we may see a few of them out there in the near future.

The present day is a change for the better according to an Old Timer in Roseneath. He used to work in the fields as a boy for 50 cents a day and would go to the annual Fall Fair with a quarter in his pocket and come out hours later WITHOUT A CENT. "Why," said he, "You could hire a fiddler for $2 who would play from 8 p.m. until 4 a.m. and who would kick off some GREAT STUFF, too."

Alcohol To Blame

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—C. H. Millard, CCF member of the Legislature for York West, Thursday told the Ontario Temperance Federation that alcohol was to blame for an increase in Ontario crime and accidents during the last 25 years. He said total voluntary abstinence is the only way in which the liquor problems of Ontario can be solved.

Rule Natural Death

KITCHENER, May 6 (CP) — The sudden death of James Rahn, 4, shortly after being admitted to hospital Wednesday was due to natural causes, Dr. C. C. Belyea, Coroner said Thursday. A post mortem was performed following the youngster's death.

Net Rail Operation Returns Causing Grave Anxiety To CPR

MONTREAL, May 6 — Net returns from railway operations of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1948 have caused "gave anxiety" to the directors of the company "and must be viewed by the shareholders with equal concern", W. A. Mather, president of the company, said Wednesday in his address to the 68th annual meeting of the shareholders. The net earnings—$18,400,000—"fell below those of any year since 1905".

The prolonged opposition to an increase in freight rates and the resulting delay in obtaining adequate increases in revenues has forced your company to restrict desirable capital expenditures" designed to modernize and increase the efficiency of the railway, Mr. Mather said.

In addition, the poor returns were preventing the company from undertaking projects in anticipation of settlement and the growth of industry while "the country is in a period of expansion, similar in some respects to that which ocurred in the early 1900's."

"In the past," he continued, "your company was justified in embarking on such ventures, confident that the earnings from its rail properties would be sufficient to carry the obligation and the risk involved until adequate traffic developed. This spirit of confidence was a major factor in opening up western Canada and it is in the national interest that your company should again be placed in a position to play an important role in such developments. This obviously will not be possible so long as the rate or return on the net investment of your company in transportation property remains at the low level of recent years."

Can't Replace

Nothing that the company's program of capital expenditure for 1949 was only about equal to the total depreciation charges for the year, Mr. Mather said " depreciation based on original cost falls far short of providing for replacements when, as at present, the purchasing power of the dollar is so much less than it was when the assets now being replaced were originally acquired."

"Waiting the outcome of the pending freight rate proceedings your directors . . have deemed it prudent to defer projects which promise substantial economies. The best interest of shippers and the general public cannot be served by thus restricting the flow of money into the improvement of rail properties."

It was to be hoped that in the interest of providing the most efficient transportation these conditions would be corrected in the near future.

Institute Plans Course On Preparation of Meals

HAVELOCK, May 6 (ENS)—The Havelock Women's Institute will sponsor a short course, "Your Money's Worth in Food", on May 10 and 11 in the town hall. The demonstrations will commence at 1.30 p.m. each day and thus there will be no charge for the course. Miss Barbara Broadfoot, of the Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service, Ontario Department of Agriculture, will give the demonstration, and a complete meal will be prepared each afternoon. A booklet of recipes will be given to each person attending the course.

Committe in Charge

The following committee was formed to make arrangements for the demonstration: Mrs. H. Pollock, Mrs. W. Rice, Mrs. R. Melville and Mrs. F. McKenzie.

Mrs. W. Rice gave a report on the District Director's meeting held recently in Peterborough. She said the convention dates had been set for November 9, 10 and 11 next.

She announced that the Havelock Branch could have the District Annual Meeting here next year if they so wished. On motion of Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. H. Pollock, an invitation will be forwarded for that meeting to be held there.

"Health Before and After Forty" was the theme selected under health education as first choice for a lecture and discussion to be requested at the District Annual meeting to be given to the local branch sometime during the ensuing year. Two other choices were made as follows: "Program Planning" and "Simple Home Remedies and Improved Equipment".

Cancer Unit Seeks Aid

A communication was read from J. G. Allan, president, Peterborough unit, Canadian Cancer Society, seeking co-operation in regard to the half million dollar campaign of the society in Ontario.

The matter was laid over until the next meeting, as it is understood that several fraternal societies in the town were taking on the work of subscription lists and the letter did not request a donation from the society's funds.

An appeal for aid for children, from A. B. MacDonald, chairman, National Council for U.N.A.C. was read. A donation of $10 was made to this worthy cause.

The Belmont Women's Institute will be hostesses for the District Annual meeting for this year, which will be held in Havelock Town Hall on Tuesday, June 14.

Mrs. S. Southward, vice-president, presided owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. H. Hoard.

Presides Over Program

Mrs. H. Pollock, presided for the program during which a pianologue was given by Larry Sayers who along with Jo-Ann Kennedy entertained with a tap dance, with Mrs. G. Kennedy as accompanist.

The auditors' report for 1948-49 was read by the treasurer, Mrs. Pollock, which showed receipts as $263.61 and expenditures of $172.31, leaving a balance of $91.27.

HAVELOCK, May 6 (ENS)—The war memorial erected in Maple Grove cemetery by the Eastern Star Patriotic Association at the close of World War II in memory of the boys from Havelock and Belmont Township who paid the supreme sacrifice, in both wars, has been broken and, in the opinion of the cemetery caretaker, is beyond repair. Vandalism is suspected.

On Cement Base

The memorial is a marble tombstone about 5 feet in height and was set in a cement base. Last fall it was pried out of its base with crowbars and turned completely around. It was replaced in its proper position by John Ruttan, caretaker of the cemetery.

Recently it was found broken into five pieces. The Havelock-Belmont Canadian Legion branch are endeavoring to have it repaired.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

When Canada was growing up, hewing a living from the virgin forest left little time for holidaying. By the 1790's, visits to distant friends were popular. Settlers would travel three hundred miles by sleigh in winter to see their friends.

Picnics were popular by 1835. While the men fished, the women picked berries, and all joined for lunch. In Springtime, excursions to the woods for "maple-sugar making" were greeted with delight.

With the arrival of the automobile about 1900, and improvement in the roads, people began to travel to "see the sights". Touring to Niagara Falls, Muskoka or the Laurentians, became a common holiday pastime.

Today, tourists are big business. Canada is a vast wonderland, with countless surprises for the sightseer—and each year millions of Canadians and visitors tour our land. The opportunities that exist in the tourist industry are many—for there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Pyramid Chains Weak Links, Wobble, Totter

"And their tears flow like wine" could easily be applied to the sorry People of Peterborough who are sitting at the top of pyramids, penniless. The bottoms of the pyramids in Peterborough are shaky and the prospects of large amounts of money are fading into thin air. There have been no millionaires made, but people in the red number well into the hundreds.

One of the victims of visions of trips to Europe, new suits and cars sat in the midst of 50 new electric stoves gazing at a pamphlet on refrigerators. His visions of plenitude due on Monday when dollars were supposed to roll into his coffers, were dissolved in emptiness. He waited for telephone calls telling him to come and collect the money. No such call did he receive, not one.

"The people kept the money instead of phoning me as they should have been instructed," he said in a disgusted tone. "They most likely did not know they were supposed to phone me. Well, it's a good thing the dog collected his money."

His dog, Perky, a wirehaired terrier, collection Sunday night the sum of $218. His name had been substituted on the pyramid club list when a member resigned.

"What can a dog do with money?" the owner asked the Examiner reporter. "I have places where that money can be used to advantage. I'm not the only loser or sucker in the city.

Chain Letters Around

This depressed man then brought up the subject of chain letters, saying that they were again on the go in Peterborough. This old fad is only in the minor stages of being revived.

"Along the same lines as the pyramid clubs were operated, new clubs are being started with bottle of Scotch as the prize. I've been bit once, not again, my boy."

In New York a businessman has used the pyramid clubs to help others. He started the club by buying a carton of cigarettes for a disabled war veteran. He then sent letters to two friends whom he thought would do the same.

A humorous tinge has been given the pyramid clubs by some individual who has written a letter which reads: "Dear Pal: This chain was started with the hope of bringing happiness to all tired businessmen. Unlike most chains this one does not require any money. Simply send a copy of this letter to five male friends. Then bundle up your wife and send her to the fellow at the top of the list. When you reach the top of the pyramid you will receive 15,188 women. Some of them ought to be dandies. But have faith; do not break this chain. One man broke it and got his wife back. Signed, Your Buddie."

CHEMONG CAUSEWAY ROADBED was completed, in the rough, on Thursday morning at 10.30 a.m. when rock fill was dumped in the last open stretch at the west end of the new steel swing bridge. With rock being hauled at the rate of 1,900 tons a day, officials hope the causeway will be open about mid-June. Trucks are shown dumping fill in the newly-closed gap in Upper photo. In the Lower is a general view of the causeway from the Smith shore entrance.

Hydro To Obtain 480,000 HP At Des Joachims

The Ontario Hydro Electric Commission's mammoth new development on the Ottawa river at Des Joachims, now about half completed, will generate 480,000 horsepower of electrical energy when it is completed in 1951, members of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada were told Thursday night by A. L. Malcolm, one of the commission's engineers in charge of the project. The meeting was held in the Public Library auditorium and the speaker, who recalled that he was a member of the local branch some years ago when helping to build the Trent Canal, was introduced by A. R. Hailey, chairman of the branch.

Mr. Malcolm referred to the Des Joachims development as a "tremendous project," calling for a great deal of foresight and accurate planning. He said two of the eight turbines were now in place and that four would start operation next year and the rest in 1951.

Each turbine will generate 60,000 horsepower each, Mr. Malcolm said. The main dam will be half a mile long.

To emphasize the great need existing for the additional power which the new project will develop, the speaker referred to the large number of rural power line extensions recently made in the province which have not yet received any power.

Allow For Canal

Mr. Malcolm told his audience that plans for the development had been drawn in such a way that the resultant new water levels of the river would not prevent ultimate construction of the Georgian Bay Canal, which had been talked about for some years.

Another precaution taken was to build a special channel near the village of Des Joachims to protect the community from flood danger when the river is diverted into the new course which it will follow after the dam is completed.

The dam's nine sluices, each one 40 feet wide, will be able to handle 150,000 cubic feet of water per second, which will be well up to the maximum flood crest of the river. Twelve thousand cubic yards of concrete went into the making of each sluice.

Among other interesting sidelight on the dam's construction mentioned by the speaker was the necessity of diverting 10 miles of No. 17 Highway and some 13 miles of CPR track. Another 10 miles of track had to be raised higher without being relocated.

Peacetime Use

Bailey bridges, which proved so useful to the Allies in the Second World War, have been put to a major peacetime use in the building of this dam, as they are being used extensively in putting up the forms and pouring the concrete. A total of 375,000 cubic yards of concrete has already been poured into the dam.

More than 2,700 men are being employed on the project, 1,000 of them being housed in a single large camp. A big recreational centre is now under construction in which there will be eight bowling alleys. A large cafeteria serves 800 at one sitting. The bread the men eat is made right on the site and the vegetables are cooked in mammoth pressure cookers. A super highway 15 miles long and 48 feet wide was built into the site over which all equipment and supplies are carried.

Vote of thanks to the speaker for his interesting address, which was illustrated with slides and moving pictures, was moved by H. R. Sills.

It was announced that the next speaker two weeks hence would be an official of the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, who will discuss industrial use of radio-active isotopes.

Believes City Too Prompt In Enforcing Dog Bylaw

Peterborough Humane Society discussed the control of dogs during the summer at it's Thursday meeting when the majority of members considered that March was too early to restrict dogs to leashes and thought that May was soon enough. The bylaw states that dogs may not run loose from March until the fall.

The society decided to have the picture depicting the humane way of keeping a dog from running at large, inserted in the Examiner as in previous years.

It was decided to write letters to Members of Parliament in Ontario regarding the traffic in old and worn out horses to Europe. Added to the distressing condition in which the animals arrived at the port for unloading, was the hardship of having to wait 15 or 20 hours without food or water in sweltering closed wagons.

It was stated that wide publicity was being given to this practice in Ottawa, Montreal, Peterborough and Quebec.

Inspector Gerald Dunford reported that 44 dogs and 51 cats were humanely destroyed during the month. Shelter had been given to 33 dogs, 22 of which had been returned to their owners. Eight dogs and five cats had been killed on the city streets. One skunk had been humanely destroyed.

Complaint Investigated

In answer to a complaint the Inspector had visited a farm in Warsaw but had found conditions satisfactory. He visited a riding stable and warned riders against running horses up hills. He ordered an owner on Highway 28 not to drive his horse into town until properly shod and in better condition. He examined a dairy horse on McDonnel St. and found it to be in satisfactory condition.

Five truck loads of cattle had been inspected at market. The Inspector ordered care and attention for two lame bread horses.

Morley Powell, president of the Society was chairman of the meeting.

Library Board Cuts Estimates

All departments of the Public Library showed an increase in the circulation of books, William Graff said in his report to the Library Board Thursday night. Up to the end of March in the adult department 28,022 books had been taken out. During April the circulation was 9,025, an increase of 469. In the juvenile department there were 4,737 books taken out during April, giving an increase of 170 over the same period last year.

In the branch library the adult department circulation was 1,206. In March, the first month of operation, the circulation was 1,155.

Combining the figures of both libraries the circulation to date is 63,947.

Fire Chief George Smith recommended that two fire extinguishers be placed at the branch library an enclosed fire exit to be built at the back and that the street door open outward.

A three-gallon extinguisher and a CO2 extinguisher to accompany the film projector will be bought. The enclosed wooden fire exit drew considerable criticism. K. S. Wightman, chairman of the Board, said that there were parts of an old fire escape from Confederation School that could be bought. The suggestion of the Board is that the Fire Chief, the owner of the branch library building, and the property committee of the Library Board meet. At the same time the problem of the street door will also be discussed.

Grant $200 Less

Finance estimates for the year had to be adjusted as the government grant was $200 less, the Library budget was cut $800 by the city council and there was a $300 increase in the salaries of three of the staff. The final decision was to cut the estimates of the branch library $600, art exhibits $50, picture purchases $200, records $50, travelling $100, public relations $50, and maintenance $250.

Fifty dollars was moved for the expenses of three of the Library staff going to the Ontario Library Association's annual meeting May 23 and 24. It is hoped that several of the members of the Board will attend the meeting.

Members of the Board present were: K. S. Wightman, William Graff, W. A. Richardson, A. E. Borland, J. R. Marshall, the Rev. E. C. Moore, F. J. Hickey and W. C. Ackerman.

Ask Red Cross To Secede From Local Fund

A letter requiring the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society to secede from the Community Fund and raise its financial quota by a separate campaign has been received from the National Office of the Red Cross.

Bearing the signature of the president of the Ontario Division, William B. Hanna, the letter is as follows:

"Again the question of Red Cross partipication in community chest or federated drives was discussed at the meeting of the executive committee held on January 1, 1949. A definite stand has been taken due to the fact that more and more branches of Red Cross are being asked to participate in these community drives for funds and also due to increase of branch campaign quotas which would not be accepted by community chests."

"The full support of the National Council, the Canadian Red Cross Society, is behind the resolution passed at the executive committee yesterday which is as follows:

'That in accordance with national and international policy, no further branches of the Red Cross be permitted to enter community service campaigns, and those now a part of community service campaigns must withdraw by January 1, 1950, and that in default thereof, they be required to surrender their charter as of January 1, 1950'."

A spokesman for the local branch of the Red Cross Society said today that publication of the letted had been held up "because we didn't want to interfere with this year's Community Drive."

The same spokesman said a similar problem arose previously in the United States and had been settled along the lines indicated in the letter to the local branch.

It was emphasized there is no dispute between Red Cross officials and those of the Red Cross and Community Fund. The complication is due solely to orders from the national body.

The Peterborough branch has been part of the Fund since its inception. A decision on the part of the local body is expected within a week's time.

Car Skids 35 Feet When Hit By Second

A car parked on Park St. travelled 33 feet along the road from the force of the impact when it was hit by another car Thursday evening. Fred Breen, 535 Reid St. was sitting in the stationary car in front of 308 Park St. waiting for his wife, when Robert Desormeau, Bridgenorth, misjudged his distance and hit the car instead of overtaking it. Mr. Breen's car skidded 33 feet and stopped broadside on to the road, to the extent of approximately

Mr. Breen's car was damaged $75 with smashed bumper, fender, body, gas tank and damaged ormeau's car, which included the springs. The damage to Mr. Deswheel assembly, grill, bumper, fender and headlamp is estimated at approximately $225.

Constable W. G. Scott investigated after the impact.

At city police court today Desormeau faced a charge of careless driving. The case was adjourned until Tuesday.

Change Rulings On Securities

OTTAWA, May 6—(CP)—Two changes in the regulations governing trading in Canadian Securities by non-residents were announced Thursday night by the Exchange Control Board.

One of them will allow a non-resident to register with the board any new outright purchases in Canada of Canadian bonds or debentures, making these securities eligible for subsequent sale in Canada by the non-resident.

Up to now, this right has been extended only to non-resident purchases of Canadian stocks and shares.

The effect of the change is to allow a non-resident making a new investment in Canada in any type of marketable Canadian security to sell the securities at any time either in Canada or the United States. If they are sold in Canada, he will be able to export the Canadian dollars realized and convert them into U.S. currency through the unofficial market.

The second change deals with exchanges by non-residents of Canadian securities which are not eligible for outright ale in Canada.

Lift Qualification

Up to now, non-residents could only acquire a security due to mature within three years, or subject to call within that period, in exchange for a security due to mature or subject to call within the same space of time.

The qualification as to earliest call date, as distinct from maturity, now has been removed in connection with exchanges of non-government securities payable in Canadian dollars only.

As in the past, securities issued or guaranteed by the Government of Canada or of any province can be acquired by non-residents only for cash or in exchange for other securities in the same category.

The board said removal of the "call date" provision will "broaden substantially" the range of securities in which non-resident investors can trade.

POPULAR BEVERAGE

Canadians consume about 9,000,000,000 cups of tea a year.

Mrs. H. McNeely New President Home and School

HAVELOCK, May 6 (ENS)—Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh installed the officers of the Home and School Association for 1949-1950 on Monday evening. They are:

President, Mrs. H. A. Armstrong; first vice-president, Mrs. L. J. Harrison; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Gibson; treasurer, Mrs. H. Anderson; program convener, Mrs. F. McKay; assistant, Mrs. J. Wilde; health convener, Mrs. L. J. Cooke; representatives of teaching staff on executive committee, Principal L. H. Cooke, Miss J. Benning, High School; Principal R. D. Buchanan, Miss G Hunter, Public School; pianist, Mrs. R. Backus.

Discusses Youth Training

Mrs. L. H. Cooke, health convener, gave an instructive talk, entitled "Guiding the Adolescent Child." The best way to guide young people is by example and education, he said.

Mr. Cooke stated that the child who has had the advantage of living in a home with a religious background—that type of religion which is practiced as well as preached and which teaches the individual to think in terms of others than himself—finds something very fundamental and important has been woven into the moral fabric of his personality. Religion helps to give the boy or girl that sense of security and worthwhileness about life, both present and future, that the maturing individual needs.

Two Films Shown

Two sound movie films "The Policeman," taken in Ottawa by the National Film Board, and "Stanley Takes a Trip," pertaining to nutrition, were shown by Rev. Mr. Vanderburgh and R. D. Buchanan.

A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Godsby. Heather Blair and Shirley Jewel entertained with a tap dance. Mrs. D. Kirk played the piano accompaniment for both numbers. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. H. Pollock at the piano. The attendance shield was won by Mr Buchanan's room.

Seeks Dance Supervisors

Mrs. L. H. Cooke made an appeal for supervisors for Teens' Town held in the town hall every Saturday evening. She said the town council had asked for five adults, two men and three women, to be in attendance each Saturday night. Mrs. Cooke asked for volunteers to register with the president of the Home and School Association and advised that two be appointed by the society, the remainder to be chosen from the list of volunteers.

Australia Getting Tougher On Communists In Ranks

By GORDON TAIT.

SYDNEY, May 6 — (AP). — Communism is getting a thorough airing in Australia to-day.

First results are signs that some Red union bosses are in danger of losing their grip on big and important unions.

Interest in Red influence in Australia has been pepped up by:

1—A tougher policy to Communists by the Federal Labor Government;

2—The writings of a former Communist leader, Cecil Herbert Sharpley, who walked out of the party.

The best estimate of Communist Party strength in Australia is 18,000 members. But these comparative few have had a big say in the affairs of many times that number of working people.

Critics of Australia's Labor Government say it has been too tolerant of Communism for too long.

Prime Minister Chifley has refused Opposition demands to outlaw the party, but in the last few weeks, Canberra has been getting tougher with Communists.

The Commonwealth Government has issued summonses against three Communists charging them with having spoken, published, or written seditious matter.

A fourth Communist, Leslie J. McPhillips, is serving a month in jail for contempt of the Commonwealth Arbitration Court.

Sharpley, former full-time Communist and party member for 14 years, pulled out of the party last January.

He charged that Communists had fake union ballots to have Reds or sympathizers elected to administrative union posts; that Communists were able to turn the heat on government; that the Communists planned waves of strikes, and that the Australian Communist Party aims to retard production.

Lord Portal Dies

WHITCHURCH, Hampshire, England, May 6 (AP) — Lord Portal of Laverstoke, soldier, statesman and sportsman, died suddenly at his home here today. He was 64. Lord Portal was president of last year's Summer Olympic Games, held in London.

NEW DEAL FOR INDIANS—A new deal for Indians on the Blood Reservation, near Lethbridge, Alta., looms with the signing of leases under which a vast block of fertile land will be taken over for a 10-year period by large-scale mechanized farmers for development. Under the leases, the Blood tribe will receive 40 cents an acre annually as a cash bonus and a portion of the crop production during the period. Here Head Chief Shot-on-Both-Sides, centre, places his X on the leases, embracing some 23,000 acres, while Minor Chief Albert Many Fingers, left, and Harold Moore, Assistant Superintendent of the Reservation, watch.

53,000 Increase In VON Visits Delegates Told

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—More persons nowadays want, to know how to get well and how to keep well, and they expect the Victorian Order nurse to tell them, Miriam MacDermott of Ottawa, told delegates attending the VON's 51st annual meeting.

Convener of the Order's advisory nursing sub-committee, Miss MacDermott touched on the changes in nursing practices which have taken place within the organization.

In her report, Miss McDermott noted that in 1947, nurses increased their visits to Canadian homes by "over 53.000" from the previous year.

In 1948, the increase was 19,465, and "if this rate of increase continues, within a few years the million mark will be reached."

N. L. Burnette of Ottawa, chairman of the annuities and benefits committee, noted that the financial liability of the Order toward provision of pensions was "of the greatest importance." He said that the rate of enrolment of new members in the pension plan had been "disappointing."

At Dec. 31, a total of 220 members were participating in the plan, a net increase of one over the previous year. Approximately 300 remained outside, and of this total 176 were eligible for enrolment.

Mr. Justice C. H. Locke of Vancouver was elected president of the Order for Canada, succeeding Hon. Norman M. Patterson, who has been president for five years.

Conveners for this meeting Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, called on Mrs. Clayton Bullock, who sang 'Mother Machree' and 'Fairies' and Mrs. Art Bacon, who entertained at the piano with "Polly" and "Meditation." The devotional period was led by Mr. and Mrs. L. Seili.

Business period was conducted by president, Mrs. W. Buckley, which included a favorable financial report presented by Mr. Lloyd Wells and plans for a picnic in June. It ws voted to donate substantial amounts to the general expenses of the church and to the new Civic Hospital, also to purchase two spotlights for the church.

New Weapon Out For War On Moths

There is a new weapon out for war on moths. It is a featherweight aluminum pushbutton fog dispenser, which can moth-treat clothing, rugs, and upholstery in just a matter of seconds. It is the first moth-killer to use the famous aerosol principle, and covers wool fibres with a microscopic mist which quickly kills moths and their wool-chewing larvae. This penetrating mist contains DDT, plus another moth-killing chemical, and does not spot, mat, nor stiffen fabrics, according to manufacturers.

DOROTHY DIX

Adolescents Not Infants Teen-agers Have Rights

DEAR MISS DIX — We are teenagers of 15 who hope that you can help us keep the rest of our teen-age life from being as boring as our parents are making it now. Our trouble is that during the week we are not permitted to go anywhere, not even to each other's homes, because our fathers and mothers say that we should spend our time studying.

Okay for that. But when it comes to Friday afternoon and we ask if we can go to the teen-age dance, they say that we are too young to stay out so late as nine o'clock. We have to be home by eight o'clock at the latest.

Dorothy Dix

That is how we are treated and we are so disgusted with our parents that we are ready to run away. Don't you think that we should be allowed to go out once a week and not come home until 11 o'clock?

DISGUSTED TEEN-AGERS.

ANSWER—I suppose it is utterly impossible for the great majority of teen-agers to see their parents as anything but spoil-sports who are bent and determined on taking all the joy out of their young lives. And what confirms the kids in their opinion that they are persecuted martyrs is that so few fathers and mothers know how to deal with their children.

They persist in treating their adolescent youngsters as if they were still babes in the cradle, with no intelligence, no initiative, no perception of what is going on in the world about them. They try to force their own standards of taste and behavior on their children and squeeze them into patterns that society has outgrown, and it simply can't be done.

Deserve Privileges

Most of the trouble between parents and children is not because the children want to do wrong, it is because they won't do exactly what Papa and Mama want them to do. The parents can't realize that their half-grown children are enntitled to some rights and privileges, instead of being treated like infants. So Mamie is not allowed to have dates, or boy friends, or grown-up dresses, and Johnny has to lie and cheat to get a cigarette.

So we have the tragic spectacle of many homes in which there are perpetual fights between parents and children, and this is the more pitiful because they could be so easily prevented if only the fathers and mothers would make a few compromises. If home were a training place where the teen-agers could swap off certain obligations for certain privileges, if the bobby-soxers knew that if they studied hard during the week their parents would see that they had a good week-end, it would do much more to stabilize youth than any other one thing.

For most children are reasonable if treated fairly, and they would respect mothers' and fathers' taboos if mothers and fathers observed theirs.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man of 21 and have been married six months to a fine girl, but she is so jealous of me that when friends of mine even speak to me she gets mad. I have worked hard at my job and have gotten to the top where I get a splendid salary, but my wife insists on my giving it up and going to some place she has found where there are only men workers and where I would only get half the salary that I do now.

Do you think I should give up my good job to please my wife?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I certainly do not. On the contrary, I think you would show yourself to be a weakling if you let your wife dominate you so much that you can't even call your soul your own. Hen-pecked men are always failures in life, because they can never use their initiative, or do the thing they have a talent for doing. They have to do what their wives tell them to do and never have a chance to use their own judgment.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a very discontented and broken-hearted daughter who is very melancholy because the young man to whom she was engaged broke his promise to her. This has upset her very much and she takes it out on the family. Is there anything we can do about it?

A. B. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—Not a thing, unless you can make the girl see how lucky she is that her boy friend found out that he was tired of her before marriage instead of afterwards. Tell her to buck up and get some new clothes and go out and hunt up another beau. There are just as good fish in the sea, you know.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Youthful Chic Marks Styles Designed for Petite Figure

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, May 8—Moms hesitating to break the piggy bank for their Mother's Day finery can avert this crisis, thanks to smart dresses designed to fit fuller figures and slimmer budgets.

Designed to eliminate those fitting-room "extras" which so often rob a dress of budget-price attractions are fashions in half sizes for women who are less than five feet, five inches tall. Nation-wide surveys show that 72 per cent of all American women can be classified as these "petites" with waistline and shoulder width not generally suspected. Therefore, halfsize dresses are designed to accommodate this vast majority. The half-size dress obliges with a shorter hemline, a shorter and fuller waist, more room for shoulders.

There is nothing about the half-size dress, however, that robs it of its style distinction or youthful appeal. The half-size even takes smart "sun black" styling which is usually confined to misses' sizes. Here's an example of kind of styling which dresses Mom in as snappy a country-city convertible as her daughter. A sun-back top of brown and white polka-dotted crepe is combined with citified brown rayon shantung which makes the skirt and the cover-up jacket. When the jacket buttons up, all that is disclosed of the sun-back top's dual nature is a neckline bow of the brown and white polka dot.

Dr. Jessup Major Figure Behind Ending of Blockade

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, May 6—(CP)—Dr. Philip C. Jessup, a soft-spoken, book-loving university professor, was one of the major figures in the behind-the-scenes negotiations which led to the announcement the Berlin blockade will be lifted. He is the first man in United States history to hold officially the title of Ambassador-at-large. Few men know better than his immediate bosses—President Truman and State Secretary Dean Acheson—the broad responsibilities in entails.

His latest assignment, to find with Jakob Malik, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister, a formula for settlement of East-West differences in Germany, was one affecting the whole world. A less capable and experienced statesman might have shied at the very thought of so far-reaching a job..

Well Equipped

Jessup, at 52, brings a wealth of international knowledge to the key post of ambassador-at-large. His biggest job prior to that appointment early this year was as deputy United States representative on the United Nations Security Council.

He won early recognition as a scholar but, despite his love of books, was never a book-worm. He enlisted as an infantryman in 1917 and served in France and Belgium.

Jessup went back to college, got his Bachelor of Arts degree, worked in a bank for two years and went on to Columbia and Yale before taking his first government job—as an assistant solicitor in the Department of State.

International Law Authority

He returned to New York in 1925 as a lecturer in international law at Columbia. He became a full professor in 1935, and recognized as an authority on that subject, still holds the position.

Top-flight assignments came thick and fast for Jessup during the Second World War. He witnessed the birth of the international monetary fund and international bank, saw the United Nations organized in San Francisco in 1945 and was chief of personnel and training for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation admnistraton.

Only Positive Program

MONTREAL, May 6 (CP) — David Lewis, CCF national secretary, said Thursday night his party offers the only positive program in the Federal election campaign and the only one that can "take the government to task for its miserable failures in the fields of health insurance, of housing and of planning for full employment." Mr. Lewis spoke before a CCF nominating convention in Montreal-Cartier constituency.

Knocked For A Loop

OSHAWA, May 6 (CP)—Two [illegible] for a loss Thursday when a bolt of lightning struck a steel barrel they were pushing along a highway. Douglas Boyce, 12, was thrown 10 feet and knocked unconscious and his companion, Victor Rout, 10, was knocked over. Both returned to their homes after treatment.

P.M. To Broadcast

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to define general election issues from the Liberal party viewpoint in a 30-minute broadcast over the CBC Trans-Canada network next Monday night, it was learned Thursday. Mr. St Laurent is scheduled to speak from Ottawa from 8:30 to 9 p.m. EDT in English and from 9:30 to 10 p.m. in French.

Second Eldorado May Operate In Saskatchewan

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, May 6—(CP)—Has Canada got another Eldorado uranium mine in Northern Saskatchewan that will put her at the top of the list of producers of the atomic material?

It will be another year before she knows, W. J. Bennett, president o the Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited, said Thursday in an interview. In the meantime any speculation about Canada forging to the front in uranium production is "pure speculation," because an "intensive search" is going on around the globe.

Canada actually knows practically nothing about production and distribution in the Belgian Congo field which is generally accepted as the biggest producer in the western sphere of the world.

Just as secret from the public's standpoint is Canada's own production and the price she charges the United State for the material which is the primary essential of atomic research, development and manufacture in the U.S., Britain and Canada which now has cost billions of dollars.

For 1949 the Eldorado firm will concentrate exploration and development activities largely in the gold fields area on Lake Athabasca in far Northern Saskatchewan, Mr. Bennett said. There are three groups of claims there "of particularly interest."

FOREIGN MINISTERS WILL RENEW TALKS

Seek To Save Two Thought Survivors Of Air Crash On Snow-Capped Mountain

RCAF Para-Rescue Crews, Helicopter And Party of Loggers Aid In Search For Veteran Pilot, Student Nurse

VANCOUVER, May 7—(CP)—Three avenues of rescue were considered possible today for two persons believed survivors of a mountain crash last Monday night on the last leg of a plane flight from Alberta to British Columbia. In the expectation that two persons sighted by search planes are Bill Grant, veteran Vancouver pilot, and Sheila Cure, 28-year-old student nurse, these preparations were made:

1. A US coast guard helicopter was moved to Hope, B. C., possibly to attempt evacuation.

2. Three RCAF para-rescue men jumped and landed near the spot on snow-capped Mount Hozomeen in Washington State where Grant's plane crashed. They will seek to join Grant and Miss Cure, who have been dropped clothing, food and medical supplies.

3. A party of loggers from a camp 11 miles from the wreck scene has set out to reach the two persons who were spotted yesterday from the air.

Spotted Earlier

The two persons were spotted by RCAF searchers and Ray Munro, flying press photographer who took out a search plane on his day off. Munro said he spotted the couple in a valley beside a fire.

Earlier, a plane had been sighted at the top of Mount Hozomeen, four miles south of the Canadian border and about 100 miles from Vancouver. The plane apparently was not badly damaged. It was standing right side up and registration letters were discernible.

Grant apparently went off course while flying in a snowstorm after leaving Penticton, B. C., last Monday. He and Miss Cure had been travelling from Cardston, Alta., where Miss Cure had been visiting her parents.

Will Discard Records Of Bickering

"Senior Persons" Will Attend Pre-Conference Talks

LONDON, May 7 — (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin and the other Big-Four foreign ministers are expected to discard the records of old bickering and start from scratch when they meet in Paris May 23 for their fourth effort to write a German peace treaty. A British spokesman said the three powers will be represented by "senior persons" at the pre-conference talks. The French foreign office already has announced that Dr. Philip Jessup, United States Ambassador-At-Large, is flying to Paris this week-end.

He added that in the Washington talks last month "certain agreed positions were adopted and in the light of commitments undertaken, there will be talks in Paris."

British officials said yesterday the ministers will have an open agenda. Observers said this means the representatives of the United States, Russia, Britain and France hope to avoid reopening old quarrels. Meanwhile, British, American and French experts have begun to exchange ideas on conference strategy.

British foreign-office experts have begun work on a new statement of political and economic principles which they feel should govern any German settlement, official sources said.

Review Developments

In this they are taking into account developments since the last four-power conference in London in December, 1947.

These include the three veteran powers' agreements to:

1. Merge the three western occupation zones into trizonia.

2. Put Germany's industrially rich Ruhr valley under control of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

3. Raise the level of German industrial production and reduce drastically the program of dismantling German industries.

4. Give the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg portions of Germany's border territory.

5. Set up a west German federal republic by July 15.

Another development to be faced is Russia's call for withdrawal of all occupation forces one year after the signing of an all-Germn peace settlement.

Both American and British officials say they expect Russia to introduce a new plan for establishing a centralized government for all Germany. One American diplomat said the western powers would oppose such a move because a centralized German government might turn into a dictatorship.

15,000 Reds Hammer At Shanghai

City's Outer Defences Withstand Attacks; Drive 35 Miles Away

By FRED HAMPSON.

SHANGHAI, May 7 (AP) — Thousands of Chinese Communist troops today hammered with little success at Shanghai's outer defences, a garrison communique said.

The communique said 15,000 Reds in two groups attacked on two sectors 30 miles west and 35 miles northwest of Shanghai.

Another attack still swirled about a third anchor in Shanghai's defence arc—Kashing, 50 miles to the southwest.

Red spearheads, however, appeared to be thrusting ever deeper into South China along a notched front of more than 300 miles stretching southeastward from the Shanghai area to Nanchang.

In State of Siege

Press reports said that Nanchang, the city which guards the eastern approaches to the vital Kankow-Canton railroad, was in a state of siege.

Chinese Communist columns, already more than 150 miles south of their Yangtze bridgeheads, were seizing more stretches of the railway which once linked Shanghai with Nanchang.

(Previous reports had the closest Communists still 52 miles from Nanchang.)

The garrison communique said the main Red force which took Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, appeared to be moving south. These Communists last were reported about 35 miles south of Hangchow.

The major Red attack seemed to be aimed at Kashing, on the railway 50 miles southwest of Shanghai.

While the garrison left the impression the Reds made little progress here, it admitted the Communists had taken Pingwang, 17 miles northwest.

40-Hour Week Asked By UE In New Contract

TORONTO, May 7— The United Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) and the Canadian General Electric Co. faced off yesterday for hard bargaining on a wide range of issues including reduction in hours, pay boosts, welfare and pension plans, and a guaranteed annual wage.

Negotiations which will be resumed next week, cover 6,800 workers in plants in Toronto, Peterborough, and Cobourg.

The union is asking for a reduction in the work week from 44 to 40 hours, with a "substantial" increase in pay. No specific figure was set by the union.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian director of UE, said present minimum job rates is 95 cents an hour for men and 84 cents for women. The union wants male and female rates equalized.

Also among union demands are increase in vacation pay to give two weeks after one year and four after 25 years' service. The union is asking welfare and pension plans now in effect be improved and written into the agreement.

Mr. Jackson said the union would insist on tightening up protection of seniority and job rates.

"We have had more arbitrations with General Electric in one year than with all the other 50 firms under contract," he said. Company officials could not be reached for comment here last night.

Seek To Thwart Noise Blockade

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)— Britain and the United States, in an attempt to smash through a Soviet noise blockade, plan to use a battery of 61 transmitters, all blasting at once, to hurl a barrage of Russian-language broadcasts in the direction of Moscow.

George V. Allen, United States Assistant Secretary of State, said the State Department's voice of America programs would carry an announcement charging Russia with "deliberate interference" which "follows a pattern similar to the systematic jamming of shortwave broadcasts conducted by the Nazis during the war."

The Soviet jamming started in earnest April 24—just before the first news of negotiations to end the Berlin blockade. The State Department charged that the timing was deliberately designed to keep the Russian people from hearing the west's version of the agreement.

Lord Portal, Member Of War Cabinet, Dies

WHITCHURCH, Eng., May 7—(CP)—Lord Portal of Laverstoke, 64, president of the summer Olympic games in London last year, died suddenly yesterday at his home here.

Known as a soldier, statesman and sportsman, Lord Portal was most familiar to Britons by the prefabricated house named after him when he was minister of works and buildings in Winston Churchill's government during the Second World War.

At the outbreak of the war, he was named Regional Commissioner for Wales under the civil defense scheme. He also served as parliamentary secretary to the supply ministry before his appointment as works minister.

Reminding U.S. Canada Best Customer

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, May 7 (CP)— A spokesman for Canadian business offered a reminder here his week that Canada is far and away the best customer the United States has.

Henry G. Birks of Montreal, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, emphasized that fact amid signs that fewer United States dollars will be spent in the Dominion this year for Marshall Plan commodities.

The economic co-operation administration authorized purchase of some $700,000,000 worth of Canadian goods and services during the first year of Marshall Plan operation. That did much to alleviate Canada's shortage of United States dollars.

But about one-half of the E.C.A. allocations in Canada was for wheat and flour—at a time when the United States itself had plenty of wheat for export. another big amount was spent on Canadian lumber—and United States lumber men say they could have provided lots of it for shipment to Europe.

With some congressmen sharply critical of these allocations, it now is likely that E.C.A. will halt Britain's use of Marshall Plan funds for purchase of Canadian commodities which are in surplus in the United States.

It was against this backdrop that Birks addressed the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

With no specific mention of the Marshall Plan, he referred to the "common destiny" of Canada, the United States and Britain, and of their currency problems. Canada's role as a consumer of United States produce is an integral part of the three-sided situation, he stressed.

Red Guerrillas Hem In British

HONG KONG, May 7—(Reu-[illegible] Chinese Communist guerrillas and professional bandits have almost hemmed in Britain's 350-square-mile leased "new territories" on the China mainland opposite Hong Kong, authoritative sources in the Colony police force said today.

Three Chinese police have been killed on duty in the last three months in addition to the two British Marine police officers murdered yesterday in a launch near Hong Kong.

All available police resources here were working today to track down the murders of the two British police officers.

Police believe the culprits escaped to Tamshui, in Communist territory.

Discovery of the full motive for the crime, police said, might be important in determining whether or not communist pressure on Hong Kong colony was opening on the Malayan pattern.

Forest Fires Occur In Quebec

QUEBEC, May 7 (CP)—Henri Kieffer, chief of Quebec forest protection service, announced today that fire hazard exists in Quebec woodlands due to a dry spring and forest travel, except by permit, is banned until further notice.

Mr. Kieffer said about 20 outbreaks of fire have been reported so far and all were brought under control quickly.

The fires occurred in Gatineau district and in regions north of Montreal, as well as in St. Maurice, Quebec, Chicoutimi and Lotbiniere regions.

A fire in Ferland township in Chicoutimi region burned through 200 acres and was fought by 250 men. A fire in Cap de la Madeleine Seigniory also burned 250 acres before it was brought under control.

KENORA, May 7—(CP)—Thirty small forest fires were battled last week-end in this general area, burning over approximately 3,335 acres it was reported here Friday by the Department of Lands and Forests.

The report said 14 fires were in the Kenora division, seven each in the Minaki and Dryden division, and two at Ignace. Timber damage was low, since most of the areas burned were cut-over or marsh land.

Western Germany Rejects Red Views On New State

BONN, Germany, May 7—(AP)—Western Germany has said "no" to Communist pleas to halt formation of its proposed new state. Her political leaders scheduled the last step of adoption of a west German constitution for tomorrow, the fourth anniversary of Germany's surrender in the last war.

The constitutional convention clearly was speeding its work to beat the Wednesday midnight blockades under the New York agreement announced Thursday deadline for lifting the German by Russia and the Western powers.

The western occupation powers want the west German government to be the one for all Germany if there is an eventual union of the Soviet zone with the British, United States and French zones.

The developments came as Russia and the western Allies worked at top speed to lift their blockades. The actual work will be done by German transportation experts.

The task involves complex problems, and the complicating threat of a rail workers' strike. Employees who live in western Berlin but work on Russian-controlled rail lines in the eastern sector, threatened to strike unless they are paid in west marks.

Such a strike would cripple Berlin's elevated lines as well as railway traffic into and out of Berlin.

An early step after adoption of the constitution will be the election of a parliament to take office in July.

The people will elect 400 delegates to the parliament's lower house of Bundestag. The 11 state legislatures will choose the members of the upper house, or Bundesrat. Each state will have at least three members. Some will have five, depending on population.

The convention passed the proposed constitution by a vote of 47 to 2, overriding the contention of Communists that plans to lift the blockade call also for setting up an "all-German" government which would include the Russian and western zones.

The two negative votes were cast by Communists. Fifteen delegates refrained from voting. Mostly they were Bavarians, who contend the constitution does not give their traditionally separatist [illegible] rights.

Vote Of Quebec Said Big Factor

LONDON, May 7 (CP)—The Times today stresses in an editorial the importance of the Quebec vote in the forthcoming general elections in Canada.

"It is, as usual, on the attitude of French Canada that the election is likely to turn," the newspaper says.

George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservatives and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, "have in common two principles."

"One is strengthening of Provincial rights and the other is acting in opposition to the spread of Communism.

"There is also much, perhaps more, to hold them apart. Mr. Duplessis is a racial nationalist and isolationist who opposed Canada's entry into the war in 1939. Mr. Drew is an uncompromising imperialist, an advocate of Commonwealth co-operation and believer in thorough preparation against the danger of another world war.

"It would be asking much of Mr. Duplessis to expect him to use —and risk—his leadership of Quebec in order to swing French Canada to support such a man against a Prime Minister who is the most distinguished Canadietn since Laurier.

"If 'Jean Baptiste' stands on his own, the Liberals enter the election with better chances."

Action Delayed On Press Pact

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, May 7—(CP)—The United Nations Friday postponed action on a treaty for freedom of information until the fall session of the General Assembly.

The Netherlands deferment motion was strongly backed in the 58-member social committee by Canada, Britain and the United States. The United States State Department has announced several clauses of the proposed convention were "unacceptable."

The convention concerned the principles of freedom of information. The clauses objected to by the United States could, she contended, lead to peace-time censorship and restriction rather than promotion of freedom of information. The vote for postponement was 28 to 9 with eight abstentions.

May 7—(CP)—Fog, which held up navigation along the St. Mary's River for more than 36 hours, lifted early today and river traffic was resumed.

Some 51 ships were held up because of the fog and heavy rains.

Agreement Reached In East Indies War

BATAVIA, Java, May 7 (AP)— The Netherlanders and the Indonesians today reached an agreement which may go far toward restoring peace to the East Indies.

The Dutch agreed to help set up a new Indonesian republican government in Jogjakarta, the Indonesian capital which Netherlands troops captured in their "police action" last December.

In return, the Indonesians agreed to order guerrillas in the back country to stop shooting and to urge Indonesian participation in a "peace" round table at The Hague.

Sunday Trucking Illegal Judge Rules In Finding

TORONTO, May 7—Trucking firms no longer will be able to haul freight across Ontario on Sundays without facing prosecution under the Lord's Day Act as a result of a decision handed down Friday by Mr. Justice Schroeder at Osgoode Hall.

His lordship dismissed an appeal by the Charleston Transportation Co. Ltd. against a $50 fine imposed by Magistrate Atkinson at Kirkland Lake last March for transporting used cars from Toronto to Fort William on Sunday. The appeal was dismissed with costs of $50 against the company.

The company claimed the movement of the cars was emergency work and therefore exempt under the act. His lordship disagreed.

C. P. Hope, of the attorney-general's department, said, after hearing of the dismissal of the appeal that trucking concerns no longer would be able to haul freight on Sunday.

In support of his decision, Mr. Justice Schroeder told J. P. Mangan, counsel for the Charleston Transportation Co.; "Don't you see how wide you would open the door to abuse? Every Tom, Dick and Harry who transports coal or onions would say he comes under Section 5." He referred to the section exempting emergency work. Mr. Mangan maintained that the legislation passed in 1927 did not take into consideration the importance of the motor industry in transporting freight an Sunday.

City Police Interrupt Party Two Men Take To River

When Constables E. Niziol and W. S. Fife interrupted a drinking party on the banks of the Otonabee river at 6.35 p.m. Friday, two men jumped into the river in an attempt to avoid arrest.

Weldon Finn, Francis O'Keefe and William Davis, all of Peterborough, were found by the constables drinking beer on the river bank near the footbridge over the C.P.R. track in Ashburnham.

After the police had escorted Davis to the cruiser and were carrying a case of beer to the car, Finn jumped into the river and was followed by O'Keefe. Sergeant Percy Sexsmith sent reinforcements from city police station and Constables Gordon Trennum and Sherman Keliele arrested Finn as he got out of the river on the east side.

Alderman H. Dodds, whose house is on Engleburn Ave., piloted Constables Niziol and Trennum across the river in a boat, and O'Keefe was arrested on an island in mid-stream.

The three men were taken to the police station and dry clothes were provided for the two swimmers.

Aftermath Of Bitterness Seeps Through Town; Uneasy Peace Established

Arrested Strikers Taken To Sherbrooke, And Montreal Jails; Union and Company Exchange Charges

ASBESTOS, Que., May 7—(CP)—An aftermath of bitterness and recrimination seeped through this strike-bound Asbestos mining town today in the wake of disturbances Thursday which brought in scores of heavily-armed Provincial Police and resulted in the reading of the Riot Act. Between 116 and 181 persons have been arrested. With no jails in this eastern townships region big enough to hold them all, 53 were taken to Montreal and a large number to Sherbrooke, some 35 miles away.

And while uneasy pace has been established, union leaders have charged police with brutality and company officials have declared the strike which touched off Thursday's incidents is "against the entire social structure."

Thursday's explosive situation —one of the most dangerous in recent Canadian labor history— started when striking miners barricaded all roads but one leading into Asbestos, a town of 5,000 which is the centre of the world's asbestos mining industry.

Canadian Catholic Federation of Labor officials said the road blocks were thrown up to prevent the companies from bringing in outside non-union workers.

Gangs Patrol Roads

Large gangs of pickets patrolled the road blocks armed with clubs and when several car loads of plain-clothes provincial police attempted to pass, a skirmish broke out in which a dozen policemen were beaten, disarmed and paraded to the parish hall. There they were released.

When Director Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police heard of the incident, he rushed some 200 armed police to Sherbrooke, vowing that the officers would go through the blockades, come what might.

But by nightfall yesterday, there was no sign of any disorder in the area where the long-drawn-out strike has frayed tempers and nerves to the breaking point.

Jean Marchand, secretary-general of the Catholic Confederation of Catholic Labor, said in Quebec that the union plans to investigate the conduct of Provincial Police. Marchand said the police acted like "agents of provocation and with avid brutality" during yesterday's roundup of strikers.

On the other hand, George K. Foster, vice-president and mine manager of the Canadian Johns-Manville, biggest of the asbestos companies, said radical union groups and imported agitators are supporting the strike.

Nineteen who appeared in a Sherbrooke court yesterday were fined $15 each and costs for vagrancy.

Twenty-eight others, unable to raise $300 in cash bail, are held in Sherbrooke jail awaiting hearing May 13 on unlawful assembly charges.

Prepared to Talk

TORONTO, May 7 (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today in a newspage story that Rev. L. P. Camirand, parish priest of St. Aime Roman Catholic Church at Asbestos, Que., is prepared to talk to Quebec Provincial Police if they want to question him about the strike at Asbestos.

It says Father Camirand answered his telephone at the parish rectory last night and was asked by a Globe and Mail reporter if he had heard the police were looking for him, as reported in some news dispatches.

"Why should they look for me?" the priest asked. "I'm right here in the parish house if they want to see me. I'm not going to be arrested that I know of. I certainly haven't done anything for which I should be arrested."

Brantford Man Waives Extradition

NEW YORK, May 7 —(CP)—Lance McKinnon, 37, of Brantford, Friday waived extradition on a fugitive charge based on his alleged theft of $3,120 from the Canadian Department Store in Brantford.

Accompanied by New York and Brantford police, McKinnon appeared at the office of the District Attorney and before County Judge ePter T. Farrell signed a formal waiver permitting his return to Canada.

McKinnon, acting manager of the department store, spent last night in jail after being unable to produce bond for $5,000 bail on the fugitive charge.

He was arrested Wednesday night by detective George Merz after police received a telephone call saying a man had been seen with a large amount of Canadian currency. When taken into custody he had $1,715 in cash, most of it in Canadian money.

McKinnon appeared in felony court yesterday and expressed a desire to return voluntarily to Canada.

The theft was discovered Wednesday by caretaker William Bowden who said the office safe had been left open and money strewn about the floor. He said McKinnon knew the combination of the safe.

A Brantford taxi driver, Robert Rowley, told police he had driven McKinnon to Dunnville, about 40 miles southeast of Brantford.

Donald Phillips, 22, of Brantford, was with McKinnon when he was arrested in New York. Albert Short, Assistant District Attorney, said Phillips had been questioned, but that no charges would be placed against him. He said Phillips would not be held and would be permitted to return to Canada voluntarily.

Judgement Repudiated

MONTREAL, May 7—(CP)—J. M. Pritchard, prominent lay member of the United Church of Canada, Friday said the general council executive did not speak for the church as a whole in refusing to call on Canadians to maintain security of the North Atlantic area under terms of the North Atlantic Security Pact. In a statement on the stand taken by the United Church's central governing body at a meeting in Toronto last Wednesday, the Montreal lawyer said tens of thousands of members "repudiate this judgment of their general executive."

Flint Chevrolet Employees Vote To Strike Over Alleged "Speed-Up" Tactics

FLINT, Mich., May 7—(AP)—Union employees of the Chevrolet assembly plant here yesterday voted 516 to 17 to go on strike over an alleged "speed-up." The plant employs 1,500. A strike at the assembly plant could make idle 10,000 other Chevrolet employees.

Colburn Walker, president of Local 659, U.A.W. charged that the company had stepped up production from 58 units an hour to 66 without a corresponding increase in manpower.

Union spokesmen expressed confidence the dispute could be "negotiated at the plant level."

6,500 Workers Out

DETROIT, May 7 (AP)—Dearborn's Mayor Orville L. Hubbard today proposed a meeting of Ford and United Automobile Workers (CIO) officials at his office next Thursday for a "supreme civic effort" to end the strike of 65,000 workers.

Since noon Thursday Ford's great Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn and its Lincoln-Mercury factory in Detroit have been idle.

Meanwhile, resentment of strikers toward management was observed on the picket lines at Rouge.

This followed Ford's announcement yesterday of the firing of 14 men in connection with wildcat strikes which preceded the union's formal walkout Thursday.

Union sound trucks blared out the word of the discharges, and catcalls came from pickets. There was no trouble, however.

Prior to Mayor Hubbard's peace meeting proposal, neither the UAW nor Ford had made any public effort to resume negotiations.

Canadian Girls Not Good Models

TORONTO, May 7 (CP)—Canadian models just haven't got it, says Montreal illustrator Max Sauer.

Here for the Ontario Society of Photographers convention, Sauer elaborated on his ideal model. To have "it" models must be skinny, tall and small-boned. They must be intelligent and have lots of experience.

The 37-year-old native of Niagara Falls, Ont., thinks the best height is about five feet, eight inches and weight 110-115 pounds. The waist must be "infinitesimal" and the legs "very good." Models who are painfully thin in life, photograph like viluptuous beauties, he said.

Sauer has all his models flown from New York for his fashion and magazine illustration because "Canadian girls just haven't got what it takes," he said.

Blonde Mrs. Sauer, formerly June Andrews of Port Arthur, Ont., thinks one of the qualifications for models is that "they mustn't have too much bust." She said it was easy to "supply a deficiency, but it's a hard thing to get rid of."

Car Halted After 180 Feet

When a car and a bicycle collided at the Reid and Charlotte Sts. intersection Friday afternoon, nine-year-old Jimmy Victor 138 Park St. fell from his bicycle but was not badly injured. He escaped no further injury than a score knee and scraped back and was able to go home after being attended by Dr. J. E. Howes.

The motorist was Ernest Anderson, R. R. 1 Millbrook. After the collision, the car continued about 35 feet, striking the rear fender of Dr. H. A. Mitchell's car and then carried on over to the south curb of Charlotte St. a distance of about 90 feet. It went over the curb on to the corner of the lawn of 341 Charlotte St., across the driveway and lawn of 347 Charlotte St., the home of Mrs. Nesbitt and came to rest against the corner of the house, a distance of about 180 feet from the actual scene of the accident.

Constable Harold Mesley, who investigated the incident, thought that Mr. Anderson probably became confused after the boy had fallen from the bicycle. The car's continued course was not attributed to the condition of the car which, the Constable says, had adequate brakes. The car was damaged but the driver was uninjured.

Second Collision

There was a collision between a motorcycle and a bicycle Thursday at Chemong Rd., and Wolsley St. when both drivers were injured, but not seriously. The motorcycle, driven by Jerry Chalmers, 267 McDonnel St., came to rest in a ditch and Mr. Chalmers injured one knee. The cyclist, who was 13 year-old Dick Hamblin, 400 Wellington St., had a badly bruised leg. Both were treated by Dr. Herbert Young.

Two cars collided at the junction of Bethune and Charlotte Sts., Friday afternoon resulting in total damage to both cars of approximately $150, but there were no personal injuries. The cars were driven by W. E. Borland, 499 Bethune St. and Bernard Allan, 465 Bolivar St. Constable W. S. Fife investigated this accident.

There are no sensational newspaper headlines, no press speculation and no public discussion of the subject.

The Jessup-Malik talks, which paved the way for the lifting of the blockade, were not reported here until they had ended. Then a 35-line Tass message from New York, announcing that agreement had been reached between the Soviet Union and the western powers, appeared in the press under an unspectacular headline.

Russians heard the news in an official communique given in a broadcast yesterday.

Newspapers carried a double column official announcement today, but no comments.

The communique said 10,000 Reds attacked in the Kunshan sector 35 miles west of Shanghai. It claimed 1,000 Reds were killed or wounded and several hundred were taken prisoner.

A third attack was reported launched by 5,000 Communist troops at Taichang, 30 miles northwest of Shanghai.

Central News Agency said meanwhile that pilots raiding Manchuria reported meeting two "unknown - type" Communist fighter planes in north China.

("Unknown type" planes might be the agency's way of saying planes of Russian make. The Communists say their planes are American-made flown over by Nationalist deserters.)

Mother O' Mine

Oh, would that dear Mother o' Mine could be
From heaven's rich glory returned to me,
To soften my sadness and pain:
Once more would I gaze in her eyes of blue
And thrill to their light as I used to do,
And bask in her smile once again!
But only in memory, now, shall I know
That gracious young Mother who stirred me so,
When she was my light and guide.
What visions of splendor she dreamed for me
When I were a man of high degree,
To honor me far and wide!
Rejoice, you fortunate ones of earth
Still blest with the Mother who gave you birth,
And hold her close to your heart.
Speak gently, act kindly, and cause her no tears,
Then brighten with love her declining years—
Your crown shall be one apart.
Though happy her years with style debonair,
Or careworn and feeble, with silvered hair,
To heaven we lift our plea:
God bless every Mother, O Lord we pray;
God bless every Mother — not only this day,
But all through the ages to be!

CCL Gives Support To Asbestos Workers

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor Friday expressed "unqualified support for striking Asbestos workers in Quebec and asked its affiliated unions to back the strike financially. A statement issued by CCL headquarters also called on the Quebec Provincial Government to "insist" that demands of the workers be met by employers.

J. Castonguay Bosses Election 15 Hours Daily

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP)—Jules Castonguay is a 68-year-old civil servant who works 15-hours days and bosses the spending of $4,000,000 so Canadians can vote. But he won't be able to vote himself for probably another seven years.

Like Eskimos, Indians, prisoners and judges, the chief electoral officer is disfranchised and the stubby, jolly Mr. Castonguay has been chief electoral officer for 22 years. By law, he'll keep on going until he's 75 unless sickness prevents.

From his headquarters in an Ottawa bank building, Mr. Castonguay masterminds the machine that projects its tentacles into 260 ridings, pours forth mountains of paper, evokes masses of letters and phone calls and telegrams, takes down the names of more than 8,000,000 eligible voters, lets them votes and reveals the parliament of their choosing.

Adance Tip

In the months of siege—he gets the election tip at least 10 days or two weeks in advance—he and three key men work from 9 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Now they have 30 or so helpers working in two shifts and, says Mr. Castonguay, all is going well —just so long as he leaves a clean desk when he trudges out the door each night.

On a special schedule there are 163 different items that have to go out to returning officers, running from 5,000 copies of one item to 20,000,000 of another.

Headaches

As voting day draws nearer, the post office complains that mail bags are too heavily loaded. Planes and boats and dog teams get the necessary documents into remote northern settlements. In back areas, polling divisions turn up where no one is capable of acting as an official; someone has to be sent in from outside. Because this is the great period of vulnerability for the treasury, there must always be an eye to excess spending.

Norwood's Tax Rate Set At 58, Same As In 1948

NORWOOD, May 7— (ENS) — There will be no change in the tax rate for the village of Norwood for the coming year over that of last year, it was decided at a meeting of the Municipal Council this week. The rate will be 58 mills, which is based on an estimated total assessment of $354,240. Last year's rate was based on an assessment of $351,-355.

The tax rate will be split up into its four sections as follows:—country rate, 14.3; village rate, 25.9; public school, 13.8; and high school, 4 mills.

The council decided to budget for a total expenditure of $23,-779.64, an increase of $1,760.96 over the actual amount of money expended in 1948. Major municipal services which the council expects will costs more during the coming year include: High School, $1406.28, as compared to $1048.97; sidewalks, $500, as compared to $311.07; street maintenance, $3600, as compared to $1936.22. Estimated expenditures on direct relief show a drop from $908 to $600 and building maintenance is expected to cost only $400, instead of $645.89. Public school expenditures are estimated to come about the same as last year, when they amounted to $4895.25.

Revenue Lower

The treasurer of the council etimates that total revenue will be slightly less than it was last year, the figures being 1948, $24,-018.77; and 1949, $23,906.46. He estimates that $20,467.46 of the total revenue will be raised through direct taxation.

Des. Shortall, of the Canadian General Electric Company, Toronto, addressed the council with regard to a new type of street lights, of which he displayed two samples, and explained their many advantages. The matter was left in abeyance until a further meeting with the Hydro Commission.

G. A. Brethen addressed the council with regard to work deemed to be necessary on the Fair Ground, and also made a request for a grant for the Fair. It was decided that the council would accept one-third of the responsibility for the work, and that a grant of $100 be made to the Society.

The extra $4,000 for insurance on the rink, authorized at the April meeting, was ordered placed with W. H. Giffen.

Discuss School Cost

A report from the secretary of the Norwood District High School Board estimated the cost of a proposed new school building at $347,000 to be financed by the issue of 20-year debentures. Norwood's share of this amount, together with annual maintenance costs, was estimated at $2,638 per annum. After a careful study of the report, it was accepted and the secretary will be notified accordingly.

An invitation is to be issued to the County Road Commission and their engineer to meet with the Council to discuss proposals in connection with the "Ninth Line" Road from Norwood to Stony Lake.

A by-law to provide for the setting up of a commission to be known as "The Norwood Recreation Commission" was introduced and passed.

V-E Day Anniversary

Four years ago today the war ended in Europe, and the task of the 368,000 Canadians of all ranks, women included, who served in the European Zone was completed, "fighting o'er, victory won". The unreturning are now at peace under English elms, French plane trees and Italian cypress, beside the quiet canal waters of Belgium and Holland, and in other kindly, but more remote places. The returned men and women are now at work in the peacetime world, which seems as difficult but less challenging than the four, five and six years of warfare which until May 7, 1945, was all their world, and ours. There has been no talk this time of "a land fit for heroes". We know Canada to be a good land and to the returned men it has not been unkind. But it is a land, and these are times, which heroes of war together with folk who served at home during the war years cannot take as a haven of leisure, balm for the soul.

Canada is not a place for sluggards, and the children of Adam were not bequeathed in life everlasting ease and unending tranquility.

Capital of Today And Tomorrow

Since the establishment of the Ottawa Improvement Commission in 1899, our capital city has gradually ceased to look like a backwoods Bytown and more and more takes on the appearance of a national capital.

The improvement of Ottawa has been made financially possible through Federal grants. These have increased from $60,000 a year in 1899 to $100,000 in 1909, to $150,000 in 1919, to $250,000 in 1927 when the Federal District Commission superseded the Ottawa Improvement Commission. The annual grant is now $300,000. In addition there have been specific grants like that of three million dollars in 1928 for Confederation Square and the improvement of Elgin Street. The National Capital fund was established during the 1948 session of Parliament, and an initial grant of $2,500,000 has been made. The purpose of this Fund is to provide for the national Capital Plan, of which final details are now being settled. The chief designer is M. Jacques Greber, special adviser to the Federal Government and France's foremost town-planner. An exhibition of the "Capital of Tomorrow", with scale models of buildings, driveways and parks, was recently opened in the centre block of the Parliament buildings.

* * *

An adequate and beautiful capital is a national and not a purely local responsibility, and Canadians everywhere find pleasure and take pride in the improvements already made in their capital city. Few will begrudge the spending of substantial sums of Federal money to make Ottawa worthy of this country. It is to be hoped, however, that citizens of Ottawa and their Council realize that the daily beneficiaries are the people who live there, and that therefore civic co-operation will be wholehearted. Civic Ottawa should pay, and pay gladly, a fair proportion of the costs. As we pointed out yesterday in these columns civic Ottawa though generally co-operative has not always been eager to accept its financial responsibilities for the Council seems overly eager to let the Federal Government foot the bills.

The Federal District Commission, which is responsible for the improvements and for the carrying out of the master plan, consists of ten members, nine appointed by the Governor-in-Council (the Government) the tenth by the City of Ottawa. By custom he has been the Mayor. Hull now has, for the first time, representation on the Commission, its representative being one of the nine government-appointed Commissioners. The F.D.C. now has under its authority twenty-two miles of driveways and nine hundred acres of parks, as well as the care and maintenance of the grounds of Federal buildings. It is virtually a separate branch of the Government.

The Master Plan is great in scope and eventually Ottawa can bea very beautiful capital indeed, as the models on exhibit in the Parliament Buildings show. It will encompass 900 square miles. The plan provides for not only the present city but Hull, Gatineau Park (24,000 acres have been acquired by the Commission) and the banks of the Ottawa and Rideau rivers, of which 567 acres of waterfront on the Ottawa side have already been expropriated.

Because of the difficulties involved in dealing with 27 separate and autonomous communities in both Quebec and Ontario, the new Plan does not call for complete federal control over the Capital District, which is the method in Washington and Canberra.

Retirement of a Humorist

Early in April E. V. Knox retired from the editorship of Punch, which he had held since 1932. He was an admirable editor for such a paper, for he had the knack of getting the best work out of others by gentle and pleasant means; he was also a humorist and wit of a high order, and he excelled in a branch of humorous writing which is virtually unknown in Canada, and little known in the U.S.A.—he was a great writer of comic verse. Comic verse does not mean, of course, jingles or vulgar rhymes; as written by E. V. Knox it was often poetry of a high order, illuminated by the Comic Spirit. He was also an admirable essayist, and a satirist whose work was all the more effective for its deceptive lightness of touch; the lightness was that of the doctor's needle, which gives a slight prick before discharging an unfelt quantity of poison into the blood stream.

Knox was an ideal editor for Punch; we doubt if a popular American magazine—the New Yorker, for example—would have a place for him. His connections were not those which we associate on this side of the water with humour. The son of a clergyman, he was the grandson of a bishop; his first wife was a bishop's daughter and his brother, a convert to the Church of Rome, is the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Ronald Knox. Knox might himself have been a clergyman or a university don without altering his character in any respect. The gentleness and good breeding which distinguish Punch were also personal attributes of its editor.

Although we have written of him in a somewhat elegiac tone, Knox is by no means on the brink of the grave. He is a mere 68, and we hope that his delightful verses, signed "Evoe", will grace the pages of Punch for many years to come.

An Improvement on Hunter Street

We compliment the Peterborough Lock Company on its taste and public spirit in substituting a handsome iron fence for the old board one which used to separate the sidewalk from Jackson Park Creek on the south side of Hunter St. As we have said in these columns many times, the Creek is an amenity which Peterborough should protect and beautify; the Lock Company's new fence makes it possible to see the water from the street, and has substituted some decent railings for an eyesore.

Peterborough owes some of its pleasantest prospects to the industries within its limits. The day has long passed when "factory" meant an unsightly building surrounded by slums and disorder. Many of our factories maintain lawns and gardens which make the city pretty and restful to the eye. If all business premises were as well cared for as are our factories, the appearance of Peterborough could be immeasurably improved.

Diary Of A Hunted Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Found myself this afternoon among a group of people all of whom seemed to be violently Irish, although all were Canadians by birth; they were wrangling about Ireland's new status as a republic. The more they talked the less I understood them, so I wandered toward a bookcase, and found under my hand "The Martins of Cro' Martin" by Charles Lever, my favourite Irish novelist. Skimming the preface I found a reference by Lever to "those who thoroughly understand and appreciate them (the Irish) knowing well the complex web of their intricate natures, and able to discriminate between the real and unreal in their strangely involved characters". I cannot claim to be one of these gifted folk, though I like Irishmen and get along well with them. But their domestic politics are out of my ken.

MONDAY: Made my way to Toronto today to attend the Dominion Drama Festival, and engaged a room in the Big Pub. The whole building, when I arrived, appeared to be in the throes of a convulsion, which turned out to be the Progressive Conservative Convention. In the drug store in the basement I absent-mindedly picked up a child's air rifle which was offered for sale and (not knowing that it was loaded) shot a delegate in the back, just as he was drinking a much-needed bromo-seltzer at the soda counter. It turned out that he was a supporter of Kelso Roberts. By some very pretty footwork I managed to leave the scene of my crime before I was found out, but soon the news was all through the convention that a Roberts man had been shot by an unknown assailant, and immediately the rubbish bins were full of Roberts buttons, and Frost buttons were in heavy demand. My action, I fully believe, cost Mr. Roberts the leadership.... All night long the war drums could be heard beating on every floor of the hotel, and from time to time herds of enthusiasts galloped past my door, baying for "Good Ol' Les", but whether Les Frost or Les Blackwell I could not tell.

TUESDAY: As the Dominion Drama Festival is a national affair, it is bilingual, and today I saw a play in French. When this happens a synopsis of the play is printed for dullards like me, but these synopses are of very little assistance, being written, I suppose, by a Frenchman whose knowledge of English is about on a par with my knowledge of French. They generally run something like this: "Alphamet, the lover of Pheenaminte, is eager to break off his intrigue with Flanelette, ward of the miser Plancnette, whose earlier affair with a woman of the town, Clitore, has been discovered by the wily notary Bidet. To achieve his end he disguises himself as a country cousin, Merde, and seeks the assistance of the maid, Vespasienne, who is in reality the disguised Comtesse de Blancmange. Meanwhile the miser has altered his will, leaving everything to the poet Garotte, whose love for the beautiful Parapluie is made known to her supposed father (but in reality her ward) Derriere, bringing the whole merry business to an end with a sextuple marriage and the birth of the triplets, Un, Deux and Trois".

WEDNESDAY: Saw "The Glass Menagerie" this evening, very well acted, but it did not move me to tears or laughter because, I think, I am temperamentally unsympathetic to such pieces. The plot was about a group of people who were in terrible fixes of one sort or another, with no hope of getting themselves straightened out. Now when I encounter such situations in real life my instinct is to run, for I know that if I remain among such people I shall not be able to help them, and they will only succeed in involving me in their troubles, and dragging me down to their own hopeless level. One of the bitterest realizations which life offers us is the knowledge that there are some people who are doomed, either through ill luck or their own unsatisfactory characters, to be always in trouble; it is necessary to be kind to such people, of course, but it is dangerous to try to straighten them out, for their genius for misfortune is far greater than my genius for assistance. When I see them on the stage I do not have to take a humane attitude toward them, and I reflect that it would have been far better if they had all committed suicide before the curtain went up.

THURSDAY: Much of the excitement of Drama Festivals is caused by the fact that somebody is always in a difficult spot. Every time the curtain goes up on a new performance the whole audience knows that the actors have spent several hours wrestling with an unfamiliar stage, a group of union stage hands whose attitude toward their work is contemplative and mystical, and such disagreeable facts as their own neglect to bring objects which are vital to the play. In this condition of nervous frenzy they appear before the most critical audience in Canada, and it is nothing short of astounding that they give the excellent performances they do. And always, in the front row of the balcony, is the figure of the Adjudicator, like Tiberius watching the Christians wrestling with the lions.

FRIDAY: A beautiful day, and as the Festival audience must [illegible] the theatre I heard several people say that they wished that in fine weather all performances could be given outdoors, I disagree. Outdoor theatres are, except in the most unusual circumstances, unsatisfactory. For one thing, groups of people in costumes, with their faces brilliantly painted, look rather foolish in an outdoor setting; for another, Nature is rather a sordid old girl, and her dirty greenery, her dusty grass, her noisy birds and her sudden changes of temperature are unfriendly to theatrical performances. The theatre is an artificial place, and is better kept in an artificial setting. The worst theatre in the world is the outdoor theatre at Niagara Falls; directly behind the stage one sees this continent's largest waterfall; no actor can be heard above it, and no actor looks like anything but a fretful pygmy in front of it.

SATURDAY: The last day of the Festival, and the day when I and a large group of friends submitted ourselves to the Adjudicator's scalpel. When all was over we returned to the Big Pub, thinking that we would make merry in the quiet, inoffensive way of our kind. But no sooner had we settled ourselves in a room and opened a bottle or two of raspberry vinegar than there came a knock at the door, and a large man with the unmistakeable boots of a detective forced himself upon us. He was the House Dick, and he urged us not to make a noise, although we had not yet had a chance to make any. He even suggested that we disperse, so we pretended to do so, and cunningly slunk off to another room. But lo! we had no sooner settled ourselves again than the House Dick leapt out of a clothes closet, his face contorted with rage, and gave chase again, as we rushed to yet another room. But this time we managed to eat a few ginger cookies and drink some tap water undisturbed.... Why is it, I wonder, that Progressive Conservatives are permitted to turn the Big Pub into a fun fair, when half a dozen innocents from the Drama Festival dare not gather in one room? There is an ugly hint of favouritism about this.

THE RABBITS HE ADOPTED

Models, Beautiful But Dumb

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

IT is unfortunate that attendants with full knowledge of the National Capital Plan are not to be in charge of the "Capital of Tomorrow" models now on exhibit in the centre block of the Parliament buildings. These models are masterpieces of their kind and much time, money and energy have gone into their construction. But standing mute and alone in a centre block corridor, they will be meaningless to 99 per cent. of the people who view them.

The tourist season is just beginning and the National Capital Plan authorities, in leaving the models unattended, are missing a golden opportunity to explain the great project to visitors from all over Canada. Even Ottawa people, or those from other parts of the Capital Area, will have difficulty in grasping the salient features of the Master Plan by an uninformed scrutiny of the beautifully built miniatures.

This latest example of lack of initiative on the part of the Federal District Commission is typical of the indifference to public opinion that the federal planning authorities have shown during the past two or three years. Though the Capital Plan contemplates vast improvements of national import, and is to be financed out of the people's taxes, no real effort has been made by the FDC to acquaint the public with the advantages of the project. On the contrary, information has been doled out in sporadic, piecemeal fashion—and usually with a reluctance that is difficult to understand.

The Capital Plan is being jeopardized by this lack of enterprise in public relations. Unless a different spirit soon develops in this regard the models now on display may ultimately join the model of the first Greber plan of ten years ago, now in the museum of the public Archives building—relic of an unrealized dream. Considering the millions involved, it would cost little to give the execution of the plan a real impetus by having attendants on duty to explain the models to visitors during the hours that the Parliament buildings are open to the public.

The Grand Elector

The astonishing result of the London County Council elections last week recalls memories of the Council's inauguration 60 years ago. Though it was brought into being by a Conservative Government, it was at once captured by the Liberals, under the new name of Progressives, and Lord Rosebery's chairmanship was the decisive influence in his favour when, on Gladstone's retirement four years later, he became Prime Minister.

In the newly-elected Council Sir Percy Harris is the one survivor of that golden age of London Liberalism. For the better part of a generation he has been the chief personal influence in the politics of Bethnal Green. He has represented the south-west division on the County Council for 30 years and in the House of Commons for 23 years; and he headed the poll again last Thursday.

During the exciting last half-hour of the election results on Friday Sir Percy's stock rose dramatically. We saw the lone Liberal on the Council become a sort of Grand Elector who could hold the balance between the two big parties and by his one vote decide every issue between them. At the time, that appeared to be the prospect, and we may hope that nothing will happen to mar the presentation of what would, at any rate, be good theatre.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatick, and sore vexed: for ofttimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water. And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me. And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.

Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out? And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you.

Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting. (Matt. 17: 14-21.)

Letter To The Editor

MR. DAVIS STATES HIS CASE

Sir: I would like to answer a few remarks made by Mr. McWilliams, regarding the sale of gasoline by Hugh Davis of Capitol Taxi.

I wish to point out to Mr. McWilliams, that it was the practice of the Police Department to send all gasoline emergency cases to us, knowing that we had a 24 hour service in our taxi business. So to be sure that Mr. McWilliams or some of his colleagues could not lay a charge against me for selling gasoline without a license, I applied for a license and still cater to gasoline emergency cases and will as long as the department sees fit to issue me this license.

Personally, I am not interested in the sale of gasoline, as I have my own business to live from, but I would like to take this opportunity to point a few things out to Mr. McWilliams and his colleagues.

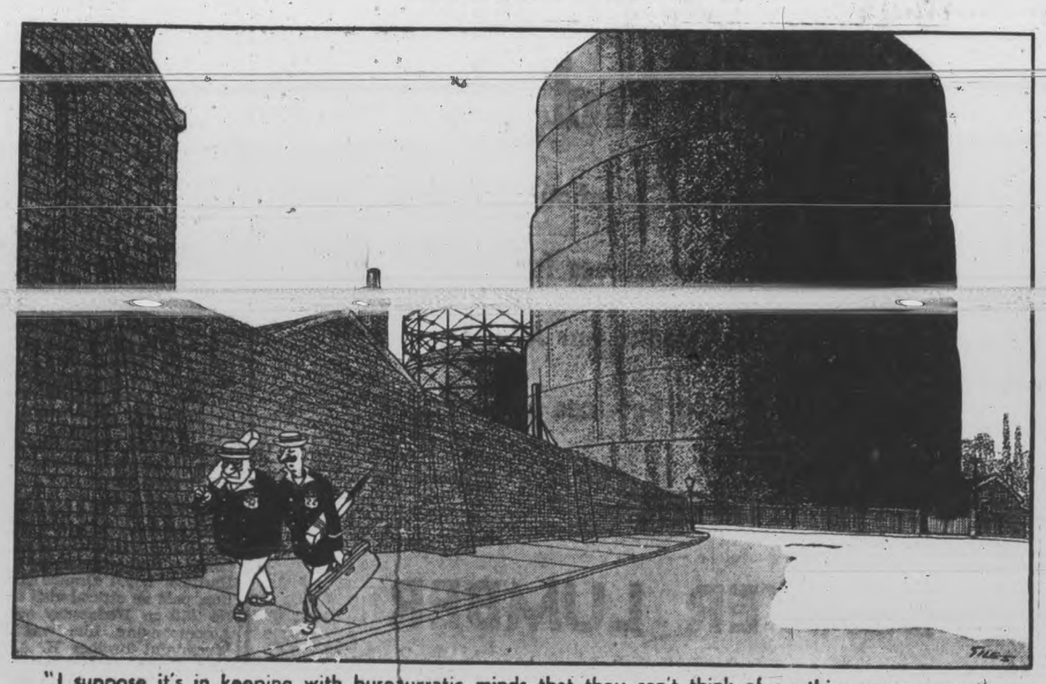
First of all, our fair city spends a lot of money to induce tourists to come to this part of the country and on many occasions, American cars especially, have had to sit on the city streets all night, partly filled with luggage and with two or three small children, due to the fact they could not obtain gasoline to continue on their journey and could not get accommodation at the local hotels. I am sure that the day is not too far away, when Mr. McWilliams and his colleagues will be only too glad to render a 24 hour service in order to continue in business.

What better are the garage operators than the Peterborough Police Department, the Fire Department, doctors and last but not least, taxi operators? They are obliged to give 24 hour service to the public. Do the garage operators feel they are too good to compete with us? If not, why not let Johnny Russelle and his boys render the service that the public desires and not take the dog in the manger attitude?

Yours for a 24 hour gasoline outlet,

HUGH J. DAVIS.

A BRITISH OPINION



"I suppose it's in keeping with bureaucratic minds that they can't think of anything more romantic than a gasworks to nationalise on May Day."

Mrs. Thomas Medd Memoir Discovered; Tale of Pioneer Hardship In Scott Family

(Mr. Scott Medd, recently going through his father's papers—his father was the late S. T. Medd, Peterborough lawyer whose home at the corner of Charlotte and Park Streets has recently become an office for the Provincial Police—discovered the memoir printed below. It was written by his grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Medd, (Mary Scott) the mother of S. T. Medd, the daughter of the second Adam Scott, and the granddaughter of Adam Scott, first white settler in Peterborough and from whom Peterborough had its first name of "Scott's Plains". The memoir tells in a simple direct way a story of pioneer life and hardship, and throws new light on the character of Adam Scott. Mr. Scott Medd, with whose permission the memoir is published, is now resident in England where he pursues his profession of painting. His given name is, of course, the family name of his great-great-grandfather. Pictures and a story about the Scott mill in Cavan appeared on this page several Saturdays ago.)

Reminiscences as I remember them of what I have heard and seen of my father's early life in Canada, and also what I have heard him tell of my Grandfather Scott.

Grandfather Scott was born in Edinborough, Scotland. He, with an only sister, came to America about the year 1812. They settled for a time in Delaware County, New York. My great aunt married one Mr. Thomson there, and became an American citizen. My grandfather then came to Canada with a boy friend of his whose name was Lockhart. They met with and fell in love with two young ladies, daughters of Mr. James Mann, one of the pioneers of Smith Township, County Peterborough (and married them.) My grandfather took up his residence in what is now the City of Peterborough—but was then a wilderness on the shores of the Otonabee River. He was a millwright by trade, and both he and my father had a perfect craze for mills.

He built and owned the first flour mill in that locality, and at one time he owned the tract of land. In fact all that block of land where the old stores of Nicholls and Hall used to stand in Peterborough. My grandfather was a very hospitable man and was never so happy as when sharing his loaf with some of the new people who were constantly arriving from the old country. Grandmother Scott had a large stose oven to bake her bread in, and often when it was baking day she thought she had a nice batch of bread to fall back upon for use, grandfather would give half of it away to some of the fresh arrivals who had not been able to settle their homes and get in touch with surroundings.

I suppose his big heart got the better of him, and he forgot poor grandmother had to bake all the bread, as there were so few of the settlers she would not have the help she would need. It must have been something like settling the northwest only that this was principally a timber country. The early settlers' homes for many years were shanties built of logs and many of them not even plastered just filled in with a preparation of mud mixed to the consistancy of plaster and filled in between the logs.

I remember when I was quite a young girl, I was visiting the home of Mrs. Moore in the Township of Smith. Mrs. Chas. Moore's mother and after telling me all she could think of about my grandfather, she and I drove down to Peterborough and from there down to the edge of the Otonabee River. She showed me the place where the first mill was located and also a small clapboard house with a cottage roof. She told me that it was the first board house ever built in Peterborough, and it was the home of my Grandfather Scott.

My grandmother died from fever, and left six little children. My grandfather felt this bereavement very keenly, my father said, and never ceased to mourn her loss.

My father was the eldest of the family, and was only twelve years of age when his mother died. Grandfather moved to Cavan and he and my father purchased a tract of land with a mill privilege on it. They went to work to clear up their land, but at that time there was no road that teams could travel if they built a mill there. But in order to induce them to build a mill there, and for their own accommodation coming to and from this mill, the neighbours all turned out and cut a road through to the boundary with my father's help and made what they called a corduroy road by cutting down large cedar trees and placing them side by side till their road was completed out to the boundary between Cavan and Monaghan. And then they started to build their mills.

They built a saw mill first and than a grist mill, but first of all a house to live in, where he lived with his father and sisters and brothers for several years, before he married. He had three sisters and two brothers, all of whom married and settled, some in Smith and some in Otonabee. I made a mistake about his eldest sister, who did not marry, but died young.

ON THE PHRASE, "TO KILL TIME"

There's scarce a point
whereon mankind agree
So well, as in their boast of killing me:
I boast of nothing, but,
when I've a mind,
I think I can be even with mankind.

from Voltaire

About the year 1840, he met Miss Elizabeth Holmes and they were married in that year. He took his bride to live at what was then known as Scott's Mills, and was their home for about 15 years after. Mr. George Needler's father bought this property from my father, and we moved further west. My father was very sorry to have to leave Cavan. He had spent most of his boyhood life there and made many good friends, but he had to do so on account of my mother's health.

She had hard luck with her children. Her eldest son was only an infant when he died. When he was taken ill the doctor was brought, but in those days there was too much liquor in the country, and on the way the doctor had imbibed too freely. He gave the wrong medicine to the babe and it died a few hours afterwards.

My second brother lived to be four year old and was in the habit of going across the water to visit my aunt, who lived on the other side and my mother thought he was over there when the sawyer came up to the house and asked for my brother. Mother at once got alarmed and said "Why do you ask"?. He did not reply at once, but when mother asked him again, he said his hat was floating in the floom. And mother said "If his hat is there, he is not far from it." And they both started out to look for him.

The man ran down and raised the waste gates, and left off the water out of the floom. There was a rack in the end of the floom like a gate made of slats to keep any pieces of bark or any obtruction from getting into the big water wheel, and they found him standing there with his hands clasped around this gate, and he was quite dead.

Poor mother could not believe it. She said he had not been out of her sight more than half and hour, and she would not believe that he was dead. She bathed and worked with him, hoping to revive him, but she was too late, she said. And now she had only one child left at that time, a son also. I was born shortly after, her first daughter.

About this time my father contracted a very bad cold and it settled in his chest and ended up with an attack of inflamation of the lungs, and nearly cost him his life. He was given up by two doctors when mother called in Doctor Deyell, who was considered the best M. D. in the country. Mother was crying and the doctor bade her keep courage, and he would try to save him. Doctor Deyell mixed up some preparation. He said he had not much to work on, but he would do what he could, and perhaps God would put a blessing on it, and He did, but it took my father nearly half a year to regain his strength.

To make matters worse mother collapsed, and went down with the fever, and while she was in bed my brother was allowed to play outside as much as he liked, and he, with some boy friends were sleigh riding down the hill at back of mills. He ran up against a stump with such force that he fractured his skull and only lived for four days. He was nine years old when he died.

This last misfortune nearly cost my mother her life, and my father decided to leave Cavan and move to Manvers and began hoping that a change of scene would help my mother to forget her troubles.

He was one of the bravest men I ever knew, and the most patient and most ambitious, but a man who had all sorts of hard luck. I told you a little of his early life in Cavan, and now, as well as I can remember, I will tell you some, not all, of the ups and downs of his life in Manvers.

He bought a hundred and seventy five acres of land covered with timber, with water privilege on it. He first built a house to live in, and then went to work with a gang of men to build two dams on this water privilege. One dam 15 feet high for a grist mill, and a second dam lower down on which he built a saw mill later on, and then he built a carding mill and then an oatmeal mill on the same water power. A most unfortunate arrangement for him for through the carelessness of a drunken oatmeal miller, the whole three mills were destroyed by fire, and the insurance had expired three days before, so that it was a total loss to my father of a thousand dollars.

This second Adam Scott, the father of the author of this Reminiscence, is buried in the cemetary of the Presbyterian Church at Centerville, which is 13 miles south west of Peterborough.

Curve Lake Scouts, Guides Land's Largest Indian Group

By HAZEL PAULL.

When the Indian children at Curve Lake saw a Boy Scout troop camping near the reserve last summer they wanted to know why they could not have fun the same way. They began to ask their school teacher, Miss Gwendoline Record, to tell them about the Scouts. After hearing the story of the world-wide movement of boys and girls, they decided they would like to form a group. Today, only seven months later, they have the largest group of Indians Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies in Ontario.

There are 45 Indian youngsters at Curve Lake who are now enjoying the same scouting and guide activities as thousands of children their own age. Dressed in the same blue uniforms and brown for the Brownies—as all other children in the movement, they have been spending the winter months working for their second class badges, the first award which must be attained before they can win badges for the many pursuits which are the essential part of Scouting and Guiding.

Although only a young group, the leaders are all members of the Indian community. Dalton Jacobs is the Scout Leader and Victor Johnson, assistant. The Cubs are led by James Coppaway. The Guide Captain is Mrs. Elsie Knott and the Lieutenant, Mrs. Hazel McCure. Mrs. Aileen Irons is Brown Owl.

The Brownies already have two sixes, the Elves and Fairies and all have passed their first tests and are awaiting arrival of the badges, with the exception of one, who is a newcomer.

The Cub pack consists of the Grey Wolves and Yellow Wolves and the Guides are Bluebirds and Canaries.

Tracking, camping, semaphore, first aid and handicrafts are all popular activities. Although much of their time is spent out of doors the young people are finding there is still a great deal about nature study which they can learn from Scout and Guide teaching. For the first time in their lives, these youngsters are spending their leisure time in the pursuit of knowledge of many aspects of life, together as an organised group.

In small groups they go out camping at weekends and a number of the older ones are planning summer camping holidays. Summer will also, no doubt, see the attainment of swimming and athletic badges.

Quill work, splint baskets, moccasins and buckskin jackets are handicrafts in which the Indians excel and during the winter they have been having tuition outside school hours.

Formation of the Indian group presented many problems at first but none has proved insurmountable. The greatest handicap was, perhaps, that Miss Record was the only person familiar with the Scout and Guide movement. She has trained the leaders and now acts purely in a supervisory capacity over the entire group. When she leaves the reserve in the summer, to return to university, there will be several leaders to carry on, Miss Record has done the necessary foundation work.

Obtaining uniforms for all the children was another difficulty which it appeared would not be easily overcome. The Indians would have found this too costly an item but for the generosity of other companies. The 108th Guide Company in Toronto provided nine Guide uniforms and Mr. Irons, husband of Brown Owl, made a Toadstool for the Brownies.

Miss Record will leave the reserve this summer somewhat reluctantly although her continued training at Toronto University will enable her to do more of the work she loves. Life among the country native people holds greater interests for her than the more "comfortable" city life. She is planning to work among the Eskimos after completing her studies.

For three years Miss Record served in the Women's Division of the RCAF. She is a graduate of Peterborough Normal School.

The new 200-inch Mt. Palomar, Calif., telescope, the largest stargazer ever built by man, has photographed newly-discovered immense star worlds at an incredible distance from our earth. Some stars are shown to be six thousand billion billion miles distant, perhaps on the outer reaches of the universe.

Several pages of the first pictures taken with the giant 500-ton steel and glass telescope, are published for the first time in the current issue of Collier's magazine, which reports that the Mt. Palomar astronomers hope to penetrate "the utmost depths of space" and to find conclusive scientific answers to countless riddles about the universe.

One such speculative question is whether the universe is "exploding" or "flying apart." This theory was suggested by Astronomer Edwin P. Hubble's work with the 100-inch Mt. Wilson telescope, the world's largest until [illegible] was completed last year.

The first picture ever taken by the new giant telescope shows a gas cloud in a field of remote stars. The light from the gas cloud, travelling at a speed of 186,000 miles per second, started earthward about 1500 B.C.

Two other photographs, one taken by the Mt. Wilson telescope and the other by Mt. Palomar, cover the same area of the sky and show that the new telescope, with its added depth-of-vision, picked up and photographed the light from three or four times as many galaxies as the smaller telescope.

One group of pictures demonstrates the way in which Mt. Palomar astronomers are using the 48-inch Schmidt camera, which photographs an extremely wide range of stars up to 300,000,000 light years away, only one-third as far as the 200-inch telescope itself penetrates.

Using the Schmidt cameras, the astronomers photograph a wide area of the sky. This is enlarged and studied until the astronomers find a "window" in the sky, where the light from distant bodies is not obscured by mysterious gas or dust clouds. This window" area is further enlarged, and if another "window" is discovered in the enlarged picture, it is enlarged again.

A second enlargement of a second "window" area in one Schmidt photograph reveals a "galaxy as vast as our Milky Way."

"This (galaxy) is an important discovery, one that was anticipated but never before made because no telescope could take in as large a field as the Schmidt However startling, these are only preliminary steps The 200-inch has not got to work on this patch of the universe yet."

"The Palomar giant has such concentrated power that it can photograph a patch of the sky no bigger than the head of a pin seen at arm's length."

Dr. Hubble is said to believe that, with the 200-inch telescope, photographs may be taken that will prove or disprove "the fascinating controversy about the canals on Mars." But it will be at least five years before the question can be decided "because Mars will not be in a good position for a careful look until 1954."

Are there other earths outside? Do some stars have planets, just as our own sun? And do men live on them, perhaps with telescopes that are searching for us?

"We shall probably never know, for the light reflected from a microscopic planet deep in the sky is so faint that no telescope could possibly pick it up.... For the present we have to be content with one faint fact: Among the billions of billions of stars in the universe, the law of averages insists there must be something like our solar system somewhere."

Spanish Proverb: "An ounce of mother is worth a ton of priest."

Yiddish Proverb: "God could not be everywhere, so He made mothers."

Moroccan Proverb: "In the eyes of its mother every beetle is a gazelle."

English Proverb: (John Ray) "A child may have too much of his mother's blessing." Another, quoted by Frederick Marryat, is "Like mother, like child."

Outlandish Proverb: (George Herbert) "He that wipes the child's nose kisseth the mother's cheek."

Two English epigrammatists have given these to the language: John Ray:

"Where yet was found a mother
Who'd give her booby for another?"

Thomas Fuller: "Mothers' darlings make but milksop heroes."

Guelph Battler Seeks Title In Halifax Bout

HALIFAX, May 7 — (CP). — A lethal-poking battler from Guelph, handicapped by a bad eye, will attempt to wrest the Canadian middleweight boxing title from George Ross here tonight.

Challenger Pete Zaduk popped out of nowhere into the No. 1 contender spot last fall at Glace Bay, NS, in the second round of a non-title 10-round scrap. Zaduk floored Ross for a nine-count with a right and claimed he was "robbed" in getting a draw.

It was only the third time the West Bay Road, NS, farm boy had been knocked down in his three years of pro fighting. Ross has had 36 fights without a loss.

To-night's 12-rounder has all the makings of a thriller. Victory means a lot to either one, particularly to Ross. Besides avenging the only mark on his unblemished record, he would bolster his confidence for a proposed 12-round title defence against the man who stopped Zaduk in six rounds.

To Meet Greco?

If he comes through in good condition, Ross has been offered $5,000 to meet Johnny Greco, the Canadian welterweight champ, at Montreal on May 16.

Ross, expected to weigh 154, three pounds less than Zaduk, likely will be a 6-5 favorite.

A capacity crowd of more than 6,000 is expected to pay a gross gate of $12,000—a Maritime high. Ros will get $2,500 or 30 per cent of the gate for the second defence of the title he won here las July from aging Len Wadsworth of Hamilton, Zaduk will get $2,000 or 20 per cent.

Policemen will be after the bus drivers shortly and firemen soon will be turning the hose on Kingan's Hardware—all in a manner of speaking, of course. Opening of the Civic Softball League is slated for May 18, a week next Wednesday, with these clubs aboard: Bus Drivers, Firemen, Police, Duffus, Hughes, Grant & Loucks, Farm Co-Op, Bell Telephone and Armour Field. Schedule goes till around August the middle, followed by playoffs. While the softball served up may not be as streamlined as the OASA-affiliated City Loop, some keen competition is seen in the Civic Circuit.

* * * * * *

Several delegates will go from here Sunday to Belleville for the Central Ontario Baseball League meeting. Schedule will be drawn up then after several wrinkles are ironed out. Applications for entry from Brockville and Smiths Falls to be dealt with first, though it is thought they will be taken in and a two-section loop operated, possibly with an interlocking schedule. Kingston, Batawa, Oshawa and the Petes are the other entries, with some talk of two Kingston clubs. One should suffice to field a good team as the loop will be stronger this season. Looks like Napanee and Belleville won't come in. Can't understand a city like Belleville, with a lighted ball park, having a diamond eclipse.

* * * * * *

Getting The Lowdown

All prospective players from peewee to junior in the City Baseball League are to register at 6.30 Monday night, giving names and ages to league officials who will be present. This is to give the executive a picture of how many players and teams are available, and such info is required before the next meeting on Thursday p.m. at seven in the "Y". Northenders register at the Oval, the East City bunch go to Riverside, central and westenders check at Prince of Wales, and the southenders go to Morrow Park. Equipment out from last season must be turned in at Civic Arena from 6.30 to 8.00 Monday evening, when held certificates will be returned. Be sure and register, boys.

* * * * * *

A number of parks are to be checked for minor baseball right away. Probably only senior and junior games will be played in Riverside, so several more spots are required for the juves, midgets, bantams and peewees. Armar Butcher of the parks department is chairman of the committee looking after this, and probably the diamonds selected will be graded properly ere the season opens. Mayor Max Swanston and Ald. Hurrell Dodds attended the last league meeting, and it is expected that the city fathers will do what they can to encourage this minor setup. Recreation commission is to be asked for a grant, too.

* * * * * *

Fans Have Duty, Too

Following the rhubarb which saw Leo Durocher of the Giants suspended for allegedly roughing up a ball fan and his re-instatement, Commissioner A. B. Chandler advised the Giants' president he was to police the Polo Grounds better, and he had every right to eject obscene hecklers without warning. He emphasized that he didn't seek a parlor atmosphere in ball parks and he was quite in favor of lots of rooting by fans, but he felt that there was a limit, too, to how far fans should go. "If permitted to grow," he said, "conditions, which have developed in certain places, could lead to rioting." The N.Y. prexy admitted that he had temporized too long with rowdies operating in the Giants' park.

* * * * * *

We just mention this to remind fans that paying their way in doesn't give them the right to abuse players or anyone else in a profane manner, or to interfere physically with the game in any way. The vast majority of sports' followers know this, of course, but a few rowdies can touch things off at times. Fans are supposed to sit in their seats during a game and yell all they want to, so long as profanity or obscene abuse is avoided, and let the players and officials fight it out when the going gets hot. We've never had the slightest sympathy when a fan left his seat to get into a brawl and wound up on the business end of a player's fist. By the same token, players must not abuse fans, physically or verbally, who remain in the seats for which they paid. That's just common sense.

Graziano Gets Reinstatement

NEW YORK, May 7 — (AP)— A chastened Rocky Graziano is back in the good graces of the New York State Athletic Commission. The former middleweight champion, who had his New York licence revoked in February, 1947, for failure to report an alleged bribe offer, was unexpectedly reinstated by the Commission yesterday.

Thus Rocky, who was boxing's "Golden Boy" in 1945 when he drew several $100,000 gates at Madison Square Garden with a string of knockouts, is eligible to fight again in the ring where he rose to prominence. With the possible exception of Illinois, where he has been barred since September 29, 1947, on an order prohibiting the appearance of "dishonorably discharged" servicemen, Graziano probably now will receive a licence wherever he applies.

Sain And Spahn Back In Stride As Pitchers

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn, Boston Braves' two-man pitching staff, are back in business as a winning combination.

Last year, manager Billy Southworth's success formula was the familiar "Sain, Spahn and rain." It may be the same story all over again.

After a shaky start in which both Sain and Spahn, his left-handed partner, failed to win their first two outings, the boys are back in stride.

Spahn twirled a fine four-hitter against Cincinnati Reds Friday night to win his third straight. The 6-1 decision cemented the Braves' hold on the National League lead.

Spahn had a shutout going until the ninth when Hank Sauer belted his third homer of the season.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Reds of their eastern trip.

Johnny Schmitz' old hex on Brooklyn Dodgers held good as he ruined their home night opening before 30,041 fans with a 4-2 Chicago win. The classy southpaw defeated the Brooks six times last season.

Montee Kennedy of the New York Giants turned in a fine workmanlike effort against St. Louis Cards as the Giants hung up their first shutout victory 3-0. Johnny Mize helped topple Jim Hearn with a two-run homer in the sixth inning. It was his fourth of the year and second in two days.

Gets Home

Russ Meyer of Philadelphia Phillies got home against the stumbling Pirates 4-3 on the strength of an early Phil barrage against Elmer Riddle. The Phils chased Elmer with four runs in the first three innings. A double by Eddie Miller and a triple by Bill Nicholson were the big blows.

Hero of the day in the American League was Bobby Shantz, the half pint rookie of the Philadelphia Athletics staff. Connie Mack sent him to Buffalo Monday and recalled him Tuesday when he found himself short staffed because of injuries.

Shantz took over in the fourth as relief for Carl Schieb. He pitched no-hit, no-run ball for nine relief innings. He allowed only two-hits in his full 10 inning stint for a 5-4 decision over Detroit in the 13th.

The New York Yankees' victory parade was halted by an old teammate, Bill Wright, the southpaw who went to Chicago in February, 1948, in the Eddie Lopat deal. Wight worked a seven-hitter to snap the Yanks' streak at three games.

Washington's Senators, outclubbed St. Louis Browns 8-7. It was the seventh successive loss for the Brownies and the fourth straight triumph for Joe Kuhel's Senators on their first western swing. Paul Calvert, the Montreal fireballer, won his third game against two losses.

WINS TOURNAMENT

At London, Max Faulkner, whose father bought a golf course for him last year, won the Dunlop professional tournament Friday with a 72-hole total of 287 strokes. Leading by three strokes after 54 holes, he carded a safe 74 in the fourth round on the 6,701-yard Wentworth course to land the £350 ($1,400) first prize.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The case of the Brooklyn baseball fan vs. Leo Durocher collapsed completely Friday.

The fan's lawyer, Benjamin H. Chasin, announced he would seek court permission Monday to withdraw a simple assault summons against the manager of the New York Giants.

Chasin obtained the summons last Monday on behalf of Fred Boysen, 22-year-old Puerto Rican, who charged Durocher assaulted him following a Giant-Dodger game at the Polo Grounds April 28.

Durocher was suspended by baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler but an investigation cleared the Giants' manager and suspension was lifted.

Toronto Central YMCA Friday night trounced Winnipeg Light Infantry 65-47 to win their best-of-three series for the Canadian Junior Basketball championship in two straight games.

The Toronto team dominated the passing and shooting play throughout. Its marksmen seemed to find all the holes they missed in the Winnipeg defence last night when they took a hard-fought 43-41 decision over the westerners.

At Cleveland, Walter Drop, powerful rookie first baseman, Friday was optioned to Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League by Boston Red Sox. Drop played first base for the Sox through spring training and the first two weeks of the season. He was benched for light hitting last Sunday in New York and Billy Goodman was assigned to first base.

Citirad Benacek, the Czechoslovak basketball player who has been missing from Genoa since Monday, turned up Friday in the displaced persons camp of the international refugees organization at Gagnoli, near Naples. Benacek said he preferred not to return to his country "for many reasons." He said he was a student of agriculture and wanted to live and work in Italy.

From Mexico City comes word that Mexico may have to forfeit its prospective Davis Cup match against Australia because it cannot afford to send its four-man team to Canada as a result of the reduced value of the peso. If Mexico defeats Cuba in the first round of the Davis Cup, and Australia defeats Canada, Montreal is slated to be the scene of the Mexico-Australia match.

A six-under-par 64 carded beneath a blazing sun sent Dr. Cary Middlecoff six strokes ahead of the field Friday at the half-way mark of the $10,000 Greenbrier open at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. The sensational round by the slender Memphis, Tenn., dentist came on top of a brilliant 66 Thursday and left him with a 10-under-par 130 after 36 holes.

Revue Closes, Backer Loses $418,000

By Pat USSHER

NEW YORK, May 7 —(CP)— Broadway's biggest angel threw in the towel this week.

Anthony B. Farrell, millionaire backer of the revue "All For Love," announced that the production, which has been running since January at a steady loss, will close this Saturday.

"All For Love" cost $208,000 to produce. Its losses since it opened at the Mark Hellinger Theatre Jan. 22 are estimated at more than $210,000, making the total bite out of Farrell's pocket at least $418,000.

The production was panned by New York critics and despite extensive revision of the script since the opening it failed to pay its way in any week.

Farrell purchased the Mark Hellinger Theatre at an estimated cost of $1,300,000 to provide a show case for "All For Love."

Owner of a cable company and heir to a traction and utilities fortune, Farrell made his debut as a Broadway "angel" last season with a musical called "Hold It!" that venture cost him $300,000.

Medea Revived

Judith Anderson's outstanding performance in the title role of Robinson Jeffers' adapation of Euripides' "Medea" was welcomed back to Broadway for another two-week engagement.

Miss Anderson now has played the part more than 500 times since the play first appeared on Broadway. The Australian-born actress of immeasurable talents is brilliant in the ancient drama.

"Medea" is the story of the tearful sorceress who employed her knowledge of magic and poisons to break a terrible vengeance on her former husband, Jason.

It is a most exhausting role, both physically and artistically, but Miss Anderson carries it through to the triumph demanded—but seldom received—by Greek classical tragedy.

ATKINS TO TRY IT—Lew Reynheer, the erstwhile Masked Marvel, has been signed to meet British Empire Champion Fred Atkins, pictured above, in the main bout in the Brock Arena next Wednesday night. Atkins is the only man to defeat the Unmasked Marvel here and even then the big Australian only gained his win by the disqualification route. Since that night both Reynheer and Atkins have expressed willingness to meet again as each feels he has something to repay the other. There will be no time limit for this match and the two big husky matmen should make a really furious battle before a winner is declared.

Pat Flanagan who has been going great guns in Toronto and Detroit lately gets the acid test when he meets Wee Willie Davis in the semi-final. In the third bout Frank Valois comes in to meet Big Ben Morgan.

Monte Irvin Hits Three Homers At Rochesfer

By the Associated Press.

Monte Irvin set the Cuban League on fire last winter with his home-run hitting, Friday night at Rochester he showed why.

The 28-year-old Negro, now playing with Jersey City Giants, came up in the first inning and hit one over the right field fence. When he came up in the sixth inning he poled one over the centre-field fence. And when he took his last turn at bat in the eighth inning he hit one over the left field fence.

That made it four for the season. He's well up among the leaders in hitting with a .386 average. His slugging Friday night helped the Little Giants to a 9-2 victory which strengthened their hold on first place.

Toronto edged Newark 4-3 and Buffalo whipped Syracuse 14-4 in other games Baltimore and Montreal will play at a later date.

CAHA Orders 5th Allan Cup Game To Be Played On Otttawa Ice

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP)—They gave the Allan Cup final back to the players tonight—for a little while at least.

The executives who've been doing all the talking for most of the week take a back seat while Regina Capitals and Ottawa Senators fight it out in the fifth game for the Canadian Senior Hockey championship.

A decision by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association executive Friday settled—for the time being—the thorny question of where the game will be played. The executive ordered the fifth game here and any more games in Montreal.

Hold 3-1 Lead

Senators hold a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

If Regina comes through tonight—and there's plenty of 3 to 1 money in Ottawa that says they won't—the squabble over rinks may start all over again.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Thursday ordered Senators to finish the series in Ottawa and "not to play elsewhere." President Azarie Choquet had nothing to say Friday night when told of the CAHA decision.

Manager Tommy Gorman of the Senators said he'll obey instructions "issued by the QAHA, officials of that organization having been advised of the CAHA ruling."

Settled Tonight?

But he added he thinks Senators will settle everything by winning tonight.

Resting for the game in Toronto, Caps said through manager Cliff Ehrle that they're happy with the CAHA ruling.

The Ottawa rink—egg-shaped they call it—started the trouble. Caps were thrown for a loss by the unusual shape and dropped the first three games.

Their difficulty has been shared with plenty of other teams during the season—Senators have dropped only five of their 43 games on home ice this year.

Reach Impasse

After the third game Ehrle asked the CAHA to change the venue and Caps walloped Senators 6-3 in Toronto. His club stayed there, claiming that's where they were going to play the rest of the series. Senators came home and said they were going to play in Ottawa.

The heat might have had something to do with the general testiness. With temperatures setting new records for May all across Ontario, more people are thinking of a week-end at the beach than a night at the hockey game.

But just the same, fans have snapped up all available reserved seats for the game.

14 Line Up At Post In Kentucky Derby

By JOHN CHANDLER.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 7 (AP)—Fourteen three-year-old colts have the biggest date of their frisky young lives today—an engagement with the starter in the 57th running of the great Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

It is the biggest field since Assault beat 16 others for the big jackpot in 1946.

Most people think 13 of them will be having a good stern view of the favored Olympia and Jockey Eddie Arcaro at the finish of the 1¼ - mile gallop.

The Fred Hooper star has copped five straight since he dropped a decision to old Rockport in the Santa Anita Derby Feb. 19. Olympia is in top form, as he demonstrated in winning the one-mile derby trial here Tuesday in a front-running breeze.

Still, 13 rivals think enough of their chances to risk $1,000—the starting fee—on a long chance to drag down the winner's share of $91,600. With 14 starters, the race would gross $119,650.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Durable Tony Canzoneri, twice world lightweight boxing champion, got the worst beating of his career 12 years ago tonight at the hands of the reigning champion Lou Ambers of New York. A crowd of 11,000 watched the veteran Canzoneri waver through 15 rounds with his former sparring partner, winning only two and keeping one even.

License Not Guarantee Of Honesty Or Efficiency

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It is always safe to speak against sin theoretically, or in general terms. Everybody—like the minister whose sermon President Coolidge laconically reported—is "against it."

It is only when one gets down to personalities and cases, when one says, "Thou art the man," or "That action was diabolical," that sinners get nasty and strike back.

In the vigorous denunciations of sin during His last days, Jesus got down to both personalities and cases. When He spoke of hypocrisy He named the Scribes and Pharisees, the official representatives and estblished 'authorities" of religion; and He attacked their specific acts of hypocrisy and evil-doing. If there were devout and earnest Scribes and Pharisees, as there undoubtedly were, who had never devoured widows' houses, or done the things that Jesus denounced, they had no reason to take His charges to themselves. But there were plenty to whom His words applied.

"He taught them as one having authority, and not as their Scribes." Those words mark a strange fact and a striking contrast. The Scribes were officially and ostensibly the respository of authority, the interpreters of the law; yet here was a young man from a hill town, unimportant Nazareth, neither a Scribe, nor a priest, with no official standing, presuming to teach, and finding a response in the people who heard Him glady.

It was no wonder that they said, "By what authority does Thou these things? And who gave Thee this authority?" It is the way in which official authority has always challenged the unofficial teacher, prophet, and doer and to a certain extent the challenge is justified. It would be a dangerous and preposterous situation if we had no standards for those who teach in our schools, or who practice medicine in our communities, or even for those who preach in our pulpits.

But a license, and an evidence of authority, do not guarantee either honesty or efficiency in those who possess them. We well know that there are incompetent teachers and even some surgeons.

Authority has its true validity in the power actually to be and to do what the authority authorizes. In a world of necessary standards it would be preposterous if an Edison could not give the world his work because he did not happen to be a professor of physics, or if a D. L. Moody could not do his great work of evangelism because no ordaining hands of bishops, or of council, had been laid upon him.

The mistake that the Scribes made was two-fold: first, in not being and doing what by their claim of authority they professed to be and do; and second, in their failure to judge Jesus by what He was and did.

There was one Pharisee who knew better. When Nicodemus came to Jesus he said, "Master we know that Thou art a teacher come from God; for no man can do these miracles that Thou doest: except God be with him."

A world of "authority" needs more men of the spirit of Nicodemus.

Naming Foote Meets With Mixed Feelings

Some Peterborough clergymen who have disagreed with the Provincial Government's liquor policies, have welcomed the appointment of the Rev. John W. Foote V. C. members for Durham and a Presbyterian minister, as vice chairman of the Liquor Control Board. Others received news of the appointment unfavorably.

"Mr. Foote criticised the Government early in the last session of the Legislature" the Rev. Dr. James Semple, George St. United Church told the Examiner. "Any man who is courageous enough to do what he did at Dieppe during the war and to win the V. C., will have the courage of his convictions to say what he thinks ought to be done in this matter". Dr. Semple declared when asked to express his opinion on the appointment.

Mr. Foote won the V. C. at Dieppe while serving as an Army Chaplain.

Dr. Bruce Gordon, Trinity United Church, claimed there was only one consistent veiwpoint for all clergymen on the liquor question.

"The matter is so bound up by pressure of big business that the political parties have been unable to free themselves from its influence—How can one person do it?" Dr. Gordon asks.

The Rev. M. J. Aiken, St. Andrew's United Church and president of the Ontario Temperance Board, told the Examiner that he thought this would be a helpful appointment. Mr. Foote had said in the Legislature that if he had his way there would be no beverage rooms at all. In view of this attitude, Mr. Aiken felt that the appointment was a step in the right direction.

Referring to the appointment Mr. Aiken said, "we might infer that the present Government has looked into the matter and come to the conclusion that this temperance problem is something about which action must be taken."

The Rev C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church would voice no opinion when asked by the Examiner. "It is very interesting, but leave me out of it." was Mr. Boyd's friendly, but firm reply.

The Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church "did not re-act favourably" to the appointment. "I am not a dry man" he said and to allow a man a drink when he wanted it was the philosophy of his church. He felt there would be some bias as a result of the appointment.

Express Strong Opposition To Beer Licenses For Three Summer Hotels

The application af Ava Lodge Hotel Limited, Fee's Landing at the south end of Pigeon Lake, for permission to sell beer, was opposed by deputations and petitions from Emily township and the village of Omemee at the sitting of the Ontario Licensing Board in the city council chamber here Friday.

The presiding chairman of the board is W. T. Robb, with W. T. Nugent as vice-chairman, and J. F. White; and R. A. Gaskin, secretary.

Similar opposition to the granting of a license to Mr. Don Tanner of Ohio Lodge, Paudash Lake, was presented by a large deputation from Cardiff township and the village of Bancroft in Hastings county.

Six church congregations in the Bancroft-Paudash Lake area were represented in the opposing group of 50 men and women which also included some of the owners of summer cottages in the vicinity of Ohio Lodge. The Board reserved its decision in the various cases that were heard on Friday.

The granting of licenses for the sale of beer to men or to both men and women at Ohio Lodge, said W. H. C. Seeley of Toronto, owner for years of summer cottage in that sector of Paudash Lake, would depreciate the value and also the use of the many cottages of the neighborhood.

Depreciate Property

"It would be manifestly unfair because it would result in the financial appreciation of the holder of the license at the Lodge, and would depreciate the value of the cottage and other properties of the area," Mr. Seeley said.

Granting that Mr. Tanner could control the conduct of people at the Lodge, Mr. Seeley said, he had no control over them after they left its premises, and were likely to become a nuisance to the summer cottagers.

"There is no doubt that it would destroy the quiet and privacy that one expects at a summer place, and which we have had. The lake front would be ruined by the beverage room," Mr. Seeley said. "It would be a travesty of Canadian justice and disregard for our property rights."

Church representatives who spoke to the Board included Rev. Roy MacEachern of Bancroft United Church, Rev. W. Stevenson, Mrs. Robert Stringer, Simon Brownson and others.

Bancroft was opposed to the application because the village was only ten miles from Paudash Lake, Rev. Mr. MacEachern said The village itself was dry, and the impression of the Paudash Lake opponents to the application was to the effect that the township was a dry area. That was an opinion assumed from the fact that it had long been unquestioned.

The six churches represented by men and women of their congregations were all within an area of ten miles from Ohio Lodge. Their concern was for the

Burleigh Nurse Serving With U.S. Army

The old adage to "Join the Navy and see the world" has nothing on the modern army. And even members of the fair sex attached to Army units see their fair share of the world.

Proof of this is seen in the instance of Captain Adeline Spence formerly of Peterborough county, who is now stationed as a nurse with the 57th Field Hospital of the United States Army stationed at Salzburg, Austria.

Born in Burleigh township in Peterborough county, Captain Spence attended Lakefield high school and later trained as a nurse at Hamilton General Hospital. Following graduation she worked at Albany, N.Y., and later at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City.

With the entry of the United States into the war Captain Spence offered her services, beginning her army service in 1943 at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

When the Americans carried the war into the Pacific Captain Spence went along and saw service in New Guinea, in the Philippines and after the cessation of hostilities was stationed for a time in Japan. She has been stationed at Salzburg in Austria since October, 1948.

Captain Spence is expected to return to America in July of this year.

Tories Call Convention

A convention of the Peterborough Progressive - Conservative Association will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, May 10th, for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the Federal Election called for June 27. It is expected that Gordon K. Fraser, member of last two parliaments will be renominated.

The speaker, who is expected to speak on Health and Housing, will be Donald Fleming, K. C., former member of Eglington. Mr. Fleming is member of the Senate of the University of Toronto, president of North Toronto YMCA and was former member of the Toronto Board of Education in 1938. Other speakers will be Charles Stephenson of Port Hope, former member for Durham, Major Earle Drope, former member for Northumberland and the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Ontario's Minister of Lands and Forests.

Lack Of Snow Curtailed Club

Lack of snow this past winter spelt failure in most departments of the Peterborough Ski Club when reports were read at the annual meeting of the club Friday night in the YMCA. But the gloom of the past winter passed as the club members spoke of plans for next year.

Three hard working members of the executive of the club were lost this year as Shirley Mortimer, Mollie Craig and Otto Laderach, who have served three years, were prevented from running for office by the rules of the club.

The new executive which was elected consists of Myles Allison, Tad Ashby Geo. Cook, Mary Dodds Rod Reid, Toby Westbye, J. Craig, Vic Griffiths and Ted McCaig. At a meeting of the executive a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be chosen. The 1948-49 officers were Vic Griffiths, president; George Cook, vice-president; secretary, Mollie Craig, and treasurer, Shirley Mortimer.

George Cook, competition committee, reported that the plans made at the first of last season were a failure due to lack of snow. He said four members of the club had entered in the meet at Huntsville but withdrew because of insufficient experience. In only two meets was the club represented, the interscholastic and Provincial Junior. In the large field of contestants the entrants got three thirds, one second, a tenth, eleventh and twelfth.

Other reports were given by Otta Laderach, jump committee; Hal Barker (read by Vic Griffiths), ski school at Kemp's Hill; Rod Reed, publicity and advertising; Myles Allison, membership; Bruce Upper (read by Mollie Craig), ski patrol; Mollie Craig, secretary; Shirley Mortimer, treasurer; Toby Westbye, tow committee.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

A Curve Lake trio are thanking their lucky stars after an experience with lightning on Thursday morning. But whether lucky or not they did see plenty of stars. The three—Hallis Taylor and Aubrey and James Copperthwaite—at present doing construction work on a cottage near Lakehurst were walking along the Sandy Point Road when the thunderstorm broke. A bolt of lightning crashed, flattening Hallis Taylor and Aubrey Copperthwaite, knocked James, walking between them, right out of his boots, and landed him in a ditch 25 feet away. The boots remained upright in the centre of the road just as their owner had suddenly left them. None of the trio was hurt and they returned to work on Friday. Six witnesses swear to the tale.—D.W.

Normal Students Can Claim Trees They Planted In School Plot

Peterborough Normal students commenced planting 700 trees Friday as part of their Arbour Day celebration. When planted the Normal School tree plot will have nearly 1,800 trees in it.

In the opening ceremony L. W. Copp, principal, told the students who were gathered at the tree plot, that the trees they were planting could be claimed by them to beautify the school grounds of their school next year. In charge of the opening ceremony were Betty Green, Marion Gaebel and Jack Gray. They led in the scripture reading, a hymn and the Lord's prayer. Marilyn Cavano told the story of Arbour Day. Vera O'Neill recited the "Return of Spring" by Archibald Lampman. Frank Woods and Melba Rorabeck planted the symbolic tree of Arbour Day. "Let us go a-Maying" and the "First Arbour Day Song" were sung by the students. Arrangements for the opening ceremony were made by Quirt McKinney.

Next week work at the tree plot will continue with flowers from the hotbed also planted in the gardens of the school grounds.

Pleads Guilty

TOPEKA, Kas., May 7 (AP)—Rex Ingram, negro actor, pleaded guilty in Federal court Thursday to an indictment charging him with transporting a 15-year-old white school girl to New York City last September for immoral purposes. Sentence was deferred until October to allow Ingram time to get his business affairs in shape.

Early Care Should Be Given Heating Plant

With most home heating systems, more damage can occur during the warmer months than during the regular heating season. First, the furnace should be cleaned in the spring, or early summer rather than in the fall as has been the usual custom; second, special attention should be given to keeping the internal surfaces of the furnace dry during the summer months.

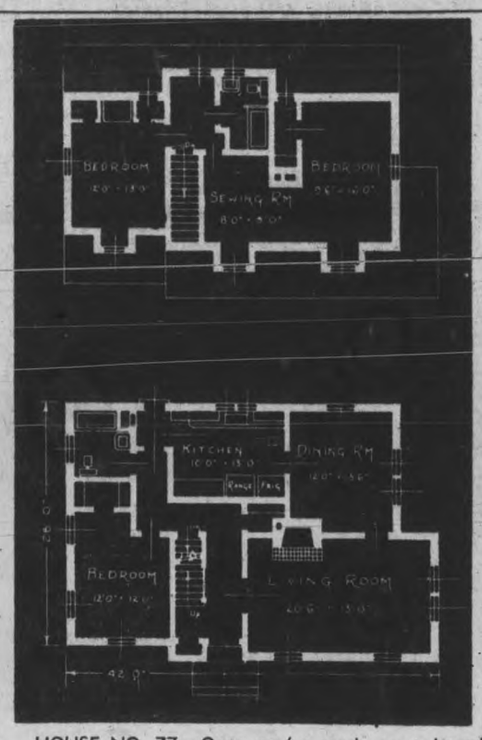
With the furnace, moisture is the main difficulty. Moisture presents no problem when the furnace is in operation because the heat counteracts it. But there is no such resistance in summer. Rain seeps down the chimney unchecked. Highly humid weather is the rule rather than the exception. Whatever the source of the moisture, when it is allowed to collect on the metal parts inside the furnace, they rust away.

To avoid rusting, have the flue pipe removed to prevent moisture from entering through the chimney; leave the furnace doors open so that the air can circulate freely enough to keep the inside of the furnace dry; and where practical periodically fire the furnace to dry it out thoroughly. Where oil is used as the fuel the tank should be kept filled to prevent sweating and consequent rusting.

Winter accumulation of soot and ashes in the flue and combustion chamber of the furnace cause corrosion; particularly in summer. The chemicals in soot and ashes are more active in the presence of moisture and more likely to form harmful acids and alkalines.

Summer Service—In many homes the heating system takes on a part-time summer job. For example, blowers on forced warm air units are commonly used in system is the source of hot water for summer, check the system in the spring. The firing device should be adjusted. Clean fire travel passage; the water travel passage in the boiler, in the heater coil, and in the piping. These precautions not only save fuel but result in a more abundant supply of domestic hot water.

Since each particular type of heating system requires its own special spring care, it is advisable to have a competent heating man prepare the system for the summer months. Many heating contractors offer such a service. It consists of thoroughly cleaning the equipment and piping, painting the exposed surfaces and adjusting the mechanical parts. The furnace is also checked over to see if any of the parts are the worse for wear. If so, repairs and replacements are made in the summer when the heating system is off duty.



HOUSE NO. 77—Once you've made up your mind to have a Colonial style house there's no changing it is there. The modernists will rave that you're suffering from an advanced case of nostalgia, but the pleasant home-spun qualities of the Colonial period are deeply entrenched in heart and mind. And what is perhaps more important, you realize that this architecture is completely adaptable to present day living. This traditional style home presents ample evidence of gracious living, and its plan and exterior deserve the closest study. One of the most striking features of this house is the use of broad cedar clapboards with thick butts treated with linseed oil and Imperial green stain. Notice the deep shadow lines clearly visible against the dark surface of the facade. "Modern" houses haven't a monopoly on windows either, just look at the plan and discover how many there are in this home! Isn't the off-centre fireplace in the living room a treat? And look at the splendid, efficiently designed kitchen and the adjacent dining room. You haven't missed that downstairs bedroom and bath have you? Then of course there are two more bedrooms and a bath upstairs as well! For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Heating Hint—Dirty air filters on hot weather to circular air and thus produce a cooling effect in the house. If so, filters should be inspected, and replaced if necessary. When filters are clogged with dirt, air flow is retarded and circulation greatly reduced.

Support of Public Needed To Preserve Wild Life

HAVELOCK, May 7—(ENS)—Major P. K. Ketcheson of Napanee, a director of the Anglers' and Hunters' Association, and member of the Carling Conservation Club of Waterloo, showed moving pictures on the conservation of wild life at the annual meeting of the Havelock and Belmont Fish and Game Association held in the town hall on Wednesday evening.

Restocked Lakes

President H. Kennedy stated that the local association took on the responsibility of ordering and placing all the spawn and fingerlings for Belmont Lake, Deer Lake, Tongamong Lake, Whetstone Lake, Trout Lake, Sandy Lake, Kosh Lake, Twin Lakes, Oak Lake and surrounding trout streams. A donation of $50 had been made to the Kosh Dam project, he said, and the placing of all restocking material was strictly supervised by club committee.

Vital To Economy

Conservation is not just a doctrine to be preached to hunters and fishermen, Major Ketheson said. It is vital to the continuance of our national economy, and must of necessity fail if its measures do not receive the full support of all Canadian citizens.

Conservation measures, the spending of public funds for restocking preserves, the imposing of new regulations — all these things, he continued, are apt to prove unpopular with the general public if there is not a full and complete understanding of their importance in the protection and preservation of our Canadian heritage of forest wealth and wild life.

New Officers

George Hubbel was elected president. Other officers are: Vice-president, William Copp (re-elected); secretary-treasurer, W. P. Nobes; board of directors, Joseph Bard, John Rogers, for two year term, Ross Hart, R. A. McCutcheon, 1 year.

Membership tickets are now on sale, the receipts of which will be used for conservation purposes. One of the several projects for this year is to maintain water levels in the lakes and streams of this district. Committees are now set up for the requisition of game fish and the distribution of same in the proper waters.

Rhinestones Trim Black Cotton Summer Dress

NEW YORK. — Black cotton with rhinestone trimmings puts glamor on the budget for the young and gay this summer.

In black or deep midnight blue cotton broadcloth, one of the glitter dresses wears its rhinestones "convertibly. The day-length dress with a smart full back flare in its skirt and cap sleeves has a pair of interchangeable bows for its wide, shallow V neckline. One matches the dress for daytime. The second, sprinkled with rhinestones, takes its place for evening.

Another dress in the same group has a circle of rhinestone eyelets, threaded with black velvet ribbon around its wide boat neckline.

Blister Pattern

Cloque organdy—woven with a blister pattern—is used for other short summer dresses pretty enough for evening and "dressed" enough for day.

Bread-and-butter cottons in the moderately priced collection feature classic tailored chambrays and ginghams with tucking, embroidered bands and bows to give them extra femininity.

Among the handsomest and smartest sundresses of the season is sheer gingham with stole, made in a combination of blue and white and brown and white check. The shoulder-strapped dress has wide blue and white bands around its full-gathered brown and white skirt, and the banding fabric is used for the stole.

For active sports, gold and tennis dresses are shown with culottes in front and skirts in back. The short-sleeved dresses are identical except that the crisp white pique tennis dress is cut off above the knee. The golf dresses, in smart striped cottons are handsome enough to do double duty for street wear.

CGIT Doings

George Street

Girls of the Senior Group held a supper meeting this week when Miss Wong and her friend, Ping Hum, were guests. Intermediates joined them later, conducting the worship service when Carol Head and Sandra Davidson took part.

Miss Betty Brown spoke to the groups about camp before they worked on their handicraft project of making shell brooches.

Trinity

Trinity Groups met together for their annual Reaffiliation Service with the WMS. The meeting was most impressive, with Miss Anna Edmondson, Margaret Smith, Dorothy Woodcock, Beverly Hutton and Anne Gordon taking part in the candle-lighting ceremony. Mrs. H. T. Crosbie, advisory president for younger groups, Mrs. A. Legon, president of the WMS and Miss Gladys Langton, CGIT Presbyterial secretary, were present and took part. Mrs. Legon presented the girls with World Friendship badges and welcomed them into the fellowship of the WMS.

Joan White was in the chair and called upon Jo Anne Watson, who, in giving her report of the meeting of Girls' Council, announced the Sunrise Service to be held June 12.

Chinese Youth Hymn "Unafraid" was sung by members of the Senior Group, this was followed by a play which was presented by the Intermediate girls. In this play, "Our Debt to China", Barbara Shirer took the part of Chang, a laundry boy, and Caroline Horton was his sister. These two children pointed out to the CGIT different phases of western culture which originated in China.

Members of the WMS served refreshments and Joan Krogh expressed the thanks of the girls.

St. Paul's

Miss Ruth Curtis led the candlelight worship service, using as her theme, "Working Together". This was followed by an inspection of the girls' uniforms and a brief quiz.

CANADIAN FASHIONS—Designed for summer "fun" and loveliness are the above. Left, canary yellow linen dress with bolero and neckline edged in embroidery of lacy bourine" and "gypsy" shantung in Chinself-piping. Centre, a two-toned "tamoise neckline closing with hand-made frogs of the material. Note soft drapery at side. Right, orchid shantung in two-piecer, ideal for luncheon and dinner date, its fitted jacket finely tucked in silver thread with matching bow on dress.

PCVS Cotton Season Opens 300 At Grand May Ball

The May Ball officially opened the cotton season at PCVS. Glamour in cotton dresses keynoted a grand party in the spacious gymnasium where more than 300 students danced away the late hours of Friday evening.

Pretty shades of pink, soft blues, greens and gay prints that seem to go with the lovely clean fresh look of high school girls, were delightfully enhancing in lantern light under a ceiling of brightly colored streamers. There were spring flowers hanging in baskets and a delightful trellised arbor was background for a space marked off for cabaret tables at which to enjoy the light refreshments.

Miss Melva Lee Doxsee was in charge of decorations, assisted by Miss Marnie Hollingsworth, chairman of the social functions committee. Henry Dinsdale, president of Students' Council, was master of ceremonies for novelty dances.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fanning and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Matthews from the Home and School Associatoin.

Mixed Marriages Can Cause Couples Many Heartaches

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I believe most firmly in practising the spirit of democracy so far as friendships are concerned, but with marriage it is different, and I think it is most important that husbands and wives should have a similar background. For these reasons:

Dorothy Dix

(1) There are likely to be differences of opinion in marriage as to what constitutes good taste, good manners and good judgment. (2) The matter of in-laws, who are likely to be critical of, or not to understand people of a different background. (3) The person from a less privileged background is likely to feel inferior. (4) There are sure to be differences of opinion on the rearing of children. (5) The person from a more privileged background is likely to have a superiority complex.

These are the things that make Cinderella marriages so hazardous.

JAMES P.

ANSWER: Right you are, James in contending that people should marry in their own class, but you have omitted the greatest danger of all that threatens a mixed marriage, and that is religion. For it is strange, but true, that the thing which should draw husbands and wives closest together and make them more patient and understanding of each other is the thing over which the bitterest domestic fights are fought, and that breaks up more families than anything else.

Lovers are optimists. They think that nothing matters except that they thrill at each other's touch, and they never doubt but that they will go on billing and cooing together. But the cold, hard fact is that when they settle down to everyday life, the thing that is vitally important is for them to have the same tastes and habits.

Basic Truth

Irvin Cobb once said that the Civil War wasn't fought over slavery. It was fought over the issue of hot bread versus cold bread. And silly as that sounds, it is a basic truth. The successful marriages are those in which husbands and wives worship the same God, vote the same ticket, laugh over the same jokes, like the same cooking, and are proud of each other.

No couple should marry until they have okayed their fiances' grandparents.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At what age do you think a boy and girl should go steady?

G. L. H.

ANSWER: Not until they have cut their wisdom teeth on a lot of kids whom they thought they could not live without, but whom they found out, when it was too late to do them any good, that they couldn't live with.

I think it is a fine thing for boys and girls to grow up together, to go to school together, to play around together, but it should be en masse, so to speak. They should step out with Tom, Dick and Harry, but not tie themselves down to one girl or boy. That is ruination for the joy of youth, because it makes them a habit to each other instead of a thrill. Also, it narrows down their choice of a mate when it comes to the marrying time of life, because Sally and Tom have been steadies so long they feel bound to marry each other, no matter if they have lost their taste for each other.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother-in-law is very good to me, but every time she comes down to stay with the children she always changes my furniture around and puts my things away where I can never find them. Also, she tries to run my house.

Please tell me what to do. I have held back my temper as long as I can.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

ANSWER: Have you ever considered that you irritate other people just as much as they rub your fur the wrong way? All of us are hard to live with, and if we were wise we would cultivate a taste for each other instead of allowing things to get on our nerves.

Our only consolation is that we get even with others by being just as disagreeable about things as they are. Your mother-in-law, forinstance,runs for instance, runs you crazy by shifting all of your furniture Well, when you are her age you will be a furniture-shifter yourself, and you will be telling your daughter-in-law how to run her house.

So take another grip on your temper and hold it some more Old people don't have much fun.

Swimming Club To Present Enchanted Garden

The water ballet which annually thrill the Peterborough public with amazing feats performed with graceful synchronization by Ornamental Club swimmers, will be presented May 20 and 21 in the YMCA pool. Choreography originated by coach Mrs. Jas. Forbes is based on the "Enchanted Garden" fairy story. and brings imps, pagan gods, butterflies, gold fish, toy teddy bears, Spanish doll dancers statues and a moon goddess to life.

Training for the production has been going on since fall and is nearing perfection. Costumes, now getting the final touches under supervision of Mrs. Jim Young, are designed to give an exciting effect. All kinds of flowers grow in this background and they have been made by a committee directed by Mrs. Stanley Bogue. N. C. Munro, club manager, and Frank Gray have constructed supports and arches that will form a wonderful garden setting.

Local girls in this Club have made themselves internationally known and interest in their ballet is just as widespread, so girls from other clubs have asked to be given parts. Two from Elmwood, Michigan, are to be pagan worshippers in the fantasy, and a duo from University of Western Ontario will do a clever number as gold fish, swimming with flippers. The moon goddess will be portrayed by Canadian Diving Champion Evelyn Buchanan of Toronto Dolphinettes.

The show is climaxed with the Swan Lake ballet when the swimmers are dressed in full ballet costume and swim with actual ballet movements synchronized to the special music.

Some of the proceeds from this undertaking will be used to provide transportation for children who swim with the summertime recreation program. some to attend swim meets and CNE swims and some for club expenses in the promotion of swimming in the city and rural areas and giving voluntary services as instructors.

Scatter Pins In High Favor

Aside from baroque pearls in jewelry accessories, scatter pins continue blithely in high favor. Many of these come to rest with the lightness of eager bees on gloves, hat bands, belts, pumps, and necklines, as well as on the handy lapel of a suit. Among the most attractive are dainty little heart pins made of pearls, turquoise, or coral, set fluttering gaily on fine spiral wires.

6—In Memoriams

JONES—In loving memory of Mrs. Edythe Scott Jones who passed away two years ago, May 8, 1947.
Oft we think of you dear Edythe,
And our hearts are filled with pain
Oh this earth would be heaven
Could we hear your voice again.
Two years have swiftly passed away
But, still, we don't forget,
For in the hearts that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.
—Sadly missed by father, sisters and brothers.

VASS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Walter Vass, who passed away very suddenly, May 7, 1946.
When last we saw your smiling face,
You looked so bright and well,
Little did we think dear father
It was our last farewell.
There's a road called remembrance,
Where thoughts and wishes meet,
We take that road in thought today,
To a loved one we cannot greet.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife, son and daughter.

WEST—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lois Amelia (Braund) West, who passed away (Mother's Day), May 9th, 1948, in Phoenix, Arizona.
There's an open gate
At the end of the road
Through which each must go alone
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims his own;
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest;
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.
—Fondly remembered by husband Cars and daughters Marilyn and Shirley.

moral and material welfare of the people of that section of Cardiff.

Tremendous Feeling

Rev V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee United Church, opposing the application of Ava Lodge of which F. A. Tomlin of Toronto is president, and W. J. Reid, Toronto, is secretary-treasurer, declared that there was tremendous feeling in Omemee and Emily township against a beer license at Fee's Landing, a short distance east of the village.

A petition from the township was signed by 559 names of residents and an Omemee petition to the Board had 253 signatures, that were obtained in only three days, Rev. M. Zufelt said.

It transpired that Emily community, as with Cardiff, had assumed that the township was a area, until the Ava Lodge application had raised the question of the status of the township. This point had arisen a year ago, and it was learned that the township was not a dry area.

"But we found that we could not proceed to take a local option vote because there was actually no beer outlet in the township, and we could not have a vote until there was one," Rev. Mr Zufelt said. "The place with a beer license would be a menace to our community. The councils of Omemee and Emily have unanimously protested against it. Fee's Landing is an out of the way place, back in the woods, you might say, there is no police control there, and the Landing or the lake has long been a centre during the summer for our youth. We have only one constable in Omemee, but back at the lake there is none. Sentiment in the village is that if there was any choice in the matter they would rather have a beer place in Omemee where it could be kept policed rather than back at the lake."

W. J. A. Fair represented Ava Lodge owners. Decision of the Board was reserved for consideration and also for enquiry about the applicants.

A Third Hotel

Grant Gordon, Toronto, represented Wilfred Peters, a former resident of Verulam township in Victoria county, and now living in an adjoining township, applying for dining room and beverage room licenses for the property about one-quarter of a mile south of Bobcaygeon, known as the old Cluxton estate.

A. M. Fulton, K.C., Lindsay, spoke for the opposition that has developed in the township since the application was advertised.

"Verulam has had no liquor stores of any kind for 75 years," Mr. Fulton said. "It might just as well be considered dry, if legally it may be wet. I have been engaged by Verulam council and on behalf of its people. We have an opposing petition with 370 names. If we had circulated it throughout the township generally, I believe nine-tenths of the people would have signed. A great objection to it is the annoyance and menace to other people from persons who become more or less intoxicated in those places. I can say this that if Verulam is a wet area, its ratepayers want a local option vote taken just as speedily as possible.

It is also a fact that Bobcaygeon has repeatedly voted dry." Judge Robb said the township had the last five years to take a local option vote.

Mr. Fulton: "But, we didn't think about it. We did not become aware of the danger until this application was announced." served also in this case.

Returning To England For 11-Week Visit

When the S. S. Samaria on Sunday pulls out of Quebec harbor it will carry two Peterborough residents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dainton of 425 Roger St. They are returning to England for an 11-week visit among close relatives and to see for themselves how things have changed since they were last there.

Fred, a native Londoner, has never lost his cockney accent and is eager to see what the years and German bombing have done to "Old Smoke." He came to Canada 43 years ago but returned in 1915 when he went overseas with the Peterborough Squadron of the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Mrs. Dainton, the former Violet Bristow, was born in Tunbridge, Kent, and later moved to Canada where she met and married Mr. Dainton. She hopes to visit relatives in Doncaster and Sussex and do a bit of sightseeing generally.

In his pocket Mr. Dainton will carry a letter of introduction from Mayor Max Swanston to the Mayor of Peterborough, England. He intends to make a special trip to Peterborough to see how it compares with its Canadian namesake.

On Thursday night Fred Dainton was guest of honor at a special send-off party arranged by his fellow members of the Peterborough Bridge and Crib Club. He was presented with cigarettes and some chocolates for his wife.

Y Father and Son banquet Monday night. Les Vipond, National Boys' Work Secretary of the YMCA in Canada will be another guest.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough Federation To Send Observers To International Conference At Guelph . . . Taxation Series Most Popular Of Farm Radio Forum Series . . . Most of O.A.C. Two-Year Course Graduates Return To Farms.

At their meeting Tuesday night May 10, the Federation of Agriculture is planning to name observers to the I.F.A. sessions at O.A.C. beginning May 31.

The International Association of Farmers is coming into the heart of Ontario because progressive men and women of the rural community of this province brought about the organization of the Federation, Peterborough among the first to the rally, when it was only emerging from the chrysalis of hope.

The mustard seed of the parable and the Federation of Agriculture are akin in the wonder of their growth. Canadian farmers have been among the most loyal to the idea and effort of organizing basic food producers of the world on an international footing.

Arrangement to enable representatives of the county branches to look in on some of the sessions at the Ontario Agricultural College is a well deserved recognition of the spade work without which the international delegates would probably never have been meeting in this country. The sessions to which observers will be admitted are at the opening on May 31 and June 1, and toward the close on June 8 and 9.

Another important item of business next week will be the selecting of directors for the Kawartha Health Association. The charter applicants have been requested to attend. More than 100 members have already been listed.

The Federation is also allotting time to the County Cancer Society for explanation of their important work. This part of the program will include a special picture.

STRONG CATTLE PRICES

The Holstein herd of Hooper Brothers, St. Mary's averaged $671 for 48 head, a total of $32,210, with the highest dispersal sale price of the year. Top price for a bull was $7,500 and for a female $1,250.

Five bulls averaged $1,755; 25 milking females $556; five bred heifers $510; five open yearlings at $625, a daughter of Sonniwilk Sovereign Souvenir. J. Elliott of Colborne, paid $575 for a 12-year-old cow.

ADVISES MILK POOLING

George Lowry, RR-3, Almonte, estimates a loss of $7,000 a month to the Pembroke group of producers as a result of the sale of margarine. He was speaking at a meeting of North Renfrew concentrated milk producers. In the Pembroke local the prices of milk dropped 50 cents a cwt., amounting to a loss of $250 a day to the 150 patrons of that plant.

Charles Milton, Toronto, secretary-manager of the provincial concentrated milk producers recalled his prediction that margarine was bound to cause some extent of depression with 120 million pounds of it in a country that consumed about 320 million pounds of butter. Mr. Milton recommended some form of pooling milk. Feed, labor, new cows cost all farmers the same, no matter what market their milk went to. He urged tha steps be taken to create a better understanding between cheese, butter, fluid and concentrated milk producers as a step toward solving present difficulties.

ONTARIO COUNTY HOLSTEINS

In a recent visit of Wray G. Taylor, selective registration inspector for the Holstein-Friesian Association to Ontario county three bulls were given the highest possible classification of and one cow received the highest female award of Excellent.

The Excellent cow was Elmcroft Colantha Rose M of Elmcroft Farms grand champion at the Peterborough Championships show in 1946, with honorable mention for All-Canadian two-year-old heifer. The bulls were: Macaulay of Hudson Heights, Que., and owned by G. H. Walker, Port Perry.

The second bull was Hay's Flayboy jointly owned by Earl Martin, Howard Franklin, O. E. Croxall and Clarence Croxall, Port Perry. The third was Glenafton Rag Apple Craftsman owned by Hugh Ormiston of Brooklin, Thos. Flett and Son, Oshawa and Orvan Chambers of Wilfrid.

In R. O. P. reports, High Point Snowdrop Supreme from the Holstein herd of Burnsell Webster, also of Port Perry, has produced as a five years old in 365 days, on twice-a-day milking 21,197 lbs. milk containing 770 lbs. fat, for an average test of 3.63% butter fat.

DR. HOPE'S SUGGESTION

To bring more stability into the hog industry of Canada, E. C. Hope, Ph.D., economist of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture suggests a five year agreement with Britain for a specific annual quantity within range of fulfillment. He recommended a range of 150 to 200 million pounds of bacon a year.

"The contract price would be set every six months for the selling period a year ahead. For instance, in November 1949, the price for export would be set for delivery from Sept. 1950 to Feb. 1951. This would take care of fall and winter breeding.

In April 1950, the price would be set for bacon delivered from March to Aug. 1951. This would take care of spring breeding.

This procedure would be carried on for five years, setting the price every six months for a period about ten months away. The price set every six months would be in relationship to the feed supply at the time, the hog-barley ratio, and the cash farm income for the 12 months prior to the breeding season. It would bring forward export supplies reasonably close to the steady annual quantities Britain requires, and it would definitely iron out the violent changes in hog production in Canada.

It is not claimed that this system of forward contracts would bring complete stability to the industry, because there are bound to be some errors in estimating the farmers' response to the set prices. There would also be changes in domestic demand which would affect the situation.

But, I believe it would be a big improvement over the present method of making bacon export agreements, and would result in much smaller cycles in the production of hogs in Canada."

Dr. Hope says that to decrease instability of bacon exports "we must try to decrease instability in total hog production. We can decrease instability in total hog production only if the price expectations of the hog producer, nine months to a year after he breeds his sows, are known. In short, the producer wants to know when he breeds his sows what price he will get for the resulting pigs nine months to a year later."

"RENDERUNTO CAESAR"

The series of broadcasts on taxation was the most popular of the 1948-49 Farm Radio Forum season, as indicated by the lively discussions and the number of enquiries and suggestions. The Canadian Farm radio forum is said to be the world's largest listening group, one of the agencies of study and information so largely sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture.

Several typical questions during the winter were: "Our forum would like to know what it costs the government to collect the income tax." And the answer: "The total cost of collecting income tax and succession duties in the fiscal year 1947-8 was 1.49% of the total taxes collected."

Question: "We would like to know where our income tax goes." Ans.: "The taxes go into the consolidated revenue fund from which various expenditures are made by the government, directly or indirectly benefitting the people of Canada. Some of the benefits and the estimated amount of expenditures for the fiscal year 1948-49 are: family allowances $271,000,000; payments to provinces, including subsidies and payments under dominion-provincial tax agreements $101,000,000; old age pensions and pensions for blind persons $67,000,000; [illegible] 900,000."

Question: "Please explain reference to a 25% exemption on farm homes."

Answer:—"In view of the large part the farm home plays in the conduct of farm business, a farmer may claim depreciation on the cost of his farm house at one-quarter of the usual rate of depreciation, and may also claim one-quarter of the cost of repairs to the house, in addition to the full amount of the cost of light, power, taxes, telephone and fire insurance. The basis on which this depreciation will be calculated is on the cost of the farm house."

FROM COLLEGE TO FARM

Of 36 young men recently graduated from OAC, 33 went back to the farm, in most instances their own. Some observers say that more agricultural college graduates on a per capita basis are going back to farms in Canada than in any other country. The derision of a generation ago "You can't plow a field with a diploma" is rarely repeated by the young farmers of today. They have got around on trips, short courses and study perods, and they have a broader knowledge of the practical work on experimental farms and in college classrooms and laboratories.

FERTILIZER SYMBOLS

Commercial fertilizer numbers indicate the proportion of the constituent contents Frank C. Patterson, said this week as a reminder to any farmers who may not be certain about them.

They show the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, always in that order. A 100-pound bag of 4-8-10 mixed fertilizer usually contains 20 pounds of nitrogen chemicals, such as sulphate of ammonia, the supply the four per cent nitrogen, also 40 pounds of superphosphate to supply the eight per cent of phosphoric acid; and 18 pounds of muriate of potash to supply the 10 per cent of potash. The remaining 22 pounds are generally of dolomite limestone, which contains some calcium and magnesium, both good for the soil.

First of the formula figures always stands for nitrogen, the second always for phosphoric acid, and the last always for potash. These are the key figures to the contents of the bag. A certain amount of bulk filler is required to make up the 100 pounds in the bag, or the fertilizer could not be spread around.

NUTRIENT-X IN MILK

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports a conclusion that nutrient-X in milk is vitamin B-12, the name commercial chemists gave to the material they isolated from liver extracts—the material that makes liver extracts effective in treatment of pernicious anemia.

Some years ago C. A. Carey and A. M. Hartman of the Bureau of Dairy Industry showed that nutrient-X was assential for normal growth, development, reproduction and lactation in laboratory rats. Continuing their research they found nutrient-X present in the non-fat part of milk, in cheese, commercial casein, leafy foods and feeds, and in liver extracts, but not in the cereal grains and oil meals.

When crystalline B-12 became available for purchase about two months ago, Cary and Hartman began a series of rat-feeding tests to determine the effects of feeding B-12 in place of milk and other known sources of nutrient-X. The results of these tests showed that, insofar as growth is concerned B-12 functions like nutrient-X (the name chosen because its chemical nature was unknown). Growth deficiencies in the rats due to lack of nutrient-X were overcome by feeding either crystalline B-12 or milk, non-fat milk products, leafy foods and feeds, liver extracts or other food materials known to contain nutrient-X.

That is an outline of the U. S. Department report. "The investigators conclude that nutrient-X or B-12 undoubtedly plays an important role in the nutrition of the normal mammal, that many of our foods and feed are deficient in this nutrient, and that milk, non-fat milk products, and various kinds of cheese are particularly good sources of it. There is practically no nutrient-X or B-12 activity in white flour, enriched white flour, whole wheat flour, corn meal, wheat bran, or cereal productions in general, but the deficiencies in these foods can be overcome by supplementing them with milk or dairy products containing the non-fat part of milk, such as cheeses, ice cream and dried milks."

This report was issued from Washington April 13.

W. Germany Gets New Constitution

Convention Approves New Government By A Vote Of 53 - 12

BONN, Germany, May 9 (AP)—Germans at last have the constitution for a new West German Republic—Democratic, unarmed and pledged to peace.

Today it was in the hands of the western zone military governors for final approval. The 11 West German States' Legislatures also must ratify it. The German constitutional convention approved it, 53 to 12, Sunday night.

German democracy was reborn—on paper, at least—four years to the day after Nazi Germany hopelessly conceded defeat.

The constitution leaves the door open for the Russian zone to join the new state—if free elections take place in Soviet-controlled East Germany.

The four-power council of foreign ministers will discuss the 146 article constitution.

Left Out

Not mentioned in the final document were the reservations which Britain, the United States and France made at a Washington conference.

These are believed to include control as well as security against a revival of German militarism.

Each of the three western powers would terminate military government and appoint a high commissioner. The three high commissioners would be the top authority in Germany.

New Laws

The new fundamental law of West Germany:

1. Calls for a democratic federal republic to govern the western zones' 46,000,000 inhabitants until a government can be formed for all Germany.
2. Paves the way for general parliamentary elections in the three western zones. It is hoped the new government can take office July 15.
3. Makes the plotting of aggressive war a punishable offence. There is no provision for an army.
4. A bill of rights guarantee racial, lingual and religious equality. Freedom of press, religion and assembly is pledged. Censorship is forbidden.
5. The death penalty is forbidden.

Has Little Power

The West German Republic would have a President with little power.

Find Three Bullets Strike Man At Port Lambton

SARNIA, May 9 (CP)—Jean Mary Ange, 37-year-old mother of three children was charged today with the murder of her 39-year-old husband, Thomas, in their small house beside the Ohio Hotel in Port Lambton late Sunday night.

Following discovery of the body Mrs. Ange was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital in Sarnia where she is under police custody, suffering from a nervous collapse. The charge was read at the hospital.

Inspector Thomas Wright, a Criminal Investigation Branch of Ontario Provincial Police, Toronto, who happened to be in Sarnia on other official business, conducted the investigation into the death.

The inspector said it is believed that the woman shot her husband with his own .22 calibre target revolver, following a domestic argument which had lasted the greater part of the day.

Time of the shooting has been estimated at around 11.30 o'clock.

"I Shot Him."

Following the shooting pyjama-clad Mrs. Ange is reported to have run into the Ohio Hotel and told Victor Dougas, an employee, that "I shot him."

The body was found in their spacious bungalow living room by Jack Reddick, an hotel resident and friend of the family. He said he loaned his automobile to Mrs. Ange and Mrs. Marion Grant who went to a late afternoon movie at Marine City, Mich., yesterday afternoon.

Reddick told police after the women left, Ange seemed upset and asked him where they had gone.

Strikes Wife

"Apparently Ange crossed the river to Robert's Landing where he met Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Ange later in the evening," said Reddick. "I did not see him return, but about 10.30 p.m. I was sitting downstairs in the hotel when the women returned. When I saw Mrs. Grant was upset I told her she had better come upstairs and rest. She told me Ange had struck his wife in front of scores of people at Robert's Landing."

Reddick said he was in his apartment when he heard screams coming from Ange's home which is near the hotel.

"I heard someone say 'I've done it, I've shot him,'" he said.

He ran to the home and met Mrs. Ange running out. He found the body lying on the floor with 13-year-old Tommy Ange leaning over the body and screaming.

Police said there were three bullet holes in the body. Mrs. Ange was found in the hotel, sitting with friends, but upon questioning told police the gun could be found under the bed.

Ange formerly lived in Chatham and London, Ont.

Chinese Reds Only 17 Miles From Shanghai

SHANGHAI, May 9—(AP)—Fighting around Kaiting today brought the Chinese civil war to an area 17 miles northwest of the heart of Shanghai.

Far to the southwest, Communist armies pressed a twin-pronged offensive along an irregular 230-miles front from the seaport of Hangchow on the east to Lake Poyang on the west. At some places the Red drive had carried 200 miles south of Yangtze.

A Shanghai garrison command communique seemed to indicate the fighting closest to Shanghai was on a small scale. Kaiting is on the Shanghai-Nanking highway seven miles north of the railway between the two cities. Red troops thrusting along the rail line were within 35 miles of Shanghai.

Inside this largest Asian city the Nationalist garrison ordered Chinese and foreign business firms and some government agencies to turn over 950 trucks and 300 jeeps for "military purposes."

Many British and American firms were hard hit by the order. Some were engaged in essential activities.

The garrison did not give details of the gigantic Communist operations southwest of Shanghai but said the Communists were continuing their drive in Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces.

One drive, the communique said, was towards Nanchang, Kiangsi provincial capital 380 air miles southwest of Shanghai. The other was pointed for Fukien province on the southeast coast just below Chekiang.

The Communist radio at Peiping claimed capture of Kashing Sunday night.

Communists also said the Communists held 130 miles of the railway between Hangchow and Nanchang.

Britain Prepared To Buy More Salmon, Timber In New Trade Agreement

Howe Assures Officials Canada Able To Meet Price Competition; Anxious To Help Britain Over Tough Time

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—Trade Minister Howe announced today that Britain is planning additional purchases of Canadian goods—including canned salmon, timber, flour, apples and fruit pulp—"provided agreemtnt can be reached on prices." He added, "I have told the United Kingdom that there need be no doubt of the ability of Canadian suppliers to meet competition from any part of the world."

Mr. Howe, who returned yesterday from a visit to the U.K. broke down the details of the additional purchases this way:

Canned salmon—between 300,000 and 400,000 cases, depending on price, for delivery before the end of the year. A representative of the British Ministry of Food is coming to Canada to open negotiations.

Timber—Special purchases to the approximate value of $10,000,000 from the United States and Canada; the contracts to be awarded on the basis of commercial considerations. Specifications are already in the hands of the trade. These purchases will be over and above the amounts of west coast lumber to be bought by the United Kingdom in the last half of 1949, arrangements for which will be settled in the near future.

Above Minimum

Flour—a quantity of 400,000 tons during the crop year 1949-50. This amount, somewhat less than that supplied by Canadian millers last year, is 100,000 tons above the minimum amount provided for in the Canada-United Kingdom wheat agreement. It is in fact about double the pre-war level of Canadian flour shipments to the United Kingdom.

Apples—The United Kingdom has agreed to make a token purchase of Canadian apples. "This," Mr. Howe said, "will provide some measure of assistance to the Nova Scotia apple producer."

Fruit Pulp—The United Kingdom has agreed to buy a small quantity of fruit pulp now held by the Canadian government.

Mr. Howe added: "I found on all sides the desire to purchase Canadian products. The difficulty is to find the means of payment. Any real solution toward providing the means for greater purchases of British goods by dollar countries."

Macedonians Plan Resort Near Port Hope

TORONTO, May 9 — A Macedonian village in the midst of Ontario is being planned by Toronto's Greco-Canadian community. Plans for the village—which will eventually consist of 300 summer cottages along the banks of the Ganaraska River, 10 miles northwest of Port Hope, were announced Sunday by Cuzo Giamoff, West Toronto resident who planned the whole venture.

Through an arrangement with farmers owning land along the river 300 lots have been set aside for development of the summer resort. With close to 15,000 Canadians of Macedonian descent now living in Toronto alone, Mr. Giamoff is confident the resort will come into being this summer.

"We own 80 per cent of the restaurants in West Toronto," said Mr. Giamoff. "We're a pretty big part of the population, but we'd like to have a resort like this one, which would be a Little Macedonia."

With 100 other families, Mr. Giamoff came to Canada from Greece in 1921. Now, with his own restaurant, he feels he has made good. He claims the enthusiastic support of the Macedonian "village council" of West Toronto in the venture.

Crash Victims Reach Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 9 (CP)—A lumbering silver R.C.A.F. Lancaster Sunday night brought Bill Grant and Sheila Cure back from a dramatic escape from death after a plane crash in the mountains of northern Washington State.

Canadian and United States fliers had braved countless dangers in six days of search and rescue.

But Miss Cure had another explanation for their safe return:

"I'm sure there was someone upstairs looking after us."

Grant pancaked his plane fifty feet from the snow-capped peak of 8,080-foot Mount Hozomeen, three miles south of the international border and 135 miles east of here. The crash came Monday afternoon in a blinding snowstorm on a flight from Miss Cure's Cardston, Alta., home to Vancouver. The two were unhurt.

Lift Riot Act At Asbestos; Police Patrol

ASBESTOS, Que., May 9 (CP)—The Riot Act has been lifted from this strike-troubled asbestos mining centre but 350 provincial police still patrol its streets today.

The act was read to the townspeople hese early Friday morning following an outburst of violence the previous day.

Yesterday, hundreds of subdued residents of the town attended Mass in the Roman Catholic Church and heard their union padre Father Philippe Camirand, deplore last week's violence. He added that the 2,100 strikers in Asbestos were "men of great piety and obedience."

A heavy detachment of police watched the proceedings. Shortly afterwards, it was announced that provisions of the Riot Act had been lifted. The announcement was greeted quietly, with no demonstrations.

Over the town of 6,000 still hung the shadow of the mass arrests Friday when police took over Asbestos. About 200 men were arrested and the greater part of them still are in jail awaiting court appearance on various charges.

Union leaders claimed police had used unwarranted brutality in making the arrests. Rodolphe Hamel, president of the Asbestos Workers' Federation, an affiliate of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, said the conduct of the police was being investigated by the union.

Meanwhile, the strikers are receiving financial aid for their families from other unions and from the Roman Catholic Church in the province. It was learned in Quebec Sunday night that 14 parishes had contributed $3,370 to buy food for shipment to the strike areas.

An attempt at setting up a three-man arbitration board failed early last week.

Won't Take Away Freedom Bevin Promises Germans

BERLIN, May 9—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain said today that at the forthcoming Big Four conference in Paris "we hope to plan the peace of the world." He made the comment at brief ceremonies at the United States air lift terminal, Tempelhof, where Gen. Lucius D. Clay saw him off for the British zone of Germany.

Bevin said yesterday Britain would strive for German freedom and democracy at the conference.

He told the city parliament of western Berlin he "would not agree to anything on behalf of Great Britain which will take away the freedom of the German people . . . or spoil their chances of establishing an unfettered democracy."

Ford Refuses Mediation Offer

DETROIT, May 7 (AP)—Ford Motor Company refused outside offers of mediation today as effects of the five-day strike spread from coast to coast.

The company held to its position that the speed-up dispute should be arbitrated by an expert selected by the company and union. The Automobile Workers' Union (CIO) has rejected this suggestion.

With prospects for an early settlement of the 5,000-man walkout growing dimmer, the union staged a mass demonstration yesterday.

UAW president Walter Reuther led the parade of 5,000 unionists. Mayor Orville Hubbard, of Dearborn, where the giant Rouge plant is situated, marched too.

One of the offers of mediation came from Hubbard. The UAW said it would attend a meeting suggested by the Mayor. Another offer was made by Acting Mayor George Edwards of Detroit, who tendered the use of this city's labor mediation committee.

Ford's rejection of both was set forth in a statement from John S. Bugas, vice-president in charge of industrial relations.

Say RCMP Agent 'Spy' In Union

LONDON, Ont., May 9 (CP)—Charges that a union member was a "paid agent of the RCMP" working within the union to "disrupt" it exploded for the second time on the floor of the semiannual convention of District Four, International Chemical Workers Union here Sunday night.

The charge was levelled first Saturday in the opening sessions by William Edmiston, Toronto, Canadian and International Director of the union, in his report. Passing of the report was blocked because of the statement.

Edmiston Sunday night agreed to delete the paragraph in which the charge was made, but later told the press he was not withdrawing the charge.

"I haven't changed my mind on him," he said.

In his report Edmiston said "each and everyone of them (his staff) has been under attack from forces within and without our union for some considerable time. . . Our information from an extremely reliable source is that the leader of the disruptors is a paid agent of the RCMP.

Spots Wood On Track Engineer Averts Wreck

STURGEON FALLS, May 9 — (CP) — Quick thinking on the part of Engineer John McParlane, of North Bay, prevented what might have been a serious derailment Sunday night.

As the train was comng into Sturgeon Falls, McParlane noticed that a railway tie had been placed across the tracks. He immediately stopped the train and removed the tie before proceeding. The train was heading east towards North Bay.

The tie had been placed over the tracks at a point about 200 yards from the bridge which spans the Sturgeon River.

An investigation is in progress.

Says Peace Congress Meet Communist Front Group

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP). — Bill Patterson, 59-year-old representative of Local 5 of the Hamilton Civic Employees Union, charged that the Canadian Peace Congress meeting here during the week-end was "a Communist-front organization."

With a 12-page resolution from his local, Patterson Saturday told some 530 delegates from all across Canada that: "This is not a peace conference at all; innocent people are being led astray."

Weir Reid of the Hamilton Peace Council said Patterson was outside and wanted to speak, but Chairman Jean Pare ruled that the afternoon sessions must close and said Patterson would have a chance to speak the next day. Delegates insisted he be allowed the platform.

"If you are honest about peace," he said, "when you condemn American capitalism you should condemn Stalin, the greatest danger to peace in the world. Send a cable to Stalin. Tell him to free the countries he has subjugated. Communists do not believe in freedom. They believe in force and violence to get what they want."

Sunday morning his resolution condemning the Soviet Union for warmongering, fifth column work and breaking treaties, was defeated.

"This is the manifesto of the Third World War," commented Dr. J. C. Endicott who brought up the resolution.

Dr. Endicott, retired United Church missionary to China, was elected chairman of the Council.

Resolutions passed by the Council urged prohibition of the atomic bomb as a war weapon, free trade between East and West, disarmament and abolition of the United States "system of economic control" under the Marshall Plan.

The unofficial Vatican News Agency said the audience has been fixed for 5.30 p.m., Rome time, tomorrow.

Tells 5 Hours For Help After Both Legs Severed

THOROLD, May 9 — (CP). — Gordon Holland, 28, lay on the railway tracks yesterday for five hours with both legs severed, and shouted himself hoarse before help reached him.

Holland, who was struck by a north-bound Canadian National Railways train was removed to hospital at nearby St. Catharines where his condition to-day was described as favorable.

He said he had been to a dance and was walking home at about 2 a.m. along the tracks. He heard the sound of a train approaching and thinking it was on the south-bound tracks leaped into the path of the north-bound train. He was carried for 18 feet until his body was jammed against a switch. He was rolled over and both legs severed.

Conductor Thomas Shuttleworth who was riding in the caboose said he heard a cry in the darkness as the train passed, and thinking it was a dog informed the dispatcher at Meritton. Police found Holland lying on the track at 6 a.m.

"It is simply astounding that he lived after both legs were severed and he was without attention for five hour," said Dr. T. M. Anderson, who attend Holland at the scene of the accident. "The shock to his system was so severe that he had a lowering of blood pressure and there was little or no bleeding at all."

"I shouted myself hoarse all night," Holland said. "Two trains roared past me only inches away but I could not attract attention. I saw several ships go through the (Welland) Canal and I shouted until I could hardly make a sound. But no one heard me."

U.S. Advises Caution In Standardizing Arms

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—United States military men advise caution in attempting to apply any broad program for quick standardization of weapons used by the Atlantic pact countries.

It was explained, the need to provide weapons, whatever their calibres or fittings, to the western European countries now is a more urgent matter than the eventual, long-range objective of arms standardization.

The feeling of some United States military leaders is that if arms standardization is pressed too hard in the American military aid program it might slow down production and distribution of critically-needed weapons to the Western countries.

Britain and the United States long have considered the possibility of the two countries agreeing on common gun calibres, mounts and other ordnance items.

Canada Asks Surplus Food Be Sent To Feed Hungry Nations Of World

Urges Stocks Sold Cheaply To Needy Lands With Any Losses Met By Proposed U.N. International Fund

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture wants to use surplus food stocks in the big food-producing countries, including Canada, to help feed the hungry nations of the world. It wants surplus food stocks sold cheaply to needy nations with any losses met by a proposed International fund set up by members of the United Nations. It plans to submit its scheme to the 10-day conference of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers which opens at Guelph May 31.

The Federation said in a statement Sunday night the plan is a "partial solution to the age-old problem of food surpluses on one side of the world and starvation on the other." In addition, it could help Canada get rid of "embarrassing surpluses in one or two food lines."

If the plan is approved by the International Federation, it will be sent on to the United Nations food and agriculture organization at its annual meeting next fall.

Briefly, the plan is this: countries with surplus food stocks sell them to the International Funds at the price paid to the grower. The fund sells them to needy countries at a reduced price and the loss is shared by the producing country and the International Fund.

Refusing Milk

The Federation said the surplus of powdered and evaporated milk in Canada has reached the point where "substantial reductions in price have been made by factories to producers, and some are even approaching the point where they have to refuse milk offered by their producer-customs because of lack of markets for the finished product.

"Honey is in serious surplus, even to the extent that the Dominion government has finally announced its decision to purchase 5,000,000 lbs. of the 1948 crop for removal from the current market. There is a very heavy surplus of dried beans and some canned products such as tomato juice and peas."

The IFAP conference, where the plan will be presented, will have delegates from some 20 nations.

U.N. Relaxes Ban On Spain

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 9 (CP)—The General Assembly's political committee Saturday approved a resolution which will allow members of the United Nations to send ambassadors to Franco Spain.

The vote in the 58-member commitee was 25 o 16 in favor of the proposal sponsored by Colombia, Brazil, Bolivia and Peru. Canada was among 16 countries abstaining on the vote.

The resolution must receive a two-thirds majority in the assembly for final approval, Saturday's vote was seven short of the necessary majority.

The committee rejected in 13 roll-call votes—paragraph by paragraph—a rival Polish resolution which would have placed an arms embargo on Spain and tightened the bans first voted by the United Nations, Dec. 12, 1946. Canada voted against the Polish resolution.

The decision came at the end of a bitter two-day debate during whilh Russia and Poland charged that the United States had a military allianie with Franio and that Britin was selling jet planes and other war materials to Spain.

MORE ABOUT—

W. Germany

Chief administrative authority would rest with the Chancellor. He would be chosen by a Bund (parliament) of two houses. These would be a Bundestag (lower house) and Bundsat (upper house.)

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, 73-year-old President of the convention, pleaded afterward that western Germans not be used as pawns at the forthcoming big-four meeting.

"We do not want a Paris agreement which would adapt conditions of western zones to those of the eastern zone. We wish instead, that the eastern zone would attain the same conditions under which we live today," Dr. Adenauer said.

Then—as he looked at the happy faces of the west Germans around him—Adenauer forgot his fears and added:

"This is the first day of joy since Jan. 30, 1933."

That was the day Hitler came to power.

The little Canadian bred mare Miss Iowalto, owned by Hugh Stewart of Peterborough, won a $2,500 feature race at the Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, Long Island last Saturday.

Like her stablemate, Stewart Worthy, she has become a 'grandstand finisher.' She lay in fifth place and moved up rapidly to finish handily in first position. Clint Hodgins was the driver and this was the mare's first race this season. She goes again Monday night with Stewart Worthy at the same track.

Both horses are entered in the Nassau Pace and the Benjamin W. Dowling Memorial Pace, both $50,000 races at this meet.

GOOD SAMARITAN ACT

This is the story of a Good Samaritan act which was carried out on Saturday afternoon at 5.00 o'clock at the intersection of Park and Charlotte Sts. Central figure in the episode was little Donna Wade, 5½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garth S. Wade, 269 John St. Donna had gone to a store with an older girl and was returning home when the two children encountered a traffic jam at this busy corner. They were wheeling doll carriages, which complicated their fruitless efforts to effect a safe crossing. However, their plight was at length noted by one motorist who got out of his car and guided the little girls across to the other side. Mrs. Wade asked the Examiner today to express her thanks to the unknown car driver for his thoughtful act. G. C.

Seeks To Defend Profit Motive

An address explaining and defending the profit motive was made on Saturday before the Peterborough branch of the Associated Canadian Travellers by George L. Van Koughnett, public relations representative. His subject was "Public Relations and the Profit Story."

Particular stress was placed on the need for a "healthy" profit in any enterprise. He explained how this should be 2distributed among the shareholders and employees, and traced its ultimate effect on the customer and the general public.

Two films were shown to illustrate the talk.

Douglas J. Delaney introduced Mr. Van Koughnett and he was thanked by Jack Hewitt.

Booster prizes were won by Ed Simmons, Jack Hewitt, Earle O'Toole, and Bert Lockhurst.

Prices Move Quietly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP) — Prices moved quietly in a narrow range on the Toronto Stock Exchange today as trading dried to a trickle. A few base metals slipped lower while some junior golds provided some interest. Industrials and western oils were about balanced.

Volume for the first three hours was 479,000 shares, about 34,000 shares less than Friday's similar period.

Bobjo Mines and Roche Mines attracted considerable activity in the junior gold list, trading briskly for slight changes. Otherwise a few senior golds dipped fractions and junior producers backed down from early firmness.

Key base metal issues dipped lower in quiet action.

Papers tended fractionally lower in the industrial groupings.

Canadian Teachers Prefer Own Country

LONDON, Eng., May 9—(CP)—Canadian teachers are reluctant to come to London under an exchange system, London education committee said in a staff report. Only four exchanges were arranged for 1948-49 compared with 10 the previous year.

"Many London teachers are ready and willing to go to Canada but the difficulty has been to find their counterparts," the report said.

Hope was expressed that exchanges would be encouraged by P. H. B. Lyon, former headmaster of Rugby school who now is in Canada on behalf of the League of Empire.

Newspaper men began to call baseball enthusiasts "fanatics" in the eighties, and, within a short time, called them merely "fans."

Two Accidents Highway 28

Provincial Police investigated two motor vehicle accidents which occurred on No. 28 Highway near Peterborough early Saturday evening, in one of which two men suffered head cuts requiring several stitches to close. The accidents were investigated by Provincial Constable A. F. Grayling.

The accident which resulted in the injuries occurred just north of the Drive-In-Theatre and was caused by a collision between a Peterborough taxi driven by Harry Dunford and a car operated by William Russelle, 1035 Water St., Peterborough. Dunford received a cut on his forehead, in which a doctor had to take four stitches, and Ronald Wood, 777 Water St., a passenger in Russelle's car, sustained a scalp wound needing three stitches to close.

Both the taxi and the car were proceeding in a southerly direction. The taxi sustained damage of $300. and the car $100. damage.

In the other accident, which took place near the Filtration Plant, a car operated by James Sloan of Lakefield left the road and ran along in the ditch for a distance of 144 feet. The driver and another passenger escaped injury, but the car received about $100. damage. The car turned over on its side. It was heading toward Peterborough at the time and was towed to a garage in the city.

Find Bartering Replaces Cash In Shanghai

SHANGHAI, May 9 (AP)—The sidewalks of New York are celebrated in song, but you ought to see the sidewalks of Shanghai.

Always teeming with peddlers, they have become the largest merchandise "counter" in the world as normally salaried workers try to sell the goods they have received as wages.

Due to collapse of the Nationalist currency, few bosses had cash, so they paid off in whatever they could get.

Imagine a cannery worker being paid in canned peaches or a textile mill hand being paid in cloth. Then imagine those workers spreading these wares on the sidewalks of busy city streets to try to sell enough to feed their families.

That's the sort of thing that is going on in Shanghai on a tremendous scale.

On busy bubbling Well Road, this correspondent saw a big-eyed frightened boy of about 12. His month's wages — a dozen handkerchiefs—were spread out in the shade of a parked truck. When asked the price of his goods, he whispered tremulously and gulped as a loud-mouthed professional hawker tried to muscle in.

Making the sale, the boy grinned his gratitude and bolted away. He was luckier than most.

Business is not good, generally speaking. Most people haven't the money to send on new handkerchiefs, shoes or bedspreads. They are fortunate if they have enough to buy rice.

Has Own Time Zone

ST. JOHN'S, May 9 (CP)—Newfoundland, which has a time zone all its own, went on daylight saving time last midnight. Although most of Canada put ahead its clocks two weeks ago, Newfoundland abided its time in accordance with its ancient independence. It switches to "fast time" on the same date as in the years before Confederation.

Invitations were sent out to all those who had been interested in and contributed to the work of the library through the years. Rev. A. E. Larke was chairman.

Mr. Larke referred to life 50 years ago and the famous people of that day. Miss Joan Harris and Miss Myrna Larke played a duet "Hungarian Dance" by Brahms after which Miss Larke sang two solos "Monterey" and "Mah Lindy Lou", accompanied by Miss Joan Harris. Mrs. R. J. Meggs gave a history of the Public Library. Miss Dorothy Harris presented a framed scroll containing the names of all presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries and librarians during the 50 years. This was beautifully done, the work being shared between Misses Dorothy and Shirley Harris. Wallace Pratt received the scroll.

Harris in accepting the book, recalled old days in the history of the village. Miss Myrna Larke sang "Swallows" and "Absent", followed by a piano solo "Butterfly Waltz" by Miss Joan Harris.

Mrs. Meggs presented two framed photographs, one of Capt. Gore, first of that name to settle here, and the other of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gore, Mexico City. Mr. Larke called on Mrs. T. D. McGaw for a few remarks.

Other speakers included Major R. E. Drope, Harwood; Ewart King, Hilton Harris, Rev. Allan Johnson, Rev. K. D. Whatmough and J. D. Fowlie who, with Capt. Wilbert Harris, were the two men present at the first meeting of the Mechanics Institute 40 years ago.

SHATTERED VESSEL—Her hull cracked by two internal explosions and ravaged by resulting flames, the oil tanker Elkhound of Saint John, N.B. is shown settling to the bottom of the Miramichi River at Newcastle, N.B. The tanker was towed into mid stream to prevent destruction of the town when the explosions rocked the vessel just before sailing time after she unloaded a cargo of oil. Three members of the crew including her captain, Gordon W. Weston of Rexton, N.B., suffered minor injuries. The blast shattered windows and damaged dwellings on both sides of the river.

Apathy of Canadians Aids Spread of Communist Ideal

COBOURG, May 9 (ENS) — "Communism is not a nuisance but a threat," declared Fred Ethier, Belleville industrialist, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club last week. Guest at the luncheon was Miss Margaret Drummond of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. A report on the district conference at Toronto was given by Russell Manning and Mel Earle.

The speaker declared that he could call his talk "Communism vs. Labour," or "Communism vs. Canadianism."

"If you were sure today that somebody would destroy your home tomorrow, you would do something about it today. Communism is out to destroy our Canadian way of life and it should be feared and abhorred as much as arson. Right within the walls of democracy in our Canada, a vast system is being built up and Communism is here to stay unless we do something about it. We have seen some of its effects in Europe, but a great deal of it we never hear about because of the controlled press in Communist-dominated countries. It is as insidious as the plague," he said.

Scores "Fellow-travellers"

Mr. Ethier declared that it was difficult to understand the "fellow-travellers" who tag along with Communism. They failed to realize that, as in the Soviet purge, national lines must bow to Moscow, or else. Communist sympathizers were in home and school clubs, in the ranks of teachers, in well-meaning but misguided clergy.

Communist influence strove to disrupt relations between labor and employers, to stall industry.

Program Planned For WI Annual

TRENT RIVER, May 9 (ENS)—An executive meeting of the East Peterborough District Women's Institute was held in the Agriculture District office, Peterborough, recently, when plans were made for the district annual meeting which will be held in the Havelock Town Hall on Tuesday, June 14. Ten of the 11 branches in the district were represented. A new branch, Brookdale, in the city of Peterborough, was organized and Mrs. W. J. Goodswan was elected president.

Mrs. Harry Mann, Trent River, district president, was in charge of the meeting.

There will be the usual morning and afternoon sessions, with dinner being served in the Anglican church, Havelock.

To Give Addresses

Miss B. Broadfoot of the Home Economics Dept., Toronto, will speak on the co-operative program, and Mrs. Carl Moynes, of Oakwood Federated Institutes Board member, will bring greetings from the board and also conduct the election of officers.

Lakefield branch will put on a short skit and Havelock and Warsaw branches will offer musical numbers for the afternoon program.

Mrs. Eric Little, Trent River, was chosen song leader, and Mrs. Harry Pollock, Havelock, pianist.

Group 3 of the Women's Association of the United church, held a successful pot luck dinner, and quilting on Wednesday afternoon in the dining hall of the church.

Havelock Drive Opens Against Liquor Sales

HAVELOCK, May 9—(ENS)—The Havelock Temperance Federation opened its campaign against the establishment of liquor outlets in the town with a public meeting in the town hall on Friday night. A vote on the question is slated for June 14.

Rev. David MacLennan of the Ontario Temperance Federation, Toronto, was the guest speaker and showed two moving picture films.

Mr. MacLennan said he attended a Liquor Licence Board session in the forenoon at which one of the main arguments put forward for the establishment of liquor and beer outlets in a community was that they brought in more business. He said that any merchant who needs a liquor store to prop up his business must be a poor business man. In dealing with the argument that liquor would bring more tourists he said the travelling public were not looking for liquor, but rather good hotel accommodation, good restaurants, stores, barber shops, and souvenirs and novelties.

Must Train Youth

The main problem, he said, is the training of youth against the danger of alcohol to the human system. G. A. Brethen of Norwood, president of the Peterborough Temperance Federation, said he had read with interest the account in the press of the co-operation on the part of the residents of Havelock in regard to the rink project for the benefit of the youth of the village and then came the announcement like a cloud on the horizon that a petition had been filed with the town clerk for liquor outlets to be established.

Many Alcoholics

Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh said there were 75,000 alcoholics in Ontario and he asked if that was not an awful cost for the revenue derived from liquor. Youth must be educated, he said, for the danger period was between the ages of 16 and 21 years.

Mr. Vanderburgh, chairman of the local Temperance Federation, presided.

The Red Cross Vs. The Community Fund

The Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross Society has been asked—to put it less politely, ordered—to withdraw from the Community Fund by the Ontario Division, acting in the name of the National Office of the Red Cross. The National Office is, we presume, free to make such demands of its branches, and the Red Cross is certainly at liberty to choose and use its own methods of raising money in Peterborough as elsewhere. The Red Cross may drop out of the Community Fund whenever it pleases.

* * *

We forbear to comment on the dilemma of the local Red Cross Society which, whatever its inclinations, is given a hard option in the matter. It must either secede from the Community Fund by the first of January next year, or surrender its charter. That is a matter of the relations between the head office of the organization and its branches, and is not our concern. We ask, however, if the National Office of the Red Cross is well advised when, as a matter of general policy made applicable to Peterborough, it rejects the fund-raising methods used in Peterborough and insists on a separate campaign? Has the National Office taken into sufficient account the practices and wishes of the people of Peterborough from whom the Red Cross expects to get money? The National Office may lay down a policy, but in Peterborough it is Peterborough people who are expected to pay.

* * *

The officials of the Red Cross explain that there is no dispute between them and the persons who manage the Red Cross and Community Fund. We are glad this is so, for we see no reason that there should be any. The Red Cross, which has been a participating member of the Community Fund since its inception, has always done pretty well out of it, and gets the largest share of the proceeds. Indeed, in deference to the Red Cross Society, the Community Fund campaign is called "Red Cross and Community Fund". This winter the National Office suggested that the Peterborough Branch raise the large sum of $30,000. The local society in conjunction with the Fund members, pared this figure to $15,000. The campaign resulted in $70,000 being raised, the target sum of the campaign although it was hoped that more might have been collected. After the campaign's close the Red Cross of Peterborough was given $20,000, that is, better than 28 per cent. of the total money collected.

* * *

We realize that the Red Cross is not a Peterborough community organization. Indeed, little of the money collected for it in this district is spent directly on Peterborough community welfare. That its service is national may be an argument for a fund-raising campaign separate from the Community Fund. However, the Salvation Army and the Institute for the Blind which share in the Fund are also national in their scope.

The principal local aspects which the National Red Cross should consider are that for eight years the citizens of this district have preferred to lump all welfare canvasses together in the one Community Fund campaign and not to be [illegible] that this method has been successful; and that the Red Cross has received thereby very substantial sums of money. The Red Cross is at liberty to try a separate appeal, but if thereby the Society does not receive as good financial support as in the past, the National Office will have to accept the responsibility.

Battle Over U.S. Labour Law

The Easter recess apparently failed to modify the attitude of certain rebel legislators of the Democratic Party in the United States Congress. It had been intimated that President Truman and other Democratic leaders felt that a visit to their constituencies might make these rebels realize that it was Mr. Truman who carried the party to a surprise victory last November, and that, as a consequence, they would be ready to support party legislation on their return to Washington. The rebels returned from the Easter recess, however, as rebellious as when they left.

When the Taft-Hartley labour legislation issue came before the House of Representatives, it caused roughly the same division that defeated President Truman's civil rights program. A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats lined up against the Truman Democrats, before large galleries of labour and industrial lobbyists. At the week's end, neither side had scored decisively, although the coalition had a tactical edge on the Administration.

Repeal of the controversial Taft-Hartley labour legislation was one of President Truman's major campaign promises. Since the bill was Republican legislation, bitter opposition to repeal by the Republicans was a foregone conclusion. The Administration had expected, however, that dissident Southerners would take advantage of an issue of this nature to show loyalty to the party aside from the civil rights issue they could never be expected to approve. But the bitter opposition by the Southerners to other measures of President Truman's program, introduced before Easter, had aroused uneasiness.

This uneasiness was reflected in President Truman's open warning there would be no patronage for those who voted against the party's program. The reaction to that warning was obviously not one Mr. Truman had hoped for; instead of falling in line, the rebels denounced Mr. Truman's tactics, and joined the attack on his legislation. Since complete defeat for Mr. Truman on the Taft-Hartley legislation would mean serious loss of both personal and party prestige, the Administration fought back vigorously.

It now seems the best Mr. Truman can hope for is a compromise—which might prove the most acceptable solution. The Wagner Act went too far in labour's favour, and the Taft-Hartley law, which replaced the Wagner Act, went too far in the other direction. Legislation halfway between might be less susceptible to attack by either labour or industry.

The Death of Maeterlinck

It was the misfortune of Maurice Maeterlinck to outlive his great reputation; before the First Great War he was often called "the Belgian Shakespeare"; probably when his death was announced on Friday last a great many people were surprised to learn that he had lived so long. It was nonsense, of course, to compare him with Shakespeare; a writer less like Shakespeare would be hard to imagine; but he was a writer of great abilities all the same, and in the course of time we shall re-read and re-value his works, and know how good he really was.

Maeterlinck's desire was to reveal the mysteries which lie hidden below the surface of life and conduct—to reveal but not to explain. His plays are peopled with mysterious creatures, weighed down with unexplained sorrows and tortured by unspecified doubts, but these creations take on an amazing and telling vitality when they are understandingly presented on the stage. One of his dramas Monna Vanna is constantly acted in Europe, thought it is repugnant to American taste. Pelleas and Melisande is a great play, and has inspired a great opera; The Blue Bird, even as butchered by Hollywood, is magical. Best known to Canadian audiences, perhaps, is The Burgomaster of Stilemonde, so beautifully acted in this country by the late Sir John Martin-Harvey, who introduced Maeterlinck's work to English-speaking audiences as early as 1900.

"The Belgian Shakespeare" was a foolish name to tack on a man whose talents were all his own. The world will forget that nonsense, but it will not soon forget Maurice Maeterlinck.

Of Cabbages And Kings

By PETER ELIOT

ONE hundred and sixteen years ago last Saturday, Johannes Brahms, was born in Hamburg. Walter Niemann has some interesting stories to tell of Brahms the man, in his biography Brahms, translated from the German by Catherine Alison Phillips.

"The beardless Johannes of some thirty years," writes Niemann, "astonished friends by his robust health. Like so many remarkably intellectual men, he was able to take a nap at any moment in the day-time, in the open air just as well as in his rooms, and even at night it did not upset him in the least if at times he was forced to camp out on the sofa in a friend's house, or even under the grand piano."

AT the age of 45 Johannes turned from a a beardless, youthful-looking musician into a sturdy mature man with luxuriant hair, which became silver with advancing years, and a voluminous beard and moustache. No wonder he was frequently taken for an actor or a parson. He retained his delight in harmless and boyish jests till an advanced age. He once had himself announced to his friends at the cafe which he regularly frequented, as "Kappelmeister Muller from Brunswick", and indeed he had became so unrecognizable, Niemann says, and succeded in preserving his incognito so successfully by speaking in short, abrupt sentences, that Nottebohm, who was in the habit of speaking to him every day, kept inquiring after affairs in Brunswick the whole evening!

✧ ✧ ✧

AUTOGRAPH hunting disturbed Brahms, who, with little practice, became equal to even the most artful methods of getting his signature. Year after year an unknown lady at Kapstadt, used to order from him "one of his excellent, world-renowned Viennese pianos," or a firm of ironmongers at Solingen would threaten him with the arrival during the next few days of ten dozen genuine Solingen knives which he was supposed to have ordered—the money to be collected through the post office, cash-on-delivery system. Brahms saw through both attempts and made no reply. He was very chary of dedications to his works. Out of his one hundred and twenty-two compositions with opus numbers, there are only twenty-nine with dedications.

✧ ✧ ✧

A friend once said that when with children he "was like a child himself." The reminiscences of some of his friends have handed down to us some charming little details. At Krefeld, relates von der Leyen, he would indulge in regular snowballing battles with the merry schoolgirls. It was a great amusement to him to tease children good-naturedly—for instance on meeting a little girl who was trying to carry a jug of beer to her father, he would take the jug out of her hand and raise it to his mouth as if about to drink, just in order to see the child's startled and astonished eyes. At Bern he would set Widmann's five-year-old daughter on his shoulder and "ride" her through the busy street, regardless of the passers-by. To win the confidence of children and give them pleasure by sweetmeats, merry pranks, and his willingness to play with them—especially poor children, to whom he felt particularly drawn by the recollection of his own hard childhood — meant more to him than all the awestruck admiration of grown-up people.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONCE he mystified a young pianist, who was to turn over one of his manuscripts at the piano for his dear friend Clara Schumann, by secretly giving her all sorts of misleading directions, resulting in a hopeless musical confusion. Another time he went into the empty music room in the house of some friends and there murdered one of Czerny's scale studies so terribly, by intentionally breaking down and stumbling over it, that the indignant mother rushed in from the next room, only to discover that the sinner was not her Franzi, but the laughing composer. He even fooled Clara Schumann by having a few extracts from his latest piano-pieces written out by another hand and then slying attributing them to her as sheets of old note-paper bearing her name, and then slying attributing them to her as "youthful sins" of her own.

THERE is the story of the time at Venice, when he incited Clara Schumann's daughter to take Billroth, who was a passionate "nutcracker," a bag of nuts to his hotel on the pretence that it was his birthday. He also tried to pass off a movement of a symphony on Clara as a movement of a new piano concerto. Then at Baden-Baden, he sent off a voluble and tiresome journalist and professional interviewer along a path through the wood on the mountain—where, he said, he might still hope to overtake "my brother, the composer."

But even the most loyal Brahms admirer must admit that the great majority fall under the category of sarcasm. For instance, of the 'cellist at Vienna: he complained and grumbled that, owing to Brahms' piano-playing, which was always too loud, he could [illegible] curtly replied "Happy man.!!"

✧ ✧ ✧

HE successfully (and publicly) foisted a military march by Gungi on to a conceited little Swiss musical director on the Lake of Zurich, who assured him that he knew everything by Brahms, as one of his own compositions. And in response to the question of a pert young lady at Essen as to why the composer was not married, he answered promptly; "None of them would have me; and if there had been one I could not have stood her on account of her bad taste."

✧ ✧ ✧

ELLERY Sedgwick, famous bibliophile and former editor of the Atlantic Monthly, persuaded Edgar T. Welles, son of Lincoln's Secretary of the Navy to release his father's very important private Journal. In The Happy Profession he tells the following story of Mrs. Lincoln's political pressure upon her husband:

"He remembered it in every detail, and what boy could forget it! Edgar was standing outside a shop on Pennsylvania Avenue when an open barouche drew up at the kerb. In it sat the President, his features rigid as a grave image. Beside him, her voluminous hoop billowing about the carriage, sat Mrs. Lincoln. The darkey coachman stopped the horses not six feet away. The listener could hear every word of the conjugal conversation.

"'I ask you one last time,' Mrs. Lincoln was saying; 'will you appoint him?'

"'I will not,' replied the President.

"Mrs. Lincoln's voice seemed to burst with fury. 'Abe' she said, 'you appoint that man or I'll get right down on that sidewalk— and roll.'

"'All right,' he said, 'I'll appoint him.'"

"I have also seen with my own eyes (continues Sedgwick) a group of letters written in Mrs. Lincoln's hand not three months after the murder of her husband. They were addressed to collectors on behalf of a fund for the benefit of the President's widow. Now is the time, she wrote, to secure subscriptions when the tragedy is fresh and the feeling most poignant, and she begged her correspondents please to remember that they were at liberty to subtract 25 per cent. from all moneys collected to reimburse them for their time and trouble. Are there lower limits to the despicable than that? I read the letters and thought of the cross Mr. Lincoln had borne, with a lump in my throat."

Legal Aid And Advice

(U.K. INFORMATION OFFICE)

WITH somewhat sardonic humour, it used to be said in England that justice, like the Ritz Hotel, was open to all. The costs of litigation were high, and people who had, or thought they had, a just claim but small means, and wished to bring a civil suit before the courts had to depend on the charity of members of the legal profession, or appeal to one of the philanthropic organizations which provided legal aid. So, for the poor, legal aid and advice was a voluntary social service, unequally available throughout the country. This situation is now to be remedied.

The Government has recently introduced Bills into Parliament to make legal advice more readily available for persons of small or moderate means and to enable the cost of legal aid or advice for them to be met from public funds. Legal aid means "assistance in conducting or defending proceedings in the courts"; legal advice means "advice on legal matters, drafting simple documents, and negotiations apart from the conduct of litigation".

In criminal cases, legal aid has existed for centuries through "dock briefs". By these, a person on indictment is entitled, on payment of the sum of one guinea (about $4.20) to the service in his defence of any barrister who happens to be in court at the time that he is in the dock. The Poor Prisoners' Defence Acts of 1903 and 1930 allow courts to grant free legal representation by a legal aid or defence certificate issued by the magistrates. Certificates are granted to defendants only. Provision is also made for representation in higher courts in both criminal and civil cases.

Hitherto, legal advice has always been associated with voluntary social service, and facilities are considerably more uneven than those for legal aid. The oldest service offering legal advice for the poor is known as the Poor Man's Lawyer. The first to be established was in 1893 in a London settlement, Toynbee Hall. Since then a number of centres have been established in London and in some of the larger provincial towns. Solicitors and barristers, whose names are usually not disclosed to applicants, attend and give free advice to those whose weekly income is below £4 (about $16) a week. The only other facilities available have been the free or cheap service that members of the legal profession have given to their poor clients, the advice traces unions have given to their members, and the advice of stipendiary magistrates, magistrate's clerks, and county court registrars.

In 1944, a committee was appointed under the chairmanship of Lord Rushcliffe to inquire into existing facilities for legal aid and advice, and to make recommendations. A report was issued in 1945. The Bills at present before Parliament are based on the recommendations.

THE object of the scheme is to provide assistance in a more effective form in the conduct of civil proceedings and also legal advice for those of slender means and resources, so that no one will be financially unable to prosecute a just and reasonable claim or defend a legal right; and to permit all counsel and solicitors to be remunerated for their services. The principle of the scheme is that legal aid should be available to a large group of persons, namely those whose income does not exceed £420 (about $1,680) a year, and whose capital does not exceed £500 ($2,000). Assessments will be made by the National Assistance Board. The administration of the scheme will be in the hands of the Law Society, with the addition of representatives of the General Council of the Bar, under the general guidance of the Lord Chancellor.

A person who wishes to receive legal aid will have to apply to a local committee for a certificate, to be known as a "Civil Aid Certificate". Legal aid will be refused unless the local committee is satisfied that the applicant for assistance has reasonable grounds for taking, defending, or being a party to, the proceedings in question. There will be local panels of barristers and solicitors from which an applicant will be able to choose his counsel or solicitor.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come unto thee....My days are like a shadow that declineth; and I am withered like grass. But thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations....

I said, O my God, take me not away in the midst of my days: thy years are throughout all generations.... The children of thy servants shall continue, and their seed shall be established before thee. (Ps. 102: 1, 11, 12; 24, 28.)

For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit....

So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirt of God dwell in you. (Rom. 8: 5, 8, 9.)

Say Red Infiltration In Austria More Dangerous Than West Knows

By HUBERT HARRISON

VIENA, May 9 (Reuters). — Communist infiltration into Austrian organizations and institutions is far more thorough and dangerous than was that of the Nazis in pre-Anschluss Austria.

This is the opinion of a high Austrian police official.

"If there were a war or a Communist putsch," he said, "neither the Red Army nor the Communist Party would lose any time in replacing the present Austrian administration—they have people waiting to take over the moment the time is ripe."

This police official expressed concern that foreign governments in the west do not appear to realize the extent of the danger, just as Western democracies failed to realize, until it was too late, the danger of what was happening from 1934 to 1938.

It is well known here that the Communists have members or "sympathizers" placed in all the Austrian ministries and in the police force.

More Cunning Methods

This was done when the Russians first came in and also during the period when the Communists were still one of the three government parties and had the right to a share in all key positions.

According to the police official the process of infiltration has become more intense and more cunning in recent months.

"The new policy is to fill important posts with 'sympathizers' who are not openly Communists," he said.

Many examples could be given illustrating how far this infiltration has gone. For instance, the Communist-dominated "Waiters Union" recently decided to institute immediately a 48-hour week without waiting for a government-sanctioned change of working conditions in the hotel and restaurant industry.

One concern made a voluntary agreement with its waiters not to demand this 48-hour week and to continue to work their former hours.

Now an oil company has refused to supply any more heating oil to the restaurant and the Transport Workers have refused to deliver such oil because the restaurant does not give its workers a 48-hour week.

In all trade union and workers' movements, cooperatives and similar organizations, the Communists, although greatly in the minority, have managed to obtain a vastly disproportionate share of power. This is due, the police official said, to the fact that no one dares make the first move of opposition.

If one person opposed them, the opposition would grow like an avalanche "but just as in 1938 (when Hitler marched in) that one person does not exist."

Only doctors and clergymen were allowed to pass through the barricades which were later removed as reinforcements of police neared the town. Many of the men were armed with clubs. One hundred and fifty miners were arrested for their part in the violence.

Canadian Scientists Study Atomic Energy As Fuel

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—Canada's atomic scientists at Chalk River are pursuing the potentialities of atomic energy as fuel and power, government officials report in Ottawa.

It is known, they say, that consumption of one pound a day or uranium 235 in fission generates heat at a rate equivalent to about 450,000 kilowatts or the amount of heat which would be generated from burning 1,300 tons of coal a day.

The translation of this inforation into a workable economic principle is the objective of one of the major research programs at Chalk River.

Energy from its radioactive pile emerges as heat. In its "low temperature" pile and others of the present atomic era, this heat is removed by cooling liquids and gases at temperatures too low to be valuable as useful power. Before high "temperatures" piles are within grasp a "great deal" of information must be obtained.

Chalk River's pile happens to be particularly suited to this task and new methods of testing materials used in it and of processing nuclear fuel are being developed there.

In time, officials say, atomic energy will be an additional and alternative source of power and heat. It shouldn't be expected to replace entirely the present sources.

Adam And Fallen Man Lesson Sermon Subject

"ADAM AND FALLEN MAN" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was: "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." (I Corinthinians 15:22).

Selections from the Bible included the following from Genesis 1:1-26: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following: "The standard of perfection was originally God and man. Has God taken down His own standard, and has man fallen? God is the creator of man, and, the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect."

"Back of our family happiness is a financial program which takes care of us all.

UNARMED MAN SAVES FARMER ATTACKED BY ENRAGED BULL

WINS DOW AWARD

GEORGES MARTEL of Portneuf, Que., pulls 78-year old man to safety

Edouard Frenette, 78, was walking through the yard when a bull charged and tossed him into the air. Landing on his back he was again being attacked when Georges Martel, passing in his truck, stopped and raced to the scene.

Without thinking of his own safety, Martel rushed at the bull — shouting and waving his arms. The trick worked . . . and the animal turned away . . . giving Martel time to drag the farmer out of the field.

We are proud to present Georges Martel with The Dow Award.

1. Before Frenette, who is quite deaf, knew what was happening . . . the bull had tossed him brutally into the air. He landed on his back.

2. From his truck, Georges Martel saw what was happening and rushed to the rescue. Unarmed, he somehow managed to turn the bull away from its victim.

3. Quickly Martel pulled the badly gored farmer from the field, saving the man's life . . . and took him across the road to the house. He gave him first aid and summoned a doctor.

Senators Capture Allan Cup Defeat Regina Capitals 5-3

By GEORGE FORSTER

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—Ottawa Senators have the Allan Cup. The big silver mug was handed to them Saturday night after they beat Regina Capitals 5-3 in the fifth game of the 1949 Canadian Senior Hockey finals. Senators out-skated, out-checked and out-shot the western champions before 7,892 fans who dressed more like a baseball than a hockey crowd in the warm May weather. The temperature was past 60 degrees in the crowded rink, but players said the ice was "fair".

Ottawa jumped into the lead within three minutes of the first period. Twice Regina tied—but never passed—them. There was little doubt of the outcome from the start, as Capitals seemed lost in the end-zones of the oval-ended Ottawa rink—subject to bitter debate throughout the series. Ottawa lost only five games there this season.

Lude Check, Ray Trainor, Eddie Emberg, Emile Dagenais and Nils Tremblay got the goals for the Senators and Toby Brown, Lou Hauck and Mel Hill got them for the Caps.

Top Scorer

Tremblay, 24-year-old centre from Quebec, came out as top scorer of the five-game series with three goals and six assists for nine points. Right behind him were his wingers—Bill Robinson with four goals and four assists and Eddie Dartnell with four goals and two assists. Ab McDougall, with three goals and two assists, was top sniper for Regina.

Check got his marker, unassisted, a scant three minutes after the game started. He picked up the puck as Regina tried to clear it from the goal-mouth and beat Bentley on a screened shot. Brown scored for Regina minutes later on a rush with Staseson and Tilson, only to have Ray Trainor score on another screened shot.

Caps tied it up early in the second period when Hauck scored at the end of a rush with Gus and Bill Kyle. But Eddie Emberg shoved the puck past Bentley after the Regina goalie — the nephew of Max and Doug Bentley of the National Hockey League—trapped it with his stick. Dagenais got the clincher less than two minutes later—he caught the corner on a rush with Hellyer.

Tremblay got Ottawa's final goal early in the final period on a perfect pass from Dartnell and Hill and came back to score for Regina with less than five minutes left.

Ends Dispute

Saturday night's victory put an end to the possibility of any further dispute about Ottawa ice this year. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had ordered the rest of the series to be played in Montreal after Caps had protested against the odd-shaped Ottawa rink. But the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association had ordered the Senators to play in Ottawa and nowhere else.

It was the first time a civilian Ottawa team won the trophy in 41 years. Ottawa RCAF won it in 1943 and Senators lost to Edmonton Flyers in the cup finals out west lest year.

DISLIKES GRASS TRACKS—Percy Williams, who set a world track record for 100 metres in the 1930 Olympics doesn't like grass tracks. The Vancouver bachelor insurance salesman predicts Canadian sprinters on grass tracks at next year's New Zealand British Empire Games will set no records. He says: "I preferred running on cinders. Grass puts your timing out and throws you off stride.".

Ross Retains Boxing Title

HALIFAX, May 9 —(CP)—George Ross, still Canadian middleweight champion after dusting off challenger Pete Zaduk, today faced the biggest test of his career, a June 2 title defence against Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight king.

Ross was signed to a $5,000 contract immediately after he won a 12-round decision over Zaduk here Saturday night. Montreal promoter Raoul Godbout flew in for the fight and the signing which hinged on the outcome.

Ross shoved a lethal, puzzling left under Zaduk's nose and kept it there for 12 rounds. It baffled the 20-year-old Guelph challenger and the champion ran his victory string to 37 without a defeat.

SPORTS EDITOR DIES

At St. Louis Frank Burton (Burt) Whitman, sports editor of the Boston Herald, collapsed from a cerebral hemorrhage at the first Red Sox-St. Louis Browns baseball game yesterday and died later in hospital. He was 52.

IN SEMI-FINAL—A hed-hot semi-final bout is expected at the Brock Arena Wednesday night when Pat Flanagan goes in against Wee Willie Davis, shown above. Both men are top-flight wrestlers. In the main bout the Unmasked Marvel and the man who unmasked him, Fred Atkins meet for the second time. Atkins won by disqualification five weeks ago but the mystery-man has refused to consider that the Australian is the better man. This time they'l have no time limit to stop them proving which is the top wrestler. Frank Valois the big Frenchman meets an even bigger opponent in Big Ben Morgan.

Wins Boxing Title

HAMIUTON, May 9 (CP) — Baby-faced "Boots" Beauparlant of Crowland provided a major upset when he won the featherweight boxing title here Saturday night by outpointing Billy Tremblatt of London, Ont., in the Western Ontario section of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Fred Atkins, the hard rock from down under, tackles Lew Reynheer, the unmasked Marvel, in the main pro mat bout in the Brock Arena on Wednesday night. Grapple fans will recall that it was Atkins who tore the hood off Lew's noggin and, in fact, he is the only wrestler yet to gain a decision over the rough Marvel in these parts. Lew claims the Australian had an assist from Strangler Ed Lewis, so the rematch should be a hot go between two rugged ring warriors. Pat Flanagan goes against Wee Willie Davis in the semi-final, while Frank Valois takes on big Ben Morgan in the prelim. There's a lot of beef on that card, and no doubt plenty of mat action for the customers.

Membership committee of the Kawartha Golf Club, under the chairmanship of Les Reid, reports acceptance at a recent meeting of 31 new golfing members. House committee plans a three-storey addition to the clubhouse kitchen. Greens committee reports that the course wintered well, though some early golfers are forgetting to replace the divots. Also the back nine is still pretty damp, but should dry out shortly now. A "meet the pro" night billed for this Friday—which is the 13th, egad!—when Lex Robson will give a mass golf lesson. Big plans afoot, too, for the opening day a week from next Saturday, two days after the ladies open their season.

Softballers Are Set

Everything, including house-cleaning, opens up in the spring, tra la, and so it comes again to the opening of the softball season in the Bowl d'Ashburnham. Men's loop pries off the lid on the morrow there, weather permitting. First scheduled fixture is at seven betwixt Credit Jewelers and the Uniteds. It is followed shortly by Cosmopolitans and the Outlaws. Some brief opening ceremony, we imagine, and then it's "Play ball" once more. Four of the five clubs will unveil the 1949 editions for their followers, and folks will see what they will see. Naturally.

Boys wanting to play in the City Baseball League this summer should register tonight at the Oval, Riverside, Prince of Wales or Morrow Park—depending on what zones they are in. Loop officials will be present at 6.30 for an hour or so to take names and ages, this info being required for an executive meeting in the "Y" at seven Thursday night. All chairmen will make reports at that time so parks may be allotted, schedules drawn and everything set for the start of the minor ball season. Anyone having equipment is to bring it to Civic Arena from 6.30 to 8.00 tonight, where Percy Killingbeck will be in charge.

A Six-Club Circuit

COBL has accepted Smiths Falls and Brockville and the loop will run in two sections with an interlocking schedule. Petes, Batawa and Oshawa in one, each playing four home games against the others, and having a double-header (or two single games the same day) each in Kingston, Brockville and Smiths Falls, with these three doing the same up this way. Top two in each section play off and section winners then battle for the title. Kingston weren't represented at Sunday's meeting, but are pretty sure starters since the OBA turned down their request to affiliate directly with the OBA. Batawa opens the league here on May 21. Jarrell and Clemence will likely line up with Oshawa as all OBA transfers were granted at a huddle the other night.

Final open workouts for the Cosmos and Jewellers tonight, former at six at King Edward, the latter at 6.30 in Armour Field. Elsewhere, we've run a list of prospects for Stan Houlihan's new Jewellers, and any team filled with young hustlers is liable to pull a lot of upsets during a season. Looks like Ken Guilfoyle may go with Johnny Russelle's Knights, from what we hear. Howie Dalton has plenty of good material with Cosmos, including Parsons, Crowley, Bigford and Ed Nicholls for pitching, with Thomson and Menzies doing the catching. Infielders are Hawks, Crowe, Wyatt, Burns, Al Stewart and Bill Walton, while the gardeners include Pryde, Carpenter, Lewis, Withers, and Robson of Toronto. With Howie ready to fill in anywhere.

Red Wings Whip Toronto Twice

By the Associated Press.

Tom Podolsky, 19-year-old righthander of Rochester Red Wings, is one of the better rookie pitching prospects in the International Baseball League.

Poholsky turned in his fourth straight victory Sunday in pitching the Wings to a 3-2 12-inning victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the first game of a doubleheader.

Poholsky allowed the Leafs only six hits while fanning five and walking three. One of the safeties was a homer to Ed Sanicki.

The Wings also took the nightcap 6-1 scoring all of their runs in the first inning against veteran Oscar Judd. Rookie Dick Bokleman allowed three hits, one a homer by Bill Glynn in the second inning.

Buffalo Bisons also took a twin bill, beating Jersey City Giants 8-7 and 1-0 to take over first place from the Giants by 12 percentage points.

Frankie Drews belted three homers as Syracuse Chiefs divided a doubleheader with Baltimore Orioles. Drews socked two in the Chiefs' 4-3 1-inning first-game victory and one in their 7-4 nightcap loss.

Newark Bears and the defending champion Montreal Royals also split a doubleheader with the Royals grabbing the first game 7-5 and the Bears the second 6-5.

Trophies Presented Norwood Puckists

NORWOOD, May 9 (ERS). — About 55 executive and members of the Pee-Wee Hockey Club and guests sat down to dinner in the basement of the United Church on Friday evening.. After dinner William Garden, chairman, called upon Rev. E. E. Pugsley to present the championship cup to Lawrence Peoples, captain of the undefeated Chicago Black Hawks. "It is too bad," Mr. Pugsley said, "to see the American team take the coup, but then most players in the National Hockey League are Canadians anyway."

Harry McMillan, new member of the Norwood Rink Commission presented a cup to the captain of the runners-up, Delvin (Pete) Rusaw. These two cups are to be held for a year.

Gordon L. Stackhouse made the presentation of the first of the individual cups to Joe Rooney as being the most improved player in the league. Joe was not only the most improved player but was a fine and gentlemanly player at all times. Mr Stackhouse stated that if all the boys show as much improvement and carry on with the Pee-Wees, the TVL team will not have to go out of Norwood for competent players.

Presents Cup

Rev. E. E. Pugsley presented the cup for the most valuable player to his team to Pete Rusaw, who takes the eye of the crowd whenever he is in action. Elwood Begg was the goalie with the least goals scored against and the most shutouts. H. McMillan presented the cup. Mr. Stackhouse presented the cup for the player with the most points to Lawrence Peoples, far ahead of the other players.

Mr. Stackhouse also moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. William Garden and her coworkers and Miss Kae Edwards for the dinner and to the Rev. E. E. Pugsley for the use of the dining hall, and to all who had helped to make this annual event a success.

Coach Jim McMillan was called forward and he in turn presented crests to every member of the winning team, Lawrence Peoples, Elwood Begg, Glen Aldred, Roy Millett, Mervin Millet, Gordon Millett, Morris Redden, Bunny Miles, Murray Ranson, Freddie Morgan, Bruce Mullan, and Keith Bedore.

Mr. Stackhouse presented the crests to the finalists, the Maple Leafs, Pete Rusaw, Neil Telford, Leslie Gordon, Joel Redden, Joe Rooney, Carl Burtt, Wilfred Smith, Phillip Hines, Ross Stewart, Hayden Scott, Danny McManus, Harry Parker, and Don Cassidy.

Mrs. L. H. Edmunds presented a crest to Lorraine Hie, who substituted in any position on the ice throughout the Pee-Wee season when any of the teams were short a player.

Coaches Jack Lyden and Harry Kavanagh were in attendance and their teams Red Wings and Rangers, Paul Feeley, Bill Mullan, Clive Fredericks, Max Millett, Clarence Mainland, Frank Feeley, Williard Ranson, Billy Bondy, Francis Rooney, T. Wallbridge, Roger McManus, H. Allen, Earl Kavanagh, Danny Smith, Victor Mullan, Douglas Lochhead, Jim Feeley, Johnnie Ferguson, Bob Tedford, George Cassidy, Gordon Kavanagh, Ronnie Tolley, Paul McNeely, and D. Hamblin.

Mrs. Edmunds gave the boys their show money and they trooped out to the local movie in the Town Hall. Absent were two members of the Norwood Rink Commission, Rod Webb and Ken Pakenham,

Royals Trounce Wheat Kings In 7-4 Victory

By AL VICKERY.

BRANDON, Man., May 9 (CP)—A quietly confident band of Montreal Royals figure they can end their best-of-seven Memorial Cup final against Brandon Wheat Kings tomorrow night when the teams meet in the sixth contest.

Needing only a tie to capture the Canadian Junior hockey title the Royals will go onto the ice with a two-game lead, result of their impressive 7-4 victory over the Wheat Kings here Saturday night. The eastern champions now have won three contests and dropped one. Another game was tied 3-3 in overtime.

Brandon Wheat Kings, however, feel they have not been playing up to scratch and still can take the hustling Royals. But even their most ardent fans believe beating Montreal three straight is too tough a row to hoe.

Going into the series as favorites the Wheat Kings turned in one of their worst playoffs of the season Saturday night.

Score First Goal

The first period along followed the pattern of the first four games, with Royals walking off with a 1-0 margin—keeping intact their record of having scored the first goal of each game. But Brandon wilted in the last two frames, being outscored 3-2 in each.

Gordie Knutson and Bob Frampton, with two goals apiece, headed the Royals' scoring, while Bert Herschfeld, Neal Langill and Dick Moore tallied the remainder. Frank King, Brandon captain again paced the Wheat Kings, with two goals and an assist. Mac Beaton and Reggie Abbott accounted for the others.

With their team behind at all stages, the 4,700 fans—mostly Brandon supporters—had little to cheer about except in the middle session when most of the players fere engaged in a free-for-all. It wound up with the referees sending three players to the penalty box for five minutes apiece, and awarding Brandon a penalty shot.

Reggie Abbott and Brian Roche of Brandon and Bill Rattray of Royals each drew majors, along with Montreal goalkeeper Bobby Bleu, who did not have to sit out as King scored on the penalty shot.

Senators Dump Cleveland In Stunning Doubleheader

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Its not official yet, but there is a strong rumor that American League clubs are planning to ask for an investigation of Washington Senators.

They simply can't believe that the allegedly weak-hitting Senators, riding high on an amazing seven-game winning streak, have been using natural batting power.

Washington's double win over the Indians in Cleveland yesterday was the most amazing stunt of the young season. The Senators whipped the world champions in the opener 7-3 and shut them out in the nightcap 2-0 before 33,734 stunned fans.

Ray Scarborough went all the way to chalk up his second victory in the opener. The Nats clubbed Gene Bearden and three successors for 13 hits to hang the season's first defeat on the Tribe southpaw.

Sid Hudson pitched four-hit ball in the second game to register his first victory. Al Benton was the loser.

Humble Cubs

New York Giants humbled Chicago Cubs 10-1 for their sixth consecutive victory. The triumph gave the Giants undisputed possession of first place, as Pittsburgh socked the Braves twice in Boston 8- 3and 11-8.

The Giants backed Larry Jansen's steady pitching with a 14-hit attack that included Bobby Thomson's three-run homer.

The Bucs clubbed Johnny Sain of the Braves out of the first game with a five-hit four-run attack in the opening frame. Ralph Kiner collected three hits in each game including his fourth home run of the season.

Brooklyn scored four runs in a wild seventh inning to defeat St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 at Ebbets Field. The Dodgers made only two hits in that inning, but received three walks and benefitted by Ed Kazak's error. The defeat dropped the Cards into a last-place tie with the Cubs.

Divide Twin Bill

Cincinnati and the Phillies divided a doubleheader in Philadelphia. The Reds won the opener 14-7 with a seven-run 12th inning. The Phils grabbed the nightcap, 8-1. Bill Nicholson batted in five runs for the Phils in the nightcap with two singles and a home run.

Lefty Tommy Byrne allowed only two hits pitching the American League leading New York Yankees to a 12-0 victory over the Tigers before more than 52,000 fans in Detroit. The Yankees got 17 hits including four by Tommy Henrich to snap Virgil Truck's four-game winning streak.

Boston Red Sox took both ends of a doubleheader from the lowly Browns in St. Louis 10-6 and 4-3. The first game went 13 innings and the second only eight because of darkness. The double defeat extended the Brown's losing string to 10 in a row.

The Athletics split a twin bill with the White Sox in Chicago, winning the second game 3-2 after Chicago had walked off with an 11-3 victory in the first. Bill McCahan notched his first success for the A's in the nightcap. Hank Majeski, after hitting safely in Philadelphia's first 19 games, was stopped by winning pitcher Randy Bumpert.

TIGERS MAKE EXCHANGE

Detroit Tigers Saturday sent outfielder Earl Rapp to Chicago White Sox in a straight player trade for infielder Don Kolloway. Rapp came to the Tigers from Buffalo of the International League in 1946. He was farmed out to Seattle in 1948 and rejoined Detroit this spring Kolloway, 30, will be used as a utility infielder.

The year was 1866...

. . . the leaders in Canada's confederation movement met in London and argued a knotty problem: what to name the new nation. "Colony" fell far short of suiting the temper of Canadian thinking. It is recorded that Sir Leonard Tilley of New Brunswick finally pointed out the aptness of the biblical quotation:

"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea."

There is a lesson for every Canadian in this story from the past. By the very origin of the name, "Dominion" can never mean "domination." "Domination" would never be accepted by Canadians. But the Dominion of Canada is the Dominion of a free people . . . men and women who are privileged to express their will through the ballot box:

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked, and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

$1,300 of Big Wasaga Loot Belongs To Local Resorts Police Seek Other Owners

Some $1,300 worth of the large quantity of stolen goods located at Wasaga Beach, near Collingwood, over a week ago by Provincial Police has been identified as having been taken from three commercial establishments located in the area served by the Peterborough District Headquarters of the Provincial Police, it was learned today. Proprietors of the following resorts identified some of the loot on Friday as having been stolen from them in recent months: Hart Lodge, north of Minden; Royal Cabins, Fenelon Falls; and Wonderland Dance Hall, near Lindsay.

Goods identified by these resort owners are only part of their total losses, however, as apparently the rest of the goods stolen from them must have been stored by the thieves at another location.

Loot discovered at Wasaga is valued at around $40,000 altogether and the process of locating the owners is still going on. Several persons from Cobourg are now engaged in trying to see if goods taken from properties owned by them is among the large store of "hot" supplies. Included among the stolen effects located at Wasaga was $100,000 worth of jewelry belonging to Lady Eaton of Toronto.

It was on a tip supplied by member of the Cobourg detachment of the Provincial Police, who are responsible to the Peterborough headquarters, that the big cache was discovered and an arrest made.

St. Paul's Bids Bon Voyage To Its Minister

St. Paul's congregation, bid bon voyage to the Rev. G. G. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd Sunday evening, upon their departure on May 23rd for Scotland, where Mr. Boyd is preaching this summer. The Sunday school auditorium of the church was filled to capacity for the social hour after evening service Mr. James Dutton, Sr., acted as chairman and expressed the good wishes of the congregation to Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and gave them a handsome cheque on behalf of the congregation.

Mrs. Jessie Spencley, Mr. John Anderson and Mr. C. Gledhill contributed musical numbers with a Scottish ring to them. Mr. Boyd made fitting reply and thanked the congregation for their great kindness and warm-hearted generosity. He spoke of the kindness of the Session and Presbytery in granting him leave of absence for three months in order to exchange pulpits with Rev. W. A. Smellie, B.D., of St. John's Kirk in Perth. The latter is a congregation of over two thousand members and the Church of Norman architecture is one of the oldest in Scotland.

It was here that John Knox preached the first sermon of the Scottish Reformation. Later the ancient building was divided into three places of worship, until after the First Great War when the city of Perth rebuilt the church as a war memorial at a cost of $250,000.

Delegate to Belfast

Mr. Boyd is to preach in Glasgow Cathedral, the West Church of St. Nicholas, Aberdeen, St. Mary's, Dundee and Dunfermline Abbey. He has also been appointed by the Presbyterian Church in Canada as representative to the Assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church in Belfast in June.

Rev. W. A. Smellie, after conducting the united services in Murray St. Church the first three Sundays in July, will preach on his vacation in Central Methodist Church, Detroit, St. Nochillas Church, New York City and united services in Montclair, N. J. as arranged by the Federal Council of Churches, committee for the interchange of ministers.

PLANE SHOWERS LEAFLETS

People in the downtown section of Peterborough gazed sykward in wonder at noon today as a hail of paper descended. Some momentarily toyed with the idea that a freak updraught had tossed the paper into the air. But the more observant reported that an aircraft hired by the Y's Men's Club was dropping leaflets advertising the three act comedy "It Pays To Advertise."

Most of the potted plants were geraniums which sold from 35 cents for a budding plant to $1 for blooming plant. Wild flowers, violet and trilliums, sold quickly in bunches from 10 cents to 25 cents.

Grade A seed potatoes sold for $2.25 for a 75-pound bag. Table stock sold steady at $1.50 a 75-pound bag.

Hothouse plants such as lettuce, tomatoes, cabbages, petunias, marigolds and pansies sold generally at 30 cents a box. The boxes averaged about 15 plants a box. Onions, hothouse plants, were selling at 35 cents a box. Cut spring table onions were three bunches for 25 cents.

Women Should Apply Gains Senator Tells Teachers

Apathy of women toward putting members of their own sex in positions of leadership was deplored by the Hon. Iva C. Fallis when she addressed the Federation of Women Teachers of Ontario Saturday. She felt that in "Working for the world we want", title of her speech, teachers have a large opportunity to change this attitude as they have an influence on women of the coming generation.

The Senator believes that women can do a very great deal to bring about a world that is governed by principles of the four freedoms. Their place is "wherever they are needed most and where they can do a good job," and never were they needed more than now." Mentioning notable women in world affairs she pointed out they have left no doubt of their ability to fill the positions when given the opportunity. "The battle of principles has been won in theory,—it is now a battle of application", she said.

There is no discriminatory law to bar women from the Federal or Provincial government, yet not one woman has been in the Ontario Legislature as representative of the leading political parties, Conservative or Liberal, in spite of the fact that it has jurisdiction over matters more vitally affecting women. Senator Fallis also pointed out that women may serve on the Board of Education, yet in Peterborough there is only one woman member, which seems hardly adequate representation.

Welcome Controversy

Reasons for this overwhelming majority of males in power were listed by Mrs. Fallis, one of two women among 96 men in the Senate Chamber. They are: custom and tradition; lack of loyalty to their own sex; general apathy, lack of preparedness and lack of informed interest.

The speaker urged that women's organizations introduce discussions of both sides of important questions. 'Everything worthwhile is controversial' she said. "To avoid controversy shows immaturity."

In closing, Senator Fallis asked the teachers to stress good citizenship in their classes and the fact Canadians are citizens of an Empire and a world. "Not long ago we thought what Russians did was no concern of ours. Now we know they are only a few hours flying time away from us and we must put up a strong united front to show the democratic is the best way of life and demonstrat its value against communism."

"Wherever there is hatred and greed, is weakness in the armament. If we stand always for faith in good we will go a long way to bringing the world we want."

Miss Isabel Connelly of Peterborough, introduced the speaker.

Whistler Guest Artist

Miss Mignon Mayneord, Peterborough concert whistler, was the teachers' guest artist. Her piano accompanist was Mrs. Mildred Hubbell. Appreciation of the contributions of speaker, soloist and pianist was expressed by Miss Mary McDonald of Ottawa.

Miss Mary Faulkner, president of the Local Women's Federation of teachers, was chairman for the luncheon. In welcoming more than 200 women teachers present, she had a special word for those who have now retired and the high esteem in which they are held.

Greetings Were Extended

Norman Jolliffe Concert Singer Dies In New York

Resident of Peterborough a few years in his youth at the beginning of his notable career as a concert baritone singer, R. Norman Jolliffe died in New York Saturday, April 30.

Mr. Jolliffe was born at Coaticook, Que., a son of the Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Jolliffe. His father was a minister of the Methodist church and was for four years pastor of the old Charlotte St. church which stood on the site of the Clinic at Charlotte and Reid Streets. It was the parent church of Trinity United. Mr. Jolliffe was probably in his early twenties when his parents came to Peterborough, and at that time had manifested both talent and ambition to become a singer.

In his recent death in New York his reputation in the city is suggested by the fact of the publishing of his photograph on the obituary page of the Times. Mr. Jolliffe died in his apartment at the Ansonia Hotel after an illness of several months. His age was 62.

Distinguished Baritone

Mr. Jolliffe is referred to as a distinguished oratorio and recital baritone. He was soloist at the Marble Collegiate Church from 1917 to 1941 and subsequently at Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church. He had appeared with the New York Oratorio Society, the Boston Handel and Hayden Society, and the Cleveland, Toronto and New York Symphony orchestras, besides being a soloist at many musical festivals in the east, including the Maine and Springfield events. He made twenty-five appearances at Columbia University music festivals with the orchestra directed by Walter Henry Hall.

Mr. Jolliffe sang on the original Atwater Kent radio program for several years. He also was heard on the Majestic hour and the original Smith Brothers program. In later years he was a voice teacher. Mr. Jolliffe was a member of the American Academy of Teachers of Singing, and had served as a judge for the W. W. Naumburg musical awards competition.

He had studied here with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music and in Toronto with August Wilhelmi and in New York with Charles Norman Granville and Percy Rector Stephens.

He leaves his wife, the former Olive Scholey, two sisters, Ruby of Miami, Fla., and Edith of Toronto, and a brother, Dr. Arthur Jolliffee of San Diego, Calif.

During his years in Peterborough, when he was often absent for the purpose of study and also on singing engagements, Mr. Jolliffe was a close friend of a numerous group including Ross Dobbin, Ray Best, Ernie Best, Rev. Harold Young, Dr. H. M. Yelland, the late George Robertson, W. D. Campbell, Dr. J. E. Middleton and others.

Trout Catches Are Not Large

Trout fishing over the week-end did not produce any spectacular results, according to a survey today. The staunch winter church-goers among them were surprised and abashed at their secret being ferreted out and some of them got downright nasty at the thought of their names appearing in the paper. This was just another indication that their catches, if any, were not worth mentioning, especially in the Hay Lake area of Bancroft.

However, Alex Elliott, Ross Hood and Howard Doolittle were more honest about their "week-end" sport. They took 16 trout east of Maynooth in less than three hours, the largest being 15 inches, and they were fishing at noontime with worms.

Kelly's Creek, of Highway 7, was fished by Vern Fuller who took eight trout and his partner Earl Williams who, landed 16. They seemed satisfied with their day's outing.

CLOTHING FOR LABRADOR

June 1st is the deadline for the packing of Grenfell Labrador Mission bales in the basement of the Grafton Company. For the fishermen of Harrington Harbour, P.Q., warm clothing, toys and canned goods are needed. Officials are hoping for more contributions than in former years due to the serious shortages experienced in Labrador fishing villages this winter. Contributions for a newly-planned hospital may be sent to Mrs. F. M. Somerville, 16 Inverlea St., treasurer.

ST. GEORGE'S FUND

Indication that the campaign for funds for the new church in St. George's Anglican Parish in the south end of the city started well was given at a meeting of the Planning Board Sunday night. It was announced that nearly $3,000 of the $20,000 objective has been subscribed. Canvassers reported that the response to their calls is enthusiastic. Walter Bannon, chairman of the committee, announced that Joseph Gaskell will replace Captain P. W. Sargeant as co-ordinator. Captain Sargeant is being posted to the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Picton for the next several months.

GET ARBITRATION AWARD

Four employees of Canadian Raybestos—J. A. Dorris and W. E. Curry, stationary engineers, F. Larrett, relief stationary engineer, and E. Lamore, watchman—will receive bonus pay as a result of an Arbitration Board award. The men worked on Christmas Day and New Year's Day 1948 and claimed as both days fell on a Saturday and were ordinary working days, they should receive the bonus paid for work on statutory holidays. The majority decision of the Board found in favor of the men and directed the company to pay a bonus of an extra day's pay to each of the quartet. Local 527, UE-CIO filed the grievance. Judge M. A. Miller of Cobourg and the union nominee Drummond Wren upheld the grievance. T. C. Carley, KC, company nominee filed a dissenting opinion.

OH THAT ACHING BACK

Page Jimmy Hatlow and his "They'll Do It Every Time" strip on this one. A Peterborough man is particularly proud of his runabout boat and powerful outboard motor. On Sunday he decided to demonstrate it for the benefit of four passengers — including an elderly couple just out from the Old Country. With a beam of pride he noted that the engine started immediately and was purring like a contented kitten as the boat left the lower part of Lake Catchecoma and sped on to the head of the lake. Then it was dead. Not even a cough could be elicited from the machine. There was nothing for it but to seize a paddle and trust to muscle power for the three-mile trip back. A box score of the trip: an aching back, sore arms and legs, sunburn and disillusionment.—D.W.

157 Enumerators Start Out Listing Names of People Qualified To Vote June 27

Of the 124 enumerators who set out at 8 o'clock this morning to list in the city the names of qualified voters in the federal elections, only three were men. This is one sphere of public responsibility which women have virtually monopolized with their enfranchisement. For the rural enumeration in the townships of Peterborough riding, thirty-three men and women, more nearly equal in the proportion of their numbers, were assigned to the corresponding duty.

"The only explanation of the large number of women who accepted this responsibility was presumably that they were more available than men," Arthur J. McClellan, returning officer said.

"We appointed the 62 persons recommended by each of the two parties, Liberal and Progressive-Conservative, on the basis of their standing in the last federal elections. That is the practice which has been adopted, and that is the only reason the C.C.F. was not asked to nominate enumerators.

For this important work we have briefed our staff as thoroughly as possible. We held a meeting in the city council chamber Friday night, with close to 100 attending from the city, and carefully explained the system of listing the names of people who are qualified to vote. I think that is the biggest crowd the council chamber has seen in a long time. It was packed.

Another innovation that was not required in the official instructions was a map of the city area allotted to each pair of enumerators. We cut each section from a map of the city as a means of trying to avoid any omissions or oversights in the preparation of the list. Besides that each enumerator was separately informed of her duty. We want to make this enumeration as thorough as possible. The staff has until Saturday to complete the canvass.

Oath Required

With the explanation of what is required of them, the enumerators also take an oath that they will act faithfully without partiality, fear, favor or affection.

If my own experience is any indication of the manner in which the work is being done, we might expect a highly satisfactory performance. Quite by accident, it happened that in my own section, enumerators called at my home at 8 o'clock this morning, and apparently were surprised that it was my place. I imagine I was one of the first in the city to greet the official callers.

Each enumerator is equipped with a record book similar in size and in its carbon duplication to to the counter check book the corner grocers use. On one page is written the name, the occupation and the address of the elector, which is triplicated by the carboning process.

The voter receives one copy, and the duplicates are left in the book. One of these two eventually remains in the book for return to Ottawa, the other is referred to in the enumerator's detail of preparing the typewritten list of names that go to the printer.

The Municipalities of this riding are the city of Peterborough and the townships of Otonabee, Smith, North Monaghan, Douro, Ennismore, Harvey, Galway and Cavendish."

Mr. McClellan estimated that the riding list would compile between 22,000 and 23,000 names.

Hon. Pearson To Visit City

Hon. Lester Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, will on May 20 make his first visit to Peterborough since his appointment to the federal government. Mr. Pearson is coming to address an open meeting of the Peterborough Underwriters Association in the form of a dinner and will be held in the Empress Hotel.

A former student of Central School and the Peterborough Collegiate Institute Mr. Pearson's father served at one time as minister of George Street United Church.

For years Mr. Pearson was considered Canada's number one diplomat and has taken a leading part in the United Nations affairs since its organization.

Late last fall he was named by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent as his minister of External Affairs and recently represented the Prime Minister at the British Commonwealth talks in London.

Ponder Upsets Derby Race, Beats Olympia

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9 (AP) —Crafty old Ben Jones, the Missourian who showed 'em with Ponder in the Kentucky Derby, got ready to take off for Baltimore with his latest pride and joy for a crack at the $75,000-added Preakness.

This second "jewel" in racing's triple crown is set for Pimlico Saturday.

Ponder, Calumet farm colt, cooled off 13 rivals in the Diamond Jubilee Derby, including the heavily-favored Olympia. Now the big question is whether the young upstart which never did anything until May 7, 1949, can help keep the wolf away from owner Warren Wright's door from here on.

That $91,600 Ponder collected for his Derby romp helped, of course, and the gross value of the famed Preakness already is more than $100,000. Four or five other Derby horses are heading Pimlicoward, where several others are waiting for Maryland's biggest race.

Won't Run

But Olympia won't be one of them. His trainer, Ivan Parke, said Olympia will be flown to New York instead. "We just decided to pass it (the Preakness) up," he said.

Around the barns at Churchill Downs there is a general opinion that Capot will be a large number in the Preakness.

Capot, Greentree stable's ace, was the one which went out with the fast-stepping Olympia in the blistering early Derby race. There isn't much doubt that Capot cooked Olympia's goose, for he went out and ran with him from the start.

Of course, it also chilled off Capot and gave the horse with the most left at the finish—Ponder—Col. Matt Win's diamond-studded Gold Cup. Ponder paid $34, $11.60 and $6.20.

John Gaver, the Greentree Stable trainer, said, he decided someone had to go out and run Olympia down, or at least try it, and that's what jockey Ted Atkinson did.

20 Fatalities At Weekend Across Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

A father's decision to draw in one more netful of herring brought death to him and his son in the choppy waters of the St. Lawrence river at Baie des Sables, in Quebec's Gaspe district.

George Berube, 47, and his son Aurelien, 19, were drowned when their fishing craft, overloaded with herring, capsized as the nets were thrown out again. A younger Berube boy, clinging to the overturned boat, was rescued. Bodies of the two have not been recovered.

Their deaths were among 20 reported during the week-end in Eastern Canada by The Canadian Press.

Seven persons, six of them pedestrians, were killed in trafic mishaps and seven others were drowned.

Another double drowning was reported in Quebec. Oscar Brosseau, 40, and Leon Perrault, 16, both of Rawdon, Que., were drowned when their canoe upset in a lake near their homes.

Lionel Gauthier of Semeterre, Que., was drowned at Val d'Or, Que., when the Chochocouanne river washed out a section of highway. Gauthier's truck plunged into the river. The body of Polydore Pire, 48, of Lauzon, Que., was taken from the harbor at Quebec City and at Montreal the body of Edward Pfeifer, 19, of Verdun, Que., was found in the Back river. Pfeifer was drowned several months ago.

Motor Fatalities

Mary Arnold, 12, was fatally injured at Stellarton, NS, when she was hit by an automobile and police have charged George B. Fraser, identified as the driver of the car, with manslaughter. Others fatally injured by vehicles were: Mrs. John Eldridge 50, of Chester, NS; George Dugas 73, of St Ann Des Monts, Que.; Gerard Simon 42, near Hull, Que.; Michelle Paquin 6, of Sorel, Que.; Donald Joseph Ladouceur 5, of Sudbury; and John Thomas Falkiner 3, of Woodstock.

Sydney Dunn 57, of Freeport, Ont., was killed by a bolt of lightning while fishing at New Dundee. Noah Bowman 73, of Listowel, was killed in the only fatal highway collision reported during the week-end.

Two-year-old Danny Sugarman died in a Toronto hospital of burns suffered when he fell into a tub of hot water Wednesday, and in Montreal Mrs. R. Brown, 54, died of injuries from a fall in her bathtub.

Two men died as the summer sports season got well under way —William John Osborne, 37, was stricken while playing golf at Hamilton and Mason Wilson of Toronto collapsed and died at the opening of the racing season at Dufferin Park.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Sprinter Mel Petton of the University of Southern California went on a world-record-breaking spree Saturday at Los Angeles. He ran the 220-yard dash in 20.2 seconds, bettering the 20.3 world record hung up by Jesse Owens in 1935. He also clipped off a sensational 9.1 for the 100-yard dash—but that won't count.

Leading his teammates to a 90½-to-40½ triumph over the University of California at Los Angeles in a Pacific Coast conference meet, Patton had too much of a wind behind him in the 100-yard dash. But the prize was under legal limits 45 minutes later in the 220-yard sprint.

The executive of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association have decided to protest against a recent ruling that would deny a training licence to a trainer with only one horse.

A meeting Saturday night in Toronto of the Horsemen's Association executive passed a motion asking the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations, which passed the ruling, to withdraw it by Monday night. If the ruling is not withdrawn, the horsemen plan a meeting Wednesday night to decide on their future action.

At New York the board of governors of American Hockey League Saturday voted to drop Washington from the league and add Cincinnati. The Ohio club will have a working agreement with Montreal of the National Hockey League. The board, meeting here in annual business session, also shifted Buffalo from the western to the eastern division of the 11-team circuit.

At Albany, Calif., breaking on top and leading from wire to wire, Solidarity won an upset victory Saturday in the third running of the $50,000-added Golden Gate handicap. Ridden by Ralph Neves, Solidarity covered the 1¼ miles in two minutes flat. Stepfather, with Johnny Longen aboard, finished three-quarters of a length behind for second place and Roman In was third.

Jewellers Appear As Mystery Team

The mystery team of the men's City Softball League so far this season is the Peterborough Credit Jewelers. They play at the Bowl tomorrow night as the schedule opens with a twin bill, and fans can then get an idea of what the team may do this summer in fast company. Manager Stan Houlihan has a young team, with only two players having had previous City League experience. But he predicts a fighting, hustling club which will crowd their opponents all the way. Stan is presently looking for a coach to help him.

Among the pitchers are Kenny Hall, Jerry Killingbeck, Arn Ritches and possibly Lefty Doris. Joe Burns and Ted White are among catching prospects, with another one possible, too. Vic Doughty and Len Cooper are after the first sack, with Claude Cornwell likely at second. Jerry Pagett and Len Williams have been working at short, with Ray Crary on third. Outfielders include Marshall Hamblin, Reg Robertson, Warren Ferguson, Albert Rose, Bill Short, Bill Killingbeck and a few others.

Surrenders To Police For Liquor Shakedown

WELLAND, May 9 (CP) — Michael P. O'Connor of Toronto will appear in court May 18 for preliminary hearing on a charge of attempting to obtain money by false pretences.

He gave himself up here Thursday after provincial police had sought him more than two weeks and was released on bail.

The charge was laid following complaints of an attempted "shakedown" in connection with applications for liquor licences.

3 Held In Slaying

WAYNE, W.Va., May 9—(AP) —His grandson and two other youths were charged Sunday night with the bludgeon-and-torch slaying of 69-year-old John Caldwell. Prosecutor J. Floyd Harrison said the charges were filed against Ervin Caldwell, 19, Walter Copley, 20, and 16-year-old Bernie Martin.

Two Shots Fired

TORONTO, May 9—(CP)—Two warning shots were fired after a speeding car during an 85-mile-an-hour chase Saturday night before police arrested Stanley Johnston, 26, of Toronto, on a charge of careless driving. Police said he had borrowed the car from a United States visitor at a city parking lot.

ROYAL COMMISSIONER—Rev. Georges Henri Levesque, 46-year-old Dominican priest, is one of the men who will look into Canadian arts, sciences and letters and report to the government. TCS Cricket Club Loses Two Starts

PORT HOPE, May 9—In its first two cricket games of the season the Trinity College School 11 was soundly trounced by Peterborough CC and Toronto CC.

In the Peterborough game TCS was defeated by 79 runs for six wickets to 60 runs all out. For Peterborough, Wright and Booth knocked out 24 and 22 runs respectively while Pyle took six wickets for 29 runs. Bruce and Thompson were the most effective batters for Trinity scoring 12 rins apiece.

Toronto scored 202 runs for two wickets declared, to Trinity's total of 77 for eight. Alan Fortes hit a brilliant century, including three sixes and 11 fours and Wells scored 75 for the TCC, J. Paterson and Bruce scored 15 and 16 runs respectively for the school team.

Western Europe Observes V-E Anniversary

LONDON, May 9 (CP)—Western Europe observed the fourth anniversary of V-E Day Sunday, a little more hopeful that a stable peace may be established at last on the continent.

In Russian and other eastern European countries the anniversary will be observed today in commemoration of Prime Minister Stalin's announcement to the Slav world that the fighting in Europe was over.

Eastern editorials and speeches Sunday contained much of the usual vilification of western countries, but the emphasis of many declarations was on work.

One of the day's most significant events occurred at Bonn where German political leaders approved a new federal republic of western Germany. The constitution they had drafted contained a bill of rights and outspoken opposition to war.

In France the anniversary coincided with Joan of Arc Day. President Vincent Auriol watched two Paris parades, one in Tuileries Gardens and the other in the Champs-Elysees.

Britain paid little attention to the anniversary. One ceremony took place in Christ Church, in London's Chelsea district, were tablets bearing the names of persons killed in the blitz were unveiled.

Parade To Cemetery

Former inmates of Nazi concentration camps paraded to a cemetery in Hamburg to place wreaths.

The Russians unveiled a Soviet war memorial in Berlin. It was made of marble from Adolph Hitler's chancellery.

In Moscow, Investia, the Soviet government newspaper, observed the anniversary with an editorial declaring that Russia is "not forgetting the danger of a new war being prepared by American imperialists."

A special order of the day issued by Marshal A. M. Valisevesky, Soviet minister of the armed forces, gave sole credit for defeating Nazi Germany to the Russian people "and their armed forces."

Kingston Contractors Finish Dead Man's Job

KINGSTON, May 9 (CP) — Thirt Kingston area contractors Saturday completed contracts which a fellow contractor left unfinished when he died two weeks ago.

The group drove to Seeley's Bay, near here, to put the final touches on the work undertaken by Vernon Tye. Under the terms of the contract, no payment could be made until the work was completed. Tye's widow had been faced with the prospect of surrendering the uncompleted work to another contractor.

Hobbie Show—All Guides and and Brownies are reminded that articles to be entered in the Hobby Show should be brought to the Market Hall on Tuesday, May 10, between 7 and 8 o'clock, where they will be labelled and judged. A prize for the best hobby in each section will be awarded. On Wednesday and Thursday Guides will be demonstrating some of the work required for the laundress and needlewoman badges, and Guides on duty in the booths erected for this purpose should contact Miss Iris Davis, Captain of St. Luke's Company, who is in charge of the laundress booth, or Miss Gladys Bridcott, Captain of All Saints' Company, in charge of the needlewomen. Brownies will demonstrate some of their regular test work, including darning, shoe cleaning, knitting, sewing buttons, etc.

On Thursday, May 12, the Guide Arena Display will include a Brownie Folk Dance by St. Andrew's Brownies, and a dramatized "Story of the Brownies" by the All Saints' Pack. The Guides of the Salvation Army Company will perform in a Display of Pyramids and the other three companies will demonstrate how the Guide Laws can be put into practice in a Guide's everyday life. This latter item is being planned largely by the Guides themselves, and will be done in the form of Charades.

All Guides are reminded that hobbies entered in the show must be removed after the performance Thursday night. Every year a few hobbies are left behind and we have had trouble locating the owners. This year we will not be responsible for anything left behind after the show is over.

Scientific Mate-Selection Lists Faults and Virtues

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you believe that a girl should look for a husband in a purely scientific manner and consider only those qualities that would make him an ideal mate? Why would it be wrong for me to make an impersonal survey of all the men I know, sorting out their good and bad points and coming to a conclusion as to which one is best suited for me? Need a girl fall desperately in love with a man to make a happy marriage? I believe a husband should be chosen like you buy a new dress. Surely affection and maybe love will come after marriage.

I know that I can be a good wife and a good mother, too. Do you think I would be treating my husband fairly if I married him with the knowledge that I wasn't in love with him?

LOUISE.

ANSWER: Theoretically the marriage of convenience should be the preferred risk, for it takes into consideration all of the things about which most husbands and wives fight. John marries Mary not because he is madly in love with her, but because she is of the same social status, belongs to the same church, is a good cook and has a nice dowry. And Mary doesn't marry John because he is her dream man, but because he is a good, sturdy chap who will stay hitched and who will be a good provider.

These marriages of convenience that are short on romance but long on practicality are very common abroad, where they seem to work out satisfactorily; but they are not so popular in this country, where marriage is more of an adventure and less of a life job.

No Such Animal

This is what puts the skids under your plan of getting an ideal husband by piecing together the good qualities of different men. It can't be done, for there is no such animal as a perfect husband. You have to take them as they come and shut your eyes to their faults.

Nor is choosing a husband like you would buy a new dress a safe bet. No woman can know in advance how her husband or her dress is going to stand everyday wear and tear, nor how soon she is going to get tired or either. The one and only sure thing about marriage is how big a supply of love you can bring to it. If you have enough of that, you will be blind to your husband's imperfections and love his faults because they are his.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married for four years. Last night he told me that he loved a girl who is only 17, and she loves him, but he says he is afraid that if he gets a divorce he may make a mistake, because he also loves me. He wants me and he also wants her, and he doesn't know which one of he loves the best.

But while he is making up his mind about it he wants to go on living in the same house with both of us until he can decide. Should I get a divorce? I don't want one, because I love my husband so much that every time I think about it I die a thousand deaths. What shall I do? We have three children.

BEWILDERED WIFE.

ANSWER: If there is one individual in the world more pathetic than any other, it is the woman who is ALL heart and NO backbone, and who lets a miserable cad of a husband flaunt his infidelities in her face. Such is your sad case, and it is adding insult to injury when he brings his current flame to live in the same house with his wife.

If you were a stronger woman, I would say take your children and leave a husband who has neither respect nor affection for you, as he shows by bringing his mistress to your house. But as you are one of the women who is so obsessed by love that she has neither pride nor dignity left, I would say, do not get a divorce that will break your heart. Wait. That type of man will always be unfaithful to his wife, but in the end he will come back to her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister is getting married in a couple of weeks. All the attention is given to her trousseau and showers and I haven't been noticed for months. I am 16 and just as madly in love with a boy of 18 as my sister is with her fiance and I am going to elope with him BEFORE my sister's wedding. My sister has always done everything first and I have decided to beat her to it this time and get married first.

A FORGOTTEN HEART.

ANSWER: Evidently you are piqued because your sister has the limelight, but that is a bride's prerogative. It is her last fling and you shouldn't begrudge it to her, for when she folds away her wedding finery she is no longer the centre of attractions, she is just Mrs. So-and-So.

You will miss all of that if you elope. So don't you think you will pay a pretty high price for spiting your sister?

Directions

Most of us know how to prepare Lyonnaise potatoes but they are so good I'll risk a repetition. Pare and slice 4 cups potatoes, cook in boiling salted water until half-tender then drain. Chop 2 tablespoons onion and saute them in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine until yellow. Push them to one side of pan, add a little more butter and when melted add the drained potatoes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, then with the cooked onions. (Place rolled bologna on top for this meal.) Cover and cook gently until all butter is absorbed, shaking pan often to prevent sticking. Serve sprinkled with chopped parsley.

To make the Lemon Snow or Sponge or Snow Pudding, soak two teaspoons gelatin e in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes; add 1 cup boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add ½ cup sugar, shake of salt, grated rind 1 lemon, and ¼ cup lemon juice. Cook until slightly thickened. Beat 2 or 3 egg whites until quite stiff, add ½ cup sugar to stiff. Fold this into the slightly thickened pudding, then pour into large mold or individual serving dishes to chill and set.

Custard Sauce

Scald 1 cup milk in top of double boiler. Beat 2 egg yokes slightly, then stir in 2 tablespoons sugar and shake of salt. Pour the hot milk over yolks, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook over hot, not boiling, water until mixture coats spoon, stirring all of the time. Remove from heat immediately and add 1 tablespoon vanilla. This sauce is good on stale cake spread with raspberry jam, and topped with whipped cream.

QUESTION: Would print a recipe for oatmeal cookies that could be used for putting together with date filling? I had this recipe years ago but lost it, and have been trying other recipes since but never seem to get them just right. I would like to know how to make date filling exactly right too.—Sheila.

ANSWER:

Thin Oatmeal Cookies (Rolled)

One-half cup good quality shortening or margarine, (plus) ½ cup butter, 1½ cups sifted flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup (firmly packed) brown sugar, ½ cup milk, 2 cups fine oatmal. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the shortening and butter until very light. Add vanilla then gradually cream in the sugar until very light in color and texture. Add milk and oatmeal. Stir in sifted dry ingredients. Chill thoroughly; overnight is best. Roll out on lightly floured board or cookie canvas and cut out with floured cutter of desired size. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 400 deg. Fahr. about 8 minutes. Watch closely—it is better to have them pale than burned. If desired put together with

Date Filling

In top of double boiler put ½ pound stoned dates, ¼ cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and cook over boiling water until soft, stirring often. Remove from heat and add either 2 tablespoons sugar or honey and shake of salt.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Do you ever make rhubarb and pineapple conserve? If you do would you mind letting me have your recipe before all of the pineapples are gone? I would like it to have some nuts in—because the rhubarb will not cost me anything for we grow our own.—Pearl H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am glad you asked me for this because I intended to print the recipe anyway but forgot.

Rhubarb and Pineapple Conserve

Wash and cut up 3 pounds red small-stalked rhubarb. There should be 9 well-packed cups. Add 4 cup sugar, grated rind and juice of 2 lemons, and 1 cup fresh pineapple cut very small or shredded. Boil slowly until thick and clear, stirring often. It requires about 1½ hours over very low heat. Just before removing from heat add ¾ cup blanched and slightly chopped almonds. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal at once with very hot paraffin, adding a second coating when first is cold. Cover with tin lids

Asparagus Easily Ruined By Careless Cooking

By MARY MOORE

Asparagus is a precious vegetable and easily ruined by careless cooking. We all want it to reach our plates with the original bright green colour intact, and the cook alone is responsible for this.

Cook asparagus fast, in very little unsalted water; a little of the original crispness is delicious we think, so I remove from the heat before it is completely tender.

This is easily accomplished if you stand the saiks up. I do not have a pot of small enough diameter for this, so I improvise by using the bottom section of my coffee dripolater (4-cup size). The lid is just hollowed out enough to allow the tips room, and the steam cooks the tender tips.

Served with Hollandaise it makes a delicious one-hot-dish luncheon.

I made Hollandaise with one of the good quality margarines, and it was quite satisfactory.

Hollandaise Sauce (Ideal for Green-coloured Vegetables)

One-half cup margarine, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon salt, speck cayenne pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Melt margarine slowly in saucepan. Beat yolks in bowl until thick and lemon-coloured. Add the seasonings and 3 tablespons of the melted butter, 2 or 3 drops at a time, while beating hard. Add remaining butter, alternately with the lemon juice, a little of each at a time, until all has been used. Do not hurry this or it will separate, but if made slowly it may be stored in refrigerator, if well covered.

I accuse myself and some sister food columnists of suggesting things without giving the necessary build-up, foods and dishes and methods that are not practicable for the ordinary-equipped kitchen.

But—how are we going to expand our cooking repertoires unless we try the tricks chefs use every day?

What I am leading up to is the use of a timbal iron.

Some of you know what timbal cases are but for those who do not an explanation is indicated. Timbal cases are made from a batter similar to fritter batter. You dip the hot timbal iron into the batter, then dip the batter-covered timbal iron into hot deep fat. Fry it for 30 seconds to a delectable gold—then presto—slip it off of the iron to cool.

You use these as you would patty cases—for serving creamed vegetables or meats. They are delicate and crisp and elegant too.

Today I brought the subject up so you would buy or order one of these little timbal irons (in large hardware department store) and serve creamed asparagus in them.

Timbal Cases

Into a mixing bowl sift ¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar. Mix together 2 beaten egg yolks, ½ cup milk and 1 tablespoon salad oil or melted butter. Slowly pour this over the flour mixture, stirring, until smooth. It is a good thing to let this batter stand overnight. Heat timbal iron in hot fat (most drippings will do if clarified) a 375 deg. Fahr., remove iron, cool a moment then dip into the batter, but do not let batter come over top of iron. Lower immediately into hot fat and fry to delicate brown—about 30 seconds. Timbal cases will easily slip off onto unglazed paper to drain. If batter does not cling to iron when dipped try heating or cooling it a little. If you like this idea let me know, and I will print recipes for mixtures to serve in them.

6—In Memoriams

WEST—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lois Amelia (Braund) West, who passed away (Mother's Day), May 9th, 1948, in Phoenix, Arizona.
There's an open gate
At the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone.
And snare in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims His own;
Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest
And there is comfort in the thought
That a living God knows best.

CAS Unable to Fill Demand Of Couples Wanting Children For Adoption

By HAZEL PAULL

There are 50 couples in Peterborough county waiting to adopt children but the Children's Aid Society, the authority through which all adoptions have to be ratified, does not have a ready supply of youngsters to meet the many requests it receives from childless couples. Would-be parents invariably have to wait at least two years before a suitable baby boy can be found. The minimum waiting time for a baby boy is 18 months and two years for a girl.

In spite of the many couples wanting to adopt children, there are few who are willing to provide foster homes for the youngsters who come into the care of the Children's Aid Society as temporary wards. There are always some eight or ten children at the Children's Aid Shelter who, for various domestic reasons are in need of temporary foster homes until the circumstances which made their own homes unsuitable, have been rectified.

There are a number of causes which bring children to the care of the Society but the most common is unhappy relations between mother and father. Take little Willy, whose parents had built up a happy home until two years when father started drinking heavily. After a time unpleasant scenes became a regular feature of the family life. Mother would put in a word of protest now and again, which father would take as a invitation to retaliate with a stinging blow from the fist.

In desperation mother goes to the little house on hill beside the court house to tell her troubles to Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Society. After full discussion of the matter it is decided to place Willy under the care of the Society until the matter can be straightened out.

Little Willy is taken to the Shelter where Mr. and Mrs. Gerald MacMillan are Mummy and Daddy to several children in similar circumstance. Here he lives in the surroundings of a normal happy household, goes to school every day like other children and goes to church on Sunday.

Mother and father are having a difficult time in solving their complicated problems and after six months, it is still unlikely that Willy will be able to return to them for many months and it may be a year or two before he goes home.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan have become fond of him and know his characteristics well by now. If only they could find a home for him where he would receive the more intimate attention which every child needs.

A couple whose family has grown up and left home, or another couple with only one child who needs a playmate asks Miss Young if she knows a little boy who would like to share their home. Miss Young takes Willy along and he is invited to spend several week-ends as a guest, to find out whether he would like to live here and to see if the couple would not find him too much of a handful.

Now Has New Home

The arrangement works out well and Willy has a new home until his own mother and father are ready for him to come back. The foster parents receive financial help through the Society for the maintenance of the lad and the Society provides clothing.

Willy is only one of many Peterborough children with a similar story. They are taken to the children's shelter only as a temporary measure until they are placed in foster homes.

Owing to the small number of people to befriend these unfortunate youngsters, many of them stay in the Shelter longer than the Society likes. Little boys seem to be considered too big an undertaking for many couples. The little girls with curly hair are the luckiest. There would be no difficulty in finding foster homes for these youngsters if they were all little girls with curls and angelic faces!

To look after the victims of unfortunate family circumstances in Peterborough city and county there is a staff of five social workers. That is their official designation but they are, in practice, Good Samaritans doing countless deeds of kindness which are rarely mentioned in public.

Headed by Miss Rachael Young, whose life is devoted to helping steer marriages through the stormy seasons, the staff include Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan the same for this "family" as in a normal home. At the present time there are eight children who sit round the table with Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan and they are able to invite their school friends to supper from time to time. There is a pleasant sitting room with radio, piano and book cases full of novels and story books for the younger children and a play room with nursery wall paper, where the youngsters play with their own toys or with toys which are provided by the Society and friends of the home.

The building stands in attractive grounds where there are swings for the children, a sport ground and a large cultivated patch where Mr. MacMillan grows vegetables and fruit for the family use.

Instead of having large dormitories, the sleeping quarters are arranged as much like an ordinary family's home as possible. None of the rooms has more than four beds and are attractively decorated with walls in soft pastel shades and pleasant furnishings.

In the cellar there is a work room where many of the boys learn carpentry. This is one of Mr. MacMillan's hobbies and one of the boys recently won a prize for his entry in the bird house competition organised by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association.

Socialist Policies Keynote Of Parley

LONDON, May 9.—(Reuters)—Demands for more vigorous application on Socialist policies will be a keynote of the 1949 Labor party annual conference at Blackpool June 6-10.

The final agenda, issued yesterday, shows that the main interest of the membership of the party still centres on domestic policies, partitcularly cost of living, the need for more houses and future nationalization proposals.

Domestic and international problems sometimes are linked in the resolutions to come before the conference, as in an East Coventry local party suggestion that the cost of defence is responsible for the government's inability to cut the cost of living.

Six Minor Fires

Six minor fires were reported in the city over the weekend.

Less than $10 damage was caused to a garage at the residence of R. Roberts, 304 Frederick Ave. Saturday night, when defective burned a small hole in one wall.

A leaking vacuum tank in a car owned by R. Ward, 548 George St., was responsible for a fire in that car. It was extinguished by a private garden hose before serious damage could be caused.

There were four chimney fires at the residence of Miss E. Lacheur, Rubidge St.; of George Dixon, Armour Rd.; of H. Zenston, High St., and of J. F. Keating, Brioux Ave.

Pays Russia Visit

BERLIN, May 9 (AP)—Wilhelm Pieck, 73-year-old German Communist leader, is visiting "a health resort" in Russia, his party headquarters announced Sunday. It released a letter Pieck wrote to the German People's Council—the Soviet zone's improvised parliament—announcing he is taking a rest to recover from a winter illness.

Court Ruling Settles Trustees' Pay

TORONTO, May 9 (CP) — A court ruling handed down Saturday cleared up some of the problems concerning payment of trustees of the estate of John Ross Robertson, founder of the Toronto Telegram.

The ruling restricted original trustees and executors to the small amounts specified in the will. But it left successor trustees free to seek larger amounts of compensation for their services to the estate.

A five-person board of trustees managed the newspaper from the time of Mr. Robertson's death in 1918 until it was sold to George McCullagh last December.

The remaining original trustees are Douglas S. Robertson and Alfred T. Chadwick. Successor trustees, appointed following the death of the other original trustees, are C. O. Knowles, C. H. U. Snider and C. P. McTague.

The Robertson will provided that each executor and trustee should be paid $100, but Mr. Chadwick, the treasurer, was to receive $500 yearly.

Ask Decision

The two remaining original trustees and the three successor trustees asked Mr. Justice G. A. Gale of the Ontario Supreme Court to decide whether they and others who had been executors and trustees of the estate were entitled to compensation for what they termed "the care, pains, time and trouble expended in and about the estate." The court was not asked to decide on the amount of compensation to which any trustees was entitled.

Mr. Justice Gale founded that so far as the original trustees and executors were concerned, "the language of clause three of the will and . . . of the Trustee Act prevent the sanction of any allowance of compensation in excess of those amounts which are mentioned in clause three."

But successor trustees were in a more fortunate position. The amounts of their allowance were not fixed by the will and they were entitled to receive compensation for services as successor trustees.

Lakefield Lions Discuss Plans For Activities

LAKEFIELD, May 9—(ENS)—The May meeting of the Lions Club was held at Dyncourt Manor, with president Ken Morris presiding.

Secretary Paul Riches reported proceeds of $40.32 from recent money raising ventures.

Trailer Sold

Lion Doug Davis, reported the trailer bought from Gordon Mills had been sold from under the boat to a higher bidder and a new trailer now has to be built. Lion Davis is to put the trailer together and Lion Paul Riches is to have a box installed at the Lakefield Boat Works.

Lions Davis and Hamblin moved that a street dance be held on the Wednesday following the August civic holiday at which time the trailer and motor-boat raffle will be held. The committee in charge of this event is composed of Lions Stanley Richardson, Harry Stabler, Frank Coyle, Elwood Northey and W. Morrison.

To Name Officers

The next meeting will be the annual meeting and Lions Eric Anderson, E. H. Northey and Frank Coyle were appointed to prepare a slate of officers.

Lion Doug Davis proposed that the club, when finances are on a sounder footing, offer to help a Lakefield man in procuring the necessary set of braces for his young daughter, crippled by infantile paralysis.

To Oppose Smallwood

ST. JOHN'S, May 9 (CP)—Wilson Humphries, 48-year-old former school teacher, will oppose interim Premier Smallwood in the district of Bonavista North in the Newfoundland Provincial election. The announcement this week-end brought to 22 the number of Progressive Conservative candidates for the election May 27. The Liberals already have named a full slate for the 28 seats.

Hundreds Begin Preparing Voters' List

OTTAWA, May 9.—(CP). — Hundreds of enumerators today begin the mammoth task of preparing voters' lists in 262 Federal ridings across the Dominion for the June 27 Federal election. They finish the enumeration May 14.

That's just one of the signs that the election campaign is on in earnest.

George Drew, National Progressive Conservative leader, speaks today in Charlottetown, opening a two weeks' tour of Canada's four eastern provinces. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent moves east tomorrow to be followed May 16 by M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, plans to start his campaign in the west.

Mr. Drew's Charlottetown speech is the first of 15 public meetings he'll attend between now and May 21 when he returns to Ottawa for two meetings in Carleton, his own riding.

B Copy Hundreds begin nT

Elected Candidate

He celebrated his 55th birthday Saturday by being unanimously nominated to contest Carleton — where he was elected to the Commons in a by-election last fall after resigning from the Ontario premiership to take over the party's National leadership.

The Prime Minister, as Liberal chief, fires his opening guns tonight in two broadcasts, one in French and one in English, over CBC networks.

Mr. Drew told his nominating convention the Progressive Conservatives believed people could govern themselves through their elected representatives. Of the opposing parties, the Liberals were "Socialists in low gear"; the C.C.F. was a party of "Liberals in a hurry," and the Labor Progressive party was not "serving Canada in any way."

Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Drew and Mr. Coldwell probably all will do some campaigning as well for two Provincial elections — in Newfoundland May 27 and in Nova Scotia June 3—that precede the Federal election.

Skinny Models Good Says Former PCI Man

Canadian models have not got it, said Max Sauer, one of Canada's outstanding young illustrators, recently in Toronto. Mr. Sauer, a former pupil of PCVS, told the Ontario Society of Photographers that to have "it", models must be skinny, tall and small boned. The models, he said, also have to be experienced and intelligent.

Mr. Sauer, a native of Niagara Falls, came to Peterborough with his parents in September 1926 and attended PCI where he had many photographs in the Collegiate magazine, the Echoes.

V. R. Henry, science master, today recalled the six-foot-four student he had in his photography club. He produced a page of photos which appeared in an edition of the Echoes. Here Saur's work showed his marked ability.

From P.C.I. Mr. Sauser took an engineering course at McGill University. Some of his pictures were bought by the advertising manager of the Beauharois power company and he later quit the engineering course and opened a small photographic studio.

Mr. Sauer thinks the ideal model should be five feet, eight inches and weigh 110-115 pounds. His word for the waist is "infinitesimal". The legs have to be "very good". Models who are painfully thin in life photograph like voluptuous beauties, he said.

Terrible Winter In U.S. Now Blessing For Farmers

DENVER, May 9—(AP)—The most terrible winter in western United States history has turned out to be a blessing in disguise.

Soil in the blizzard belt is packed with moisture. Crop prospects are fine in most areas. Enough snow is pilled in mountain ranges to assure ample irrigation water through the summer.

For seven straight weeks, a terrifying cataract of snow enveloped the plains and mountains of eight states. Snow drifted 30 feet deep.

On the ranges, cattle and sheep perished by thousands. whole herds of deer and antelope died of freezing and starvation. More than 100 persons died.

But westerners can count their blessings now.

In the first place, they got a great break when flood threats, potentially the most dangerous in 68 years, failed to materialize. The soil absorbed much of the water as the snow melted gradually.

The weather warmed up in orderly fashion from south to north. Ice on the Missouri River moved out first from the lower reaches and then, by successive steps, from upstream.

The big blizzards struck the first of January. They continued until late February, covering Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah, and even reached into sunny Arizona and New Mexico.

LAKEFIELD CANAL TOPICS

American Nepheline Company's tug "Wauketa" and string of barges, as well as the Department of Transport's "Bessie Butler" were floated on Friday in the canal section from the overhead highway bridge to the lock. It is expected to make its first trip for ore to the head of Stony Lake early next week, depending on the speed of the current at Young's Point. From the size of the dwindling ore stock pile on the Lakefield Government docks, the start of their water haulage seemed to be nicely timed.

DEFER ACTION ON INDONESIA TILL FALL

Russia, Allies Give Orders To End Blockade, Traffic Resumes Wednesday

16 Freight Trains To Enter Berlin Daily As Soviet Promises No Search of Allied Baggage To Be Made

BERLIN, May 10—(AP)—At one minute past midnight Thursday (6:10 p.m. EDT Wednesday), flag-bedecked traffic will end the epic of blockaded Berlin. Things will revert back to the way they were March 1, 1948, when the blockade began. Sixteen freight trains will move into the city daily. Highways will be open. The Russians won't—or at least, they say won't—demand travel permits. They also say they won't try to search Allied baggage.

While most of the world hailed the end of the blockade as a Soviet diplomatic defeat, the official Soviet army newspaper, Tae-Cliche Rundschau, today called it an 'unquestionable success of the policy of unity which was always pursued by the Soviet Union and the progressive forces of Germany."

The paper said that now that the Berlin blockade was ending, "war-mongers" would make new efforts to split Germany. It claimed approval of the new west German democratic constitution marked such an attempt.

Instal Equipment

But throughout the border area there was excitement in the air as willing workers installed radio and telephone equipment.

The British zone expected to have the first train into the city.

Western Berlin's mayor, Ernest Reuter, ordered the black-red-and-gold flag of the new west German republic be flown on street cars and buses.

The first day, 10 trainloads of coal and six others of fresh potatoes and consumer goods are scheduled to move into the city, which has been supplied by the air lift for 10 months.

Twelve thousand tons of supplies are to go into the city daily—just about the same figure the air lift reached on its best day.

Lost In Bush Woman Cook Finds Own Way

HALIBURTON, May 10.—Lost in the wild bush country, north of here while en route to a construction camp near Madawaska Lake, Mrs. Pearl Wise, 23, camp cook, found her own way to the hamlet of Whitney while search parties scoured the unsettled area by air and land for two days.

She spent Friday night, and most of Saturday alone in the bush and got to Whitney by following a hydro right of way. Madawaska Lake is 10 miles from here.

No report was sent to Haliburton that the woman was safe, however, and planes and land parties continued to search until Saturday afternoon when the word was finally received.

Pilot Ray Tyler flew Mrs. Wise to Madawaska Lake Friday afternoon. She was left on the shore and was to walk a mile and a half to the Beatty construction camp.

She soon lost her way. When darkness came she camped for the night and resumed her search for the camp at dawn. She found the hydro line Saturday morning.

No worse for the experience, Mrs. Wise promptly began her duties as cook Sunday after a good night's sleep.

400 Police Raid Houses In Cairo

CAIRO, May 10 (Reuters) — Four hundred Egyptian police aided by "citizen commandos," raided more than 700 houses today in Cairo's biggest manhunt for members of the outlawed Moslem Brotherhood movement.

Scores of suspects rounded up included Mustafa Abdul Meguid, wanted in connection with the assassination of Egyptian Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha last December.

Police combed the densely-populated district of Old Cairo and outlying suburbs as far as Fayum, 40 miles from the capital.

They were looking for Brotherhood members suspected of last week-end's attempted murder of the president of the chamber of deputies, Hamed Guda Bey, and other terrorist action.

1st Class Fares Raised 15% On Railroads

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP) — The Railway Association of Canada to-day announced that the Transport Board has approved increases ranging up to 15 per cent in first-class fares in Canada and the new rates will come into effect after midnight tonight.

The increase is equal to the Federal transportation tax repealed by the Federal budget in March.

A month ago the railways automatically increased coach-class fares 15 per cent. Because coach-class fares had been sub-standard no Transport Board approval was needed to raise them.

Pending approval by the Transport Board of the latest increase, coach-class and first-class fares have been the same since the former were raised effective on April 10.

Use Discretion

A railway spokesman said that although the Transport Board authority covers increases up to 15 per cent, full advantage of this will not be taken in all cases, depending on certain complicating factors such as competition.

A case where the boost would be considerably lower than 15 per cent, he said, is in the one-way first-class fare from Montreal to Vancouver. The present tariff is $99.80, and after midnight it will be increased by only $2.

Railway officials said the increase, because it applies only in Canada, would have no effect on the practice of Americans buying railway tickets between United States stations a Canadian border poins.

U.N. Proposal Supported By Canada

Accept Application From Israel, Vote 33-11 For It

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 10 —The special political committee today approved a proposal to defer action by the United Nations General Assembly on Indonesia until the fall session of the Assembly.

The vote was 42 to 6 with four abstentions. The Russian-bloc countries alone opposed the plan which will go before the main assembly for final acceptance. Canada supported the proposal.

Gen A. G. L. McNaughton told the 558-member special political committee that debate now on the subject would jeopardize the agreement between The Netherlands and Indonesian republic reported this week from Batavia.

"I feel sure that all men of good will will join with us in taking satisfaction in the substantial progress which has been made towards agreement in Indonesia and that the hope of every possible help and encouragement will be given to the parties to pursue the hopeful course on which they now have embarked," McNaughton said.

Russian Attack

McNaughton spoke after Russian-bloc delegates bitterly assailed the committee chairman, Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines who supported the deferment move.

Australia and India as well as the Philippines, have supported the Indonesian republic in all United Nations debates since the case came before the world organization.

McNaughton made the original proposal that the commission for Indonesia bring the Netherlands and Indonesian representatives together at Batavia for the peace talks.

Jakob A. Malik of Russia demanded that L. N. Palar, Indonesian representatives at the United Nations, be heard by the committee.

Romulo countered that Palar had told him personally he did not wish to make a statement before the committee at the present time.

Israel's bid to become the 59th member of the United Nations Monday was approved by the General Assembly's special political committee.

The vote was 33 to 11 with abstentions, virtually assuring final acceptance by the main assembly where a two-thirds majority of those present and voting is necessary.

Canada voted in favor of the resolution, jointly proposed by seven countries including the Dominion, which recommends that the assembly accept the Israeli application.

If only 11 countries again oppose the bid when the assembly meets later this week at Flushing Meadows, Israel will need only 22 supporters to gain admission.

The large majority supporting Israel came as a surprise. Earlier 19 countries voted for a Lebanese proposal to defer action on the bid. This was defeated, however, when 25 countries, including Canada, voted against deferment.

The decision followed days of bitter debate in which Arab-bloc and other delegates called for

Frost Plans Conference On Taxation

Wants Municipalities To Know They're Not Being Shoved Around

TORONTO, May 10 —(CP)— Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario said today he will consult heads of Ontario municipal organizations on the advisability of a provincial-municipal conference on taxation.

Mr. Frost said at a press conference that he would suggest that it might be more expedient to meet with only representatives of municipalities which had a particular problem to discuss. He said some sort of conference was necessary to dispel any idea that municipalities were being "shoved around."

The premier will visit Windsor tomorrow to address a town planning meeting. He said he would take with him Welland Gemmell of Sudbury, newly - appointed mines minister, order to introduce him to southwestern Ontario municipalities which are concerned with natural gas.

Polish Delegate Said Atomic Spy

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) —The former military attache of the Polish embassy here testified today that a Polish representative to the United Nations was sent to the United States "to do espionage in the atomic bomb field."

The statements were made to a senate judiciary sub-committee by Gen. Izydor Modelski who identified Ignacy Zlotowski as the Polish United Nations representative he said had been sent to carry on espionage in the atomic bomb field.

Modelski said that after the collapse of France, Zlotowski came to the United States to become a professor, and worked here as a scientist for four years.

"Zlotowski was a prominent Communist and I have heard that he was a great scientist," Modelski went on. "It was the job of Zlotowski to do espionage in the atomic bomb field because he was a physical scientist and specialist in this field."

Fighting Rages Near Hankow

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP)— A Central News Agency dispatch from Hankow today said the battle for the "defence" of that mid-Yangtze industrial city started yesterday.

The agency said 600 Communists drove into Liangkulow about 20 miles north of Hankow.

Another dispatch from Hankow quoted a government army source as saying a movement for a regional peace in the area was "in full swing."

Labor Party Loses Ground On First Vote

LONDON, May 10.—(AP). — The Labor party lost some ground to Conservtaives in the first day of week-long local elections, incomplete and unofficial returns showed today.

Figures from both the government party and the Conservative Opposition pointed to a net loss for Labor in voting for urban and rural district council seats yesterday.

The Conservatives claimed a net gain of 64 council seats, with gains of 69 seats balanced against five losses, in 352 urban and rural districts of England and Wales.

The Conservatives said Labor gained 23 seats against a loss of 65, for a net loss of 42. Liberal gains were put at four, with eight losses; Communist gains none, losses two; Independents with Conservative support, gains 12, losses 10; Independents without Conservtaive support, gains 13, losses 26.

The Daily Herald (Labor) conceded a net loss of five Labor seats. It reported 15 Labor gains and 20 losses. The Labor losses prolonged an anti-Labor trend shown in recent London county council and Scottish burgh council elections.

Voting is taking place this week for 1,467 urban, rural and borough councils. About 20,600 council seats are at stake.

The biggest test will come Thursday, when polling takes place for councilmen in 420 boroughs, including 28 in London. More than 4,000 seats will be filled that day.

Nostalgia, Not Future Ease, Pleases 2 Veteran Firemen

When veteran firemen William Jones of Cambridge St. and Archie McDonald of Rubidge St. walked out of the Fire Hall on Friday night, it marked the end of a combined 68 years of service in the Peterborough Fire Department.

Both men will officially retire on pension May 31, but in the meanwhile they will go on holidays, augmented by a special leave of absence

Archie McDonald, father of Police Constable Eldon McDonald, is a 69-year-old Belfast man who served on the local fire department for the past 38 years. In point of service he is the oldest member now on the force, and the only one at the Hall who had a hand in fighting the Quaker Oats fire in 1916 that took 16 lives and seriously injured 18.

Mr. McDonald, who is not much given to overstatements, when asked what he thought of that fire, answered: "Ah, it was a bad one." And that was that.

Preventative Work

On the subject of modern-day methods of firefighting, he was a little more loquacious. "The training is far more efficient than it used to be," he said. "The equipment is better and the men are more skilled. At one time anyone who could run up a ladder and carry a length of hose line was considered a fireman."

For the past two-and-a-half years he has been doing fire prevention work and has been a familiar figure as he made his rounds in the city, checking on fire prevention systems and firefighting equipment.

He regards this as a very important job in eliminating the fire hazards from the city.

'Our work is preventative; we try to stop fires before they start," he commented.

Since 1911

He came to Toronto from Belfast in 1903. Later he moved to Peterborough and for a while worked as a machinist at the CGE. In 1911 he entered the Peterborough Fire Department where he has been since.

His grown family consists of three boys and three girls: Leonard, an engineer at Fittings, Ltd., Oshawa; Robert V. McDonald, assistant superintendent at Dominion Woollens; Eldon, on the city police force; Mrs. Robert Smith (Geraldine) of Timmins; Mrs. Leslie Casey (Marjorie) of Aylmer St.; and Mrs. Rollie Cook-

Ford Agrees To Peace Talks

DETROIT, May 10 — (AP). — The Ford strike, which has left 65,000 men idle and threatens as many more, was to be carried to the peace table to-day.

On the sixth day of the "speed-up" deadlock, management and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) sought a solution together. Their initial negotiations were set for 3 p.m. EDT.

The young company president, Henry Ford II, acting swiftly, accepted a proposal for talks from Walter Reuther, president of the union.

A full 40,000 more Ford workers faced idleness within a week if the strike were not settled. Ford had warned it might have to shut down all its 49 plants.

In agreeing to negotiations, Ford declined two accompanying proposals from Reuther, however.

Ford said he would neither appear personally at the negotiations nor would be engage in a public debate with Reuther if the dispute were not settled by Friday.

Sentence 27 Sailors In New Zealand Jail

WELLINGTON, NZ, May 10—(Reuters)—A Wellington magistrate today sentenced 27 of the crew of the Canadian freighter Tridale to four weeks in jail for continuing to disobey the lawful command of the master.

Counsel for the men gave notice of appeal. Bail was allowed pending its hearing.

The appeal was based on the form of order given to take the ship to sea. The defence contended that in the absence of customs clearance, it was not competent for the ship to clear port.

Twenty-six of the Tridale's crew were fined 14-days' pay at Wellington April 27 for disobeying the ship from her berth in Wellington.

Howe Hiding Trade Crisis—Coldwell

Says New British Deal Can't Stem Disastrous Decline Since January 1

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, today accused Trade Minister Howe of using "window dressing" to curb the anxiety of Canadians about the country's trade situation until after the June 27 general election.

Mr. Coldwell issued a statement commenting on yesterday's announcement by the trade minister of a prospective $25,000,000 British order for purchase of Canadian timber, canned salmon, flour, apples and fruit pulp.

"Mr. Howe is building dream castles in the air," the C.C.F. leader said.

"Mr. Howe," he added, "would have the Canadian people believe that his so-called $25,000,000 deal with Britain represents a turn for the better in our disastrously declining trade with Britain."

Mr. Coldwell cited bureau of statistic figures showing that British imports from Cana had declined $36,000,000 in the first quarter of this year from the same period of 1948.

"In other words, the decline in British purchases already this year is far in excess of Mr. Howe's British deal. He hasn't even stemmed the tide, let alone reverse it.

Mr. Coldwell also described as "entirely incorrect" Agriculture Minister Gardiner's suggestion that the reason for the drop each year in bacon contracts lies with Britain.

The real reason Britain was turning to Scandinavian and other eastern European countries for bacon supplies was that Canada had failed to fulfil bacon commitments to Britain in every year since the Second World War.

What was true of bacon also applied to all Canadian trade with Britain.

Only solution to "this trading crisis" lay in long-term contracts, bulk purchases between governments. "That is the only kind of trading that our best customers can undertake."

Tombstone Topples Crushes Small Child

MURRAY, Ky., May 10 (AP)— Jackie Young, six, died in hospital last night of injuries suffered in a freak accident Sunday at a nearby cemetery.

The boy went to the cemetery with his grandmother to leave flowers on a grave.

A huge tombstone accidentally toppled over on the child, pinning him beneath it for several minutes. The stone was estimated to weigh 4,000 to 5,000 pounds.

Jackie, injured internally, remained conscious until late yesterday.

Shanghai Ready For Siege Get Whips, Pieces of Pipe

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP) — The Communists may come and Shanghai may fall—but the embankment building self-defence corps is ready.

Britons, Americans and others living in the embankment building, one of Shanghai's largest downtown apartment houses, decided to prepare for any eventualities.

Floor wardens were named, volunteer firefighting crews appointed, an emergency hospital established. Barbed wire went up inside the building's doors. All but two main entrances and one for servants were closed.

Britons got out their riding crops. Several Americans laid in pieces of lead pipe.

Corps members say they have no intention of interfering in any political developments which may occur if Shanghai falls. But they want to be ready in event of any looting, such as in Nanking before the Reds came.

If there is any disturbance in the embankment building, women and children will run for the top floors while floor wardens will lead their squads to trouble sites.

Union Ready To Hold Out Five Months

Asbestos Strikers Have No Thought Of Returning To Work

ASBESTOS, Que., May 10 (CP) —An official of the Federation of Asbestos Workers whose 5,000 members already have been on strike for almost three months said yesterday the unions are confident of being able to hold out another five months at least.

Rodolphe Hamel, Federation president, said that if and when the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, with which the Federation is affiliated, finds itself no longer able to lend financial support, the strikers will seek affiliation with the powerful Congress of Industrial Organizations.

He made it clear, however, that the possibility of a switch in affiliation from the CCCL, which has strongly supported the strike so far, is merely a look into the future.

The striking employees of five companies, of which the Canadian Johns-Manville Company is the largest, are holding out for an increase of 15 cents an hour which would raise their basic hourly pay to $1. They went on strike Feb. 13, tying up production in an area which produces between 80 and 90 per cent of the world's asbestos supply.

Will Carry On

Following a meeting here Monday night, Jean Marchand, CCCL secretary said the 1,500 workers idle in Asbestos reaffirmed their determination to carry on the strike.

Marchand announced he was making a complete report on the action of provincial police dispatched to Asbestos to open up road blocks set by the strikers who sought to keep strike-breakers from entering the town.

The disturbances that occurred between strikers and police on the scene before and after the arrival of police reinforcements brought injuries to more than 25 and reading of the Canadian Riot Act to the town's people. Provisions of the Act, which banned the assembly of more than two people, were lifted Sunday.

Arraignment of 51 of 200 strikers arrested, on charges of unlawful assembly, was made in Sherbrooke, Que., yesterday. Bail was set at $300 cash or $800 bond and preliminary hearings were arranged in groups for May 31, June 7 and June 14.

All those arraigned were brought to Sherbrooke from Montreal where they had been taken because of crowded conditions in Sherbrooke jail.

Kept From Men

Jean Drapeau, Montreal lawyer, said he had made repeated unsuccessful attempts to see the men in Montreal Saturday and Sunday. He said after trying to make arrangements through provincial police officials he called the attorney-general's department in Quebec and was told the department could not intervene.

He said when he tried again in Montreal Monday he was told the men were already in Sherbrooke and he was unable to see them there before the arraignments.

"Such treatment is a denial of the rights of a citizen," said Mr. Drapeau. "It is a fundamental principle of the law that an attorney be allowed to communicate with his clients.

He asked that the charges be dismissed and said the accused men were not given any legal advice. Such procedure was contrary to law.

Crown Attorney Roland Dugre said if Mr. Drapeau had not been allowed to see the men it was because they had definitely declared their lawyer was Carrier Fortin of Sherbrooke.

"Liberty exists in Canada as well as anywhere else," said Mr. Dugre, "and if the men had wanted Mr. Drapeau as their lawyer they had only to say so."

Bunche Reminds U.S. Of Negro Problem

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP) — Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator for Palestine, said Monday night the Negro problem in the United States "is perhaps more baffling than the Palestine problem."

Bunche, an American Negro whose mediation helped to end the fighting in the Holy Land, spoke at a dinner given in his honor by the American Association for the United Nations.

Bunche, who said he spoke "as an American and a Negro," said: "[illegible] who have a sense of justice and fair play must contribute to the solution of a problem of our doorstep which is perhaps more complex and baffling than the Palestine problem if our country is to be enabled fully to live up to the principles of the charter to which all of the United Nations are solemnly pledged."

"This it clearly cannot do," he continued, "so long as 14,000,000 Negroes are deprived of many of their fundamental rights and are denied political, economic and social equality."

Canada Stands On Own Feet Roebuck Tells US

WASHINGTON, May 10—(CP) —Senator Arthur W. Roebuck of Toronto Monday squelched a suggestion that the Dominion was being propped up by stacks of Marshall plan dollars.

"Make no mistake about it," he told Senator Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.), "we in Canada stand on our own feet."

Roebuck, chairman of the General Council of the British Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, rose to Canada's defense at a luncheon given by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Connally is chairman.

Speaking on behalf also of delegates from Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Pakistan, Malta and Britain, Roebuck remarked jokingly:

"You may be pleased to know that we're not here to take away anything under the Marshall plan."

Connally interjected with a smile: "You're already getting most of it."

That remark seemed to take Roebuck by surprise. He spoke briefly of Canada as the United States' best customer and of the friendly co-operation of the two countries.

"But, Mr. Senator," he said, "we Canadians have stood on our own two feet with regard to the Marshall plan—and all the rest of the plans.

"We have borne our load—and still are doing so—in all the international organizations. Perhaps a little more than our share, as a matter of fact, when you put it on a per capita basis.

"Make no mistake about it, we in Canada stand on our own feet."

Indian Mission Talks Defence With Canadians

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP) — A four-man defence mission from India will sit down at a conference table today with 10 Canadian defence officers to iron out ways and means of providing India with Canadian war supplies and scientific personnel.

The conference will be the first stage in three days of discussions on Canada's defence relationships with that commonwealth country which is steadily building up its defence forces.

The items the mission will seek are believed to be standard Canadian armament, such as rifles, army vehicles and artillery weapons. The mission will also make a study of Canadian training facilities at Camp Borden, Trenton, Centralia, Kingston and Barriefield.

Brig. C. M. Drury, deputy minister of defence, has already indicated that Canada will do whatever she can to facilitate any requests India may make of this dominion.

The Indian mission, arriving at Rockcliffe airport Monday, was welcomed by a 75-man RCAF guard of honor and the RCAF band and by India's high commissioner, Sardar H. S. Malik.

With H. M. Patel, permanent secretary of India's defense department, in the mission are Maj.-Gen. Kalwant Singh, chief of general staff; Air Vice Marshal S. Mukerjee, Deputy Chief of Air Staff, and Raj. Bir Chopra, deputy director of training for India's army.

They will hold conferences all day today and later meet with Defence Minister Claxton. On Wednesday they will divide into three groups and make a quick tour of training establishments.

Pool Contract Given Heffernan

After negotiations with several contractors the Peterborough Lions Club has awarded the contract for construction of the swimming pool in Riverside Park to the firm of George Heffernan.

The contract was approved on Monday night at a special meeting of the Swimming Pool Committee held subsequent to the club's main meeting. Present plans call for the pool to be completed in time for the Civic Holiday.

Construction work to be completed by the company is the signal has finally been flashed on a project that has been controversial since its inception. Strong opposition to the building of he pool was encountered from some Ashburnham residents.

Douglas Anderson, chairman of the committee, urged the members to support the current sale of draw tickets to finance the project, and asked them to volwhole swimming pool, including the tunnel around it, the cat walk, and the tunnel into the bath house. Excavation work was scheduled to begin early today.

This means that the go-ahead unteer certain amount of manual labor to complete it.

Gives Readings

Guest speaker at the regular meeting was Donald T. Crawford principal of King Edward School. He entertained the more than 50 members with readings from the works of Robert W. Service. Service, now in his 70s, living in California, was born in Scotland and came to Canada while still a 'teen-ager. He then went to the Yukon during the Gold Rush period. While there he found the environment which inspired his particular poetic talent.

Selections taken from the Service anthology by Mr. Crawford were "The Cremation of Sam McGee," "The Ballad of Blasphemous Bill," "Madame La Marquise," "Ice Worm Cocktail," and "Bessie's Boil."

Bev Goulding introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Jack Armitage. President Sim Gledhill was in the chair.

Bert Sisson boosted Vern Wilkinson and the booster prize donated by Mr. Wilkinson was won by Hector Gray. A directors' meeting followed the main meeting.

In the final speech of the debate Sir Terence Shone of Britain outlined his reasons for abstaining. He said Israel had not clarified her views on the outstanding problems.

"The general tenor of the statements of the Israeli representative, and in particular the emphasis which he gave the position he held by Jerusalem as the central and abiding place in Jewish spiritual life, have not entirely allayed our doubts regarding the attitude of the Israeli Government toward the future of Jerusalem," Sir Terence said.

Hi-Y Clubs Have Fathers As Guests

Relationship with others is one of the most important things in the world, said Rev. Ivan Morgan, Murray Street Baptist Church, at the Hi-Y father and son banquet on Monday night in the YMCA. His advice to the boys and their dads was to count 10 before they became angry and wished to fight.

"Do not let yourself become resentful and hold grudges. Grudges are a type of mental ailment. Try to make your enemies your friends," he advised.

To illustrate his topic, Mr. Morgan told a story of a Norwegian boy who had one failure after another. Finally when his enemy lacked friendship, and needed help, the boy came to his aid.

Walter Pridham introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Richard Rutherford.

Les Vipond, National Boys' Work Secretary of the YMCA, reported 200 Hi-Y clubs in Canada. In Canada, he said, the Hi-Y Clubs raised over $10,000 in the past two years. This money was for a world youth fund. Hi-Y, he explained, was in 34 countries of the world.

Don Duncan, Boys' Work Secretary at the YMCA, reported on the activities of the four Hi-Y clubs. Bob Morris reported on the Central and Western Ontario Hi-Y conference held in St. Catharines in the Easter holidays. C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS, spoke briefly on the relationship between the school and Hi-Y.

Henry Dinsdale proposed a toast to the fathers, which was replied to by L. M. Richardson. Bob Stuart proposed the toast to the King.

Sisters and girl friends of some of the members of the Hi-Y clubs served at the banquet. They were thanked by Warne Brown. Dave Graham played the piano.

A New Germany?

Four years to the day from the unconditional surrender of all German forces after the most widespread and abysmal defeat ever suffered by a militaristic nation, a new German state was created. It is the West German Republic. It has been made primarily by three of the victors—Britain, the U.S.A. and France. The new constitution provides for racial, lingual and religious freedom, the setting up of a parliamentary federation which it is hoped will be democratic, and free elections.

* * *

There are four exceptional provisions. One is that among a people long inured to violence and with whom death by decree has been a walking shadow since 1933, the death penalty is forbidden. The second is that the central power as vested in the President will be limited—a drastic change from the centralization practised during the Nazi regime. The third is that the territorial boundaries of the new West German Republic are not immutable. Eastern (Soviet-controlled) Germany may join, or parts of it, if free to do so and provided first that free elections take place in the eastern areas. The fourth is that the new Republic will have no arms at all.

* * *

The corollary to this last provision is the absence of any specific mention of the status of occupying troops. Presumably West Germany will contain the arms of Britain, France and the U.S.A. as long as these three nations see fit to maintain troops there.

* * *

The formation of the new, partial German state is a good step toward re-establishing Germany as a useful economic and political entity in central Europe. The hope that eastern Germany may soon be included, and the West German Republic become simply the German Republic, is slight. However, the revival of Four Power talks, due to begin in Paris on May 23rd, may allow for a measure of integration between the two Germanies. The West Germans ask that they will not be used as pawns at this meeting. It is the nature of the conference and of international politics that they will be. They have, however, Mr. Bevin's assurance that he "would not agree to anything on behalf of Great Britain which will take away the freedom of the German people". And they have the unspoken but demonstrated American assurance that the spread of Soviet Communism to Western Germany would not be tolerated.

* * *

Whether the new Republic is little more than a puppet, whether it can become politically democratic, and whether it can continue to exist economically and racially without eastern Germany, politically without its own arms, remain to be seen.

The Astor Place Riots

Today is the hundredth anniversary of one of the most curious riots in history. In 1845 Edwin Forrest, an American actor of considerable ability, paid a visit to England and was deeply chagrined to find that English audiences did not think much of him. This was understandable; Forrest was an actor of great power and is reported to have risen to considerable heights in Othello and King Lear; he was, however, a ranter, and his [illegible] drama was coarse and plain. But Forrest was convinced that the coldness which was shown toward him was inspired by William Charles Macready, the great English tragedian of the time, and he determined to get even with Macready.

When Macready visited the United States in 1849 he was well received until May 10, when a group of ruffians created a disturbance during a performance of Hamlet in the Astor Opera House; these ruffians were hired by Forrest. The performance was broken up, and the audience attempted to disperse into Astor Place, but the fighting between the partisans of Forrest and the partisans of Macready was so violent that a company of soldiers had to be ordered out to quell it, and before the riot was broken up, seventeen persons had been killed. Macready was forced to barricade himself in his dressing room, and to escape through a window; he left America soon afterward, deeply convinced of the savagery of its people.

Riots have been caused by a variety of issues, but this is the only one of which we know which arose over the merits of two rival tragedians.

A Vanishing Craft

We were looking at some pictures of fine wood-carvings the other day, and as we did so we reflected regretfully that the craft of woodcarving has fallen upon evil days. There was a time, not so long ago, when every cabinet-maker could do carving of the simpler kinds, and in many churches, public buildings and houses of the more elaborate sort there were fine mouldings and bits of finishing work which were executed by hand. Like all hand work, they had the beauty of individuality; four expert carvers, each executing the same design in the same kind of wood, produced four pieces which, though superficially identical, were nevertheless capable of being distinguished from one another. And as well as cabinet makers who could do the simple carving, there were master craftsmen who did nothing else, and who produced beautiful pieces of work which, either in the natural colour of the wood, or enriched with paint and gilt, were placed above doorways and in other conspicuous positions. These fine craftsmen appear to have few sons or grandsons who can do what they did.

Modern buildings tends to be plain. Some decorators insist that this plainness is a virtue. We think it is a virtue born of necessity. The cost of craftsmanship has soared so high that even governments and wealthy corporations decide to manage without it. And in consequence craftsmanship, exemplified by the art of the wood carver, has fallen into disuse. It takes an apprenticeship of eight years to turn a promising young man into a wood carver; why would he study so long when he can get good pay as a rough carpenter?

We have advanced beyond our grandfathers in many ways, but let no one imagine that we have not paid a high price for our gains. The decline of craftsmanship of all kinds is part of that price.

Singer In The Wilderness

Paul Robeson, the great American Negro singer and a great man, has resolved not to sing again but to devote his life to making speeches. If he carries out this resolve, he will, as the New York Times says, do himself and the cause of the American Negro a disservice. It would be a betrayal also of the tens of thousands of people the world over who delight in his passionate and splendid singing.

The Times comments that:

> Mr. Robeson has advanced the cause of the American Negro by being an outstanding human being. He can do nothing but harm by making himself a propagandist for a party line. We do not believe that making speeches of any sort can do as much for the American Negro as is being done by great American Negroes who in their own personalities demonstrate how hollow is prejudice and how ill-grounded is discrimination. Nothing that Mr. Robeson can say will be half as important as the very fact of the existence of Roland Hayes and Ralph Bunche, of Joe Louis and Jackie Robinson, of Marian Anderson and Dorothy Maynor, yes, and of Paul Robeson.
>
> Like any other man on this continent or wherever freedom of speech is valued Mr. Robeson should have the right to his own political opinions and the right to express them. (It is shocking that in some of the States of the American Union there are people who would deny him the right; the suggestion has even been made that after his appearances in New York and in Britain and Europe in support of communist-approved "peace" movements, he should be barred from returning to his home in Connecticut.) But Paul Robeson has a more urgent right, which is his duty as an artist. That is to use his voice in song, not in public speeches. As a speaker he is now a voice in the wilderness, virtually [illegible] to serve.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A New York actress has been named as "Queen of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway". Does that mean that you can go a long way with her?

A psychiatrist says that a man may overeat as a result of suppressed rage. It is a horrible thing to see a man taking out his spite on a lemon meringue pie.

An Englishwoman, appearing in court, says: "My husband never argues with me; he just says 'I have spoken' ". Does it never occur to her to say, "I, too, have spoken" and then sit down to see what he will do?

A Pact For Peace

(From The Winnipeg Free Press)

As was to be expected, the North Atlantic Treaty is being criticized and abused by Russia, and by agents of Russian propaganda in the democracies, with all the variety of invective of which they are the masters.

✧ ✧ ✧

Even before the treaty was made public, Russia attacked it as an alliance against the safety of the Soviet Union. Russia conveniently forgot, what the world should never forget, that it was the Soviet Union which first began to build up alliances and power blocs and that it was only after several years of repeated Russian aggression that the Western world at last began to combine in self-defence. Similarly, Communist leaders in France, Italy, Belgium, Great Britain, the United States and Canada, attacked the treaty before it was completed. Since then, with varying degrees of emphasis and clarity, they have threatened sedition and sabotaging of the war effort should Russia and the Western world at some future date come into conflict. It is, of course, the purpose of the treaty — its only political purpose — to make such a clash of arms less likely by building up the strength of the democracies and thereby deterring Russia from aggression.

✧ ✧ ✧

There is not a word in the Atlantic Pact which breathes a spirit of aggression or animosity towards Russia or any other country. The treaty only begins to function if one of the nations belonging to this democratic alliance is the victim of attack. If no such attack takes place, the treaty cannot be called into operation. Unless Russia has a guilty conscience, therefore, and is planning aggression, she has absolutely nothing to fear. Secretary of State Acheson and Senator Vanderberg put the case concisely in their statements last week to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. On the treaty itself, Secretary Acheson said, "The treaty is wholly defensive. No aggressive intention is openly stated, covertly concealed, or in any way connected with it."

On the enforcement of the treaty, Senator Vanderberg said: "No nation can become the target of the treaty unless it nominates itself by its own acts as the armed aggressor."

Our own ambassador to the United States, Mr. Hume Wrong, in a recent address at Denver, speaking as one who participated throughout the negotiations leading to the pact, declared that "not one word was uttered by anyone which could be interpreted, or even ingeniously misinterpreted, as a statement of aggressive intention."

✧ ✧ ✧

The Russians have raised one technical point of some consequence. It will be recalled that on the 26th of May, 1942, the Soviet Union and Great Britain signed a treaty of friendship and mutual assistance. The Russians now charge that the North Atlantic Treaty is a violation of the 1942 understanding. This point was discussed in the British House of Commons on Feb. 21, last, when the North Atlantic Treaty was nearing completion. Mr. Hector McNeil, speaking for the Government, then denied that it would in any way violate that treaty.

Nothing surely can be clearer than these statements. But to clinch matters this further quotation is in order from an earlier statement made by Secretary of State Acheson (March 18) on the meaning of the North Atlantic Pact.

He said: "Anyone with the most elementary knowledge of the processes of democratic government knows that democracies do not and cannot plan aggressive wars. But for those from whom such knowledge may have been withheld I must make the following categoric and unequivocal statement, for which I stand with the full measure of my responsibility in the office I hold:

"This country is not planning to make war against anyone. It is not seeking war. It abhors war. It does not hold war to be inevitable. Its policies are devised with the specific aim of bridging by peaceful means the tremendous differences which beset international society at the present time. Allegations that aggressive designs lie behind this country's signature of the Atlantic pact can rest only on a malicious misrepresentation or a fantastic misunderstanding of the nature and aims of American society."

✧ ✧ ✧

Further quotations could be given from Canadian statesmen and those of the other signatory states. These will suffice to dismiss as being utterly baseless the cries of the Communists, the various peace movement groups and all those people, sincere and otherwise, who are presently either playing Moscow's game or are Moscow's dupes.

The democracies have waited too long in deciding to get together in self-defence and mutual resistance to aggression. The result is to be seen in a Europe half enslaved and living under the tyranny of fear. It is also to be seen in the tragic division of the world into two armed camps and in an atmosphere of world politics poisoned by a sense of insecurity. The North Atlantic Treaty offers the best hope of preserving peace; of lessening international tension, and, in time, of paving the way, on the basis of [illegible] folly of appeasement, to some arrangement in world affairs that will help to promote genuine co-operation for international peace and stability.

A certain old lady was so concerned about one of the villagers who was unable to write, that she persuaded the village school-master to give him some lessons. Some time later she met the villager and said to him:

"Well, George, I suppose you are now able to read the Bible fairly easily?"

"Lor' bless you, mum," he replied. "I was out of the Bible and into the football news over a week ago!"

Deplorable Confusion

(MONTREAL STAR)

It is difficult to comment with restraint on the weak and muddled debate which took place in Toronto recently in the General Council Executive of the United Church. The subject under discussion was the Atlantic pact. The Executive, after prolonged discussion, finally passed a resolution praying that the pact might work for peace. But, when it was proposed to urge the church's membership "to recognize.... if the necessity arises, Canada should do her duty under provisions of the pact," the Executive turned it down by a vote of 13 to 12.

The Atlantic Treaty is a document vital to the safety of the Christian world. It is the keystone of our security. Under its shelter free men of the Atlantic community can gather together to live lives of their own choosing which includes that liberty of worship that is one of the four fundamental freedoms. It is a Treaty neither aggressive nor war-like in intent. But—and the "but" is essential—the Treaty makes it clear beyond all doubt that the signatories will resist by arms if necessary encroachments upon their freedom.

This is the corner-stone of the Treaty. Intending aggressors are given clear warning that, if they propose to carry through their plans, they will be met by force. The Treaty is the fulfilment of the idea behind the Peace Front urged unsuccessfully before the war. Failure to create it, in the judgement of Mr. Winston Churchill, precipitated the conflict which, in his speeches and his history, he refers to bitterly as "The Unnecessary War."

The Executive of the United Church, by the action taken at Toronto, disregards the evidence and judgement of Mr. Churchill, President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister St. Laurent, Mr. George Drew and Mr. M. J. Coldwell. It disregards also the considered view of Mr. John Foster Dulles, one of the great Christian laymen in the United States. In fact, it disregards the testimony of almost everyone in the world except the members of the Communist party, the propagandists for Moscow, and the woolly-minded fellow-travellers whose practical judgement is on a par with the confusion of their general thinking. What company to find themselves in!

It is hard to find any measure of the weakness of the action taken at Toronto. What is rejected is any support at all for the real principle of the Treaty. This is its power and strength—demonstrated beyond doubt by the news today that the Russians are now retreating from the attitudes assumed so relentlessly since 1945. With the proof of the theory of the Peace Front before them, the news blazoned from every printed page, the Executive turns its back on establish fact. There may be consolation in the size of the vote. The rejection was accomplished by only one ballot. The best that can be said for it is that the majority was smaller than the one by which the British Columbia C.C.F. refused its endorsation of the Treaty.

"We have no business, no right," said one of the Executive members, "to tell the youth of Canada to get ready to die in war." Deep personal loss may well have evoked this cry, and criticism of it must be to that extent tempered. But it is awful to reflect that it was this very reasoning, widespread and often expressed in the years between the wars, that led directly to the mourning which has become so permanent a feature in so many Canadian homes. The Treaty is designed to render as unlikely as possible any repetition of war's tragedies, and it is deplorable that the majority of the United Church Executive should remain to this day sunk in past follies.

Letter To The Editor

WASTING GOOD FOOD

Sir: I am wondering if you received many—or any—authoritative replies to the basic questions asked in your forthright editorial entitled "Potatoes To Rot"?

At any rate this rural reader is sufficiently interested in the following paragraph from the above editorial to submit a few of the thoughts culled from our study club discussion of the matter: "Without further explanation, it is announced from Ottawa that the Government will pay $5,000,000 for potatoes which may be dumped in the fields to rot . . " Is government subsidization of potato-growing so important that it must be upheld by wanton waste of good food? Is there no way in which these roots can be used, since we are paying for them? And is it unthinkable that here in Canada, where living costs are so high, potatoes should be allowed to sell cheaply?"

Our opinion, after hearing both sides of the questions, leans heavily in favour of the view that in this hungry world there must be a better way of dealing with these purely regional food surpluses than by the "wanton waste of good food". It was felt that, in this problem, a lot could be achieved by what one speaker described as "an international model along the operational lines of Canada's Special Products Board". Another suggested that the appropriate specialized agency of the United Nations (the Food and Agriculture Organiaztion) could, and should, make constructive suggestions to the respective member governments, as to a practicable technique by which these so-called 'food surpluses' could be removed from the day-by-day markets; processed, if necessary, and channeled to the hunger areas, wherever they may be?

There was one obstacle mentioned, i.e., that too many influential people (in the markets) have a profit incentive in price movements in food, and therefore have no enthusiasm concerning stabilized prices, even at equitable levels, to primary producer and final buyer?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper? And he said, What hast thou done? The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. And now thou art cursed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand; when thou tillest the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee her strength; a fugitive and a vagabond shalt thou be in the earth.

And Cain said unto the Lord, My punishment is greater than I can bear.... And Cain went out from the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the east of Eden. (Gen. 4: 9-13, 16.)

REPRESENTATION IN COMMONS—The number of seats in the new House of Commons will be increased by 17 under the redistribution of provincial representation following the 1941 census. The redistribution, delayed because of the war, has been completed and the members elected to the new Parliament June 27 will total 262 instead of 245. The addition of Newfoundland as a province accounts for seven of the new seats. Four provinces gain seats, two lose seats and three are unchanged. In the case of Yukon-Mackenzie, the territory included in the riding was extended but there will still be one member.

Two Judges Retiring May Enter Politics

HALIFAX, May 10 (CP)—One provincial supreme court justice announced his retirement Monday night and another hinted he may follow suit when asked for comment on rumors that they were retiring to enter active politics.

Mr. Justice Carroll said in a long distance telephone conversation with The Canadian Press from Port Hood, N.S., that he is retiring Saturday. After that, he said, his plans are not known.

Mr. Justice R. M. Graham said in Halifax: "Nothing has been arranged yet."

Mr. Justice Carroll declined comment when questioned on reports that he was retiring from the bench to enter politics.

No Fireworks In Opening Campaign Talks

By Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The campaign for Canada's June 27 general election, now seven weeks away, opened Monday night with curtain-raiser speeches delivered by the two major party leaders—Prime Minister St Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative chieftain. Neither contained the expected pre-election fireworks

Mr. St. Laurent spoke from Ottawa, just a few hours before he left on a swing through the Maritime Provinces, and in a broadcast address championed the record of his Liberal administration and stressed that he was seeking a personal mandate from the people.

Mr. Drew, already in the Maritimes, is expected to deliver his main blasts against the government, and possibly his election-issue views, in a broadcast tonight from Sydney, N. S.

Mr. St. Laurent, from Ottawa, called for a mandate to "continue to work for peace and security, for trade and prosperity, for full employment and social security, for complete recognition of Canadian nationhood and the development of all aspects of national life."

Rejects Socialism

He did not believe that Canadians wanted "socialism, not even those I have described as Liberals-in-a-hurry." Nor did he believe they wanted a return to "reactionary Toryism."

Liberals were prepared to use the power of the state to help give all the people "greater equality of opportunity and to protect the public from exploitation by selfish interests."

Mr. Drew recalled that the Progressive Conservative platform urging higher income tax exemptions and allowances and said the party had one program for all 10 provinces and stood for old-age pensions at the age of 65 without a means test.

He denied suggestions that a Progressive Conservative government would repeal family allowances legislation and said the party, in fact, advocated not only the continuation of allowances but the elimination of discrepancies.

Plan To Have Schools Run At Army Bases

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP) — Schooldays may have an enlarged meaning this fall for hundreds of children of Canadian servicemen.

Temporary equivalents of the "Little Red Schoolhouse" are being replaced at a number of bases. The largest school is planned for the army and air force youngsters at Camp Borden, an 18-classroom affair complete with a combined auditorium-gymnasium.

Twelve-classroom schools are planned at Barriefield, and Rivers, Man., and another with eight rooms for Shilo, Man.

Chinese Police Execute 20 Men

SHANGHAI, May 10—(AP)—Public executions by police of more than 20 men in the last week have heightened tension in Communist-threatened Shanghai.

In parts of the city the sharp bark of pistol and the heavier thud of tommygun have ended the lives of men charged with espionage or violation of economic measures.

Three men were shot yesterday for espionage. Two were followers of Marshal Li Chi-sen who heads the "revolutionary committee of the Kuomintang."

These executions are certain to bring denunciations from the Communists and likely threats of reprisals.

Mao Sen, appointed police commissioner by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has put his men on a war footing.

In an edict he threatened death to any policeman caught dealing with Communists and execution of his family.

So far Shanghai has shown nothing resembling fifth column activity. And yet in a city of more than 5,000,000 there are bound to be Red agents working undercover.

Veterans Causing Turmoil With Improvement Plans

By H. L. JONES

LONDON, May 10 (CP). — Young men and women, whose views on life were broadened by military service during the war, are working a slow revolution in thousands of sleepy little British villages.

In many cases their agitation for improvement is opposed by older folk who think that the centuries-old tempo of village life is best.

A visit to a number of isolated coastal villages in Devon recently showed such developments as these:

A village was being wired for its first electricity after three years of agitation by young naval veterans. Several old fishermen were still opposed to it as dangerous, unnecessary and expensive.

A few miles inland, a young farmer, not long out of agricultural college, was introducing machinery and new techniques on his father's farm. Despite rising production, older farmhands prophesy no good will come of it.

Several villages for the first time have formed local amateur dramatic societies, which stage three or four plays during the winters.

"Young folk coming back from the war have livened us up a lot," a rural clergyman told The Canadian Press.

"I think it is a good thing, though I must confess I share the disapproval of the older folk about the youngsters' attitude to religion.

"Our villagers are very devout and observe the Sabbath strictly.

"Imagine how shocked they are when their own sons and daughters now take to the beach on Sunday."

Cups Presented To Winners Of Trojan Club

At a meeting of the Trojan AC, Ald. Hugh Waddell presented his trophy to Captain Peter Heffernan of the peewee Canadiens, loop winners in hockey last winter. Ald. Waddell also presented the Harold Rehill Cup to Capt. Glen Pagett of Rangers, as Coach Johnny Wilson gave out crests. Harry Yudin handed out the midget trophy to Capt. Paul Doris of Canadiens and Coach Henry Dunn presented crests.

Paul Doris won the Arthur Pagett Sr. cup with J. Church and K. Saunders runners-up. It was for ability combined with good sportsmanship and clean play. George Masters, past president, made the presentation. He, the late Mr. Pagett, Lloyd Long and others organized the club.

Mr. Yudin and I. Black represented the B'nai B'rith Club and were among the speakers. Major Watt of the Salvation Army also was a guest at the meeting. He always permitted the boys use of the Chamberlain St. temple. Movies were shown and refreshments served. The club expressed thanks to the Legion for support and the Trent Valley Baking Co. for sweaters for Midgets, as well as to the Armstrong Lumber Co. for bantam sweaters, to B'nai B'rith, the Salvation Army and the coaches and referees. The press was thanked, too. Dit Clapper was unable to attend due to another meeting.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

As we were walking down George Street this morning, we ran into Robert Gamble. Bob, as it is well known, is the popular and hard-working president of the lawn bowling club.

He launched right into lawn bowling. Said he: "You know, Herb, that two weeks from today we will hold the official opening of the 1949 lawn bowling season—just imagine, two weeks from today—and what a season we are going to have. We begin on May 24 and bowl right through until the end of September, or just a little over four months. Can you think of a better summer pastime? Out on the beautiful greens, well lighted, fresh air, and good fellowship. We intend to have one grand time, with the local schedule, the popular week-end tournaments, the big open tournaments and then of course the odd trip up to Cannington or over to Campbellford.

"The committees have all worked hard and they expect to have everything in grand order for the opening. You know, it's a wonder more of our people don't grasp this opportunity—the cost is not much—the surroundings unsurpassed and the whole organization wonderful. We could go on at great length and tell you more but I believe that the bowlers and the public in general will be more impressed with our club when they come out and see for themselves just what we have at the corner of McDonnel and Monaghan Road."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Lord's Day Act, affecting sports, is explained by Ralph Allen in the Tely. Section 4 says: "It shall not be lawful for any person on the Lord's Day, except as provided....to carry on or transact any business of his ordinary calling, or in connection with such calling, or for gain, to do, or employ any other person to do, on that day, any work, business or labor." And Section 6 says it is not lawful "to engage in any public game or contest for gain, or for any prize or reward, to be present thereat, or to provide, engage in, or be present at any performance or public meeting, elsewhere than in church, at which any fee is charged, directly or indirectly, either for admission to such performance or meeting, or to any place within which the same is provided or for any service or privilege thereat."

* * * * * *

Thus, it will be seen that no pro or amateur game may be held on Sunday in Ontario where admission is charged or a collection taken. Some exceptions are listed in the above-mentioned sections of the Act, but athletes are not included. Where no admission is charged, one supposes, it is not illegal to play games, though there again the local authorities may have something to say. Golf is okay since spectators, if any, pay no fee to look on. The only way out for those wanting Sunday sports is to go after the provincial government to amend the Act. Personally, we find a six-day week long enough to work without having to handle Sunday sports, too.

Making Their Debut

Weather permitting, the men's softball season opens at seven tonight at the Ashburnham Bowl. A City League twin bill, Credit Jewellers playing the Uniteds first, followed by the Cosmopolitans against the Outlaws. Stan Houlihan has a young bunch of Jewellers making their debut against Ken O'Toole's experienced Uniteds, so anything might happen there, while both Cosmos and Outlaws (handled respectively by Howie Dalton and Stew Richardson) have a mixture of youth and experience in their lineups. Lots of keen action likely, anyway, following a brief opening ceremony to start the OASA summer softball season.

* * * * * *

Import restrictions, apart from the residence rule, have been lifted in the COBL, and no doubt come clubs will be packed pretty solidly this summer. Several changes will be seen in the Petes' lineup comes May 21 when Batawa Shoemen open here. Kingston come to town for a double-header on May 24. A six-team setup, two three-club sections having an interlocking schedule with sectional and then league playoffs. Schedule out soon. The loop champs hit into OBA senior "A" playdowns, whilst the runners-up head down the senior "B" pathway. It's a 28-game schedule ere playoffs, so senior ball fans can really enjoy their sport this season, especially with two new clubs aboard.

* * * * * *

He Craves Action

Manager Eddie Murphy of the senior Petes was quite indignant last eve when he took his squad to Riverside for a drill. "Here it is about a week and a half away from our opening COBL game," he said, "and the park is a long way from being ready. Ground needs rolling, base-paths aren't skinned, no sunken dugouts—which are needed so the fans' view from the bleachers won't be cut off—and everything being let go till a day or two before play starts." The club kicked in with more than $600 as park rental last summer (some of this being re-routed to aid minor ball) and Ed felt it would be better if the parks committee would let them use that money to hire their own groundskeeper for the season. They're hoping for action right away in fixing up the field.

* * * * * *

No word from Toronto at this writing on how Jack Dugan made out in his fight last night, but maybe we'll hear a bit later. He will referee an amateur mitt card in Campbellford this Friday night, put on by the Rotary Club there. Several Peterborough pugilists on it, including Kid Bradley, 122 pounds; Kenny Lawson, 133; and Aldo Caravaggie, 138. Vic Bagnato was match-maker and fans down that way expect lots of fistic action at this ring show. All quiet locally any action now.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Illinois State Athletic Commission at Chisago Monday cleared the way for the return of Rocky Graziano, ex-middleweight champion, to Illinois boxing by cancelling a rule barring fighters dishonorably discharged from service.

Graziano last Friday was reinstated in New York after being suspended in that state for failure to report an alleged bribe offer two years ago.

The first disqualification of the Toronto racing season came in the fourth race at Dufferin Park here Monday.

Wrakfair, ridden by Eddie O'Sullivan came in first in the race but the stewards at the track ruled that the horse had interfered with the second running horse, Ples Pat, twice during the race. By the stewards' decision, Ples Pat was awarded first place and Wrakfair was dropped to the second position. Jockey O'Sullivan was fined $50 and suspended for five days.

At Chicago, officials of South Shore Hospital said physicians Monday night amputated above the knee the right leg of baseball player Charles Koney. The 22-year-old second baseman for Louisville Colonels of the American Association suffered a shattered right leg, fractured left leg and a broken nose when a hot-water tank exploded in the basement of his home Saturday night.

At Toronto, heavyweight Earl Walls of Toronto Monday night knocked out Bill McCarty of New Bedford, Mass., at 1:50 of the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout in the main event of a professional boxing card here. Walls weighed 190 pounds, McCarty 183.

At St. Louis, the United States Table Tennis Association Monday announced the suspension for one year of three New York City players on charges of bad conduct. Elmer F. Cinnater, president of the Association, identified the three as Richard Miles, 23, United States national champion, Martin Reisman, 19, English and Canadian champion, and Douglas Cartland, 33, ranked fourth in the United States.

Cleveland Indians Monday announced they have claimed Herman Reich on waivers from Washington Senators. The Indians sent Reich to Washington on waivers 10 days ago. No reason was given for the re-aquisition of Reich, who hit .323 for Portland in the Pacific Coast League last year.

Sid Abel Of Wings Awarded Hart Trophy

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP). — Captain Sid Abel of the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings has been selected his team's most valuable player and awarded the Hart Trophy, the NHL announced to-day. A veteran of 11 seasons in the NHL, Abel edged Bill Durnan, Montreal Canadiens netminder, 43-37 in the polling to capture the trophy for the first time. The award carries a cash bonus of $1,000.

Royals, Brandon Attend Banquet: Play Tonight

BRANDON, Man., May 10 (CP) —Montreal Royals and Brandon Wheat Kings, rivals for the Memorial Cup, came as close together on peaceful terms as they ever will for the season Monday night when both teams attended a banquet staged in their honor.

However, the two teams will be back battling each other again here tonight in the sixth game of their best-of-seven Dominion Junior Hockey final before another sell-out crowd of approximately 5,000.

It will be do-or-die for Wheat Kings, down three games to one, with one contest tied. Royals need only a tie to clinch the title.

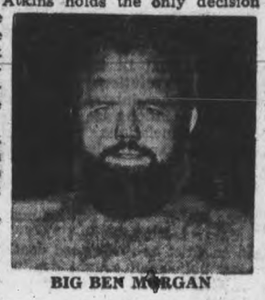
At Monday night's banquet, Mayor Frank Williamson of Brandon extended greetings to Royals on behalf of the city.

Jack MacArthur drew a big laugh when he told Montreal officials at the banquet that he had planned to show them parts of Manitoba next Sunday—leaving them with the impression that Brandon intended to force the series to the limit.

Highest capital in the world is La Paz, Bolivia, which lies in a river valley in the Andes mountains, 12,000 feet above sea level.

British Empire Champion To Meet Unmasked Marvel

Fred Atkins, British Empire Heavyweight Champion, will meet a formidable foes in Lew Reynheer, the Unmasked Marvel at the Brock Arena tomorrow night. Atkins holds the only decision registered over the Marvel in the local ring. Some fans think he was extremely lucky that night as Referee Strangler Lewis disqualified the mystery man. Reynheer says he'll prove that was the case this Wednesday night.



BIG BEN MORGAN

The Marvel is one of the most cunning matmen to ever perform here and the Champ will have to be at his best to score a win. It shapes up as a real contest.

The semi-final brings together Wee Willie Davis, the Hollywood villain and popular Pat Flanagan. Davis appears the toughest opponent Pat has drawn to date. He will have to be good to take the giant Davis and he could do just that for he has been going great guns lately and whipping the topnotchers.

To round out this all-star card Frank Valois, the huge Frenchman, hooks up with the still heavier Ben Morgan.

Giants Surprise Experts Down Chicago Cubs 7-2

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One swallow doesn't make a spring and one week doesn't make a season, but during the last seven days Leo Durocher's New York Giants have been as near-perfect as a baseball club can be.

The team is the one the experts predicted would wind up an also-ran because the pitchers would give away more runs than the hitters could manufacture.

Including last night's handy 7-2 triumph over Chicago Cubs, the Giants have won their last seven starts to take a 1½-game lead in the National League.

During that stretch, Giant pitchers have gone the route in all but one game. In that one, Sheldon Jones, who went all the way last night, was removed for a pinch-hitter after allowing only one earned run in eight innings.

The club has used a four-man rotating system on the mound throughout the season—Clint Hartung, Larry Jensen, Monte Kennedy and Jones. No other pitcher has started a game. This big four has allowed only 14 runs in the last seven games. In short, the hurling has been phenomenal.

Whip Pirates

Vern Bickford last night pitched Boston Braves into second place, 1½ games behind the Giants, with a three-hit, 4-1 triumph over Pittsburg Pirates. The sophomore right-hander struck out six and retired the last 16 batters in succession.

The Braves got eight of their 10 hits and three runs off loser Murry Dickson. Marv Rickert and Jimmy Russell paced Boston's attack with three and two hits, respectively.

In an afternoon affair, St. Louis Cardinals snapped a three-game losing streak by thrashing Brooklyn Dodgers 14-5, to move out of the league cellar. The loss dropped the Dodgers into third place, half a game behind the Braves.

A pair of rookies—Eddie Kazak and Tommy Glaviano—sparked the Redbirds' 15-hit attack against six Dodger hurlers.

New York Yankees, leader of the American League, who have been surging through the west in old championship style, received a surprise 4-1 setback by the Tigers in Detroit. Young Ted Gray limited the Bronx Bombers to five hits to outpitch Vic Raschi. It was the second straight victory for Gray and the first defeat for the Yankee ace, who won his first four starts.

All other teams in the American League enjoyed a day off. The scheduled night game in the National League between Cincinnati and the Phils in Philadelphia was postponed by rain.

Short-haired dogs, whose natural habitats are the torrid zones, never should be made to sleep outdoors in winter months.

Boy Stops Breathing 10 Minutes, Not Dead

PASADENA, Calif., May 10 — (AP)—Four-year-old Lawrence Page sipped nourishment and looked with recognition at his parents Monday.

Two days ago, they thought he would never do either again.

For Lawrence stopped breathing for 10 minutes.

But three doctors at a hospital to which the child had been brought suffering from severe shock after an auto accident refused to concede that the child was dead.

The physicians, who decline to permit use of their names, injected a stimulant, coramine, into Lawrence's heart. Then artificial respiration was applied. Lawrence's lungs resumed their task.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Page of Mojave, Calif., knew their son recognized them today, the child was unable to speak.

Stresses Fire Danger

REGINA, May 10—(CP)—The local fire service in many parts of Canada is "starved both in manpower and fighting equipment" although the potential for bigger fires is constantly growing, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence for Canada, said today. "Let one fire service official condemn some death-trap rooming house and hear the howl," he said in an address to the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals in convention here.

Newfoundland Paper Honors H. L. Garner

H. L. Garner, general manager of The Peterborough Examiner, was the recipient of a statuette of a caribou standing on a base modelled to represent the island of Newfoundland, at the annual convention of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, last week.

The caribou, the animal symbol for the tenth province, was cast in bronze and plated in silver. The model of the island is cast in the same ore and mounted on a solid mahogany base.

It was designed to mark the occasion of Mr. Garner's visit to the island last February as President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association to welcome the newspapers of Newfoundland into the CDNA. The inscription on the plaque reads: "Harold Garner from The Evening Telegram of St. John's, Newfoundland, as a memento of his first visit to Newfoundland."

Ian Macdonald, general manager of he CDNA, who accompanied Mr. Garner on the trip, also received a similar memento.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
can tire you out and wear you down!

If your face is pale and your manner listless—if you're tired most of the time—if you're only enjoying life halfway—the reason may be a blood condition. You may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

Yes, the red cells in your blood may be too puny and pale and weak to transmit full energy to every muscle and fibre and tissue of your body. Many women—many men and children, too—go dragging their weary way through every day with this tiring Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If this Borderline Anemia is threatening your energy and healthy good looks, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! Then you can get some fun out of life again!

Star Has Home In Tennessee

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 10 (AP). — There's little chance that Claude Jarman, Jr., will go to Hollywood.

The child sensation of "The Yearling" has a living arrangement unique among film stars. He'll continue to make his home in Nashville, Tenn., reporting to Hollywood only when called to make a picture.

Young Jarman returns home after finishing the sound track for "Intruder In The Dust". He'll probably be reporting back to Hollywood less frequently. It's hard to find roles for a 14-year-old six-footer.

Bing and Bob

Bing Crosby will join his Pittsburg Pirates after finishing "Riding High." As soon as his boys are out of school, he'll take the family to his Elko, Nev., ranch where he expects to spend a couple of months . . .

Bob Hope should nab himself some rest. The only time I have ever heard him sound tired was on his air show last week after returning from his second United States tour. Slow down, Robert.

Fred Astaire and Betty Hutton should make a good combination in their upcoming musical.

Bill Holden figures he's in a rut. Now in "Sunset Blvd.", he's slated for "Beyond The Sunset" and "Red Sunset."

Search For Truth Declared Function of University

Waning emphasis on teaching of the humanities in universities of the Western World was deplored by Dr. S. F. Maine, head of the Extension Department and Professor of History at the University of Western Ontario, London, in an address to the Rotary Club on Monday in the Empress Hotel. Increased stress on the production of "expert technicians" in the various professional classes has resulted in a lesser number of "well-stocked, disciplined minds," he said.

Dr. Maine, who spoke on he topic "Our Educational Heritage," declared that many people today, when left alone with themselves, find that they have no mental or intellectual resources to fall back on, with the result that they are forever rushing off to the movies or other artificial forms of entertainment. More attention should be paid to inculcating ideals of citizenship and an interest in world problems.

Search For Truth

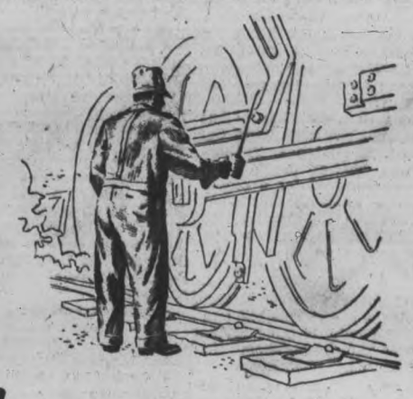
It should not be lost sight of, said the speaker, that the "essential function of a university is the search for truth," not the prowess of its football teams, dramatic groups, etc. The search for truth should be pursued "in the sense of reality and of ultimate values."

Dr. Maine, who was introduced by Burritt Smitheram and thanked by Les Woodruff, both of the staff of the Peterborough Normal College, reminded his audience that Ontario has an educational heritage of which the residents of the province had a right to be very proud. "In no place in the world, with the exception of the United States, has any other group of four million people anything like the university educational heritage of Ontario." This had all "come out of the sacrifices of the people" of earlier generations and "is part of our tradition and our civilization, in fact the mirror of our life."

Universities have now become "big business," Dr. Maine stated in reviewing the effect they have on the economy of the local cities in which they are situated. He said that the amount of money his own university brings into London is comparable to the turnover of a sizeable industry.

Dr. Maine said that he had had opportunities in recent years of comparing Ontario universities with those of England and Europe and that as a result he had come to the conclusion that "we have done a remarkably fine job, one that the people of Western Europe have not done in the last 500 years." He added: "We must make good use of the facilities of these institution to ensure that our young people get the best possible help from them."

Oil in the driving gears



BANK CREDIT oils the driving gears of production, industry and commerce. It helps to produce the goods and provide the services and jobs which mark the Canadian way of life.

"Money in the bank" is the foundation of credit. You and some seven million other depositors have nearly seven billion dollars in the chartered banks.

To pay for work done, goods produced, bought and sold, Canadians issue — every month — upwards of six billion dollars in cheques.

Cashing these cheques, making loans, discounting notes — in many different ways your bank keeps money and credit moving through all the channels of trade and opportunity . . . like oil in the machinery.

This whole vast, private, competitive, efficient process is made possible by your "money in the bank" — and by the experience and skill and integrity of the men and women on Canadian bank staffs.

Taxi Driver Fined For Careless Driving

Donald Armstrong, a taxi cab driver of 153 Maria St., was Monday found guilty and fine $10 and $26 costs for careless driving. An accident in which Harold Delahay, 544 Bethune St., sustained a fractured arm when he and Mrs. Delahay were knocked down by a cab at 2.45 a.m. Feb. 5, at George and London Sts., was related in court before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C.

Mr. Delahay appeared with his arm in a plaster cast. He described how he and his wife had crossed the street at the corner of George and London Sts. and had been knocked down by a taxi cab which had skidded on the snow-covered road and mounted the curb over a snow bank.

Armstrong said he had been driving south on George St. when he saw the couple crossing the road. He said he saw them hesitate and then run across the road in an attempt "to beat" the car. By continuing across the road, instead of waiting, they had blocked the part of the road he had intended driving through to avoid them.

The taxi driver said he was travelling at approximately 25 mph Owing to the condition of the road, which Constable Claire McGillen had said was covered with packed snow, the car would not respond to the steering.

HALIFAX, May 10 — (CP) — Premier Angus L. Macdonald Monday night was nominated Liberal candidate for Halifax South in the Nova Scotia general election June 9. He was unopposed.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 10—(Reuters)—A Yugoslav patrol shot and killed a Hungarian frontier guard—the third within a fortnight — when he illegally crossed the Yugoslav border, it was announced Monday.

One Killed In Crash

VANCOUVER, May 10—(CP)—One man was killed and a second suffered a broken leg and shock in the crash late Monday of a light aircraft about 160 miles northwest of here on the British Columbia mainland. Killed were Lorne McLean, 34, of Vancouver, a passenger aboard the pontoon-equipped craft operated by a Vancouver aerial taxi company. Injured was 28-year-old Walter Lutz, the pilot.

Importing Seamen

MONTREAL, May 10—(CP)—Conrad Sauras, vice-president of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) in a statement Monday said there is "further evidence" that "American seamen are being imported into Canada to man strike-bound ships in violation of immigration laws and regulations." Sauras said "a large number" came in by plane last week, landing at Montreal's Dorval airport.

2,446 Green trucks and cars bring more and better Telephone Service

IN THE PAST twelve months these familiar green trucks and cars have travelled over 20 million miles to help provide you with good telephone service and to help in the big expansion and improvement program which is making service better and more useful all the time.

Constantly improving service means that today, few things give you so much real value at such low cost as your telephone.

Like everything else, cars and trucks have gone up in price, 30% in three years! Yet, up to now, despite higher costs on all sides, there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago.

Today's expansion program is breaking all records, but there are still orders we haven't been able to fill. We will keep right on working and building to make your telephone service a bigger bargain than ever — to continue to provide more and better service at the lowest possible cost.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
is a lot of little things

SPRING IS HERE . . . IT'S TIME TO SHINE

Spring is the best season to paint your house. The paint gets a chance to go deeper and dry normally without peeling because the sun is not too strong. There are fewer flies and specks of dirt to mar the effect. Remember—one house with a neat exterior decoration job inspires others. Soon the whole neighborhood has had its face lifted. That makes it a better place to live in. So paint your house, now. Any activity which has as its goal the building of civic pride is "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Liberals Call Convention For Thursday

The rumor is getting around that Dit Clapper, recently retired manager of the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League, may be the Liberal candidate in Peterborough.

Friends of Dit Clapper have been advocating him as candidate and he during the past week has been giving it serious consideration. He is recognized as a young man widely known throughout the country and has a great gift of making friends. He has expressed the desire to be of service to his home section of Ontario to which he has returned from long campaigns in the top hockey circuit of the world.

Recently a group of Liberals and others held an informal dinner at which Mr. Clapper was present and all expressed themselves as strong supporters of the candidature of Mr. Clapper. He then intimated that he would give the question serious consideration.

Arthur H. Lewis and the executive have called the convention for Thursday night in the Legion Hall at 8.30 when a candidate will be chosen.

Art Lewis will preside, and the convention speaker will be the Hon C. D. Howe, PC, B.Sc. Mr. W. A. Fraser of Trenton will also be present.

Strike Still On

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—Efforts to negotiate settlement of a Building Workers' strike here failed Monday. Representatives of the Toronto Builders Exchange and of the Building Trades Council (A.F.L.) met separately with Labor Minister Daley of Ontario for more than three hours. But it was announced that both sides in the dispute over a modified closed shop refused to budge from their stand.

99 YEARS OLD WEDNESDAY—Pictured about is Mrs. Austin Weese, of Lasswade, eight miles east of Apsley, who will be 99 years old Wednesday. On Mother's Day, a large number of relatives and friends gathered at her home for a celebration in her honor.

Lasswade Woman Honored On Her 99th Birthday

APSLEY, May 10 (ENS)—A double celebration was held at the home of George Weese in Lasswade, eight miles east of here, on Sunday when a large number of relatives of Mrs. Austin Weese gathered to honor her on the dual occasion of her 99th birthday and Mother's Day. Her birthday falls on Wednesday, May 11, but the celebration was combined with Mother's Day in order that more could be enabled to attend.

Mrs. Weese lives with her son, George Weese, on the old homestead. Twenty-two members of her family circle sat down to dinner and there was a birthday cake on the table with 99 candles on it, the gift of Mrs. Peter Alexander of Toronto, who was among those present.

Neighbours Gather

Also attending the celebration following the dinner were about fifty friends and neighbours of the surrounding district. The following children of Mrs. Weese were present: Mrs. Denny Henly (Rose), of Long Lake; David Weese, Glen Alda; Charles Weese, Glen Alda; William Weese, Peterborough; George Weese, Lasswade; Arthur Weese, Tangamong. Also present was a grandson, A. Carl, of Flint, Michigan.

Mrs. Weese has lived in Lasswood all her life. Her husband died about 15 years ago at the age of 84. Her general health is very good for her age, and she is still active and able to get about the house. She was blind for about four years, but her sight is now beginning to come back again.

TO VIEW LIFTLOCK.

One hundred and twenty-five pupils and five teachers of Harwood Public School, York Township, Toronto, will visit Peterborough on May 25 and 26 for the purpose of seeing the city's famous Lift Lock on the Trent Canal. Arrangements for the trip are being made by the Chamber of Commerce. Eighty pupils and three teachers will come on May 25 and 45 pupils and two teachers on May 26.

Shelter Site Too Costly Aldermen Hold

The Community Memorial Centre is definitely not going to be built on the Children's Aid Society property at George, Princess and Lock Streets.

That is the information the Centre committee recently sought, and particularly Mr. C. B. Neal. So, that considered location is out, and the reason, as was expected, is simply that it would cost too much.

It may be remembered that Fred Ash of CAS quoted at the city hall meeting a week or so ago something like $55,000. And it might be more to buy other property and erect a building to the special requirements of the society.

That expense would fall on the city treasury, because the city has to provide the Centre site.

Mayor Swanston's motion at the meeting of the finance committee Monday night, seconded by Ald. Dick Raine, instructed City Clerk Outram to convey this decision to the Centre Committee, and also to write the Council's thanks to the CAS for their co-operative attitude.

George St. Property

Second preferred site on the Centre Committee list is the Burnham St. property, opposite the Ashburnham Bowl, but, argued Ald. Hurrell Dodds, "let's give them another chance to accept the property the city owns opposite the George St. wharf."

Ald. Dodds gave the reins to his imagination with a plea that Peterborough would probably change as remarkably in the next 20 years as in the last 20,—and let's look at the future, instead of the present. Little Lake was going to be cleaned up before long, George St. business was moving south; the George-Rink block was now about the centre of the city; that lot could be greatly transformed with its prospect of the expanse of water that many a city envied.

Of course, Ald. Dodds has frankly and persistently been in favor of that site. He even cautiously proposed that possibly the Council might be willing to contribute something in financial form if it was found that extra expense might be involved in the footings

A Last Chance

On that point, it seems that the Council suggested some weeks ago that new soundings or an estimate of their cost be obtained from City Engineer Chalmers, who is wading through paving and sewer costs and a lot of other details preparatory to the summer activities of his department.

Ald Grant Miller supported the Dodds idea, and the Centre Committee is being offered the George St. block, take it or leave, once and for all; or as the motion was worded—a chance to accept it or turn it down. Ald. Dodds will be rooting for acceptance, or until he has been convinced that the substratum is as woozy as it has long been decried.

Optimists Review Work In Trafalgar House Project

The Optimist Club slogan "Friend To The Boy" was brought home forceably at their Monday night meeting by guest speaker William Smythe of Welland, past vice-president of Optimist-International. He spoke at an opportune time when the three-year old Club is faced with many problems of their Boys Town program.

Mr. Smythe traced the history and achievements of Welland's Optimists' Boys' Town which had its start four years ago in much more adverse circumstances than Peterborough's.

He explained that the boys in five groups were self-governed by mayors, aldermen and board of works executives, that they meet four nights a week and that Saturdays were set aside for night dances and parties. The Welland Optimists have done a great deal in working with the city police in juvenile delinquency and have been complimented by that department in greatly reducing delinquency.

Under a Boys' Town supervisor, youngsters are taught citizenship, the value of money and are screened to see that they are good citizens at home, school and church. He called the work of Optimists a $15 investment, the only dividends from which was a satisfaction of a job well done. He warned the Club as a whole that unless they realized this significance, they would not be able to make a success of their Trafalgar House project.

The meeting, with president Leo Edwards in the chair, left the banquet hall and resumed again at Boys' Town where Major Percy Ketcheson of Carling Conservation Club showed his company's splendid films on outdoor life.

It was suggested by Mr. Smythe that Optimist meetings in this city should be held each week to be more effective and that newly-appointed Boys' Town supervisor Haydon Sooter, be sent to Welland for a week of instruction to enable him to gather ideas on the formation of boys' work at their new project.

VarnishRemover Fumes Ignite Garage Burned

A flash fire, caused by a lighted match igniting varnish remover fumes, on Monday night destroyed the garage belonging to Fred H. Collins, 194 McDonnel St., and the contents including a dinghy and canoe. Total loss is estimated at $1,700.

The heat was so intense that a car owned by G. K. Corbett, 195 London St., parked on the lot directly behind the burning garage, also caught fire. It suffered heavy damage to the left side and roof in particular.

A rebuilt stable, the garage was a spacious building comfortably housing two cars, a dinghy, canoe, garden tools and some lumber. Neither of the cars (one owned by Dr. Leonard Mylks and the other by the Collins family) was inside at the time.

Completed Task

In preparation for the sailing season Mr. Collins' two sons, James, 22, and Bob, 13, had applied varnish remover to the dinghy before proceeding with a new coat of varnish. The task of removing the former coat had been completed by Bob when his brother drove up to the garage in the family car at dusk.

James opened the door of the building and in order to see his way around, struck a match.

"He just lighted the match and the whole inside lit up in a flash", said Mr. Collins who was sitting in the idling car outside. Despite the explosion neither of the youths was injured. James had one singe-mark on his forehead.

"Fortunately they were both wearing woollen shirts," said Mr. Collins commenting on the fire today. "If they had worn cotton shirts they both probably would have been burned."

The interior of the building was instantly a mass of flames and nothing of value was salvaged.

So spectacular was the fire as dense black smoke and flames leaped into the air that spectators from other parts of the city jammed the roadway leading to it. It was estimated that at the height of the blaze about 1,000 people were looking on, and there were so many cars that Fire Chief George Smith said he had trouble getting to the address

Mr. Collins estimates that loss of the garage would be $800 (although it could not be replaced for that). Other damage was $800 for the dinghy, about $70 for the canoe, and at least $30 for the lawn mower, tools, lumber and other items stored there.

An overhead telephone cable was also destroyed.

"The firemen did a wonderful job," he said. "They had a hard time preventing the flames from spreading to nearby sheds."

TO ERECT SIGNS.

Two black and white directional signs will be erected on Lansdowne St., east and west of the intersection of George St., pointing out to tourists and other visitors the route to Peterborough's shopping district. The signs are being put up by the Chamber of Commerce and the Businessmen's Association, with the co-operation of City Engineer A. E. Chalmers. The signs, on individual posts, will be 15 feet by 24 feet in size.

524 Veterans Need Homes City Survey Reveals, With 441 Having Children

Application for 100 more houses for ex-service men and their families, to be built by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was recommended to the council by its finance committee Monday night. John Raine of the local office of the Corporation wrote the committee that on May 3 there was still a list of 524 names of veterans seeking housing accommodation. Family details were indicated in the range from 33 with no children to nine with five. In between were 224 with one child, 118 with two, 41 with three children and 13 with four.

Central Mortgage received 97 applications from married veterans in April, 64 of them after an advertisement was published in The Examiner by the Council seeking information as to continuing need of houses. The corporation also has on file the names of 216 civilians and 31 so-called immigrants who have also applied.

Application Deadline

The housing item was brought before the committee, with Ald. Hugh Waddell presiding, in a letter from W. W. Scott, Toronto, representing the Crown company, reminding the Council that the time for making applications for housing contracts in this year's program expired May 15.

Of the 247 applicants who do not qualify as ex-service men, Mr. Raine suggested that this total was open to some question because it was likely that some of these families had obtained accommodation and others had probably moved from Peterborough without advising the office of their going.

Of the 225 Central Mortgage dwellings that are being built in the south end under the contract of 1948, there were 42 in rental at May 3, and the number being completed is six to eight a week.

"Three men telephoned me about housing before I came to this meeting," said Mayor Max Swanston. "I think two of them were newcomers to this country, but the other was a man who has been working in one of the local plants 15 years."

It was fully understood by the committee that the city would have to supply the land and services for the additional 100 units. One point mentioned in discussion was whether the city's plumbing regulation would have any effect on the cost of new houses and resulting rental.

Present Rents.

Present rents are $35 and $37.50 and it was hoped that these charges could at least be maintained. "There is no use thinking of $37.50," said Ald. Raine, "because they can't pay it."

City Clerk Outram recalled to the committee that some delay had been occasioned last year in getting bids for plumbing and wiring subcontracts.

"If we ask for 100, where are we going to put them?" Ald. Gillespie asked.

"Property will have to be secured," Ald. Waddell replied.

Ald. Doug Miller said there were reports of some people living in Central Mortgage houses who could afford a better type, but they liked the rent rate.

Houses Restricted

"If there are any such cases they should be investigated," City Clerk Outram said. "The people of Peterborough [illegible] interest in those houses, and I believe they would object if there was anything like that. The houses are restricted to ex-service men and their families."

Some prior exceptions were people who had come to Peterborough as war workers, and had remained as tenants.

Ald. Doug Miller: "What about the people who have been waiting for sewers and are going ahead with building houses for themselves this year?"

Ald. Waddell said that sewer construction would probably have to be let by contract, after Ald H. Dodds remarked that the council had already authorized a sewer program of 21,000 feet in this year's program.

The motion applying for 100 houses was by Ald. Grant Miller and Ald Dodds.

Syracuse Noses Out Toronto Leafs By A Score Of 8-7

By the Associated Press.

The National League has nothing on the International when it comes to tight pennant races. This one promises to be a humdinger.

Nearly three weeks of the baseball campaign have gone and no team has shown any marked superiority over the others.

Buffalo leads today, but is playing only three games above .500. Newark, in last place, is only 3½ games behind the Bisons.

Should Buffalo lose to Jersey City tonight, and Montreal and Rochester win, the Bisons drop into fourth place overnight.

Rochester climbed to within half a game of the Bisons Monday night, coming from behind to defeat Baltimore Orioles 4-2.

Eddie Blake, who pitched two innings of runless relief ball after succeeding starter Johnny Yuhas, was credited with his first victory of the season against two losses. Johnny Maldovan was the loser.

In the only other scheduled game, Syracuse nosed out Toronto Maple Leafs 8-7, to oust the losers from fifth place. The Chiefs took an early 7-0 lead, but the Leafs came up with a six-run eighth inning to pull within one run of a tie. They each scored once in the ninth. Joe Perkowski was the winner. Nick Strincevich suffered his fourth straight defeat.

Draft Policy Is Designed For All OHA Players

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association has designed a draft policy that will protects the rights of the player, the club and the game. It will go into operation later this month.

George Panter, assistant secretary of the OHA, said following a meeting here last night that "such a thing has never been attempted in amateur sport before. . . We must make competition even and must not exploit players."

In brief, Senior A and Junior A clubs may draft players from clubs of lower calssification upon payment of $150 for each player. The Senior A clubs may draft as many players as they wish, but no club of lower classification is compelled to give up more than two players in any one season.

Only players exempt from the draft rule are those under 16 by Nov. 1 of the current year, and players whose names appear on the reserve or sponsored players' lists of professional clubs on April 30 of the current season.

But, players on these lists may be drafted by an OHA club which is officially sponsored by the professional club on whose list the name of the player appears.

Must Be Kept

The rule also stipulates that a drafted player must be retained for one season unless (1) he is returned to the club from which he was drafted, or (2) transferred to another club in the drafting club's group, before Dec. 15, or he may advance to the senior team belonging to the same group.

However, no player may be forced to leave his lower classification when drafted, but he may not advance to an A group club during that season and must stay in the same company as when drafted.

Applications for the general draft will be opened on the fourth Monday in May and will not be accepted after the second Monday following, Panter said.

Players subject to draft are all those registered the previous season in the OHA, and NOHA, below Senior A and Junior A ranks, and all OMHA, THL, and WOAA and the ORHA.

Plans for the formation of a central sports registry for all OHA players was tabled for further discussion.

Delete Phrase In Press Freedom Bill

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, May 10—(CP)—A United Nations committee drafting a press freedom convention Monday voted to eliminate a limitation of correspondents which United States officials feared would lead to "back-door censorship" of foreign news dispatches.

The proposal, which had been inserted in the draft treaty earlier, would require foreign correspondents "to promote respect" for human rights, to "further international understanding and co-operation and to contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security."

United States delegation officials argued that such a requirement might serve as a pretext for censorship or expulsion of correspondents.

George V. Allen, assistant secretary of state, said in Washington last week that the United States would not sign the press freedom convention if the provision remained.

By a vote of 32 to 1, with 12 abstentions, the assembly's social committee deleted the phrase and substituted a compromise article. Canada supported the move.

The compromise, United States delegate Erwin D. Canham said, meets United States objections by lifting the compulsory requirement.

The compromise article merely says the signers of the convention recognize "that the professional responsibility of correspondents and information agencies requires them to report facts without discrimination and in their proper context and thereby to promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, to further international understanding and co-operation and to contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security."

Five-Day Week Recommended To City Council

The five-day week for employees of the city during the four months from June to September was recommended to the council Monday night by the finance committee.

It embraces the staffs of the board of works, parks department, sanitary department, comprising the men engaged in the collection of garbage and those disposing of it at the incinerator, and also the city hall staff.

The proposal was initiated at a recent meeting of the board of works and was referred to department heads for their consideration.

City Clerk Outram reported that department supervisors were all in favor of it. Board of Works was influenced by the difficulties which their staff encounters in working Saturday mornings during the summer months, including the present. This condition of obobstruction also affected the collectors of garbage.

Change In Hours

With the Saturday holiday, board of works and parks employees would begin work daily at 7 a.m. instead of 8 o'clock, and the city hall staff at 8.30 a.m. instead of 9 o'clock. The switch might entail some night work at the incinerator, and the garbage collection schedule would have to be altered for the four months.

"Should there be some one in the offices of the City Clerk and the City Engineer Saturday mornings?" Ald. Doug Miller enquired. "Factories are not working Saturdays, and it is probably a convenient time for any of their employees who want to call at the city hall on any business matters they may have."

City Clerk Outram said the "staggering of employees" was an expedient which he would rather avoid because it upset the efficiency of the office. He preferred to carry on as at present rather than resort to having some of the staff coming in Saturday mornings and others remaining out.

Mr. Outram said the five day week was also a factor in attracting and retaining help. So many people in the city had all Saturday to themselves, that others desired it, and would rather report for work earlier each morning if they could have Saturday morning off.

Ald. Gillespie, deputy chairman of the board of works in charge of sanitation, said the five-day week might have some effect on the total wage cost in that department. The appropriation for wages for the year was $58,600, and the expenditure to the end of March was $14,530, about one quarter.

"I feel that we would get by all right in the regular procedure," Ald. Gillespie said. "During the summer the department usually can save money because some of the men are off at times and also the teams. But, if with the change, we have to keep everybody on all summer we might exceed our estimate for wages. It is a question whether the sanitation department should be included."

Try It Out

Ald. Herbert Young: "We could try it out for this summer and see how it works, then review it in the light of experience."

Ald. Gillespie: "I'm for it, but it may cost more money in the sanitation department."

Ald. Doug. Miller: "Factory workers getting the five-day week makes it harder to get employees for 5½ days. I think we ought to give our employees the Saturday holidays during the four months instead of having them come to us for it. I think they will appreciate it a whole lot more that way."

Ald. Young's motion for the five days for the four months was seconded by Ald. H. Dodds. The sanitation department is included with the others.

New Names in the NORTH

THERE's new activity in Ontario's bushland north of Lake Superior. Marathon and Red Rock, Terrace and Heron Bay; they all tell the same story. New towns have arisen, old ones expanded. Only five years ago on the site of Marathon, for example, there was nothing but bush; today a new community beside a new pulp mill is contributing millions to Canada's export trade.

Such spectacular developments in the north are matched by continuing industrial expansion in the older established communities. Throughout Canada today ever-widening avenues of opportunity await the enterprise of young Canadians.

With newsprint production 50% above prewar levels, Canada today has an output five times that of any other country, and accounts for three out of every five newspaper pages in the world.

"Canada is a land of opportunity ... There is a field for almost anything one can think of, and anyone with a willingness for hard work has a good chance to achieve success", says Donald J. Smith, President of Hornet Industries Limited, Guelph, Ontario.

Hornet Industries Limited, which was founded in 1945, has in this short time achieved remarkable success in the manufacture of chain saws and combustion engines. More than half the production of the plant reaches markets outside Canada. From a staff of only a half dozen men in 1945, Hornet Industries Limited has expanded to three plants in Guelph, employing 296 workers.

Vacation Grafters Victimize Those with Summer Homes

DEAR MISS DIX: How can you let summer visitors know they are not welcome? We have some cousins who live in another state, and every year their mother sends them to spend the summer with us. That is bad enough but they always bring with them three or four extra girls who are a lot of work and expense. These visitors never do a hand's turn of work, or pay a dollar of board, and on their last visit one of the girls who was a bully crippled my baby and also injured my sister-in-law by hitting her on the head with a bucket while they were in swimming.

Dorothy Dix

Am I selfish in not wanting these self-invited guests, and should I let them know, in a pleasant way, that we cannot keep them?

MRS. B. P.

ANSWER: Sister, there isn't any such thing as telling deadbeats, in a tactful and pleasant way, that you are not running a free boarding house and that they will have to move on. The one thing that self-invited guests never take is a hint. They are blind, deaf and dumb to any suggestion that their company is not desired, and that dear Cousin Sally would not be terribly hurt if they didn't pay her a nice, long visit and bring along the children.

Of course, the human sponge is a species of fauna that exists all the year around, but it attains its full growth in the summertime when so many people turn into grafters who take a pleasant vacation at the expense of their friends and relatives. For it is in that lovely season of the year when the country is at its best, and the fruit hangs ripe on the trees, and parents feel as if they would enjoy a trip, or even some good country cooking, that family affection suddenly awakens. It would be so nice to visit Aunt Sally and Uncle Joe. And so cheap!

Forgotten In Winter

Everyone who has a country place goes through this experience of being loved and cherished in the summer, but forgotten in the winter. So it is no wonder that they dread the season when the summer visitors descend upon them like the wolf on the fold. But there is no remedy for it unless the victim sends out letters of warning in advance, saying that some deadly disease is raging in their midst and it wouldn't be safe to let the children risk the contagion.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow of 53 and live with my daughter. I pay her board and help with the housework and do baby-sitting for her three nights a week. I love to work and adore taking care of my three little granddaughters.

There is a widower, who is everything a woman would ask for in a husband, who lives next-door to me. Has has fallen in love with me and wants to marry me and I love him deadly. He is well-to-do and I could have every comfort. But my daughter says that if I marry him she will sell her home and take her dear little girls away so that I will never see them again.

Please tell me if I should take this wonderful chance of getting a good husband and a fine home, but never seeing the three babies again. Won't you advise.

A SCARED WOMAN.

ANSWER: Your daughter is evidently entirely selfish and is only considering her own comfort. She gets your board, the work of a servant and a trained nurse, what more could she ask? Don't consider her attitude seriously. She is just bluffing and has no idea of taking her children away from you.

My earnest advice to you is to marry your man who will give you every comfort, and love and companionship, besides.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 21 years old and have three children. I have a husband who is a good provider and he is very kind to the children, but he never wants me to go anywhere, or have any pleaure, or even any decent clothes. He won't even mind the children for an hour for me. It hurts me so much that my husband doesn't care how I look, or whether I am happy or not.

My sisters have pretty new clothes, but I never have a nice dress. I have to patch my old one. What do you think I could do to change my husband a little?

UNHAPPY WIFE.

ANSWER: I wish that I could say something that would make your husband realize how cruel he is being to you in depriving you of all the pleasures that belong to your time of life. Perhaps your husband still loves you, though the way he treats you does not indicate it. Perhaps it is only his selfishness and self-centredness that makes him so neglectful of your happiness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Airy Shoes March Lightly Into Summer Scene

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Designed to lighten the load on women's feet, summer shoes for casual wear offer a minimum of leather, a maximum of strapping.

Feet are elevated for cooler comfort by moderate platforms. Over many platforms, straps of eyeleted leather swirl like lace. An example of such footwear is seen in the girl picnicker (upper right), whose sandals of multicolored bucko are airily strapped over crepe platform soles.

The girl lolling in the boat (lower right), wears wedgies of half natural linen, half brown calf. Linen is slashed into the calf to lift the burden of leather and to create a chic scalloped effect across the vamp of the shoe which is held to the foot by an instep strap.

Summer weight tan suede contributes its light touch and smart finish to moccasin-type loafers like those shown (lower left). These typify the styling which cuts shoes low at the sides, and high at the back, where looped tabs along with all-around white stitching add a fillip to fashion.

The shoe which is marching into the summer scene with the airiest tread of all is shown (upper left). Made of natural leather straps and laces, this sandal is reminiscent of those worn by ancient Roman senators. These, as their modern counterparts show, were a combination of leather straps that crossed the feet, leather strings that crossed the ankles and legs.

Elizabeth Begley Sodality Prefect

Last meeting of the season of St. Peter's Sodality was held in St. Mary's School following a procession in Holy Hour Sunday. Miss Jacqueline Rose, prefect, presided. A springtime tea to be held May 15 from three to six o'clock in St. Mary's School was planned. Proceeds will go to help furnish a room in the new part of St. Joseph's Hospital. The Rev. Fr. Gaughn, spiritual director, expressed pleasure in working with the Sodality and then read an article, "Your Boyfriend." Moderator Miss Catherine McTeague thanked the girls for kind co-operation in the past, and agreed to accept the position for another year. Other officers for 1940-50 are: prefect, Miss Elizabeth Begley; vice-prefect, Miss Kathleen Lucas; secretary, Miss Betty Strano; treasurer, Miss Sheila Condon; social committee, Miss Ann Howell and Miss Betsy Szammers; Our Lady's committee: Miss Ann Ferren, Miss Rosella Connelly good literature committee, Miss Mary Rutherford, Miss Maureen Finn.

Wedding of Interest Takes Place In Queen's Chapel

In the Chapel of Queen's University, Kingston, on Monday morning at 11 o'clock, the marriage took place of Agnes Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Angus Richardson of Rolphton, formerly of Peterborough, and Thomas George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Shepherd of Winnipeg, Man.

Floral setting for the ceremony was of gladioli and snapdragon in pastel shades, and the Rev. A. M. Laverty officiated. Music was played by Miss Elaine Blanchard.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white satin gown with lace yoke and long sleeves ending in points over the hands, also of lace. Her veil was of tulle, falling to the floor and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Louise Richardson as bridesmaid for her sister was frocked in pale blue satin, styled similarly. She wore a blue chenille calot with blue velling, and carried yellow roses.

Mr. Richard Sendall was groomsman.

Veteran Firemen

Most men look forward to retirement from work; but not Mr. McDonald, who hopes to get some light work after officially leaving the department.

"I want to wear out, not rust out," he told The Examiner.

Soldier, Sailor, Fireman

Bill Jones, although 73, is still an active man. And into those 73 years he has packed 40 years of firefighting, a 10-year stint in the British Navy, and three years of service in the Canadian Army in the First World War.

He learned the business of being a fireman with the Fire Department of the London County Council where he remained for 10 years. Aged photographs which he still carries around in his wallet show him in the old-fashioned uniform and a large brass helmet.

Mr. Jones was born in Enfield, Middlesex, and when still a youth joined the British Navy. During his 10-year service he was with the Mediterranean Fleet and the Australian Fleet. While with the Mediterranean Fleet he served on the battleship Ramillies, under the later naval hero, Admiral Lord Jellicoe of Jutland fame.

Ferried Jellicoe

One of his tasks was rowing the admiral when he took a notion to go ashore. When Jellicoe was guest at an Oshawa garden party, many years ago, Mr. Jones received a special invitation to attend. And the famous admiral came he enlisted in the 93rd Battalion and went overseas with the unit in 1916. He obtained the rank of sergeant.

It was not until 1919, after being discharged, that he resumed his firefighting career with the Peterborough force under Chief George Grange.

Two Major Fires

Although he has been at the major Peterborough fires since 1919, he picks out two as being particularly difficult to fight from [illegible] Salvation Army Temple that went up in flames in 1923 and the other was the rag-and-paper-storage building on Bethune St., now occupied by Albert & Co.

The firemen found that the rags absorbed the water and multiplied in weight. Eventually bales became so saturated and heavy that sections of the floor caved in, making it particularly treacherous for those trying to combat the blaze.

He has five grown sons all living in Peterborough: Stanley, an insurance salesman; Edward in CGE Costs Dept.; Walter, an employee of the Quaker Oats Co., and Frank and Bill, both machinists at CGE.

Retirement Feeling

For nearly two years he did fire inspection work, and lately has been doing clerical work at the Fire Hall.

"It gives you a funny feeling to have been working here all these years . . . and now it's my last day. I guess I should feel happy about retiring, but I don't. I've seen many beneficial changes in the department that have helped to make the firemen's life more liveable."

"I wish I were just starting now instead of 30 years," he said.

A high tribute to the work of both men was paid today by Fire Chief George Smith.

"They certainly will be missed," he said. "They were the elders of the present force and were popular with the man."

Teeth Surveyed In County Show Dental Needs

A comprehensive survey of children's teeth throughout Peterborough county is a notable result of the formation of the Peterborough Dental Health Committee two years ago. Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman, told the annual meeting that the condition of dental health among children had been ascertained and the most pressing need at the present time was for education in dental health among children and parents.

Of 476 school children examined, 183 had received dental treatment and 293 had never been treated. There were 114 children who had no tooth brush.

Dr. Craig said that 275 children had attended the Red Cross dental coach which had been providing dental service in Apsley. Quoting from a letter from Dr. F. H. Froud who is in charge of the clinic, he said that children living in towns showed a distinct increase in the number of cavities in their teeth. Dr. Froud had attributed this to a lack of fresh vegetables in the diet of these people which, he claimed, resulted from shortage of gardens and the cost of vegetables brought in from Peterborough.

Mrs. Charles Ray, president of Peterborough Red Cross, said that 90 per cent of the children in Apsley had attended the clinic.

Dr. R. H. Campbell was giving his services voluntarily to the Red Cross in making a second survey of children's teeth in schools at Lakefield and Young's Point.

Much To Be Done

Dr. Craig said that owing to the scarcity of dentists at the present time, in comparison with the amount of work to be done, some 50 per cent of the children could not receive treatment. He hoped that as a result of dental education a generation of children would grow up which would not overburden the dentists.

Information about widely advertised methods of dentistry should be given to the public by the dentists, Dr. Craig said. Sodium floride therapy, Amident and Orali were still in the experimental stage and did not eradicate the need for regular dental treatment. This was not understood by a great many parents, the doctor declared and unless they were made aware of the need for continued dental treatment they would find their children suffering from decaying teeth.

Dr. Craig was re-elected chairman of the committee. R. G. Hull withdrew from the office of secretary-treasurer but will remain on the executive as a representative of the Separate Schools Board. No secretary-treasurer was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Members elected to the executive were: Mrs. Charles Ray, E. Butler, Stewart James, Harry Reid (reeve of Otonabee), Dr. Ralph Honey, Harold Pulley, Mrs. W. J. Nelson, Miss M. Grady, Mrs. Gordon Langhorne, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Mrs. William Nash and Lewis Bird.

Would Unify Services

Dr. Craig said he felt that dental health work in the city and county would be more effectively accomplished if all the health organizations were unified under one body, such as the Health League. There were several organizations doing good work, but he thought that as all aspects of health work affected every part of the human system, centralization of organization would achieve better results.

Organizations which had supported the committee were the Red Cross, Home and School Council, Home and School Association, IODE chapters, Women's Institutes, Local Council of Women, Women's Catholic League, school teachers, Public Health Department, Federation of Agriculture, County Council, Milk Foundation and VON.

Nazi Residence Used For Parley

Bowling Alley Permit Shelved, Impinged Rights

Ross Wright asked the finance committee of the city council last night for a permit to build bowling alleys at the northwest corner of George and Perry streets, without any strings to it.

Mr. Wright obtained a permit several months ago, but it virtually requires him to provide parking space for his expected customers. Building costs are higher than Mr. Wright anticipated, and he may have to sell the ground he was reserving for parking.

Council is hesitating about removing its restrictions because this bowling alley project looks like a test case on the setting of policy which could have future effects.

It raises this question: Should a commercial enterprise be permitted to set up in business in a neighborhood residential area without making provision for off-street parking?

Attitude of the council is that the rights of residents should be respected, and it is regarded as within their rights that they should have access to their property at all times instead of having it blocked by cars parked along the curb.

If Ross Wright, for example, does not provide parking space for the people who frequent bowling alleys, where the council asks, are the cars of his patrons going to park but along the street, and blocking lane entrances? Aldermen fear that this would cause a neighborhood nuisance to the people who had established certain rights a long time before the bowling alleys were proposed.

Would Set Precedent

The council is not unfriendly to Mr. Wright, but it was said that somebody had to assume responsibility for neighborhood interests. As Peterborough continues its development, similar problems are likely to arise, and if a policy is determined now it will likely become a precedent for either decisions and actions in the future.

Mr. Wright's lot is 120 ft. by 114 ft., and the proposed building 111 ft. by 72 ft. The owner planned a setback of 48 ft. on Perry St., but he informed the council that he might have to sell or lease the surplus property to meet the excess cost of construction.

The alleys were planned for 12 lanes, Mr. Wright told the Waddell committee, and he was hoping to be able to proceed with the building. Original intention had encountered the obstruction of costs that were likely to be higher than was anticipated, and he wanted to be free to sell or lease the surplus property.

The committee asked for more and detailed information but in the meantime they held to their first position that offstreet parking space would have to be provided. As to theatres and other uptown buildings, it was said that parking was the practice in the business section, was generally accepted in those blocks, but not in residential areas, and particularly where new shopping sections might develop.

Fire Marshals Request Standard Hoses

REGINA, May 10 — (CP) — A recommendation that will assist cities in extending mutual aid in time of fire emergencies was passed last night at a committee meeting held in conjunction with the convention of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals.

The committee recommended that 2½-inch fire hose should have standardized threads on couplings. At present there are nearly 200 different dimensions.

Represented on the committee, headed by Maj.—Gen. F. F. Worthington, was the Dominion Association of fire chiefs, association of Canadian fire marshals, the Dominion board of insurance underwriters, manufacturers of fire apparatus and the Canadian standards association.

A committee spokesman said their solution was "biggest decision in Canadian fire fighting yet recorded." It would permit neighboring cities to rush emergency hose lines to another when large fire threatened.

At present this could not be done always because most hose couplings were at variance.

Officials Dislike Indonesian Pact

BATAVIA, Java, May 10. — (Reuters).—Dr. Louis Beel resigned his post as representative of the Dutch Crown in Indonesia following the Netherlands-Republican agreement of last Saturday, an authoritative Dutch spokesman said today.

of the agreement is also unofficially reported to exist in high military circles.

A Dutch army spokesman told reporters today that serious military problems will be presented if the Jogjakarta area has to be evacuated by Dutch forces.

First steps to implement the agreement have been taken by setting up two joint Dutch-Republican committees under the auspices of the United Nations Commission.

Planning To Buy $25,000,000 Canadian Goods

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—Great Britain plans on buying an extra $25,000,000 worth of goods from Canada and the United States—if prices are right—and most Canadians concerned agree they like the idea.

Trade Minister Howe, just back from a 10-day visit to the United Kingdom, released details of the new agreement yesterday. At the same time, Mr. Howe said he had promised British officials the government will do everything it can to help Britain sell more to Canada.

The new purchases include $10,000,000 worth of timber from Canada and the United States. The rest of the agreement is for $7,000,000 to $8,000,000 worth of canned salmon and an equal amount of flour, apples, and fruit pulp—all from Canada.

Canada's share of the purchases is roughly equal to a little more than one month's sales to the United Kingdom at the normal export rate for the 12 months ending next June.

In London, Phillip Noel-Baker, Minister of Commonwealth Relations, told the Commons the only limit on British purchases in Canada was Britain's supply of dollars. He said that problem "could be most quickly relieved by the increased purchase of British goods by the dollar countries."

Before taking off on the eastern trip the band will give a local concert Monday night, May 16, at 8 p.m., presenting a program selected from the programs that that have been prepared for this tour. Mr. Harold L. Garner will be chairman of this spring festival.

The Temple Band's tour has been made possible by Captain and Mrs. J. Craig of Brockville. Capt. Craig was at one time a member of the Peterborough Temple Band.

Amazed To Learn Drug Film Banned

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — Robert Anderson said Monday he is "amazed to learn" that the Canadian film, "Drug Addict," which he directed, has not been released for showing in the United States.

The Narcotics Bureau of the United States Treasury Department requested the ban. A spokesman said the reason was because the film "contained scenes of addiction which tended to glamorize the drug habit."

Anderson, who is here to plan further films dealing with problems in neurosis, said he felt it was unfair to block use of "Drug Addict" "for educational, legal and medical groups."

3 Stabbed To Death

Suggests Rotary Endow Bed In Sick Children's Hospital

Suggestion that the Rotary Club of Peterborough endow a bed in the Sick Children's Hospital at Toronto was made to the local Rotarians at their weekly luncheon on Monday by Dr. Russ Morgan. The suggestion was made during the course of a report which Dr. Morgan gave on a visit a group of Peterborough Rotarians made to the hospital last week while attending a Rotary district convention in Toronto. The suggestion drew support from Jack Sackville, who told of the deep impression the tour had made upon him and the other visiting Rotarians.

President W. J. Hamilton, in reporting on his impressions of the hospital tour, contrasted a line-up of some 200 children waiting for treatment, with the laborers' strike picket line outside the new building. The strike was going to add 15 per cent to the cost of the building, he said.

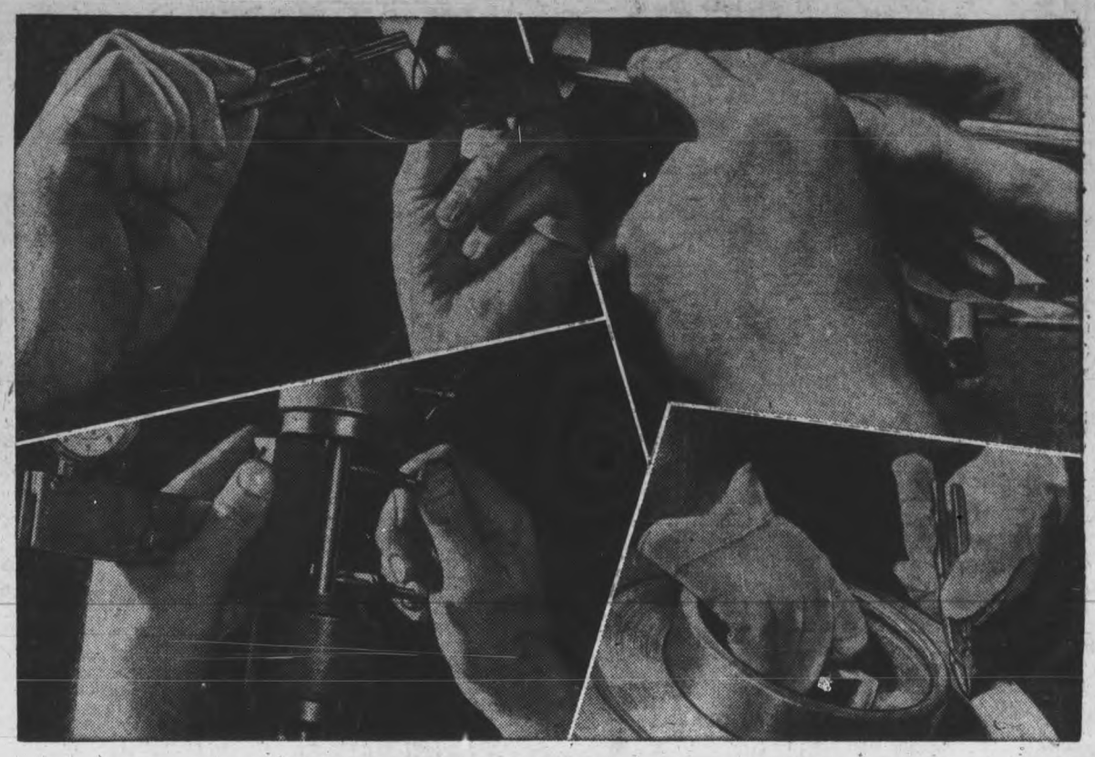
HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO



Learning to Work With Copper and Brass

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of workers to become proficient in the art of shaping and moulding copper and brass, will mean greater industrial progress—will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy—that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

No Progress In Ford Peace Talks

Reuther Declares Demonstration Engineered By Reds

DETROIT, May 11 (AP)—Ford and the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) resumed negotiations today on seventh day of a strike of 65,000 employees who walked out because of a speed-up dispute. But there were no outward signs that a settlement was near.

Thousands of other workers, both in Ford factories and supplying plants, also were idle.

The union charges Ford with a production rate increase of 10 per cent at the Rouge assembly and Lincoln-Mercury plants. Ford says it has increased its manpower to compensate this. The union disagrees.

Tuesday's negotiations were adjourned without any announced progress.

For a time a picket line of about 75 men marched at the building where company and union officials were negotiating.

U.A.W. President Walter Reuther said it was a demonstration "engineered by Communists.'

Charge Speed-up

Some pickets carried signs saying "Speed-ups are all over Rouge."

Reuther, however, said the demonstration would be disregarded.

"We have decided there will be no other issues injected into these negotiations except those out of which this strike grew," he said.

The demonstrators departed a short time after Thomas Thompson, president of Local 600, ordered them to disband.

The scene at the picketed Rouge and Lincoln - Mercury plants remained quiet.

Meanwhile, the city of Detroit took steps to meet any drain on its welfare funds from financially-pressed strikers.

The city council approved the issuance of $2,000,000 in short term notes "to meet any possible contingency."

Strikers are eligible for welfare benefits if need is proved. So far, however, no emergency has developed.

Train Leaves For Berlin Run

FRANKFURT, May 11—(AP)—The first train to Berlin since the Russians blockaded the former German capital left here early today.

The train, carrying almost 100 news and radio correspondents along with British and American officials, is scheduled to arrive this afternoon at the border-crossing point of Helmstedt in the British zone. The cars from this train then will be coupled on to a British military train.

The Anglo-American train is scheduled to cross into the Russian zone at 2:13 a.m. tomorrow (7.13 p.m. tonight, EDT).

It should reach Berlin Thursday morning, several hours after the blockade is lifted.

Protestant Group Raps Princess' Visit

LONDON, May 11 (AP) — A top-ranking British protestant group today protested to the King over Princess Margaret's audience with Pope Pius.

The executive committee of the National Union of Protestants sent this telegram to the King:

Many thousands of your Majesty's mos tloyal Protestant subjects are greatly incensed at the visit of Princess Margaret to the Pope and find great offence in the pictures published in the daily papers."

British newspapers published pictures showing the 18-year-old Princess garbed and veiled in black walking through a Vatican corridor, escorted by the Pope's Swiss Guards, after her visit with him Tuesday.

The Protestant Truth Society and other Protestant groups had protested to the King in advance of the audience.

British Soldiers Guarding Kwantung Area

HONG KONG, May 11 (Reuters)—British Army units will soon be patrolling regularly the British-owned wild and mountainous 350 square miles of mainland territory opposite Hong Kong it was learned from usually reliable sources Tuesday night.

Additional units will shortly reinforce the British field artillery regiment and the Gurkha battalion now stationed in the territory, these sources added.

Fresh British troops will take up positions close to the 14-mile frontier of Kwangtung Province, infested with bandits and Communist guerrillas, the sources said.

It was simultaneously reported that Hong Kong's police force—four members of which were killed by bandits last week—is increasing security measures as the Commuunist armies sweep south into China.

The police force Tuesday made its first arrest in the murder of two British marine police officers and a Chinese detective.

A tour of lonely police outposts in the new mainland territories where Union Jacks fly behind barbed wire barricades, Tuesday confirmed that the police believed the murders might be the beginning of serious trouble for the colony.

Police fear that Communist occupation of Kwangtung Province may drive experienced pro-Communist bandit gangs, who know every inch of the rugged country, across the British frontier where they might begin a wave of violence on the Malayan pattern.

Charge Young Schoolboy With Slaying In Church

ROANOKE, Va., May 11—(AP)—Lee Scott, 16-year-old Eagle Scout and member of a church choir, today faced a charge of murder in the church slaying of Dana Marie Weaver, 16-year-old schoolmate.

Detective Frank H. Webb, in an unprecedented press conference Tuesday night, announced simply that Scott had been charged.

"That is all that I can give you at this time," Webb said. He added that he wished he could give more—that the case was "one of the worst since I have been in the department."

Webb, however, did tell reporters that Scott had directed police to an alley where a coffee sack, missing from the church, was found. He said Scott also told them where they could find his clothing, which police later found darkly-stained. They believed the stains are blood. A broken pop bottle was found in the coffee sack.

Dana Marie's body was found Monday morning by the janitor of Christ Episcopal Church in the church kitchen. There were signs of a desperate struggle by the girl. Her fingernails were broken and two pop bottles, one of them smashed, were on the floor.

Police said the girl apparently had been clubbed to death with a bottle.

She had gone to the church Sunday evening to join a young people's group, unaware that the group was on a picnic. She frequently joined the group on Sunday nights, although she was not a member of the church.

Police Tuesday received reports that Scott's face was scratched. They proceeded to take him quietly from class in Jefferson High School to police headquarters, where he was questioned continuously from 2 p.m. until the warrant was issued at 9:15 p.m.

The boy's father, Garrett Scott, an insurance salesman, was brought in to see him during the day. He left the room weeping.

Voting Swings More To Right

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—The swing to the Right continued today in Britain's week-long elections of local governments, involving more than 20,000 civic council seats throughout the country.

Conservatives early today had claimed 117 gains—58 from Labor—and admitted nine losses. They figured Labor losses at 113 and Labor gains at 56.

Labor Party quarters said that Labor had lost 71 seats and gained 70, captured one council majority but lost control of five other district councils.

Conservatives held that a significant factor was the large number of Independents, without Conservative support, who had suffered defeat.

The week's contests will be climaxed tomorrow in voting for the 28 London Metropolitan boroughs, in 23 of which Labor now has majorities.

Say Princess Won't Make Visit

LONDON, May 11 — (CP)— Buckingham palace officials said today they knew nothing of an invitation to Princess Margaret to attend the 50th Anniversary of he incorportation of Preston, Ont., as a town.

"We know of no plan for the princess to visit Canada this year," commented the official.

As the honorary Colonel-in-Chief of the Highland Light Infantry of Canada, the Princess had been sent an invitation to attend the incorporation July 3. The regiment will receive the Freedom of the Town in a drumhead service.

12-Pound Speckled Trout Opens Fishermen's Eyes

BARRY'S BAY, May 11 (CP)— is talking about Murray Daly's speckled trout—the monster, weighing nearly 12 pounds, he dragged from Spectacle Lakes Sunday.

He caught it with worms and triple-hooked spinner while fishing in calm, shallow water, 50 feet off-shore. The trout took 20 minutes to land.

It came close to the world record for speckled trout of 14½ pounds set by Dr. W. J. Cook in 1916 with a fish caught on the Nipigon River, near Port Arthur. In New York, Field and Stream magazine said the prize-winning speckled trout in its contests for the last 10 years have averaged between five and eight pounds.

"It didn't put up as hard a fight as you'd imagine a fish that size would." Mr. Daly, a 39-year-old lumber mill operator, said Tuesday night. "It was in pretty shallow water. Maybe in deep

Mr. Daly said he'd been fishing "since I was born" but he'd never seen a speckled trout like that before.

Neither had any other fisherman in this district 100 miles northwest of Ottawa. All day Sunday they flocked into his house to see the fish, lodged in the Daly refrigerator and later put in a cold-storage locker. Mr. Daly is having it mounted.

The fish broke water constantly during the 20-minute-battle, he said, but the shallow water kept it from diving. He was still-fishing with an 18-pound test line and an ordinary casting rod when the trout struck.

Mrs. Daly—who does a lot of fishing herself—was like most of the anglers in the district. She, at first, didn't think it was a speckled trout. The average one caught in Canada runs at little more than one pound.

Clever Student Goes To Jail

COOKSVILLE, May 11—(CP)—A 13-year-old girl from nearby Lakeview, who said she would rather be "put away than return to school," Tuesday was convicted of being an habitual truant and was sent to Cobourg Training School for Girls for a two-year term.

The girl, in grade 6 at Lakeview Park school, had not attended classes since December, principal Neil Matthison told the court. She had attended 84½ days in the 1947-48 term and only 15 days in 1946-47. The principal said the girl could have been an honor student if she had attended school regularly.

120 DP's Aid In Battle Save Hamlet

Report Flames Spread Over 30 Acres, Linemen Burn Brush

Some 200 volunteers spent all day Tuesday fighting a bush fire which at one time threatened the small hamlet of Eagle Lake 53 miles north of Peterborough. Hydro workers building a power line from Des Joachims to Toronto and volunteers from Haliburton and surrounding country fought the blaze from morning until 6 p.m.

For the past month hydro workers have been burning brush but the fire got out of hand early Tuesday morning and spread over an area of some 20-30 acres. The blaze was brought under control at noon but no sooner were the efforts of the firefighters reduced than the fire, fanned by a high wind, started again. Not until 6 p.m. was the situation under control.

The fire did not spread beyond the second growth brush and was confined to an area where there were no buildings.

Fights 12 Hours

For 12 hours 50 firefighters from Haliburton fought a losing battle with the flames as a 20-mile-an-hour wind swept the fire towards the hamlet.

Then a group of 120 bushworkers, Displaced Persons employed by the Ontario Hydro, were rushed to the scene. The augmented crew stopped the fire short of Eagle Lake by digging in and forcing the blaze to backfire.

"It looked bad for Eagle Lake until the extra help from the D.P.s turned the tide of battle," said Tom Chambers, chief fire warden. "Up to then every shovel and pump tank in the district was in use and still we were forced to back away as the fire spread."

Permits for burning bush in the Haliburton region have since been cancelled by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Held For Killing Brother-In-Law

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP) — Police today are holding Leo Francis Burke on a charge of murdering his brother-in-law, James W. Holmes, 48, Tuesday night with a pen knife in front of Holmes' wife and several members of the family.

Police said that following an argument at Holmes' house, where Burke lives, Burke stabbed the 48-year-old painting contractor in the throat. Burke walked into police headquarters about an hour later.

Holmes, blood gushing from the wound in his throat, was taken to hospital by one of his nine children, Billy, 17, and a friend, Tommy Wharton, 19. He was dead on arrival.

Members of the family said the argument between Burke and Holmes started on the landing of the two-storey house. They said they heard Holmes shout "take him away, take him away," and rushed to find out what the trouble was.

Wharton, Shirley Holmes, 20, and Billy Holmes separated the struggling men.

Fourth One In Family Commits Suicide

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—Charles A. Lemp, 77, member of an old and famous brewing family was found dead of a bullet wound Tuesday, evidently a suicide like his father, a sister and a brother.

He lived alone, a bachelor, in a gloomy old 18-room mansion that was the family home for 87 years.

The body was found in a bedroom. There was a bullet hole through the right temple, and a pistol near the right hand. Police Sgt. Frank Zengerling said it apparently was suicide.

In the same home the father shot himself in 1904, and the brother in 1922. The sister shot herself at another St. Louis residence in 1920.

Have New Proposals

TORONTO, May 11—(CP)—New proposals for settlement of the nine-day-old construction workers strike here have been submitted to the Ontario Labor Minister, Charles Daley, a spokesman for the AFL Building Trades Council said today. Alfred Ward, acting president of the council, said he felt the proposals "are most reasonable and unless members of the Builder's Exchange intend to be obstinate, they will welcome them."

Fukien Province New Target For Communists

SHANGHAI, May 11—(AP) — Chinese Communists, apparently living off the land, bore down swiftly today on coastal Fukien province.

At the same time the noose around Shanghai was tightened.

The Nationalist garrison here officially admitted these Communist gains.

Unofficial reports indicated Hankow, big Yangtze port in Central China, may be doomed. A three-pronged Communist attack on Hanlow seemed to be gathering momentum.

The Shanghai garrison communique today gave this picture:

1. A Communist force of 2,000 men has attacked Kinki in Kiangsi province less than 50 miles from the Fukien boundary. Fukien is opposite the island of Formosa.

2. The Communists were attacking Kashan, 50 miles southwest of Shanghai. Communications with that city were severed at down. This usually means capture.

3. Thirty miles northwest of Shanghai the village of Chenmo in the Kunshan area was under Communist attack.

The communique gave no indication of the size of the two moves around Shanghai. Most sections in that area have been on a small scale.

The weight of the Communist offensive has been into southeastern China through Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces. This irregular front extends from Hangchow on the east to Lake Poyang on the west.

There were unofficial reports that a local Hankow peace move was under way. The majority of the 200,000 National troops there are expected to retreat southward before any large-scale fighting takes place.

Here, in Asia's largest city, the problems of the war were overshadowed for most people by local economic worries. For example, a cup of coffee today cost half a million Chinese Yuan.

Has Tough Luck

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—Bill Lauder, 42, former hockey player with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, had one week to wait before doctors were to remove the cast from his broken right leg. Early today one of his crutches slipped and he broke his other leg. Lauder first broke his leg when he was struck by an automobile near his home six weeks ago.

Fraser Unanimous Choice As Conservative Candidate For Election On June 27

Order-in-council Government, Housing Policy Criticized By Fleming In Address To P.C. Nominating Convention

Gordon K. Fraser, member of the House of Commons for Peterborough West, was the unanimous choice of a Progressive-Conservative convention held Tuesday night. Mr. Fraser will contest the riding for the third successive time in the Federal election of June 27. Nomination of Mr. Fraser was moved by Arthur Bennett and seconded by William Wilks and there were no other nominations.

The convention was presided over by James Juby, president of the Peterborough West Progressive - Conservative Association. The chief speaker was Donald Fleming, M.P. for Toronto-Eglinton in the last Parliament, who declared that it was vitally necessary that the Progressive-Conservative Party be installed in power at Ottawa in order that responsible government, which has been forsaken by the present Liberal government in favor of government by order-in-council, be restored in Canada.

The present government "has ignored Parliament and treated it with contempt," declared Mr. Fleming, who said that "never in the history of this country has there been a more important election than this one." He castigated the government for its "sad record of failure" in respect to the housing problem, its reckless spending of the people's money, its retention of high taxes resulting in higher living costs, and its "indecent haste" in calling the election before budget resolutions were passed.

Mr. Fraser in his acceptance speech also scored the government for its excessive use of orders-in-council in by-passing Parliament and for its housing policies. He said that many orders-in-council have been passed without some cabinet ministers even knowing that they were enacted and that his new leader, George Drew, had been working very hard since entering the house to bring about an end to the "rubber stamp" government, which had been ruling Canada for many years.

Praises Record

Mr. Fleming at the outset of his remarks appraised "the great record of service" of Mr. Fraser in the last two Parliaments. "No member of the House has given himself more sparingly in the service of his riding and his country," he said.

The present government at Ottawa, said Mr. Fleming, has "lost its sense of responsibility to the people." Since the end of the war "more legislation has been passed

Government Jobs Bar Thousands From Voting

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Several thousand otherwise eligible electors won't be able to vote in the June 27 general election because they are working on government projects outside their home constituencies.

A clause in the Election Act disqualifies persons from voting in an electoral district in which they are engaged temporarily in any federal or provincial public work.

Workers on projects in various parts of the country will be affected. First big batch to come to the attention of Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, consists of about 2,000 men working on Ontario Government hydro-electric jobs in Renfrew North constituency.

Mr. Castonguay has pointed out to officials in the riding that, under the act, workers who have come to those jobs outside Renfrew North are ineligible to vote in that riding. However, they may vote in their home ridings—if they can get to them.

Some of the workers may have been on the hydro jobs for a matter of years. However, while construction goes on they are regarded as "temporarily" employed in the riding under the meaning of an amendment to the Election Act adopted last year.

This amendment also specified that this disqualification applies to provincial as well as federal—though not municipal—public works for federal elections.

Fake Minister Steals Cars

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP)—Police announced today the arrest of a man who, they said, stole automobiles after renting them from drive-yourself firms throughout Western Canada and Ontario. Police said he posed as a clergyman.

They identified the accused, charged with car theft, as John Read. Police said he was known as Arthur Jones, Byron Stubbert, and John Fitzsimmons.

Police said they also arrested a woman companion who posed as the clergyman's wife. They said Read disposed of the cars by transferring ownership to his "wife's" name before selling them. She was identified as a native of Guelph, but her name was not released.

Police said they recognized the licence number of a parked automobile as that of a car reported stolen, police said.

Girl Braves Hunger, Thirst To Reach Dying Mother

QUEBEC, May 11 (CP) — A fantastic record of luck and endurance—that's the story of nurse Antoinette Malouin's attempt to break out of ice-bound Blanc Sablon to see her dying mother.

Nurse Malouin arrived here Tuesday by coastal steamer to find her mother had already been buried.

For nine months of the year the tiny village is ice-bound. With the blessings of the missionary "Cure", the 36-year-old nurse left it May 1. She was accompanied by two Indians and two French-speaking Canadians who promised to get her through 158 miles of ice and sea in time to catch the ship for Quebec at Red Bay, close to 1,000 miles below this capital.

The five embarked in a tiny boat powered by an outboard motor. Only covered place was a cabin five feet wide, seven feet long so low "you couldn't stand, or sit, just lie down in shifts."

"There was a tiny stove in the cabin but it failed to heat, it only added to the smoke of the men's pipes," she said smiling.

After two days there was nothing left but dry biscuit rations and worse, no water.

"For two days we lived in the hope of finding an island where we could drink some melted snow. When we spotted one we stopped and drank out of a rock hole in a cavern. Then we washed. We were de-hydrated by the time we got here."

She learned of her mother's death at Red Bay where the ship took her on. All the way here she cared day and night for seriously ill persons coming to Quebec hospitals.

May Use 30,000 Japs To Defend Kwantung

HONG KONG, May 11 (AP)—The Canton correspondent of the newspaper Ta Kung Pao today reports that 30,000 Japanese troops had arrived at Whampoa below Canton from Formosa.

The newspaper says the Japanese would be used for the defence of Kwangtung province against the advancing Chinese Communists. Their use, the newspaper says, was recommended by Marshal Yen Hsi-Shan, former Shansi governor, who reportedly used some Japanese in his long defence of Taiyuang.

Drew Pledges To Conserve True Freedom

SYDNEY, N.S., May 11 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Tuesday night that his party "will at all times conserve the true principles of freedom."

In his first broadcast of the federal election campaign, Mr. Drew said: "I do not believe that it should be within the power of any government, and particularly the present government of Canada, to restrain the freedom of any Canadian, without an impartial trial before our courts.

"An amendment can be made to the criminal code which will make it possible to deal effectively with those who are working to destroy the decent things we wish to conserve, without in any way limiting the full freedom of every Canadian who is loyal to Canada.

"There is abundant evidence that the present laws are not adequate to deal with the situation as it is today. I urged the government to replace Section 98 of the criminal code with a properly worded section which would fully respect the freedom of the individual, but at the same time make it possible to deal promptly and effectively, before our courts, with those who are working to destroy our freedom.

Careful Consideration

"We were informed that the law officers of the crown were giving careful consideration to this subject. That is the last we ever will hear of it from this government. The Progressive Conservative party will enact legislation as is necessary to deal effectively with those who are working to destroy our freedom and establish a godless dictatorship here in Canada."

In his speech, Mr. Drew laid particular stress on Canada's trade relations. Following his broadcast he left for Newfoundland.

In the speech he reviewed the party's social security platform and said it included these points:

"1. Adequate old age pensions at 65 without a means test.

"2. Accident, sickness and disability benefits.

"3. Extended unemployment insurance benefits—to include payment for time lost due to accident or sickness.

"4. Family allowances regardless of the number of children.

"5. A national health program."

Hold 29 Sailors In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 11—(CP). —Twenty-nine Canadian Seamen's (T.L.C.) crew members were booked at police headquarters today on charges of refusing to obey lawful commands of their officers.

They were arrested as they left the strike-bound eastern-owned SS Islandside and the SS Rockside earlier in the morning. The seamen will appear in court later in the day.

Warrants charging the crews with refusing to obey officers were served Tuesday night by and a squad of 12 men. The seamen agreed to pack their gear and surrender to police custody after spending the night on the vessels.

In a brief flare-up of violence on the waterfront Tuesday night, a 42-year-old merchant marine officer suffered severe face bruises and cuts. He is in hospital.

John Ovans, second officer of the strike-bound SS Seaside, was attacked as he left his SIU-manned vessel and stepped ashore.

General Suicides

CANTON, May 11 — (AP). — A usually reliable source said today that Nationalist Gen. Fu Tso-yi, who surrendered Peiping to the Communists, committed suicide Tuesday in Peiping. This source, with Peiping connections, said Fu had been advised to do away with himself by Red leaders after an attempt to escape into Nationalist territory.

Clawed By Cat

TULSA, Okla., May 11—(CP) Wm. B. Young, Dallas, SD, flying student, licked his wounds Tuesday after a mid-air battle with a panic-striken cat. Young reported he was flying at 2,500 feet on a practice flight when the cat crawled from a recess in the cockpit and jumped onto his lap. He petted it for a while. Then, he said the animal "went completely crazy," biting and clawing at his face.

Prime Minister Visits Home, Weeps At Crowd

COMPTON, Que., May 11 (CP) —For the first time in years, a Canadian village Tuesday welcomed home a native son as Prime Minister of the nation. It was an occasion replete with tears and joy and feasting.

Prime Minister St. Laurent chose to begin in little Compton, outside the plain white home where he grew up, his campaign at the head of the Liberal party seeking re-election at the polls June 27. He will speak in several New Brunswick towns today.

On his first visit home since he took office last fall, Mr. St. Laurent stood with tears running quietly down his face and said his return was "a striking demonstration of democracy" of the ability of the people to choose men "from the crowd" to rule for them. Around him on the lawn outside the wooden family home, others stood and wept too under the emotional impact of the moment. Among them was Mrs. St. Laurent.

Have Band

A band ushered him into the village of 1,000 nestled among the rolling countryside 15 miles from the United States border. There were several hundred others to carry the welcome on from there with cheers, smiles and solemn faces as Mr. St. Laurent spoke of his pride and pleasure at coming home. Earlier, in speaking to the students of St. Charles Seminary, in nearby Sherbrooke, he had shown great emotion too, as he began to tell them he had never expected to return as Prime Minister when he graduated from the school 47 years ago.

Compton, a pleasant, placid village, hadn't seen anything like this in years. Photographers clamored on the roof of the family home, now occupied by a brother and sister of the Prime Minister. Their store where he worked as a youth was closed for the day. School children cheered when he suggested a holiday.

Housewives bustled about making preparations for the climax of the day. A six-course feast was held in a packed school auditorium.

Some Ontario Centres Have Holiday May 23

TORONTO, May 11— (CP). — Some Ontario municipalities plan to celebrate Victoria Day on Monday, May 23, but Ottawa officials said Tuesday banks and Dominion Government offices will be closed Tuesday, May 24, as usual.

Sudbury and Wingham plan to declare a Monday holiday, giving workers a long week-end. However, civic officials in Toronto, London, Windsor, North Bay, Woodstock, Niagara Falls, and Stratford announced they planned to stick to the regular May 24 date.

Any municipality may appoint any day it wishes as a civic holiday under the Bills of Exchange Act, Ottawa officials said. The Government has no power to enforce statutory holidays such as May 24, except in closing banks and giving holidays to Federal civil servants.

Bar Woman Editor

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 11—(AP) —Mrs. Julia Christensen of Toronto, Canadian business editor of the Magazine Digest, temporarily has been refused entry into the United States, the United States Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization said Tuesday. Arthur J Karnuth, district director, said a permit to enter the United States was denied Mrs. Christensen "because it was felt her entry into the United States was not in the best interests of this country."

outside of Parliament than inside and the order-in-council mill has been operating at a faster rate than it did even during the war." He quoted figures to show that orders-in-council have been passed since the war at the rate of 1,302 per month, whereas during the war the rate was 1,257 per month.

Mr. Fleming rapped the government's action in dissolving parliament before the budget resolutions were passed, thus preventing the members from reviewing some 745 different items of proposed expenditure. Instead the government had forced through and interim supply bill of half a billion dollars, which he said represented "a complete exposure of the lack of a sense of responsibility of the government" to parliament and people. "If this government is returned on June 27 it will mean just about the finish of responsible government in this country."

The people of Canada will be forced to pay high taxes for a long time to come if the present government stays in office after the election. It has contributed to the continuing high cost of living by its retention of sales and excise taxes, which the Progressive Conservatives are pledged to reduce.

Saddest Failure

"The saddest record of failure among the many failures of the Liberal government" was in the field of housing, said Mr. Fleming The government had "failed completely" to live up to the promises it had made to Canada's war veterans in 1945. He gave strong support to criticism made by Mr. Fraser of the government's refusal to let the "ordinary builder" in on its house-building program and instead diverting materials to its own agency, Central Mortgage and Housing. The Progressive Conservative party, said Mr. Fleming, "intends to see that those who have the greatest claim to houses—the veterans—get accommodation when it is returned to power."

Ever since last October, when his party's present policy was announced, the Liberals "have been begging, borrowing and stealing" planks from it, said the speaker. The Progressive Conservative party offers labor "a square deal" and a much more "realistic program of social security" than those of the other parties. He declared that his party was "the most dynamic party in Canada today."

Mr. Fleming termed as 'lying propaganda started by the Communists and spread by the socialists" reports that his party had nothing to offer to labor.

Mr. Fraser in his speech scored the government's policies in respect to Canada's export trade. He said that last year Canada sold no apples to Britain, yet the Old Country bought more apples in that year than she has ever done, all being bought from countries other than Canada. He also criticized the government for handing over taxpayers' money to European countries so that they could use it to buy goods from Canada.

Other Addresses

Brief addresses were given following Mr. Fleming's speech by Senator Iva Fallis of Peterborough and Charles Stephenson, of Port Hope, member of the last parliament for the riding of Durham.

Senator extended the thanks of the convention to Mr. Fleming for his address and added her tribute to the "good work" done by Mr. Fraser both in and out of Parliament. He had been "a true servant of the people" she said. Senator Fallis declared that many Liberals were changing over to the Progressive Conservative party because of dissatisfaction with the present government's policies. She said that big gains made by her party in recent Federal by-elections and in provincial elections in Ontario and Quebec were "straws in the wind" indicating that George Drew would be "the next Prime Minister of Canada."

Mr Stephenson was introduced by Hon. Harold R. Scott, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, who added his praise for the fine record of the candidate, Mr. Fraser. Mr. Stephenson stated that there was a definite swing to the Progressive Conservative party in the country and that the people now feel that "the time has come for a change of government." Many Liberals had told him, he claimed, that their party had been in power too long. He scored the profligate way in which the government was spending the people's money.

Others on the platform were: Mrs. Jack Cridland, Mrs. Amy president of the Young Progressive Conservatives of the riding; and Col. Douglas Lawrie.

Find Crashed Plane

QUITO, Ecuador, May 11 (AP) —A missing Ecuadoren military plans with 11 persons aboard was found crashed Tuesday in high rugged mountains south of here. A government announcement said "there was no sign of life and the five officers and six passengers apparently perished."

MAKE TEST RUNS

East City residents were on the alert early today as several trucks of the Fire Department raced over Hunter St. bridge. They learned that nothing was amiss, the runs were were for test purposes only.

Name Directors For Farm Medical Services

Directors of Kawartha Medical Services, appointed by members at the conclusion of the meeting of the Federation of Agriculture Tuesday night were: for two years —Clifford Johnston, W. W. Dawson, Bruce Graham and Harry Garnett; and for one year—Henry Sharpe, Stanley Wood, James Gifford and Milton A. Clark.

The first meeting of the directors will be Monday, May 16 at 8.30 p.m. for the appointment of officers. Mr. Clark was chairman during the election of officers.

"This is a red letter day for the Federation," said W. W. Dawson, president of the Federation at the stage of turning the meeting over to the Medical Services group.

"This is one of the best community works the Federation has ever sponsored, and as it becomes more widely established in the county it should prove to a worth while heritage," Mr. Dawson said. "The preliminary details of organization have taken about a year to accomplish, and I would like to say that the directors deserve a great deal of credit for the faithful manner in which they have applied themselves. I would like to mention also the support from the farm forums."

Mr. Dawson said the reports from other counties in Ontario where similar hospitalization plans have been developed, were all encouraging. The directors had the KMS constitution which was adopted at the last previous meeting, and with the election of officers next week they should be ready to go forward into the future.

The Federation contributed close to $600 to the Ontario Federation in the general business of the meeting, and also provided for their financial support to Grassland Day.

Prices Show Signs Of Firming In Toronto

TORONTO, March 11 (CP — Prices showed signs of firming from early weakness as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A few industrials climbed into the gain column and western oils tended better. Golds were lower as juniors weakened and base metals were recovering opening losses.

Volume for the first three hours was 379,000 shares, about 248,000 shares less than Tuesday's similar period.

A few papers were firmer and foods and liquors tightened in the industrial groupings. Utilities weakened with most changes on the dull board held to fractions.

Western oils began to gain in mid-session. Anglo-Canadian was up 15 cents at $5.75 and Pacific Petroleum added 11 cents at $2.85. Royalite dipped 10 cents at $6.95.

Yellorex Mines, a feature of Tuesday's gold market, was under pressure of profit-taking. Several senior producers were mixed while junior producers showed penny declines.

Base metals steadied from the two days of decline. Waite Amulet added 15 cents at $8.50 and East Sullivan and Falconbridge were better.

VERSATILE TAR

Coal tar has served as a source of about 500,000 derivatives.

Announce Rules For Margarine

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—The Ontario Government Tuesday announced its regulations governing sale and manufacture of margarine in Ontario, which go into effect May 16.

The regulations limit coloring content to 1.6 per cent but there is nothing in the rules to prevent a manufacturer supplying additional coloring in a separate packet.

There also is nothing in the regulations to restrict the product's size or shape of containers.

The regulations supplement the Margarine Act passed at the recent session of the Ontario Legislature.

The regulations provide for a manufacturer's licence fee of $100 and wholesalers licence fee of $5. The licences are revocable any time for violation of regulations or the terms of the Act.

Margarine may not contain more than 80 per cent vegetable or fish oils or animal fat.

Police reported that about 350 officers were on duty at the time.

Cutting The Library's Funds

The Peterborough Public Library has, in all branches of its work, done a fine job during the past year; it is becoming more and more what it should be—the hub of the literary and artistic life of the city. This being the case, it is a pity that the City Council has cut the library's grant by $800; $200 of this sum was cut by the Ontario Government, the other $600 is local economy. It is an though a thriving child were to have its diet sharply reduced; it is a false economy. We feel that the Council should have thought twice in this matter, and kept the library budget at its previous level, if it felt no inclination to increase it. We have every respect for the Council's desire to keep city expenses at the lowest practical level, but we think that skimping on the library is patent impracticality.

* * *

It would be possible to make a hullabaloo about the library's value as a centre for children and young people, and to drag in that popular plea that it is a check upon juvenile delinquency. We shall not do so because we do not think that such a claim would be honest. Possible delinquents are not reclaimed by libraries. But we will say, with deep conviction that what we say is true, that the library is the city's most important repository of the wisdom of the ages, and that it is the place where thousands of Peterborough people first discover the delights and benefits of all that miraculous world which is contained between the covers of books. Under the direction of Mr. Graff it has also become a place where good music and good pictures may be discovered by the intellectually adventurous. By cutting the library's grant the Council is turning its face from one of the most intelligently-directed, alive and valuable institutions in Peterborough.

* * *

The Council, like every Council, is frightened to death of an increase in the tax rate. We would like to point out that Peterborough's rate is still from one to three mills lower than that of several comparable cities in Ontario. And we suggest that the Council might do well to fear posterity; it is only in barbarian settlements that such things as libraries are sacrificed to narrow expediency. The sum of $800 is a fleabite in the budget of such a city as this, and by saving it now the Council is costing Peterborough $8,000 in practical benefit and $80,000 in civic dignity. A body which can make a disastrously unbusinesslike deal about car-barns in one year, and meanly peel $800 from the library's budget the year following needs to reconsider its methods of finance. No doubt there are books at the public library which would assist the Council in evolving a more consistent set of values.

Canada's Trade With Britain

Canada's export trade with the U.S.A. remains at a high level. For the first three months of this year it gained over that of the same period a year ago. However, our export trade with "soft currency" countries has dropped, and particularly with the chief one, Britain. It has dropped so heavily that many Canadian officials are anxious, and some opponents of the Government are crying havoc.

[illegible] reason for anxiety but not for alarm. In the matter of dollars and cents our shipping is on fairly even keel. For instance, although our exports to the U.K. dropped in the first three months of this year by $35,000,000, they increased to the U.S.A. by the same amount. There are two chief reasons for anxiety. Our large trade with Europe is greatly dependent upon E.R.P. dollars, which will not flow for ever. Secondly, a continued drop in our trade with "soft currency" (sterling) countries, and the increase of trade amongst themselves may mean a permanent loss of markets to us. To blame this situation on any Government is, we believe, unjust and even silly.

Canada is in the dollar 'bloc'. It is so because our foreign exchange reserves are held in gold or U.S. dollars. Australia's, a "soft-currency" country, are in sterling. Were Canada to adopt a sterling basis, an impractical step, our trade with the U.S. would be enormously complicated, for the U.S. would not accept sterling from us. The only means of payment acceptable to the U.S. are gold, U.S. dollars, or currencies freely convertible into U.S. dollars. Therefore, Canada, whose American import needs are very great, and whose American dollars are in dangerously short supply, requires external countries (Britain, India, Australia and the like) to settle their deficits with us in United States dollars.

During the war Canada made huge outright money gifts to Britain to allow that country to buy Canadian goods, or to pay for goods already sent to her. Since the war Canada has made numerous and large loans to Britain and European countries. Canada has not an inexhaustible sock; it cannot forever dip into it and lend these countries Canadian money which they then use to buy Canadian goods. For that reason, Canada has made no cash contributions to E.R.P. Also, because of earlier gifts and loans, and our large imports from the U.S.A., both of which combined to unbalance our financial position, by November of 1947 this country was unable to do so without further danger of upsetting our whole economy.

Anglo-Canadian trade cannot return to the peaks of 1945 and the high levels of a year ago until Britain is able to export enough goods to Canada to compensate for the Canadian exports to Britain, and until Britain has built up her own free supply of gold and American dollars to cover her deficits of trade with us. That statement is made with the reservations that abnormal and artificial means may be taken to stimulate it—for instance, Canada could export her goods to Britain as gifts, or scheming economists could monkey with the exchange values of the Canadian dollar, the American dollar and the pound sterling, in order to gain short-term advantages. However, in the now normal course of international economies, a resumption of the highest levels of trade with Britain will depend on the measure of Britain's economic recovery and her freedom from dependence on American E.R.P. dollars which are, naturally enough, spent in markets designated by the U.S.; that is—on this side of the Atlantic—chiefly in the U.S. market.

A certain amount of salesmanship, persuasion and plain talk will help, as has been demonstrated this week by Mr. Howe, our Minister of Trade and Commerce. Mr. Howe has returned from England with the welcome news that Britain will make greater purchases of salmon, timber and flour in this country. We can hope that the Britain's free stock of dollars will permit an extension of the increases to other Canadian commodities.

Berlin Blockade And Tchanak

This evening at 6.10, Eastern Daylight Saving Time, midnight by German clocks, the notable Berlin Air Lift will no longer have become essential to the sustenance of three million people and the notorious blockade will have ended. We suppose the moment is historic, as the Berlin Blockade and the acompanying Air Lift are historic. But how many Canadians, whose eyes have read headlines about the blockade for a year, will remember it twenty-five years from now? How large a spetk of history will it appear a century hence? Who now remembers the British army occupation of Tchanak, south of the Dardanelles in 1922, four years after the Great War? Who remembers the world-wide consternation when the Turks overran Asia Minor and marched on the Straits, and Britain's intervention when it sent a grandiose fleet to Constantinople and a large British army to Tchanak? Mr. Churchill does, assuredly, as he will remember the ending of the Berlin blockade, four years after the Second World War. Who else?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Duke University will experiment on students to see if it is possible to create thought. Other universities will just go on experimenting with students to see if it is possible to induce thought.

The principal contestants in the forthcoming elections have all declared that they will avoid personalities in the campaign. Chuckling in anticipation, we await the mud-slinging.

Schiaparelli has designed a beach coat under which the wearer may undress on beaches where there are no bathing-houses. We'll bet the show won't compare with Grandma's exhibition when she modestly put on her nightie and then took off a pair of high boots, cotton stockings, two petticoats, an armour-plate corset, flannel drawers and a chemise underneath it.

The Stage In Britain

By J. C. TREWIN

PLAYGOERS who had heard of the triumph of Sir Laurence Olivier's production of the The School for Scandal on his Australian tour,. have been crowding London's New Theatre to see for themselves. Indeed, the second half of the present Old Vic season is the most successful since Olivier last appeared in London. Besides the Sheridan comedy, he is playing also in Richard the Third—a performance even richer and more striking than his first thrust at the part in 1944—and in his own production of Antigone. The last is not the tragedy of Sophocles, though basically the theme and the characters are the same, but a play by a modern Frenchman, Jean Anouilh. Here Olivier is content to appear as a new-style Greek Chorus, in evening dress, while Vivien Leigh (Lady Olivier) and that resourceful Old Vic actor, George Relph, bear the heat of the evening as Antigone and her uncle Creon.

IT is a remarkable programme, and Olivier even throws in Tchehov's fantastic scrap of a farce, The Proposal, as a curtain-raiser to Antigone. All of these productions have some qualities that remain in the mind. The finest performance, undoubtedly, is Olivier's Richard that Third. He strikes a chill on his first entry as Richard, Duke of Gloucester. with lank black hair, cruel sardonic eyes, the long nose of the Plantagenet lines, and Richard's dragging limp. The opening scene is a fine chance for any actor. Olivier here knits together two speeches, one from the first scene of Richard the Third and one from the third part of Henry the Sixth, the seldom-acted Shakespearean historical play that is a prelude to the better-known Richard. This blending adds much to the effect of the later passage in which Richard, in sardonic bravado, woos Lady Anne over the coffin of her father-in-law, King Henry the Sixth.

Later still, Olivier, a master of irony and passion, develops excitingly Richard of Gloucester's progress to the English crown. He has a fine moment — both visual and vocal—in the second half of the play when the tyrant takes the throne. His performance is completed by the despair and death on the field of Bosworth. Few other people in this tingling melodrama have much to do: the play belongs to Richard, and Olivier firmly holds the stage.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN Sheridan's eighteenth century comedy, The School for Scandal, Olivier flouts tradition by appearing as a Sir Peter Teazle in vigorous middle age. It has long been the rule to play this man—the old bachelor who married a young wife—as a senile grotesque. But Olivier has cut away the choking ivy of tradition. There is, he holds, no reason why the man should be a dodderer, and if we wish we can find evidence in the text to support him. This fresh reading does a lot to restore the balance of the comedy. Undeniably it heightens the effect of the domestic scenes between the Teazles, each of whom is admirably played. Vivien Leigh looks like a portrait by Gainsborough, the painter from whom Olvier has drawn some of his inspiration for the revival. He has also studied the work of Zoffany, the eighteenth century painter of "conversation-pieces". The production, as a whole, is a glowing period evocation. Little in it, with the exception of three of the scandalmongers, has been exaggerated. True, Olivier has been merciless to this trio—Mrs. Candour, Crabtree, and Sir Benjamin Backbite—but their make-up is the only thing in the revival that causes discomfort. Even if the acting does not always match Olivier's conception, it is usually good enough to pass muster, and there is an expansive performance by George Relph as that amiable firework, the uncle back from India. One passage in the new School must survive in stage record: Olivier's handling of a famous line in the Screen Scene at Joseph Surface's house. When the screen is knocked down to reveal Lady Teazle it falls for a moment towards Sir Peter. His back is turned when he hears Charles exclaim, "Lady Teazle, by all that's wonderful!" He spins round with a chuckling, incredulous echo of "Lady Teazle—!", sees his wife, and ends the line in the cold anger of "by all that's damnable!" It is a remarkable moment in the theatre.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE third Old Vic evening pairs The Proposal and Antigone. Olivier seems to have produced Tchehov's little joke for the sheer delight of seeing how fast he can get an actor to move on the stage, and his company of three loyally and amusingly fulfil his intention. Opinion has been divided on Antigone between those who have found the modernisation of the Sophocles welcome and moving, and those who have found it bleak and grey and lacking in any splendour of speech. There is no division about the acting. Expert work comes from Vivien Leigh, tense and controlled in the most difficult part she has yet essayed, and from George Relph, also playing a character strange to him as Creon, the ruler who tries to argue himself into believing his own arguments. Sir Laurence Olivier's diction is superb, though some in his audiences wish that he were again acting Oedipus in the first part of the [illegible] to so static a role as this modernised Chorus.

❖ ❖ ❖

A FORMER Old Vic actor has also had a new success in London. Sir Ralph Richardson, at the Haymarket Theatre, appears as a stiff, reserved, widowed doctor, bitterly disappointed in the gauche girl who reminds him in no way of her mother. The scene of this play, The Heiress, is New York in 1850. It is based by two American dramatists, Ruth and Augustus Goetz, on the Henry James novel of Washington Square. James always hoped for recognition in the theatre, and it is ironical that it comes to him now long after his death. He would probably have admired this play which is one of character rather than action. It moves very slowly but its growth is sure and the characters are true. Thanks to the sensitive acting of Peggy Ashcroft we get to know the shy, clumsy daughter whose first love, flowering suddenly, is killed by the heartlessness of a wastrel who wooed her for money alone. The piece depends on the interplay of the three characters— girls, wooer, and father who is bent on saving from an adventurer the daughter he despises. Miss Ashcroft and Sir Ralph Richardson act with a delicate assurance; and James Donald offers a good study of the unscrupulous young man who depends solely upon superficial charm.

Pathans

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

THERE is trouble on the frontier between Pakistan and Afghanistan. Theoretically these countries are brothers in Islam. But ever since Pakistan was created there has been friction between them. The dispute is over the control of the Pathan tribes who inhabit the border region. A little more than a century ago Kabul ruled most of the Pathan area now on the Pakistan side of the border. It affects to regard this as irredentist Afghanistan. There are few such heterogeneous and polyglot countries as Afghanistan. Its own Pathans are a minority and it is rather ridiculous for it to claim that all Pathans must belong to it. But it probably hoped that, in the transition period after the end of the British Raj, it could attach to itself the Pathans both in the no-man's-land between the two countries and also in Pakistan proper. It may have feared also that unless it set up as the Pathan champion Pakistan would turn the tables on it, and steal away to its side the Pathans who lived in Afghanistan itself. For these or other reasons it supported from the background a movement for an autonomous "Pathanistan." It had little success. Pakistan won great popularity with the Pathans by withdrawing troops from the advance posts in tribal territory where they had been formerly maintained by the British. The silent struggle for power between Karachi and Kabul was at first admitted by neither side. Afghanistan sent a distinguished Ambassador to Karachi, who expressed the friendliest sentiments. But in the last few weeks it has come out more into the open in its bid for Pathan support.

India also is involved. In the general haze of rumour there is a whisper of some kind of understanding between Afghanistan and Delhi. This can be discounted. But Pakistan is suspicious. India is certainly interested in the fate of two celebrated Pathan leaders, Abdul Ghaffer Khan and his brother Dr. Khan Sahib, whom Pakistan has imprisoned. Pakistan might be well advised to make the gesture of releasing at least Dr. Khan Sahib if he gives convincing guarantees of his loyalty to the Pakistan State. Pakistan's fear is that trouble may blow up among the Pathans, or be instigated among them, at the moment of the plebiscite in Kashmir. From the start, Pakistan's shrewder leaders have regarded a Pathan rising as the greatest potential danger to their State. They were relieved when Pathan energies were canalized away from Pakistan and into the war in Kashmir. The present surprising demonstrations of loyalty by the tribes may mean that the danger is less than many believed. Pakistan, like the former British Government, will always have frontier trouble until settled life can be made attractive to the Pathans. To tame them is a task for Pakistan's economists and anthropologists—a task in which the British Government in its day on the frontier never had much success.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And in the process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him. And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. (Gen. 4: 3-8.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed....I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your father.

They answered and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham. But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.

Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it. (John 8: 31, 38-40, 44.)

Letter To The Editor

STOP THE TEN SCENT GRAFT

Sir: As a real dog lover, property owner and member of "The Kennel Club," may I through the medium of your splendid paper, thank who ever is responsible for letting the dog-lovers of this city know that the local "Humane Society" is not as bad as it is painted—your article entitled "City too prompt in Enforcing Dog By-law," May 6th, advises us the majority of "The Executive" are against tying up the dogs as early—in a climate such as Peterborough's it is sheer cruelty to tie any animal up so early. If the City's elected would stop the selling of dogs on the market, there would not be, I coul'd safely state, half the dog population to tie up in misery several months of the year—as it is, for ten cents any one can sell "Litters of Puppies" on the market—I am reliably informed these litters are three-quarters female, sold for less than a dollar—unspayed they in the spring and fall, become a serious nuisance.

It is a "Vicious Circle" sir, the City Father's allowing all these dogs to be sold. The Humane Society trying to gather them in—it is impossible for one man to see that over 1000 dogs are all humanely treated and controlled. "Wake up! Peterborough Elected," fall in line with bigger cities—"Stop the Ten Cent Graft."

Grateful Thanks from
"A True Dog Lover and Rate Payer."

He Was There

It was appropriate for Mr. Hume Wrong, our Ambassador to the United States, to take up Russian criticism of the North Atlantic Pact when he was explaining the treaty's significance in a recent speech in Denver. Nothing could be more categorical than his denial of Russian charges that the pact is inspired by a spirit of unfriendliness and aggression against the Soviet Union. He said:

"I can assure you, as one who took part in the negotiation of the treaty, that throughout our lengthy discussions not one word was uttered by anyone which could be interpreted, or even ingeniously misinterpreted, as a statement of aggressive intention.

"If war does come—and of course it may come—it will come in spite of, and not because of, the North Atlantic Treaty, no matter what statements to the contrary may flow from the radio towers of Moscow. What we are hearing now from that quarter and from the spokesmen of Moscow at Lake Success is another example of Hitler's famous technique of the Big Lie endlessly reiterated. It may take in the Communist addicts in all lands, but it should not take in anyone else."

This statement can hardly be expected to halt Russian propaganda, whose purpose is the perversion of truth. But the more widely the real facts are known, the harder will it be for Russia to poison relations between states. Few men are more familiar with the history and objectives of the Pact than is Mr. Wrong. He did well, therefore, in adding his testimony to the growing and impressive volume of evidence which shows that Russia's accusations are contrary to all the known facts.—Winnipeg Free Press.

New Bridge Connects With Pumping Station

COBOURG, May 17 —(ENS)— Linking University avenue with the $400,000 sewage disposal plant now under construction, is a recently-completed bridge that spans the Factory Creek and is located a short distance from the pumphouse. This bridge is being used for trucks and the transportation of materials to the construction job and on completion it will be used in subsequent traffic to and from the pumping station.

To the south, a considerable distance is the Factory Bridge, an ancient structure which is in need of replacement, but due to its location and the long winding road that runs north of the sewage disposal plant, the Factory Bridge was ruled out as unsuitable for the disposal plant and the new one to the north was built.

Uniteds and Cosmos Win To Open Softball Season

Late rallies gave Uniteds a 14-10 win over Jewellers, and Cosmopolitans a 16-7 victory against Outlaws to open the City Softball League schedule before a fair-sized crowd at the Bowl last night. Both were interesting openers till toward the finish. Ald. Hurrell Dodds, Ald. Jim. Gillespie, and Pat Calladine, league president, took part in a brief opening ceremony.

The young Peterborough Credit Jewellers gave the Uniteds (East City Garage and Babe's Place) a keen contest till the final innings, using two twirlers to three for the winners. The hitting was even, but Uniteds got more distance, Tompkins leading the way with a homer, triple and two singles in five, as Cornwell topped the losers with two for four. Harrison and Byrnes also hit homers. Tompkins pulled off a nice foul catch.

A Big Rally

An eight-run drive by Cosmopolitans broke up a good second game as three twirlers for the Irwin-Godson Outlaws failed to stem the tide. George Hunter for the losers looked good with 10 strikeouts till he retired in the sixth, while Howie Delton went the route for the victors. All the heavers had their wild streaks for an opening game, and cool weather did not help either the pitching or fielding. Blair Thomson had a perfect night at bat for the Cosmos with a triple, four doubles and a single in six attempts, Mackness coming through with two doubles and two singles in six. Taylor otpped the Outlaws with a brace of two-baggers and two singles in five appearances. The box scores:

Sam Breadon Former Owner Of Cards Dies

ST. LOUIS, May 11 (AP)—Sam Breadon, the "David Harum" of the baseball world, is dead.

The 72-year-old former owner of St. Louis Cardinals died of cancer Tuesday night. His wife and their daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Goss, were at the bedside.

In 27 years as head of the Redbirds Breadon led the club to nine pennants and on six occasions went on to a world championship.

He was an excellent business man, but he hotly rejected the role of skinflint some people cast upon him.

From a $200 initial investment in 1917, however, Breadon built up the club to a $3,000,000 organization—the amount he is reported to have received from Robert Hannegan and Fred Saigh in 1947. Saigh later bought out Hannegan.

Breadon became president of the Cardinals in 1920 after he had purchased a majority of the stock.

In 1925 Breadon brought Branch Rickey into the front office where the pair made the best office team the sport has seen.

Together they started the farm system under which minor-league clubs were helped financially or bought outright.

The amazing side of Sam Breadon was the secrecy which surrounded his generosity to players and game officials.

His constant help to pitcher Grover Alexander now is generally known, but for years Breadon would allow nothing to be said of it.

St. Andrew's Win

St. Andrew's defeated George St., 18 to 15, last evening in a lively Church Softball League encounter. The winners ran wild in a big first frame to tally 11 runs, adding two each in the next two heats and three in the fourth. The losers opened with a pair, scoring four then in the second, third and fourth chukkers, and one more in the fifth of a loose contest. Teams:

George St.—B. Whitnell, Dinsdale, Stewart, D. Woodward, Kel-Macklin, W. Whitnell.
Macklin, W. Whitnelly.

St. Andrew's—J. Mann, Atkins, Putnam Brown, Northrop, Dubay, Julian, Harris, M. Mann.

Q.M. Boys Victors

Queen Mary juniors of the School Softball League hammered out a 28-18 verdict over Queen Elizabeth yesterday. The losers counted in every frame, while the winners had players pounding the plate in all but the fourth inning as the score mounted in a loose, free-hitting affair. The teams:

Queen Mary—Hewitt, lf; White, c; Cuffe, p; Roberts, 1b; Hillier, rf; Mann, ss; Merrett, 2b; Brown, 3b; Montgomery, cf; Schweir, lf; Morgan, cf.

Queen Elizabeth—Davis, c; Gallagher, p; Johnston, 1b; Whitnell, cf; Elliott, lf; Ward, 3b; Cameron, 2b; Smith, ss; Medland, rf.

TONIGHT AT THE BROCK—Speedy Pat Flanagan, pictured above, who takes on Wee Willie Davis in the semi-final of tonight's mat card at the Brock Arena. In the main bout there will be no time limit when British Empire Champion, Fred Atkins, wrestles Lew Reynheer, the former Masked Marvel. With only two losses in the last two years, Reynheer will be heading either for more important bouts or down the promotional scale as a result of what happens when he and Atkins tear into each other. The Marvel is cunning and Atkins will have to be alert every second to score a win. Frank Valois will meet huge Ben Morgan to start the action-ful program.

WILL MEET GRECO—George Ross of West Bay Road, NS, Canadian middleweight champion, right, is congratulated by challenger Pete Zaduk of Guelph, Ont., following their 12-round title bout in Halifax. Rose won the unanimous decision to run his victory string to 37 fights, and was immediately signed to meet Johnny Greco, welterweight title holder, in Montreal, June 2. Sammy Keller, Zaduk's manager, is shown in the background.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Official opening of the Peterborough Golf Club is this Saturday and lo, many a divot-digger will be on hand to welcome in a new season of fresh air, low scores and high alibis. Prexy Milt Hardill and his co-workers have everything set for a big opening and successful season, with a lot of new members in the club this year. Gord Harrison is professional and likes the layout very much. Last year he won the assistant professional championship of the province. He may be contacted for equipment or lessons by calling 9130. Improvements have been made to the course, including shortening the distance to the first green, and lengthening it somewhat on the 17th to make it a par five hole. Men's par now is 70 instead of 69.

Lacrosse drills for the Petes nightly at Miller Bowl with the big workouts usually Wednesday and Friday evenings when Em Creighton and several more Port Hopers are here. Leo Teatro and Jim McNulty of St. Kitts, with Jack Howse of Detroit, are showing up well in workouts, and several more are due to arrive shortly. Curly Warren has started coming out again, but Dootch Vitarelli is a doubtful starter. The two Robinsons and Batley of the minor setup have been practicing with Red Creighton's seniors and looking right good, too. Some two dozen on deck for most of the drills. Schedule, which opens here a week from Friday, should be out soon.

Shop Loop Preparing

Secretary Joe Dunkerley of the Industrial Softball League announces the annual open meeting of the loop for tonight at eight in the YMCA. All industrial firms of the city are invited to have representatives to elect officers, check entries and make plans for the 1949 campaign. Last year, nine teams played on three diamonds, Quakers, Brinton and Woollens, with the Quakers winning out. They lost to Oshawa later in playdowns. Likely, the league will again affiliate in intermediate "AA" with the OASA. It's a good circuit and supplies keen competition for shop workers.

Quite a few frost-bitten fans on hand at the Bowl last night as the men's softball circuit pried off the lid. Ald. Hurrell Dodds and Jim Gillespie, along with Prexy Pat Calladine of the loop, staged the opening ceremony, and two fair frays followed. Both were settled only in the late stages, Ken O'Toole's Uniteds finishing a little stronger than Stan Houlihan's young Jewellers, and Howie Dalton's Cosmos rallying in hefty fashion in the eighth to romp home in front of Stew Richardson's Outlaws. Games there tomorrow eve are: Outlaws vs. Jewellers, followed by Uniteds vs. Knights. Rest of the schedule in a day or two.

* * * * * *

Jewellers used Killingbeck and Peters on the slab, while Reid, Woods and Greenlaw all took a turn for Uniteds. Tompkins was the big sticker for the victors, as both sides were rather loose afield. Second game saw Hunter, Gordon and Eakins on the mound for Outlaws—Hunter having a flock of speed to whiff 10 in six heats—as Dalton went the distance for Cosmos. The fielding was pretty fair this tilt. Thomson had six for six (including five extra-basers) and Mackness four in six for the winners, as Taylor topped the other side with the willow. Not bad tilts at all for opening night, and a cold one at that.

Some McGill grads—Dr. J. M. McCulloch, Gordon Munro, Paige Rowrll, Pete Gordon and Frank Pope — were on hand the other evening to welcome Vic Obeck, physical director of McGill, when he paid a short visit here. Also Bev Goulding and some of his good PCVS gridders, the two Dibbens, Dinsdale, Grafstein, Richardson and Thomson, and the latter's father. Obeck explained that McGill would welcome such athletes but they would be accepted strictly on their educational merits—they must have the marks, as no special consideration is given entrance of athletes in this hall of learning. The boys enjoyed his talk, though some have a [illegible] Thomson has also been invited to Queen's and Western.

Star Baseman Loses Right Leg Heater Explodes

CHICAGO, May 11 — (AP).—Those bobby-soxers fans of the Louisville Colonels can sorrowfully disband their "Koney Club."

Handsome 23-year-old Charley Koney, star second baseman of the Colonels, had his right leg amputated just above the knee Monday night.

It was the tragic climax to a week-end visit to his parents and 21-year-old wife, who bore Chuck a daughter three weeks ago.

Chuck's dad was proud of a newly-installed hot water heater. He and Chuck went to the basement to look it over. The father threw some refuse into the disconnected old heater and burned it. Steam pressure exploded the tank.

Both of Chuck's legs, his nose and jaw were fractured by the blast. His father was uninjured.

At the hospital, they told Chuck his right leg would have to come off.

"I'd sooner die," moaned the lad who showed his stuff in Boston Red Sox spring training camp in 1947 and 1948 and was on the American Association all-star team in 1947.

His doctor told him to think it over. Then Chuck said: "Well, if it's necessary, take it off."

Haefner Pitches Senators To 1-0 Victory

By JOE REICHLER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Bill Veeck, dynamic head of the Cleveland Indians, may have pulled the boner of the year when he chose pitcher Early Wynn over Mickey Haefner in the Tribe's five-man winter deal with Washington Senators.

Haefner didn't add to Veeck's joys Tuesday when he pitched the Senators to a brilliant 1-0 shutout over the Indians in Cleveland. The little left-hander allowed only one hit—a first-inning single by Larry Doby—as the amazing Nats rang up their eighth consecutive victory and their third in a row over Cleveland.

Haefner would be pitching for the Indians today had not Veeck been scared off by his advanced age of 36, and his unimpressive 1948 record of 5-13.

To make Tuesday a complete bust for Veeck and his Indians, Washington's winning hit was delivered by first baseman Eddie Robinson, one of the principals in the deal between the two clubs.

Robinson, a member of Cleveland's world champion team last year, scored Sherry Robertson from second with a fourth-inning single, one of his two hits.

The victory, coupled with Philadelphia's triumph over Chicago White Sox, left the Senators and Athletics tied for fourth place in the American League at an even .500 percentage.

Knocked Out of Box

Hal Newhouser, Detroit's sterling southpaw, had a no-hitter until the fifth inning when New York Yankees raked him for two runs and went on to knock him out of the box in the ninth inning to defeat the Tigers 6-1. The victory increased the Yankees' league-leading margin over the Tigers to four games. Allie Reynolds went the route to register his third victory against one defeat.

Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher, was hit on the head by a thrown ball during infield practice before the game. He was taken to a hospital where X-rays showed no fracture.

Gerry Priddy batted in both runs to lead St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 victory over Boston Red Sox. The victory snapped a 10-game losing streak for the Browns. Priddy doubled in Dick Kokos with St. Louis' first run in the third inning and broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

The Athletics got only three hits but drew 11 bases on balls off loser Billy Pierce, Marino Pieretti, Bob Kuzava and Matt Surkont to defeat the White Sox 5-0 in a night game in Chicago. Joe Coleman pitched the shutout, doling out five hits for his second victory against three losses.

The entire card in the National League was wiped out by rain.

Maple Leafs Nip Chiefs In 7-6 Battle

By the Associated Press.

Pitchers Al Widmar and Wes Bailey, once the property of Boston Red Sox of the American League, are making life miserable for batters in the International League.

Both right-handers Tuesday night turned in their fifth victories of the season. Bailey pitched Jersey City Giants to a 9-5 victory over Buffalo Bisons and Widmar hurled Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 decision over Rochester Red Wings.

Bailey's triumph enabled the Giants to recapture first place from the Bisons. Jersey City now leads by a full game.

Widmar held the Red Wings to five hits while his mates collected eight.

Newark Bears trounced the defending champion Montreal Royals 9-4, clinching the game with a five-run seventh inning. Leon Culberson and Ted Sepkowski led Newark's 13-hit attack with three blows apiece.

Toronto Maple Leafs came from behind and nipped Syracuse Chiefs 7-6. The Chiefs hopped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning on homers by Al Mele and Carden Gillenwater, and added another run in the fifth before the Leafs struck back.

Recruit catcher Lou Heyman blasted his fifth homer of the year with two on in the last of the fifth and the Leafs added two more in the sixth to take a 5-4 lead. The Chiefs deadlocked the count in the seventh but the Leafs snapped the stalemate for keeps in the eighth with two runs.

Tax Rate 30 Mills

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — Indications that Toronto's tax rate would be slightly more than 30 mills this year were given by Mayor H. E. McCallum Tuesday night. Board of Control will again review estimates Friday in an attempt to prune expenditures. "We are going to do everything in our power to keep the mill rate at 30 or below," the mayor said.

LARGE DAILY DOUBLE

The largest daily-double payoff in New Jersey racing history — $3,015.40 for $2—turned up Tuesday at Garden State Park in Camden.

Stepinthdark, a 4-1 favorite, won the first race and a 42-1 longshot, Netherby, won the second. There were 13 tickets on the combination in a pool totalling $44,546.

THIRD ADDITION—One of the most publicized thoroughbreds in Canadian racing history, Omar's Gift, purchased by A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy of Winnipeg for 37 cents, is shown here with the third addition to her family, which includes Victory Gift and Sir Gift. The new arrival is by Gala Hour, purchased by R. J. Speers from jockey Johnny Longden two years ago. That is Ed Owens, manager of Speer's Whittier Stock Farm where the colt was born.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Jockey Club announced Tuesday that 42 Canadian-born three-year-olds still are eligible for the 90th renewal of the $10,000-added King's Plate at Toronto's Woodbine Park May 28.

This field, about one-third of the original list of 113 entries Dec. 1, 1947, will be trimmed considerably before post-time. A normal field for the classic is about 16.

Four owners each have three entries in the Plate. They are George McCullagh and Charlie Hemstead, both of Toronto; the Parkwood stables, Oshawa, and Jim Fair, Cainsville, Ont.

McCullagh's nominees include Speedy Irish, 2-to-1 favorite and winner of $20,320 in prize money as a two-year-old last year. Other good thoroughbreds still eligible include Bolaris, second choice at 4-to-1 odds and owned by Steve Chris of Kitchener.

Melbourne has been given the 1956 Olympics but the man who worked hardest to bring the games to Australia is dead, Sir Raymond Connelly died just five days after learning Melbourne would be host to the world's athletes in 1956. He collapsed on a Melbourne street and died two hours later. Connelly was 53 years old and a former Lord Mayor of Melbourne. He had visited 15 countries at his own expense and talked with Olympic delegates in each.

At St. Louis, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, announced Tuesday he will be the sole promoter of featherweight champion Willie Pep's next title defence, possibly a return engagement with Sandy Saddler of New York. The fight will be held in late June or July in New York or one of the New England States, Dempsey said.

Both strong supporters of hockey in Ottawa, the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander on Tuesday paid tribute to Ottawa Senators who defeated Regina Capitals last Saturday to win the Allan Cup. Players and officials of the club and their wives attended an official reception at the Vice-Regal residence at Government House.

Quebec Provincial track and field trials for men leading to the Dominion championships and trials for the British Empire games will be held at Montreal, June 18, the Province of Quebec Track and Field Association announced Tuesday. The Empire games will be held in Auckland, New Zealand next winter and the Dominion meet in Toronto July 15-16.

No Leeway For Drunk

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — No intoxicated person may legally sit behind the wheel of an automobile, even in a private driveway, Mr. Justice Dalton Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled Tuesday after hearing a test case. "The Criminal Code sets out an absolute prohibition to anyone while intoxicated or under the influence of any narcotic to have a car, whether it is in motion or not," he said.

Delegate Arrives

MONTREAL, May 11—(CP)—Patricia Tarbet, 18, of Toronto, one of two Canadian delegates to the Empire Youth Forum in London, Eng., arrived here by air early today. The other delegate, Chuck Taylor, also of Toronto, is expected to arrive here Sunday.

Brandon Wheat Kings Save Day With 2-1 Triumph Over Royals

BRANDON, Man., May 11—(CP)—Brandon Wheat Kings have a King-sized victory in their win column today which they needed more than any other in their struggle to the Memorial Cup final. Their 2-1 win over Montreal Royals on Tuesday night—fashioned by Captain Frank King—reduced the Royals margin to 3-2 in games in the best-of-seven Canadian junior final. The other game ended in an overtime tie.

The teams, both striving for their first Dominion title, will meet in the seventh game here Thursday night.

The deciding goal last night came from the stick of King, the Brandon payoff man all along the Memorial Cup trail. The counter moved the fighting Brandon captain into the lead in the series' individual point-scoring race. He has scored five goals and three assists for eight points, one more than Montreal's Gordie Knutson.

The tally also served to back up an inspiring pep-talk that King gave his team mates at their last practice session. Wheat Kings took a new lease on life and skated hard both ways for the full 60 minutes to prolong the series.

Goalie Shines

Sharing the spotlight with King was spectacular Ray Frederick who rose to great heights, especially in the dying minutes of the contest, to break the Royals' hearts. A tie would have ended the series but Frederick, cool as a cucumber, kept the Memorial Cup in storage by turning aside seven point-blank shots in the last minute.

Brandon went into a 1-0 lead when Angus Juckes, tireless little winger, netted the first counter. The lead was short-lived, however when Bill Rattray tallied a minute and 20 seconds later. King's goal came at 6:25 of the middle period and the third period went scoreless.

Royals held a decided edgein the final period but their deluge of rubber found no holes in Frederick's armor.

At the other end of the rink, Bobby Bleau of Royals, although not as busy as Frederick, again turned in a solid perfotmance. He had little chance on the two drives that escaped him.

Led by captain Bob Frampton and Knutson, Royals outshot Brandon 37-24 over the route.

Three major penalties were handed out—two to Wheat Kings and one to Royals. But no goals were scored while either team was shorthanded.

Knutson became involved in a battle with a spectator after the Montreal forward had entered the penalty box. The belligerent fan pushed the Royal centre in the face and received Knutson's stick over the head before being escorted by police to the rink exit.

Ease Strike For Day

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — The strike of AFL building laborers which has affected most local construction jobs was interrupted Tuesday to permit the cornerstone laying of the new head office of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Twenty of the estimated 9,000 striking laborers were permitted by their union to continue at work in order the ceremony might proceed.

Cancel Mass Marriage

ST. BONIFACE, Man., May 11—(CP)—Rev. L. Blais said Tuesday the proposed mass marriage of 15 Roman Catholic couples here has been called off "because the young people want to be married alone." The mass marriage was slated for May 21—day of holy marriage. It would have climaxed St. Boniface family week, opening May 15.

Women Of Victoria County Win Right To Ban County Judge From Powder Room

LINDSAY, May 11 —(CP)—Judge J. A. McGibbon lost out to the ladies today when Victoria County Council ruled him out of order in using the women's powder room.

At the same time, the 18 councillors—all men—agreed that a new washroom should be built for the judge on the third floor of the country court building here.

For nearly 16 years, Judge McGibbon has used the second-floor ladies room. Then, last winter, when a new women's washroom was built next to the old one with a common door off the main corridor, the ladies objected to the judge's invasion of their privacy.

Said the judge: "The other room was built this year but I left it for the ladies. What serious objections can be made if a judge uses the old washroom he has used for 16 years?"

He told councillors both washrooms offered "privacy supreme."

Advises Board Drop $5,000 Negro Grant

TORONTO, May 11— (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Tuesday advised the Civic Board of Control to reconsider its decision to make an outright grant of $5,000 annually to a Toronto Methodist Church for community-centre work among Negroes.

Stressing the grant might have "embarrassing consequences," he said it might be interpreted as indicating the board approved racial segregation in the city. The mayor warned that other racial and religious groups might try to take advantage of such a policy.

The Control Board decided to assist the Methodist project and, at the same time turned down the request of a United Church pastor for a $5,000 grant for reclamation work among members of the former "Beanery Gang."

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., claims to have the largest fresh water yacht basin in the world.

Laura Secord Descendant, 60 Years a City Resident

When the C.G.E. grounds were a cow pasture, the site of Knox Church was a market garden and the south end of the city was open farm land with only a few country houses dotted along the landscape.

Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, 516 Chamberlain St., who celebrated her 85th birthday Tuesday, came to Peterborough to make her home here. That was 60 years ago and today Mrs. Booth's memory of 19th century Peterborough is as vivid as a younger person's recollection of a visit to Toronto last week.

In spite of her 85 years, Mrs. Booth is alert and a fascinating conversationalist. She came to Peterborough from Uxbridge, her birthplace and girlhood home, with her husband who was employed in the blacksmith's shop of the Grand Trunk Railway on the corner of Sherbrooke and Aylmer streets. The couple first lived on Rubidge St. and moved to the house on Chamberlain St. 45 years ago, when only one other house stood on that street.

Mrs. Booth married into an old Canadian family directly descended from Laura Secord. Mr. Booth's mother was Liza Secord. It is 32 years since Mr. Booth died.

For close on 60 years Mrs. Booth has attended Park St. Baptist Church and is the only surviving charter member. Its first congregations gathered in a school house on the corner of Dalhousie St. before the present building was erected. Until three years ago she was a Sunday school teacher at the church.

Mrs. Booth reached her 80th birthday before she had a party to celebrate the annual event. Since then her family of four daughters have given her a birthday party every year. One of 12 children, she has had a busy life bringing up her own five daughters and the children of her eldest daughter who died during the First World War.

MRS. ELIZABETH BOOTH, 516 Chamberlain St. photographed on her 85th birthday. For 60 years she has been associated with the Sunday School at Park St. Baptist Church, which was formed before the present church building was erected. Until three years ago she was a Sunday School teacher there.

Order 65,000 To Stop Work

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP).—Some 65,000 garment workers have been ordered off their jobs tomorrow for a four-hour mass protest against the slaying of a union organizer.

Union leaders claim William Lruye, 40-year-old organizer for the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (A.F.L.), was slain by "hired assassins" of anti-union employers.

He died Tuesday of stab wounds inflicted by three unidentified men who attacked him late Monday in a hallways of a midtown building while he was on an organzing tour of garment district shops.

Several buildings in the area house a number of dress manufacturers who have refused to sign union contracts.

Agricultural Man Retires From Dep't

Fred C. McRae of North Bay is retiring from the extension service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture at the end of this month. He was agricultural representative at Norwood to Peterborough when J. B. Nelson succeeded Mr. McRae who was appointed to Glengarry.

The North Bay office is the headquarters of the district of Nipissing to which Gerald W. Montgomery assistant agricultural representative at Stirling has been assigned to North Bay beginning June 1.

Mr. Montgomery is a native of Carleton county, and was assistant at Lambton before going to Stirling in 1947 in the same capacity.

Fred McRae went from Peterborough to Alexandra in Glengarry. His retirement from the government service was caused by ill-health. He left Norwood in 1927, and is still remembered with respect by senior farmers in east Peterborough.

Say PC's Abandon Bracken Policy

NEEPAWA, Man., May 11 (CP) —Justice Minister Garson told a Liberal nominating convention Tuesday night that Progressive Conservative policies on Dominion-provincial relations are opposed "lock, stock and barrel" to what John Bracken stood for when he was premier of Manitoba and federal opposition leader.

The convention, called to name a Liberal candidate for the new constituency of Portage-Neepawa, nominated W. G. Weir, member of parliament for MacDonald.

Mr. Weir has been the government's chief whip since 1945.

The justice minister accused Mr. Drew of attempting to develop a "new kind of opposition" in the Commons. Pre-1949 oppositions had performed the functions of criticizing the government and outlining their policies to the people.

"This new streamlined 1949 model is something different. It is not really concerned with the people's business before parliament, but rather with publicity stunts designed to get headlines in the press."

Power Shortage Cripples Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia, May 11 — (CP). — Sydney's 1,500,000 residents face a break winter.

Power shortages are causing blackouts so frequently that it now is almost certain there will be no electricity to heat homes and offices during the cold months now approaching.

For some time the Sydney City Council, which controls most of the city's electricity supply, has been urging the government of New South Wales to restrict the use of power in industry and so prevent a breakdown in supplies. So far the State Cabinet has been unable to agree on an effective control measure.

One plan that looked as if it might be carried out would have cut power from industry one day in every four. Some Cabinet members considered the move too drastic and it lapsed.

The present policy of cutting off power to various suburbs during peak hours is causing great hardship as well as loss of efficiency in many industries.

Poor-quality coal is a main reason for the blackouts. Engineers claim they cannot raise sufficient steam with the coal supplied them.

Equipment also is short. The load on existing plants is heavier than before the war, but the equipment remains the same.

Approximately 3,900,000 babies were born in the United States during 1947.

Zoning Bylaw Is Termed A Scrap Of Paper

Mr. W. R. Lunn, 656 Park St. south has become a familiar figure to the members of the city council. For two years, according to his recollection, he has been trying to get a service station permit at his place in the south ond, but in that business move he ran into the zoning bylaw.

Now he is putting some emphasis on the fact that the zoning bylaw is only a scrap of paper without sanction because it has not been passed and adpoted by the council. Mr. Lunn feels that he is being pushed around and blocked and so on, but on the other side of the case is the zoning plans for the Park St. neighborhood which did not admit a gasoline service station.

Mr. Lunn is past the stage of impatience. He has got around to such phrasing as "we fought against dictatorships for five years." He was before the council last week. and his problem was referred to the town planning committee. He returned to the finance committee Monday night, putting on the heat a bit, and was advised that he should attend the session of the planners Thursday night.

"Maybe I might," he said, a quiet man, evidently not given to wordiness. The pith of his problem is the plan of the city that was adopted several years ago, and its specific exclusion of gasoline stations in the spot where Mr. Lunn bought property.

"Something should be done quickly to get the bylaw passed," said City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K. C. A lot of other people have said it before him.

Ratepayers To Vote On High School Issue

APSLEY, May 11—At the regular meeting of Burleigh and Anstruther council on Saturday, the two newly elected Councillors W. R. Caverley and Andrew Young made their declaration of office and were welcomed by the Reeve on taking their seats.

A busy all-day session followed which included besides the ordinary routine business the striking of the rate which resulted in an increase of 6.2 mills over last year's due mainly to the new District High School rate which required 3.7 mills and the increased County rate which called for 2.2 mills more han last year.

The chairman of the Township Area school board, Joseph Tucker and the secretary treasurer, W. Nelson, on behalf of the board were present and requested the council's approval for the issuing of debentures for the building of a new school. After a lengthy discussion it was decided on motion of Council Lean and Church that the question of issuing debentures be submitted to the ratepayers for their decision.

The clerk was instructed to prepare a by law for the licensing of dogs in the place of the old method of placing the dog tax on the Collector's Roll on motion of Council Lean and Young.

It was decided on motion of Lean and Church to ask Dr Gastle to act temporarily as Medical Officer of Health in the place of Dr. Fetterley who has left Apsley. On motion of Lean and Caverley, D. R. O. and Poll Clerk fees were increased by $1.

Approval of the bylaw providing for the expenditure of $8,500 on township roads in 1949 was received from the Minister of [illegible] count on taxes paid on or before August 31, for the levying and collection of rates and taxes, and also for school levies were passed.

Next meeting of council will be on June 4 at 1. p.m.

Delay Highway Plan

REGINA, May 11 — (CP) — Highways Minister J. T. Douglas of Saskatchewan said Tuesday the Dominion Government has decided to withhold action on a proposed trans-Canada highway until after the June 27 federal election. In a statement he said the action "came as a distinct shock to the Saskatchewan government. We had been led to believe... that Ottawa intended to proceed with this project during 1949".

Lad, 8, Trips Into Canal Fear? Of 'Heck'

Tom Kingdon, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kingdon, 257 Stewart St., is still thanking the kind fate that had him take two school chums along when on Sunday afternoon he decided on a walk by the canal.

While playing along the canal, by the southeast side of the Lift-lock, he tripped over the rope of a boat that was moored nearby and fell into the 12-foot-deep water.

Tom managed to keep himself afloat until his two nine-year-old schoolmates from St. Peter's — John Delaire and Leonard Bradley—hauled him in with a wooden pole he was able to grasp.

Leonard was first to seize the pole to aid his chum but he was quickly joined by John who had to scramble down from atop the Lock to take part in the rescue.

When he had got within arm's reach Tom was pulled out of the water by his two rescuers. Soaking wet Tom then headed for home.

There were no other people around at the time, the three boys told the Examiner.

"Were you frightened by your ducking in the canal?" he was asked.

"Naw," was the reply, "but I thought I'd get heck for getting my clothes wet."
